AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1870.

THE WAR.—A dispatch to the New York Herald says a fearful battle was fought Aug. 30 and 31, between the Prussian armies of the Crown Prince and Prince Frederick Charles, and the forces of McMahon. Tuesday morning McMahon commenced a general movement toward Montmedy. He was attacked near Beaumont and driven back, after an obstinate resistance, toward the Belgian frontier. The Prussians occupied the line of the road and captured a large a large amount of camp stores. They drove the French from position after position until night closed. Early Wednesday morning the battle was resumed and continued all day. During the night a large number of French re-enforcements came up, but they failed to turn the scale of victory. The Prussians were also re-enforced largely and attacked in overwhelming numbers. McMahon retreated to Sedan with the remnant of his forces. The slaughter was immense, and it is impossible to estimate the loss. The Prince Imperial is said to be in Belgium. The population are flying in great terror.

The Prussians conceiving that McMahon's aim was to gain the frontier to effect a junction with Bazaine, advanced on their lines, and the Crown Prince, south of Stenay, marched by the way of Commercy, Bar le Duc, St. Dizier and Vitry. The fourth army under the Prince Royal of Saxony, keeping north of Pont-a-Mousson, moved toward Chalons, at the same time observing Metz, while Steinmetz re-enforced proceeded through Verdun to Rheims, his right sweeping the Belgian frontier, in the hope of meeting McMahon. Thus the German advance covered the country from Belgium along the Meuse to the Aube, rendering it impossible for McMahon to reach Metz.

The reported suspension of travel on the lines from Paris to Calais, and Paris to Brussels, creates a belief that McMahon's army may be eventually transferred by the Northern Railway to Paris.

England is likely to have an Alabama issue with Prussia. A note almost equivalent to a protest has been received by Earl Granville. It remonstrates against England's disregard of her obligations as a neutral, and declares that Prussia will not accept the legal quibbles of law officers of the Crown, and summons England to fulfil her neutral obligations, or take the consequences. The question is a diplomatic one, the note adds, and must be promptly solved as such.

Bazaine has won several small engagements.

An official dispatch from McMahon reports close fighting on Wednesday. The Prussian advance was met and driven back on the Belgian frontier to the northeast of Mezieres.

Paris has no reports of serious French reverses on Tuesday, as claimed by the Prussians. McMahon reports himself victorious on Wednesday.

☞ William A. Thompson, a well known citizen of Franklin, Pa., was blown to pieces Tuesday afternoon by the explosion of two torpedoes. He was engaged in hauling torpedoes from Franklin to Miller farm, some distance from Franklin, when two of them exploded. The horse which was attached to the wagon was blown a distance of several rods and torn to pieces.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. James W. Raitt of this city, while trying to exterminate a nest of caterpillars was severely injured in the left hand by the explosion of the gun. The palm and wrist were very much shattered. His thumb and forefinger have been amputated.

☞ Horace Cooke, late pastor of the Seventh Street Methodist Episcopal Church, New York, has obtained a situation as salesman in a down town wholesale clothing house in that city.

☞ Singularly enough, Gov. Chamberlain of Maine, and Ex-Gov. Washburne of Mass. and Goodwin of this city, were prevented by sickness from attending the Historical Meeting.

☞ There are more workmen now engaged in the Kittery, Me., Navy Yard, than ever before.—Lynn Rep.

Not so. There were 40 per cent. more employed there during the rebellion than at present.

THE HISTORICAL BREAKFAST.—The Maine Historical Society were the guests of the New Hampshire Society, on Thursday, in this city, at the Rockingham House,—itself an historic structure. The two Societies met at breakfast, and the forenoon was spent in social converse and brief addresses. The Presidents of the two Societies, Hon. C. H. Bell of Exeter, N. H., and Hon. E. E. Bourne of Kennebunk, Me., presided jointly; Mr. Bell cordially welcoming the guests, and Mr. Bourne replying fittingly,—both these and other speakers, alluding to the early and intimate connection between the two governments and peoples. Mr. Bell termed the two Societies (New Hampshire organized in 1822, and Maine in 1823) sisters; and alluded to the fact that Rev. John Wheelwright found protection in both Provinces from Massachusetts' persecution.

Judge Bourne remarked that the great family names of the early days, are common to both sides of the Piscataqua; and that in the history of Wells, which he is now writing, he ventures to record that the mother of Gov. Wentworth was a Wells girl—the wife of Wm. Wentworth. We hope to give Mr. Bourne's remarks in full, written out by himself, hereafter.

John Elwyn, Esq., of this city, in response to or confirmation of Judge Bourne, alluded to the fact that the province or county described or understood as the Piscataqua, embraced the settlements on both sides of the river. He also instanced a very youthful marriage here, where a deceased wife of less than 17 years left a child.

R. K. Sewall, Esq., of Wiscasset, a well known historian of Maine, expressed the surprise of himself and all the visitors, at finding York and Kittery such beautiful towns, and the soil so good and scenery so fine. He mentioned the first naval expedition, of four small vessels, as fitted out here, to cruise to the eastward. He said a good word for the Scotch-Irish from Maine who settled Londonderry.

Charles Dean, Esq., of Cambridge, referred to the numerous contradictory grants, titles, boundaries, divisions and claimants to the province of New Hampshire; and desires the N. H. Society to unravel and explain them.

Rev. Dr. Edward Ballard, of Brunswick, a native of New Hampshire, and a well known historical, and especially an Indian student, and Secretary of the Maine Society,— spoke in his usual pleasant manner, of historical matters. his own unpublished history of the Contoocook Indians, &c.

John H. Sheppard, Esq., of Boston, referred to the Gorges patent, of Maine, and the dispute of Massachusetts respecting the same, which was settled by the payment of £1200 by Mass.

Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett of this city paid a handsome and just tribute to the historical labors of the late Hon. William Willis of Portland; especially his work on the Law, Courts and Lawyers of Maine; and wished the President of the N. H. Society would perform a similar valuable service for this State. He alluded to the numerous bright lights which have illumed the law and bench of New Hampshire, especially of this County; and closed with a happy tune on the word Court, as to the lawyers and the ladies of the two State s.

Hon. J. W. Bradbury of Augusta, in a few appropriate remarks, adopted Somerset's greeting of "Much welcome."

Ex-President Woods, of Bowdoin College, adopted Dr. Cole's theory, that the Gulf Stream had much to do with the division into Northern and Southern Provinces, and especially in deciding the position and standing of New England.

Br. Dr. Bouton of Concord spoke of the historical services of John Tower, John Kelly, N. A. Haven, Ichabod Bartlett and others.

Hon. John A. Poor of Portland spoke in his usual happy vein. Br. Dr. Peabody of Harvard, Br. Dr. Packard of Bowdoin, C. H. Tuttle and A. H. Hoyt of Boston, made brief remarks—to which we shall allude again. Mr. S. H. Simes exhibited a chair which belonged to Sir Wm. Pepperell, and an office chair of his beloved friend Bartlett. And the pleasant union was dissolved. Of which more anon.

☞ At the close of the meeting of the Maine Historical Society, at the Christian Church on Kittery Foreside, Wednesday evening,—the party were set across the river to Portsmouth, in steamer Emerald, through the courtesy of Capt. Fairfax, of the Navy Yard.

We shall give a detailed account of the visit to York and Kittery, in a day or two. On Thursday, the visitors spent the day at various points of interest in this city, and mostly proceeded home in the afternoon.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

EPPING CAMP MEETING.—Monday, Aug. 29, the first day, the fore part of which was spent putting up tents and otherwise getting ready. A social meeting was held in the evening.

Tuesday, second day, the sermon in the forenoon was by Rev. M. T. Cilley of South Newmarket. In the afternoon Rev. G. W. Ruland of Hampon gave a discourse. In the evening Rev. Mr. Sherman of Ossipee preached. Many arrived during the day and the congregation was considerable for this stage of the meeting.

Wednesday, third day, Forenoon sermon by Rev. Mr. Norris of Laconia, Text, Gal 1:4. "Who gave himself for us," &c. The controversy between God and the powers of evil was first noticed. Next the captivity of sin. Next, deliverance by repentance and faith. As a whole the discourse was very interesting, and was well received. There were some responses in Methodist style, but all well, except one off at the left of the stand, who in an unnatural voice loudly uttered the word "glory." attracting attention that way. The speaker described the fall of Jericho's walls on the last day that the priests marched around the city and told that at the time, the king and others were riding in carriages on the walls. What is the authority for this?

Sermon in the afternoon by Rev. Mr. Drew of Bristol, from the passage, "For God so loved the world," etc. Some difficulties in the way of salvation were noticed, then the success through the Savior. Some passages in the closing part were eloquent and forcible. At the close penitents were invited for prayers. A dozen or more went forward.

The congregation this day was somewhat large, filling about two thirds of the seats.

Bishop Baker of Concord was on the stand. Also Rev. J. N. Morse, a colored preacher of Boston. J.

☞ There will be an excursion in steamer Appledore this (Friday) evening, for the benefit of Mr. Frank Willey, a former member of the Cornet Band. The Band have volunteered their services, and we hope the beneficiary, who has been ill for a long time and merits a handsome testimonial, will have a replenished purse from the proceeds.

☞ The outstanding legal tender circulation, according to the books of the United States Treasurer, is $350,000,000; on hand in the Treasury, notes of the series of 1869, $114,417,158, to supply the place of the notes retired. The fractional currency outstanding is $40,067,984.

TERRIBLE NEWS has reached Mount Pleasant, Mo. The Journal says it is rumored that Henry Clay Dean bathed in the Missouri River last week, near Kansas City, creating a sand bar.

Many suffer rather than take nauseous medicines. All who suffer from coughs, colds, irritation of the bronchial tubes or tendency to consumption, will find in Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry a remedy as agreeable to the palate as effectual in removing disease. The Balsam is a pleasant remedy; it is a safe remedy; it is a powerful remedy; it is a speedy remedy; it is a remedy that cures.

HAWK, HAWK, SPIT, SPIT, BLOW, BLOW, and disgust everybody with the offensive odor from your Catarrh, just because some fogy doctor who has not discovered and will not believe that the world moves, tells you that it cannot be cured. FATAL TO THE TEETH — Are all acrid preparations. They may bleach the enamel, but they as surely dissolve and destroy it. The mild, genial, balsamic and preservative SOZODONT, impregnated with the SAPONIN of the famous tropical Soap Tree, of Chili, is the only absolutely safe article of its kind in the market, and protects the Teeth from all destructive influences, as well as keeps them free from tartar.

"SPALDING'S GLUE," handy and useful.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Sound Logic For the Sick.

The invalid has often good reasons to exclaim, "save me from my friends." As a general thing, each of them will have a different medicine to propose, and if he follows all their prescriptions in turn, their well-meant advice may be the death of him. The only sensible course in any case of sickness is to resort promptly to a specific which has stood the test of a long and widely extended public experience, and obtained on solid and sufficient grounds the reputation of a Standard Remedy. This rank among the restoratives of our day belongs of right, and beyond all dispute, to HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

Let those who are taking it at this debilitating season as an invigorant answer for themselves as to its tonic properties. Can any dyspeptic, who has ever used it, question its superiority as a stomachic over every other medicine? Can any person of bilious habit, who has ever taken it for liver complaint doubt its efficiency? It is believed among the tens of thousands who are now using, or who have used it as an alterative and corrective, not one can be found who would exchange it for any other preparation in the known world. For intermittent fevers, nervous debility, constipation, sick stomach, and all complaints arising from indigestion or impoverishment of the blood, it is the only article which can be conscientiously guaranteed, and no one who is thoroughly acquainted with its virtues will allow interested dealers in worthless slops, on which they make a larger profit, to furnish them in the place of the great vegetable restorative.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world: the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable, instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effect of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautiful, black or brown. Sold by all Druggist and Perfumers, and properly applied at Batchelor's Wig Factory, No. 16 Bond Street, New York. lydawjel2

1840. PERRY DAVIS' 1870.

Vegetable "Pain Killer,"

After THIRTY YEARS trial, is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues, from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Physicians of the first respectability recommend it as a most effectual preparation for the extinction of pain. It is not only the best remedy ever known for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c., but for Dysentery or Cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency and rapidity of action. In the great cities of India, and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, and other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. Sold by all druggists. dawlmst

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.

It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.

One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds. 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats.—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.

The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.

The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the Piscataqua Agricultural Society Meeting.

☞ A meeting of the Piscataqua Agricultural Society is called for this evening, at half-past 7 o'clock, at the National Hotel.

☞ A base ball match between the Granite States and a picked nine of Muffers will be played this afternoon at the Plains at 2 1-2 o'clock.

Rear Adm. T. Bailey is in town.

A VERY LARGE AUDIENCE enjoyed the jolly entertainment by the Delehanty, Hengler and Bloodgood company, Thursday evening. Delehanty and Hengler put their best feet forward; Bloodgood's balloon act kept lots of mouths open to their widest extent; the Freeman sisters sang sweetly and showed great versatility of talent; the Daley brothers were excellent in their pedestal statue dances; and Seaver proved to be a capital man for the serious business. There seems to be no one connected with the troupe who cannot dance well, and they are not chary of their favors. We were particularly pleased with the singing of "Driven from Home" by the Freeman sisters. We venture to say that no audience ever before enjoyed so much fun in two hours as did those who attended. We hope that Messrs. D. H. & B. will return here, on their way home with their unexceptionable company. Those who have heard them wish to see and hear them again; those who have not wish an opportunity to do so.

Communication.

PORTSMOUTH SEVENTY YEARS AGO. We make a few more extracts from the old "Century Sermon" of Rev. Timothy Alden, delivered in 1800, and from which we have already printed some items of interest. Mr. Alden says:

The Portsmouth aqueduct was incorporated December 19, 1797. In 1799 and 1800 it was brought into operation, so that 214 houses and stores are amply supplied with water of an excellent quality for any domestic purpose. Its source is a spring within the limits of Newington, at the distance of three miles from Portsmouth Pier. Its ramifications lead into most of the streets in town. The premium from a family of from six to ten persons, to the proprietors, is five dollars per annum. There appears to be a sufficiency of water for a much larger number of inhabitants than Portsmouth contains. On the north side of Portsmouth Pier is a water-house with a pump, where ships and the inhabitants, at any time, can be supplied with water at twelve cents and a half per hogshead. In case of fire the aqueduct must be of vast importance to the town.

In Portsmouth we have but one street entirely paved. In course of a few years, however, one side of most of our streets has been paved with very nice flat stones, brought from Durham, in such a manner that two or three persons can conveniently walk abreast.

The Lombardy poplars in Mr. Joseph Haven's front yard, were twigs of six inches in length in the Spring of 1794. They now measure thirty-six inches in circumference at the butt. Joshua Brackett, M. D., and the honorable John Langdon esquire, have some which are one or two years older, and were the first introduced in Portsmouth. The row on the south side of Pleasant Street was set out in 1798; the row before Judge Langdon's, on the north side of Broad Street, was set out in 1799; the row on the north side of Deer Street, extending from Madame Sherburne's to Fore Street, the row on the north side of Pleasant Street, extending from Deacon Penhallow's corner to the South Church, and the row on the north side of Jaffrey Street, in front of Mr. John Prince's elegant new house, were set out in the spring of 1800. It ought to be added that all these rows of trees have been set out and neatly boxed through the care and expense of a number of public spirited citizens.

As trees are allowed by philosophers and physicians to render the air more salubrious, and as nothing can be more ornamental to a town, it is to be hoped that their laudable example will be followed, till every street and vacant corner is replenished with the Lombardy poplar.

It is evident from the above extracts that the Lombardy poplar was very popular, about the year 1800. They are not much heard of now.—But the good work of tree-planting on the sides of the streets, begun so long ago, bore good fruit, as our well-shaded streets of to-day testify.

We may give some more fragments of this interesting old discourse; for there is much in it well worth re-printing. K.

THE PEN OF HISTORY.

BY JOHN H. SHEPARD.

Though mounds survive a mighty race,
Where erst St. George his flag unfurl'd,
In vain the daring deeds we trace
Of those who rul'd this western world.
Thus empires wane and cities lie
Where sands o'er splendid ruins float;
Their buried glory wakes the sigh,
Because no Pen their history wrote.

Touch'd by Promethean fire, the Pen
Portrays the wonder-working brain,
Records the immortal deeds of men,
And wakes the dead to life again.
Whate'er is beautiful and true,
The ideal world—by this is given
The historian of things old and new,
In holy hand it points to Heaven.

Like stars, which shine o'er land and sea,
The rolls of science gild the mind;
The blow which blests the Library
Would crush the hope of all mankind.
Let but the Light of Letters fail,
This earth would seem eclips'd and dark,
A boundless sea without a sail,
A Deluge vast without an Ark.

HISTORIC.—However much or little of real history a man may make—whether or not he do an act worthy of record — certainly no persons are of more service to historians,—in fact few can with greater justice and significance be termed historians,—than editors. If Capt. John Mason of New Hampshire, and Sir Ferdinando Gorges of Maine, when they first set about establishing Provinces, had only started newspapers, (and put local news in them, too—which was not at all the fashion in old times,) how much the labor of the historian and antiquarian would have been lessened.

And as we regard our daily work, in keeping "an abstract and brief chronicle of the time," as a constant and valuable contribution to history, not to be neglected; we are to-day enabled to make only a mere mention of the recent historical researches in this vicinity, reserving for a more convenient season, a fuller recital of the very interesting events discussed, both old and new. Neither is there any haste respecting matters of two centuries ago—accuracy being the only consideration. We have spent three or four days most agreeably, and we believe profitably, with the Maine Historical Society, in York, Kittery, and this city; and we promise our readers much interesting matter in relation thereto, all in due season,—so soon as the more urgent calls of business shall be disposed of.

☞ All the Beach Houses in this vicinity, from Boar's Head to Cape Neddick, as indeed all along the coast, we believe, have had a good season this year; and several of them deem it advisable to enlarge their accommodations. Among others, we understand that the Ocean House at Rye Beach will be very materially enlarged and beautified, and that in order to meet the wants of their guests and the public, the Messrs. Jenness will next summer run a Steam Yacht that will carry 100 passengers, from the Ocean House to the Shoals, in connection with the trains on all the Railroads, making two trips daily each way. This will be a good card for the Ocean House, and a great accommodation to the travelling public.

☞ The breweries in this city are being run to their utmost capacity. We have already spoken of the new one to be built by Mr. Jones, and now we hear that Messrs. Eldredge contemplate the erection of another brewery on their grounds near the Creek, in October, to accommodate their constantly increasing business.

☞ We are informed that Mr. John Locke of Newcastle recently set a hen on 25 eggs, and she brought off 23 chicks, and would have had two more, but for the haste of her owner in removing the eggs from her. Mother and family are doing well.

DEATHS.

In this city, Aug. 21st, Mr. DANIEL PEPPER, aged 76 years, a native of England, but had resided here for 40 years. His wife, who is but a single day younger, is also very ill.

☞ The Funeral of Mr. Pepper will take place at his residence on Cabot St., this (Friday) morning at 11 o'clock.

In Ottawa, Illinois, July 24, Mr. HOPLEY DREW, aged 65 years—a native of Durham, N. H. which place he left in 1832. He was a very prominent and highly esteemed citizen of Ottawa.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this line, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an unexceptionable security.

These bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par, be sides paying about 9 per cent., currency, interest in the meanwhile. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices only return five per cent.; and we regard the security equally safe.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

FOR ALL PURPOSES of a LAXATIVE MEDICINE,

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative PILL. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them over fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action, rousing the torpid stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken immediately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PILLS makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus. dawjel6eodim

Morning Chronicle.

Concluded from Yesterday.

A STORY OF A GARTER.

"Miss Lucy" (rather shakily), "are you comfortable?"

"Oh, perfectly."

"Not cold?"

"No, indeed."

Now what he wanted was, that she should say she was cold; and he considered himself a little ill-used because she did not. But he would not be bereft of his idea, so gathering the reins in one hand he cautiously disembarrassed the other, and swinging his arm around the back of the sleigh, caused the vagrant member to encircle the big bundle of buffalo bandages which confined the gentle form beside him. Not a word of remonstrance, but a silence dangerously ominous, if he had known it. Incoherently mumbling a repetition of the inquiry concerning comfort, etc., he permitted the arm to venture upon a faint suggestion of a squeeze. This time the little face, now sadly flushed, came round upon him and disconcerted him horribly, but with desperate impudence he remarked quite carelessly, and looking earnestly at a point in the road at a half mile ahead—"please shut your eyes a minute." Down went the lids.

The calm was over. First came a torrent of reproaches, very limited as to duration, but of crushing weight; then an intrusive little tear, which had better have stayed away; then a dead silence. Mr. Henry Langford was sorely afflicted. "If she did not want me to kiss her," thought he, "then why did she shut her eyes?" As he could make nothing of it, he endeavored to effect a quiet pacification, but all encouraging response was withheld. Hardly a word was vouchsafed him, and the few he got were by no means of a character to fill him with rapture. In the midst of his anxious argument, there came a cry from the side of the road.

Harry pulled up and saw a melancholy looking woman, not well clad, but strongly framed, standing with a child in her arms, by the sleigh. She asked how far it was to Linville.

"Four miles"—(rather pettishly.)

The woman of melancholy mien furthermore desired to know the direction. Was it straight on?

"Is it straight on Miss Bragdon?"

"Yes"—(stiff and short.)

The lugubrious female murmured a "thank you" and the sleigh moved off. In about a minute Mr. Langford clutched the reins savagely, and uttered an exclamation which would have satisfied any listener of his innocence of theological tendencies.

Miss Lucy uttered a high D, head register, staccato.

"I think I am a brute," remarked Mr. Henry Langford.

Miss Bragdon now assumed an air of resignation, as if expecting an apologetic explanation of the recent rudeness. She was disappointed, and when the sleigh began to turn about, became perplexed.

"The woman is going to Linville, whoever she is," continued Harry. "Of course she is. She mustn't walk four miles through the snow this weather. And loaded down with a big baby."

Miss Bragdon gave out symptoms of uneasiness. "You are not going all the way to Linville," said she.

"Certainly I am, Miss Bragdon"—and he drew up beside the pedestrian of dolorous aspect.

"I do not see as there is room," said Miss Bragdon, ungraciously; and the poor woman shrank back at the words.

Harry's eyes flashed in a very uncivil manner, I am afraid, as he said rather roughly, "We will make room," springing out at the moment, and hurriedly lifting the lachrymose traveller and her child into his place. Then, without a word, he quartered himself upon a section of the sleigh's floor, and drove ahead.

In a little while Miss Bragdon said softly—"I think there is room up here, Mr. Langford."

"I am very well down here," he answered: and then, in a low voice, leaning over toward her—"I could not have thought, Miss Bragdon, that you would transfer any part of the resentment you feel toward me, to this unoffending and unfortunate person."

Lucy began to cry; but this new phenomenon escaped his notice. The woman of woeful countenance, who heard nothing, but saw everything, sat on thorns.

Now here was a most unhappy misunderstanding, for Lucy really deserved better of this good-natured, but too hasty knight-errant. The fact was that just at that moment when the pedestrian episode began to interfere, she had discovered that she was not irreconcilably offended, after all, and was longing for an opportunity to give a fraction of a hint to that effect. Having, after much wavering, heroically resolved to this unfeminine thing she was naturally disturbed by the interruption. So the cause of her pique was not at all unflattering to her cavalier.

Presently she bent forward, and said timidly, but with an inexpressible sweetness:

"Won't you forgive me, Mr. Langford?"

Harry looked quickly up, and saw one tear glistening on the end of her nose, and another threatening to freeze upon her cheek. He pushed back something that came uninvited into his throat, and sang out lustily:

"Come now, it is cold here, and I must have a share of the buffaloes!" and he chambered in without much disturbing the solemn-visaged passenger.

Lucy got up a small laugh.

Before they reached Linville it was six o'clock, and growing dark. A few snow flakes, scarcely noticed, rested upon the horse's back. Five minutes more, and they had deposited their passenger at her destination. She flung out a profusion of thanks flavored by a tear. The reconciled twain started homeward, each a little doubtful as to the exact condition of the other's temper. Preliminarily, they conversed upon very remote topics—agreed as Linville was eight miles from Winston, they had now eight miles to overcome; and that as it was already late it would be later before they reached home. The increasing snow furnished a new subject, and this very soon acquired a positive interest, as it steadily gained strength. In a little while gusts of wind came surging along, keen and icy, and impudently whirling the light snow in the faces of the homeward bound. With any other companion, Mr. Harry Langford would have said disagreeable things. Miss Brandon acknowledged to herself that if she were now under the guidance of any of her professed devotees, there might be words as bitter as the wind.

When they were four miles from Winston they came to a sudden turn in the road. The new snow had drifted here, and the way was difficult to pass. At a touch of the whip the horse plunged forward and a trace snapped.

This was serious. Langford sprang out, and discovered that the difficulty might be temporarily arranged by splicing. For this he needed twine. Together they searched the sleigh, but found no consolation there. Ten cheerless minutes passed. Henry tried a dozen expedients, all unsuccessful. What should be done? There was no house near. It was becoming very dark.

At last he proposed, not without hesitation, to draw the sleigh to the side of the road to wrap his fair charge in impenetrable folds and start off on foot to search for twine.

At this point all trouble vanished in an instant. In a faint voice, Miss Lucy unexpectedly chirped forth from her pile of buffalo robes—"will this do?" and instantly hid herself from human view.

She had let something fall upon the snow that lay like a half-coiled blue snake. In answer to her frightened question she was informed that it did. Harry laughing himself to pieces internally, but superficially solemn and calm, repaired damages, resumed his place and drove cautiously onward. After a while he said "Think, now, Miss Lucy, of a woman walking to Linville in this tempest."

"You are cold," he said: and as she was silent he took it for granted that she was.

As they passed through the long avenue to Mr. Brandon's house an electrical experiment took place, without the same explosive result as before.

The next evening there was a sewing circle in Winston. A sewing circle is a popular needle-and-thread assemblage, at which flannels and reputations are pitilessly punctured; at which undergarments for infants and scandal cloaks for adults are manufactured, and all made to fit. The duties of the occasion having been worried through early in the evening, the masculine element was suffered to mingle socially, and the sport began. Henry Langford was admitted with the rest of the hitherto excluded. He looked mischievously at the centre of attraction. The centre of attraction smiled at him, and folded its front upper over its lower lip.

Did you ever notice what a great variety of meaning is conveyed by that very curious contortion of the female face? It signifies amazement, amusement, grief, anger, reflection—almost anything according to the will of the exhibitor.

This time it meant remonstrance and exhortation.

A divinity student was talking very loudly about the Atlantic cable, and descanting on the ingenuity of man.

Mr. Langford asserted that the ingenuity of man bore no comparison to the ingenuity of woman, and proposed to substantiate his position by a slight narration and a simple apparatus he had in his pocket.

From the centre of the attraction, there came again a high D, head register, this time staccatissimo. Miss Brandon broke recklessly from her circle, spilling all sorts of workbox treasures as she ran—spools, needles, bodkins, scissors, hooks were scattered around in inextricable confusion.

"Harry, give it to me," she pleaded, very softly—"please do, dear Harry."

The "dear" was of at least ten seconds' duration. Long before the prominent adjective was exhausted, Harry Langford was a lost man.

"There it is," he said, "and what shall I have in return?" (all this very softly.)

"Everything"—(more softly still, but with a smile that was worth a dozen orations.)

In the course of a week, the youth of Winston heard something that took away its appetite. It considered that its confidence had been abused. It regarded Mr. Harry Langford as an intruder who exceeded the privileges of hospitality.

It seems there are ever so many morals in this story, notwithstanding it is so short and so true—for it is true, every word, excepting only the names of persons and places. But I shall not take the trouble to point them out.

Communication.

ONE NATION.—Hon. Amos T. Akerman in a recent address at Washington said, "There was such a thing as political superannuation," and in this connection he commented upon the aphorisms of the author that 'centralism is imperialism,' in order to show its absurdity in the sense intended, remarking that "the government at the centre ought to be strong enough to sustain itself against all foes, foreign and domestic. A government not strong enough for such purposes is deserving of the contempt of mankind." The editor of the Nashua Gazette ignorantly denies the truth of the above position, and avers that centralism is imperialism, and contends that "a nationality represented at Washington, and not at the State capitals, would very soon settle down into an empire."

It is very true that the powers of the Federal government are limited, and what is not delegated is reserved to the State governments. But the latter are not sovereign and independent of the Federal government. If they were, the door might again be opened for another rebellion. The truth is, the people of the United States constitute one nation, and the latter is represented at Washington. Under despotic government, it is held that all political power is derived from the monarch. Here the political power is derived from the people, and therefore the people have the right, through faithful representatives, to guard against and defeat all encroachments upon their rights by the central power. There is, therefore, no danger to be feared from centralization. Should there be, the people must blame themselves. The suggestion that the "nationality" should be represented at the "State Capitals," is too absurd to require refutation.

The Constitution of the United States was not the creature of the "sovereign states," but was ordained and established by the people, the whole people of the United States, as expressly declared in its preamble. It should, therefore, be strong enough to bind the whole in one indissoluble bond of Union, otherwise it would be no better than a rope of sand. X.

WOULD YOU?—We have received three questions, with the request that we would reply in the Ledger.

1. Is it sinful to make bottles for a whiskey or brandy bottler?

2. Is it sinful to sell an instrument—innocent in itself—to a gambler, for gaming?

3. If one takes a billiard table for debt, should he sell it in playing?

These questions belong to a very large company of like questions which spring up in business life, and which are extremely perplexing to the Christian casuist. I would say, specifically:

1. If you are manufacturing bottles for the market at large, and a distiller wished a lot, I should treat him like any other customer, on the ground that, on the whole, taking one case with another, commercial non-intercourse would injure rather than promote the cause of temperance.

2. If I had a fast horse, I would not sell him at all if I could help it—provided he was very fast. But if I was going to sell him at auction, I would not refuse any responsible man's bid. I would, if I could, sell to Mr. Bonner, who never bets; but if he would not buy, I would sell to Mr. Vanderbilt, even though he should be known to bet on horses and to be fond of bantering men who he knows won't bet.

3. I should certainly sell a billiard table to a public saloon. Billiard playing is not necessarily evil. The old concomitants of it, drinking and gambling, should be stripped off from it by moral influence. The way to cure a bad saloon in a village, is to open a good one, without any evil surroundings, and make the young people safe there.

So long as Christian men refuse to take charge of amusements, and abandon them to selfish men, so long they will have incidental mischiefs. But Christianity ought to cast out the devil from amusements, and restore them to their right mind, and let them serve religion as they too often serve vice.—Henry Ward Beecher in N. Y. Ledger.

—Donn Piatt is astonished at finding the daughter of his old-time washerwoman at Saratoga. "And here she was before me, pretty as a painted wagon, and faultless in her fashionable attire, as if she been born to the situation. These instances picture very effectually the delusion indulged in by some respecting what many are pleased to call pure blood. Here was the daughter of a common washerwoman, as delicate, refined, and well dressed as the daughter of Old Coupon, who can count back two generations before she hits a mechanic."

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it far more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, morbid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention of the incontinence of urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

SAVANNAH, TENN., May 14, 1869.

Dr. H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this county about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our county, named J. B. Estell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,

H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by spells very much for a few days past. But yesterday relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from my bladder about the size of a large pea, and I now feel perfectly well and entirely free from the pain that I have suffered with "so hard." I attribute my cure to your medicine entirely, and would recommend all persons similarly affected to try it. I have great faith in its curative powers.

Yours truly, THOMAS J. BENNETT.

Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as myself, to say that after consulting many eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the best advertised Remedies in the vain hope of finding relief from aggravated kidney and bladder diseases, from which I have suffered excessively for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.

At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicines cannot be expected to favorably affect me as they otherwise would, I have found such unspeakable relief and permanent benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel I ought to publicly record the fact, as an acknowledgment to him, and as a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,

D. M. LAREN.

is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Hear him:

Mr. H. T. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used, or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.

I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.

I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.

Respectfully yours, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.

Mr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physicians present. Incensed please find our rates o advertising. Yours, T. B. H. STENHOUSE,
Ed'r and Prop'r of Telegraph.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.
TESTIMONIALS.

A Permanent Cure of Gravel of twelve Years' Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.

Dr. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon facts respecting myself. I do not know hardly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer you could be and live; but more sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I have been sometimes from twelve to fourteen hours at a time wanted to make water every minute, but could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this State, and taken pills, I may say by the quart, also liquored medicines, but found no relief from any, and got worse the last six months. I was so that I could scarcely get about, I could not rest night or day.

It would soon have been "all up" with me if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it through and thought I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost me so much? Well, I began before I had half taken the first bottle I felt bad; but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I still got worse (apparently.) When I walked it seemed as if my right kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had finished the second, that I had madeup my mind it was of no use trying any more—and all the time the "Buchu" was doing its work, but I did not know it, so I gave it up and went to Hartford on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have to undergo an operation. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.

On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and in the afternoon I had a desire to make water, but could not. About one hour after this I tried again, with the same result; but the next time I took the vessel it was the same as turning a tap—out and stopping it off again. It was so for three times, and the third time there was something came through the passage and struck against the side of the vessel. It examined it, and it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw, covered over with little pieces which collected together. It looks the color of a mud turtle, and is as large as a pea. So you see the "Buchu" was doing its work, although I was feeling so badly. I procured another bottle, thinking there might be some more behind; but since that has passed, which is eight weeks ago last Sunday, I have been as well as ever I was in my life. The stone was securely wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.

I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are welcome to make such use of my name as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Berkshire; also in Connecticut. The advertisement saved me. Why not publish more? If any one wishes to see this wonder, they can do so. I could write all day, but I think I have said enough this time, so I remain your ever well-wisher, EDWARD L. HOWARD.

N. Y. S. VOL. INSTITUTE,
Corner of 5th av. and 76th st., Central Park.
(Home and School for the Sons of Deceased Soldiers.)

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

Two bottles only of the package of your valuable Buchu presented to the Institute have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the case of our little Lieutenant ALLS, his pride is no longer mortified, and he is free from the daily morning anathemas of the chamber-maid who has charge of his bedding.

I feel that a knowledge of the result of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save many a Superintendent and Matron of Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering more from weakness than from habit, may be spared punishment, that is (not knowing it as a weakness instead of a bad habit) most unjustly inflicted upon them. Thanking you on behalf of the children, and hoping others may be alike benefitted, I am respectfully yours,

COL. YOUNG, General Sup't and Director.

H. T. Helmbold, Druggist.

DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experiencing but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu.

I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised Remedies and had found them worthless, and moreover, injurious to me. I, (separate of ever getting well, and determined to use no Remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your Remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of Buchu, cubebs, and juniper berries, it occurred to me and my physician as an excellent combination; and, with his advice, we obtained a quantity of the article, and consulting again with the Druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced to use it about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room.

From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks was able to walk out. I feel much like writing to you a full statement of my case at the time, but thought my improvement might only be temporary, and I deferred writing to the writer, and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing that it would be of greater value to you and others satisfactory to me.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months. I have not used any now for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, and being a tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1870.

THE WAR DISPATCHES are very unsatisfactory. On one hand we have nothing additional from Berlin about the recent battles. Dates concerning recent events need verifying. From Paris on the other hand there comes the most positive assurances that McMahon won a brilliant victory on Wednesday, notwithstanding that on Tuesday the corps of General Failly was surprised and discomfited. These reports appear to be confirmed by a dispatch from Belgium to the New York Herald, saying that on Tuesday the Prussians forced McMahon back, but on Wednesday he turned and inflicted a severe blow on the Prussian army capturing thirty guns. Another dispatch which seems to add weight to this account is from Varennes via Berlin. It says that the Prussians defeated the French on Tuesday, inflicting heavy losses and capturing 20 guns, but has nothing to say of any fighting on Wednesday. It was only the New York Herald's special which reported a second battle and a Prussian victory on Wednesday, and the dispatch was from the same place as that published awarding victory to the French.

The Belgian newspapers publish the following telegram:—

Fighting commenced at 9 o'clock Thursday morning at Bazeilles. The French are said to have captured 30 guns.

French news-papers state that on the 26th Bazaine gained a substantial victory over Prince Frederick Charles' cavalry, and that on the 30th the Prussians obtained the advantage over De Failly's corps, but that next day, McMahon gained an important victory.

A battle had occurred at Courvielles, which resulted in a great victory for the French. Thirty thousand Prussians were placed hors du combat and a large convoy of provisions and baggage captured by the French.

The Patrie says, semi-officially, that the misrepresentations of foreign journals under Prussian influence render it necessary to make a clear statement of facts as to recent military events. Marshal McMahon, in carrying out his movements, has had several engagements with the enemy, in all of which he has been successful. He effected the crossing of the Meuse safely. At Longwy we gained a victory. The Prussians, who were defeated after a desperate struggle, took refuge in the territory of Luxemburg, where they are to be disarmed and obliged to remain. This information which has just been received here, comes from the French representative at Luxembourg. The Journal adds: "It is plain from the situation of Longwy, Thionville and Metz, that the plans of McMahon have so far been successfully executed."

The siege of Strasbourg continues, and a great slaughter has been occasioned by a vigorous bombardment. The garrison made a sortie on Tuesday night and drove the Germans several miles. The commander at Strasbourg has published his determination to the people to burn the city rather than surrender.

A writer in the Figaro says that Marshal Bazaine, in one of the battles around Metz, entrapped the Prussians, some 25,000 strong, into the Jaumont quarries by the aid of spies disguised as peasants. His cavalry then fell on their rear. Surprised and unable to wheel the Prussians were cut down and suffered terribly.

The Garde Mobile, on the new requisition for 100,000 men, is hurrying to the defence of Paris.

McMahon has 600 cannon and the army of Lyons (150,000) is on the march to join him.

A dispatch from Brussels says that after ten hours' hard fighting Gen. McMahon utterly defeated the Prussians, capturing thirty guns and many prisoners. Gen. Bazaine suddenly attacked the Prussian rear north of Montmedy, and routed them, driving them upon the Belgian frontier. The report is not officially confirmed from France, but it is generally believed that a great disaster has happened to the Prussian army.

Both sides claim the victory in Thursday's fight.

Telegrams from Belgium reiterate that the French have been successful in the recent battles. Bazaine is driving the Prussians toward Sedan, whilst McMahon gained a victory between Douzy and Bazielles.

Paris dispatches say that on Tuesday the Prussians were drawn by McMahon into an angle formed by the ramparts of Sedan and the heights upon the left bank of the Meuse, and they were very heavily punished.

A Prussian dispatch claims that 20 guns, 11 mitrailleuses and 7000 French troops had been captured.

Since Wednesday forenoon Bazaine's force has fought the First Prussian Corps, the battle ending in the latter's retreat.

THE EUROPEAN WAR.—What this great struggle between two mighty nations will do—how it will turn out in the end—is hard to tell; but (thanks to "our own correspondent" and the ocean telegraph,) it is easy to say what has already been done. One result of the conflict has been to unite Protestant and Catholic Germans under one banner, and the imperial, legitimist and republican parties of France under their national flag; united France is pitted against all Germany.

Another result has been the development of a great facility for fighting battles and annihilating armies by telegraph, and of a magnificent capacity for lying, on either side. It has also brought out the ability of King William as a general, (in fact, he acknowledges it himself,) and the thrilling calmness of Louis, the little French boy; also, the ability of soldiers to shed dramatic tears.

Each nation has its sympathizers in this country. Many side with Prussia, and hope France will lose, because the latter is Catholic and the former Protestant,—and vice versa; but religion has really nothing to do with the war, and Protestants and Catholics march on together in christian good-fellowship, under the allied colors, to cut the throats of Protestants and Catholics under the French flag.

But probably the principal reason for the dislike to France may be found in Napoleon's endeavors to injure this country during our own late war, by making a diversion in favor of the rebellion. For this he is hated by most men who favored the Union, (I hate him, good); and for the same reason, most of those who desired our destruction then, now desire his success.

One opponent of Prussia, I see, says that the government of that country is an arbitrary, aristocratic despotism, and the people barbarians; and says we owe France an immense debt of gratitude. I don't think the Prussian government is of much account, viewed from an American stand-point; but, if the Prussians are barbarians, all but two per cent. of their adult population can read and write, which can be said of no other people on earth—certainly not of the French. Nor have the Prussian barbarians introduced into Europe a horde of Mahometan savages, a part of whose religion it is to hate and destroy Christians, to add fresh horror to the horrors of European warfare. "Barbarism" is not monopolized by Prussia.

We owe much to France, certainly. But for her, we should have had no Lafayette, no History of the Massacre of St. Bartholomew, no claims for French spoliations; nay, even the chignon, with which for years our women have made themselves look like the devil, we owe to France. But we owe Germany a great deal, too; for Steuben, De Kalb and the Hessians, who all "assisted" in one way or another during our revolutionary war, were all Germans,—and thousands of Germans took sides with the Union in the late unpleasantness. Our gratitude is not wholly due to either side.

As to which nation is most to blame for this war, there probably is not much difference between them; Napoleon indeed made the first formal declaration of war, but Prussia was nothing loth to accept the situation. The two nations have been spoiling for a fight with each other, for some years, each being jealous of the other's power, and each confident of being able to crush, humiliate and rob the other. So far, the Prussian confidence appears to have had the best foundation; for the most unfavorable circumstance which has yet occurred to overshadow their hopes, is the support they have received from the British press—particularly the London Times. That paper lied so mightily about us and demonstrated the certainty of our final defeat so often during our war for existence, that it looks rather blue for the Prussians to have the French so often out-generaled and defeated by the impartial and honest London oracle.

The military successes of the combatants, at present seem to be a little mixed. From the most reliable accounts lately received from the seat of war, it appears that the Prussians were defeated with the loss of 50,000 men at Stenay, early in the week, and gained a great victory at the same time and place; that next day five German corps destroyed six French corps, and five French corps destroyed six German corps, on another field; the Prussians won a victory over McMahon on Wednesday and Thursday, killing 12,000 of his men and driving the rest towards Belgium, and taking 12 guns; on Wednesday and Thursday McMahon beat the Prussians, killing 12,000 men and driving the rest towards Belgium, taking 12 guns; Marshal Bazaine is still cooped up in Metz, but has cut his way out and joined McMahon, who has not been joined by him, he remaining of his own accord in Metz, where he has never been cooped up at all; the Crown Prince is marching in three different directions at once, and gaining victories and being defeated, daily; 2,000,000 men have been slain since the contest began, and ten times that number wounded; and each party carries on the war according to the most exalted notions of humanity and tenderness, while the other side is guilty of such savage atrocities as would appal a race of fiends. Such is the state of affairs at present; who can tell what the end will be? P.

PROPOSALS.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, D. C., September 1, 1870.

SEALED PROPOSALS to furnish materials for the several Navy Yards for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1871, will be received at this Bureau until 10 o'clock, A. M., of the 29th of September next, at which time the proposals will be opened.

Printed schedules, in which the materials and articles required are embraced, with form of offer and guarantee, will be furnished on application, or sent by mail, if so requested, to persons desiring to offer to contract for any or all of the classes named therein, by the commandants of the several Navy Yards and for the classes for the yards under their command, or by the paymaster nearest thereto, or by the Bureau for any or all of the yards.

To prevent confusion and mistakes in sealing the offers, no bid will be received which contains classes for more than one Yard in one envelope, nor any bid which is not perfect and complete in itself, according to the forms of offer and guaranty, and each individual of a firm must sign the bid and contract.

Bidders are referred to the printed instructions, which will be furnished with the schedules, and they are hereby cautioned, and particularly notified, that their offers should be made on the printed form prescribed by the Bureau, and be mailed in time to reach their destination before the time expires for receiving them.

No bid will be considered which shall be received after the prescribed hour, and no allowance will be made for failures of the mail.

The proposal must be accompanied by a certificate from the Collector of Internal Revenue for the district in which the bidder resides, that he has a license to deal in the articles for which he proposes; and by direction of the Department, bids or offers will be received only from parties who are bona fide dealers in, or manufacturers of, the articles they offer to furnish. The guaranty must be certified by the Assessor of Internal Revenue for the district in which they reside.

The contract will be awarded to the person who makes the lowest bid, if he has the articles required by law, the Navy Department, however, reserving the right to reject the lowest bid, or any which it may deem exorbitant.

Sureties in the full amount will be required to sign the contract, and their responsibility must be certified to the satisfaction of the Navy Department, and the bidder must state distinctly at what paymaster's office he desires all his bills to be paid.

To guard against offers being opened before the time appointed, bidders are requested to use the printed envelopes, furnished by the Bureau, endorsed thus: "Proposals for classes Nos. (name the classes) for the Navy Yard at, (name the yard.") "To the Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, Navy Department, Washington, D. C."

The schedule will state the times within which articles will be required to be delivered. If any articles are inserted in the schedules which are not known to be in common and general use, the bidders will ascertain promptly whether such articles can be purchased or not, and if they cannot be obtained, the fact must be reported to the Bureau at once, before bids shall be received.

All offers not made in strict conformity with the instructions accompanying the schedules will, at the option of the bureau, be rejected.

As additional security, twenty per centum will be withheld from the amount of the bills until the contracts shall have been completed, and eighty per centum of the amount of each bill, approved (in duplicate) by the commandant of the respective yards, will be paid by the paymaster of the station designated in the contract, within ten days after the same shall have been audited, or have been passed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Sound Logic For the Sick.

The invalid has often good reasons to exclaim, "save me from my friends." As a general thing, each of them will have a different medicine to propose, and if he follows all their prescriptions in turn, their well-meant advice may be the death of him. The only sensible course in any case of sickness is to resort promptly to a specific which has stood the test of a long and widely extended public experience, and obtained on solid and sufficient grounds the reputation of a Standard Remedy. This rank among the restoratives of our day belongs of right, and beyond all dispute, to HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

Let those who are taking it at this debilitating season as an invigorant answer for themselves as to its tonic properties. Can any dyspeptic, who has ever used it, question its superiority as a stomachic over every other medicine? Can any person of bilious habit, who has ever taken it for liver complaint doubt its efficiency? It is believed among the tens of thousands who are now using, or who have used it as an alterative and corrective, not one can be found who would exchange it for any other preparation in the known world. For intermittent fevers, nervous debility, constipation, sick stomach, and all complaints arising from indigestion or impoverishment of the blood, it is the only article which can be conscientiously guaranteed, and no one who is thoroughly acquainted with its virtues will allow interested dealers in worthless slops, on which they make a larger profit, to furnish them in the place of the great vegetable restorative.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world: the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable, instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effect of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautiful, black or brown. Sold by all Druggist and Perfumers, and properly applied at Batchelor's Wig Factory, No. 16 Bond Street, New York. 1ydawje2

1840. PERRY DAVIS' 1870.

Vegetable "Pain Killer,"

After THIRTY YEARS trial, is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues, from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Physicians of the first respectability recommend it as a most effectual preparation for the extinction of pain. It is not only the best remedy ever known for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c., but for Dysentery or Cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency and rapidity of action. In the great cities of India, and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, and other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and conclusive testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. Sold by all druggists. dawlms1

House For Sale—H. F. Wendell.
Blind Clairvoyant Physician—Mrs. S. C. Jewell.

☞ The funeral services of the late N. A. H. Ball, who died in Nevada, will take place this afternoon under Masonic management.

☞ Judging from the occupants of a string of small sized carriages, that we saw upon our streets recently. We conclude that some parties have taken a fatherly interest in the increase of the present census, in this city.

☞ The Marine Band serenaded Rear Admiral Smith at the Sagamore, Thursday evening. Every body likes their music but wouldn't it be better for Government to abolish this $8000 Band than to discharge clerks from the Navy Yard?

WHO IS IT?—Several people declare that they have seen at low tide, off Tucker's wharf, a human body, swinging about as if moored to the bottom of the river. The body is supposed to be that of a woman as it has long hair. Marshal Johnson will solve the mystery at low tide this morning. The water is 12 feet deep at that time.

☞ The game of base ball at the Plains, Saturday, between the Muffers and Granite States was closed at the end of the 5th inning; score, Granite States 85, Muffers 22. The Muffers were allowed six outs.

The rubber game between the Muffer nines will probably come off next Thursday afternoon.

THEATRE.—E. M. Leslie's Boston Comedy Company will appear at the Temple, Saturday evening, Sept. 10th. Mr. Leslie has with him Miss Fanny Herring, the celebrated tragic, comic, pantomimic and burlesque actress from Wood's Museum, New York. Yankee Locke, Thos. H. Burns and a good stock company support Miss Herring.

☞ Mr. Oliver P. Kennard, who died a few days since in this city, at the age of 84 years, was one of our oldest and most respected citizens, and a most genial old gentleman. The Messrs. Kennard, jewellers, (of Bigelow Bros. & Kennard, and others,) of Boston, were his sons — only one of whom was able to be present at the funeral, one being absent in Europe, and another sick in Boston. He was an old member of the Mechanic Association, a delegation of which attended his funeral.

Mr. Daniel Pepper, also an old citizen, was a man much respected by all who knew him. He was formerly a weaver, and educated his family to this business; and his two sons, John and William, are now engaged in the same at Lake Village and Ipswich the first named, being the well known power loom inventor.

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN, Sept. 1, the Rockingham National Bank called for gold for bonds and coupons dated prior to Feb. 1862. Voted to pay the same under protest; also to pay Portsmouth Savings Bank coupons in gold under protest.

Application of Jos. H. Clark for leave to put awning posts in Vaughan St., was referred to Committee on Sts. with power.

Charles N. Roberts, Henry Wallace and Levi Moulton, Jr., were appointed special police without pay.

Two weeks' leave of absence was granted to Marshal Johnson.

The Mayor was authorized to offer John H. Folsom $25 for strip of land to widen Hill Street.

The Fleet Street widening petition had a hearing and was laid on the table.

Com. on Streets and Mayor were authorized to make such repairs as were needed for the public safety to North Mill Bridge.

The cess pool matter came up in the shape of a notice from Heman Eldridge that he had been notified by the Health officers to remove or destroy a large quantity of stagnant water, decayed animal and decaying vegetable substances and other offensive matter, in the enclosure owned by him. Mr. Eldredge says that he shall look to the city for compensation for all loss, cost and damage to which he may be subjected by reason of the existence and defective construction of the city sewers crossing his land.

Mr. Eldredge's communication was laid on the table.

It is expected the Health officers will begin to fill up the cess pool next week.

Adjourned for two weeks.

New Hampshire Items.

Parties who have not give notice of their intention to enter live stock at the New England fair cannot be accommodated after this date as all the pens and stalls are engaged.

The complete census returns of Nashua make the population of that city 10,532—an increase of 467 since 1860. The females outnumber the males 1083. The foreign born population number 2311. Number of houses, 1890; number of families, 2286.

☞ There should be some way to prevent the infernal din kept up by the rag-tags who make the Temple anything but a pleasant place for decent people to congregate when an entertainment is about to commence; and the scallawags should not be tolerated if they persist in applauding by ear-piercing whistles and demoniac screams. The receipts of the proprietors of shows would be larger were the audiences kept quiet and the public at large made acquainted with the fact.

NEWSPAPORIAL.—The Boston Herald circulated 84,293 copies daily during the month of August, an increase of 9000 over the previous month. The Herald is the only paper in New England printed from stereotyped forms. It is very successfully managed.

The Boston Times is thriving under the management of R. C. Dunham. It has been enlarged and is now sold at two cents.

UNPLEASANTICITIES. — Among the dozen or more stabbing and shooting affrays in New York Sunday, were those in which Mrs. Mary Brown, Stanton street, split her husband's head open with a hatchet, and Mrs. Mary Vaughan corrected her husband by hurling a kerosene lamp, which took effect in the small of his back, and prostrated him forever.

☞ A little daughter of a wealthy resident of Elmwood, Providence, was recently rescued from drowning by a laborer happening near the place after the child had gone to the bottom of the pond, and the generous father presented him with five dollars for saving his daughter's life.

NAVAL.—Capt. C. G. Corbin, Lieut. Isaac I. Yates, and Midshipmen Geo. W. Holman, Wm. P. Conway, Chas. E. Vreeland, Haile C. Nye and John D. Keeler have reported for duty on U. S. S. California. G. J. Marbury of New York has been appointed Captain's Clerk.

☞ The result of the Northern vs. Concord R. R. case is that Hon. Onslow Stearns and Fred. Smyth are appointed receivers to take possession of the road during the pending of the suit. The opinion of the majority of the Court was delivered by Justice Doe.

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this line, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security.

These bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par, besides paying about 9 per cent., currency, interest in the meanwhile. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices only return five per cent.; and we regard the security equally safe.

Morning Chronicle.

"BILL FOR ADVICE."—The following story is related of a very penurious physician, in a certain town in the region of "down-east," which shall for the present be nameless. The story is entirely authentic, and is told in the dialect of those parts by a simple minded narrator:—

"I 'xpect you're hearn tell of Dr. A., hain't you?"

"No, I never have."

"Well, then, I'll tell you. You see, one day I met the doctor at Simpkin's store, a-buying some groceries. It was awful cold. I felt a little hoarse, and my tongue was dreadfully furred up. So says I to the doctor, says I—

"'My head feels a little achish like; what do you think I had better do?"

"'Why, friend S.,' says the doctor, says he, 'the best thing you can do is to go straight home and soak your feet, and take a sweat; 'cause if you don't,' says he, 'like as not you may have a fever.'"

"Says I, 'Doctor, I was just a thinkin' that a little sweat would do me good, and guess I'll go home and try it right away.'"

"Well, I did; I went home and took a bowlful of tansy tea, bitter as gall, and if I didn't sweat like a beaver, 'taint no matter. The next morning my head was as clear as a bell, and I was as good as ever I was.

Well, a day or two afterward I met the doctor, and after a little talkin', says the doctor, says he—

"'Neighbor S., I've got a little bill ag'in you.'"

"I looked at him clus, and says I, 'A bill, doctor?"

"'Yes,' says he, 'a bill for advice, you know, at Simkin's store the other day.'"

"What do you think he had gone and done? He'd act'ally charged me tow dollars for telling me to go home and take a sweat, which I was just going to do myself."

"'Doctor,' says I, (for I didn't want to appear small, you know,) 'it's all right; I'll bear it in mind.'"

"Well, a few days after, the doctor was passin' my door in his chaise, and somehow or 'nother one of the wheels got a little loose; so says I, 'Doctor, ef you don't drive that linchpin in an inch or so, that wheel will come off.'"

"Says he, 'Thank you,' and he took a stun and driv in the pin."

"Well, I went into the house and jest made a charge of it; and when he came along the next time I presented him the bill."

"Hello!" says the doctor, says he; 'what on airth is this for?' says he.

"'Why, it's for advice,' says I."

"'Advice?' says he; 'what advice? I hain't had none o' your advice.'"

"'Why, for drivin' in your wheel-pin;' and I've only charged you two dollars and twenty-five cents; and ef I hadn't given you the advice, it might have cost you twenty times as much."

"'Well,' says the doctor, 'the difference between your bill and mine is just twenty-five cents.'"

"'That's all you owe me,' said I."

"'Well, I'll bear it in mind," said he."

"And I 'xpect he will; he's as tight as a candle-mould, the doctor is, and I guess he is able to bear it in mind."

PRENTICE ON TRAIN.—George D. Prentice thus photographed George Francis Train:—

"A locomotive that has run off the track, turning upside down, with its cow-catcher buried in a stump, and the wheels making a thousand revolutions a minute—a kite in the air, which has lost its tail—a human novel without a hero—a man who climbs for a bird's nest out on the limb, and in order to get it saws the limb off between himself and the tree—a ship without a rudder—a clock without hands—a sermon that is all text—a pantomime of words—an arrow shot in the air—the apotheosis of talk—the incarnation of gab. Handsome, vivacious, versatile, muscular, neat as a cat, clean to the marrow, a judge of the effects of clothes, frugal in food, and regular only in habits—a poon day mystery—a solved conundrum—a practical joke in earnest—a cipher hunting a figure to pass for something; with the brains of twenty men in his head, all pulling different ways; not bad as to heart, but a man who has shaken hands with reverence.

BADLY CUT UP.—A man was cut in the abdomen in a fight, and a learned disciple of Esculapius sent for, who, after looking at the patient, delivered himself as follows:—"Bad case; incised cut of the perineum membranus—through the umbillicus misrotany to the liner album. The viscus and sigmum are incised, and the puleric orifice of the hepathic ductus is lacerated to the anterior spinus of the attachment of the fifth rib." A friend of the sufferer went out for air, and on being asked, "How was Sam?" replied: "Ah, poor fellow! there is no hope for him; the doctor says all the Latin parts of his bowels are destroyed, and he must die."

COMPOSITORS in the New York Tribune office are fined ten cents for each profane word uttered on the premises, the money so gathered being given to the poor. A new hand lost nearly a week's wages one night over a bit of Greeley's manuscript.

—Juvenile eagerness and maternal solicitude are skillfully blended in the following lines:—

"Mudder, may I schwimmin went?"

"Nix, my grossa daughter;
I bet twice more as futty cent
Dat you get drowned in the votter."

—How to scrape an acquaintance—get a situation as an assistant in a Turkish bath.

KING BILLY of Prussia is a trump. He has the credit of being the greatest aristocrat who occupies a throne in Europe, and of being personally unpopular among his subjects. King Billy is three years beyond the allotted span of three score years and ten, and still gets excited as if he were young again. He left Berlin and his Queen and rushed to the front before Napoleon had confidence sufficient to order an advance of the French army. Then this gay old William grew eager for the fray and found fault with the slowness of his generals. So impetuous was he, that he gave the order for advance, following his army at a safe distance. Since that he has spent his time in telegraphing news of success to Mrs. King Billy, closing with those memorable words so characteristic of his modesty—"I commanded." Does this delighted old crazytic ever think amid all the glory and gore of the battle field, whether or no he is responsible for any portion of the tens of thousands of lives lost? Every body knows that Napoleon is, but how about King Billy? Isn't it about time he went home—to his long home? And will his last days on earth, so few as they must be, be days of peace, because he is such a successful old clam, in conquering that subdued rat, nominally known as Emperor of France?

☞ The bodies of James H. and Frederick Owens, brothers, were found floating in Providence bay. They were last seen alive on Sunday evening, in a sail boat, fighting, both being somewhat intoxicated. It is supposed that in a struggle both fell overboard and were drowned. Their boat was found drifted ashore the next morning, with marks of a bloody fight, their dog being the only occupant.

☞ Sampson, Davenport & Co., the great Diretory publishers, of Boston, are now canvassing for their New England Business Directory for 1871, which will probably be issued in January next.

HIGH STRUNG.—Said an American to an Irishman, "My ancestors came from Ireland—my name is Bryant; did you ever know of any people of that name in Ireland?"

"Oh, yes, a great many of them."

"Well, what sort of people were they? Pretty high strung, were they not?"

"Oh, yes, I've seen a great many of them strung so high that their feet did not touch the ground."

—Why are types like criminals? Because it ain't proper to lock them up without proof.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

EPPING CAMP MEETING.—Wednesday evening.—The day had been warm, but the evening was cool and agreeable. The congregation was made up of those who tarry on the ground, and some in the vicinity. The sermon was by Rev. Mr. Fitcher of Lawrence.

Thursday,—fourth day. — This was the great day of attendance. Perhaps four of five thousand were seated, while at least a thousand remained on the outskirts, not wishing to hear.

Sermon by Rev. D. C. Knowles of Lowell. The subject was, Christ the world's Advocate. It was clearly and ably presented. Some might think some expressions too harsh; we express no opinion as to that. He said rationalists were in the sure way to hell; also that all who did not accept Christ as their personal Saviour were bound to the same region. In this last class he specified the President of the United States, who would be lost, unless he came to Christ.

In the afternoon, Rev. Mr. Bidwell of Auburn, Mass., preached. His text was in Revelation, 10th chapter, relative to an angel saying, "Time should be no longer." Subject, All things passing to a consummation. Things that exist, time and eternity, were considered. Modern geologists, who condemn the Bible, were sent higher than a kite. The riches, honors and bliss of the future life of the good, were vividly set forth. The imagination sometimes had full play, but the discourse was interesting in most of its parts.

A word as to the encampment. We did not ascertain the number of tents, but think there are more than 100. Quite a number are convenient houses or cottages of wood. Some 40 are in a circle that surrounds the seats and preachers' stand. Then others a little back. Then there is Brodhead Avenue and Perkins Avenue, leading off from the circle eastward; Cass Avenue, that intersects these two north and south; then Wesley Avenue, west of the circle. On some of these avenues tents are numerous, with very pretty cottages. J.

ANCIENT APPAREL.—A Wolfeborough man having indiscreetly bragged of the toughness of a pair of cowhides that have graced his extremities at intervals for thirty years, all the State is over hauling its old duds and telling how musty they smell. Mr. David Wingate of Rochester has found in his ragbag a pair of stockings which have been footed fifty times, and legged seven times, making the stockings fifty-seven years old. A shirt that he still continues to pull over his head is only fifty-six years of age. A woman resident in the same place, flaunts in the face of the public "a garment," whatever that may be, that she made seventy-two years ago. How many times it has been turned or the tucks let out, we do not know. On our part we have a paper collar that our great grandmother's first cousin wore at the marriage of Pocahontas—we wear it on Sundays; an orange wood toothpick thrown away by Aaron Burr on Blennerhassett's Island—good yet: and the spittoon that Cotton Mather used to squirt tobacco juice into, on the sly. All these can be seen at our office.—Patriot.

THE CENSUS. — Returns from 107 towns in this State figure up 151,684. The same towns in 1860 had 154,178, showing a loss of 2494. The entire loss in the State will probably reach 6000 to 7000.

The population of Strafford County in 1860 was 31,492. The gross loss in nine towns of the thirteen is 2263. The gain of 510 in Dover and the gains in Rochester, Farmington and Somersworth will largely offset this, so that the net loss will not be over 500.

YORK COUNTY, ME.—The house, stable and shed of Edward Brackett, of Saco, were burned Thursday night. Nearly all of his household furniture, hay, tools, and horse, two cows, &c., were burned also.

Mr. Alonzo Mills employed in Goodall's mills at Sanford Corner, had one arm drawn in between the rollers, up to the shoulder, when the machinery broke, or it would have torn the arm from its socket. The arm was broken twice.—Biddeford Journal.

☞ An old lawyer says that the three most troublesome clients he ever had were a young woman who wanted to be married, a married woman who wanted a divorce, and an old maid who didn't know what she wanted.

—It is a fact worth noticing that the Chinese who come to New York invariably marry Irish wives.

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood-purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it far more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, morbid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention or the incontinence of urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

TESTIMONY.

SAVANNAH, TENN., May 14, 1869.

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract of Buchu" in this county about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our town, named J. B. Estell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

About 8 months ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
ECCLES & HINKLE, Druggists.

H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by spells very much for a few days past. But yesterday relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from my bladder about the size of a large pea, and I now feel perfectly well and entirely free from the pain that I have suffered with "so hard." I attribute my cure to your medicine entirely, and would recommend all persons similarly affected to try it. I have great faith in its curative powers.

Yours truly, THOMAS J. BENNETT.

Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as myself, to say that after consulting many eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the best advertised remedies in the vain hope of finding relief from aggravated kidney and bladder diseases, from which I have suffered excessively for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.

At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicines cannot be expected to beworks after me as they otherwise would, I have found such unspeakable relief and permanent benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel I ought in duty to record the fact, as an acknowledgment to him, and a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,

D. M. LAREN.

DR. KEYSER
is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Hear him:

Mr. H. T. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion of your Fluid Extract Buchu, I may that I have purchased and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used, or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.

I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extract—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.

I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.

Respectfully yours, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.

Mr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physicians present. Incosed please find our rates to advertise. Yours, T. I. D. R. STENHOUSE,
Ed'r and Prop'r of Telegraph.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.
TESTIMONIALS.

A Permanent Cure of Gravel of twelve Years' Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.

Dr. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon facts respecting myself. I do not know hardly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer man could be and live; but more sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I have been sometimes from twelve to fourteen hours, and wanted to make water every minute, but could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this State, and taken pills, I may say by the quart, also liquoral medicines, but found no relief from any, and got worse the last six months. I was so that I could scarcely get about, I could not rest night or day.

It would soon have been "all up" with me if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it through and thought I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost me so much? Well, I began taking it, and before I had taken the first bottle I felt bad; but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I will give worse (apparently). When I walked it seemed as if my right kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had finished the second, that I had madeup my mind it was of no use trying any more—and all the time the "Buchu" was doing its work, but I did not know it, so I gave it up and went to Hartford on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have to undergo an operation. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.

On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and in the afternoon I had a desire to make water, but could not. About one hour after this I voided again, with the same result; but the next time I took the vessel it was the most astonishing sweat and stopping it off again. It was so for three times, and the third time there was something came through the sweat and stopping against the side of the vessel. I examined it, and it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw, covered over with little pieces which collected together. It looks the color of a mud turtle, and is as hard as flint. So you see the "Buchu" was doing its work, although I was feeling so badly. I procured another bottle, thinking there might be some more behind; but since that has passed, which is eight weeks ago last Sunday, I have been as well as ever I was in my life. The stone accompanied wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.

I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are welcome to make such use of my name as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Berkshire; also in Connecticut. The advertisement saved me. Why not publish more? If any one wishes to write about my case, they can do so. I could write all day, but I think I have said enough this time, so I remain your ever well-wisher, DAVID W. HOWARD,

N. Y. S. VOL. INSTITUTE,
Corner of 5th av. and 76th st., Central Park.
(Home and School for the Sons of Deceased Soldiers.)

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

Two bottles only of the package of your valuable Buchu presented to the Institute have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the case of our little Lieutenant A. J., his pride is no longer mortified, and he is free from the daily morning anathemas of the chamber-maid who has charge of the bedding.

I feel that a knowledge of the result of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save many a Superintendent and Matron of Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering from the effects of bed-wetting, may be thus spared punishment, that is (not knowing it as a weakness instead of a bad habit) most unjustly inflicted. I shall be happy to recommend it to the children, and hoping others may be alike benefitted, I am respectfully yours,

COL. YOUNG, General Sup't and Director.

H. T. Helmbold, Druggist.

DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experiencing but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu.

I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised Remedies and had found them worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no Remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your Remedy. As you advertised that it was compounded of Buchu, cubebs, and juniper berries, it occurred to me and my physician as an excellent combination; and, with his advice and the co-operation of the article, and consulting again with the Druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced to use it about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room.

From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks was able to walk out. I felt much like writing to you a full statement of my case at the time, but thought my improvement might only be temporary, and I concluded to defer the matter, and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing that it would be of greater value to you and more satisfactory to me.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months. I have not used any now for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1870.

THE WAR. — The dispatches published Saturday morning give reports of two additional great battles, one at Sedan between McMahon and the Crown Prince on Thursday, and another at Metz between Bazaine and Prince Charles, which began on Wednesday and ended on Thursday. A force of 3000 French soldiers, taking with them two guns, sought safety from the Prussians on Belgian soil. They were at once disarmed and sent to a military camp. The French capital seems not to be in communication with either McMahon or Bazaine. In London there was a rumor that Napoleon was dead, and in Paris it was reported that King William was insane. Some French sharpshooters have made a bold dash across the Rhine, capturing some Prussian supplies.

On Wednesday the Prussians assumed the offensive, but were drawn under the guns at Sedan, where they suffered terribly before they succeeded in passing the river.

Marshal Bazaine undertook to cut his way out from the shelter of the fortifications of Metz. The battle lasted all the day and evening, when on Thursday morning he was again driven within the walls. The losses were extremely severe on both sides.

General McMahon was wounded in the battle on Thursday.

At Courcelles, on the 26th ult., Gen. Bazaine, while fighting to evacuate Metz, drew the cavalry of Prince Frederick Charles into a trap. A bloody fight took place, and the cavalry were badly cut up. Many prisoners were taken, and the Prince himself made a narrow escape from capture.

Prussia will demand all the territory on the frontier, including Metz, as a primary basis for any settlement of the present war.

A sanguinary battle previous to the surrender was fought Friday from 5 A. M. to 3 P. M. between Mairz and Donzey. At 3 P. M. the crisis was decided by a bayonet charge along the whole line. The French were driven across the Meuse, and the Prussians occupied the battle-field.

The Tribune has a special from Berlin confirming Marshal McMahon's defeat and surrender.

King William telegraphed home from Sedan, Saturday, as follows:—A capitulation, whereby the whole army at Sedan are prisoners of war, has just been concluded with General Wimpfen commanding, instead of Marshal McMahon, who is wounded. The Emperor surrendered himself to me, as he has no command, and left everything to the Regent at Paris. His residence I shall appoint, after an interview with him, at a rendezvous to be fixed immediately.

A London dispatch says the London papers disbelieve that Paris will accept the capitulation of the Emperor and McMahon. Count Palikao must disclaim all complicity with Gen. Wimpfen's surrender, and avow his readiness to follow wherever France leads the way, or else his life is not worth a centime.

Gen. Failly was shot. One account says that it was by McMahon's orders, and others by his own soldiers.

The Empress has enjoined the Prince Imperial to return to Paris. He has refused, and a decree has been issued, stripping him of the rank of Prince and Senator, and withdrawing his dotation.

A telegram received at the International Office, Sunday, says the surrender is confirmed. In surrendering, Napoleon said to King King William: "As I cannot die at the head of my army, I lay my sword at the feet of your Majesty." He is to be taken to Magdeburgh and afterwards to Hesse Cassel.

The Prince Imperial is in Belgium, but will return to Paris if there should be no revolution there.

Special dispatches say that Marshal Bazaine capitulated on Friday.

Paris is without news of Napoleon's surrender, but is agitated by rumors of a Republic, with Gen. Trochu at the head.

BOSTON, Sept. 2.

The work of demolition and reconstruction goes rapidly on in Boston. White stately piles rise almost magically where the city tends southward, small antiquated buildings vanish in the older portions of the city and are replaced by a class of buildings unexcelled in any part of the Union. Fort Hill, (with its Sabbath riot, that now sounds like some dim tradition,) is rapidly fading from existence; straight, wide streets, lined on either hand by blocks of fine stores, replace the narrow and tortuous alleys that wound up and down through that once noted abode of filth, brutality, squalor and crime.

The great Sears' Building has a worthy rival in the chaste white marble structure at the corner of Devonshire and State streets. At the lower end of the Common, opposite the Masonic Temple, one of the finest blocks in the city is in course of erection. The Adams Building, as it is called, bids fair to offer one of the most pleasing architectural displays to be found in the "Hub." Its elegant Scotch granite columns call to mind the remark of a woman who, walking in East Norwegian street, in Pottsville, Pa., was attracted by the beautiful Scotch granite monument which stands in a marble yard. She asked, "What is it really?" The proprietor told her that it was a granite monument. "Shure," said she, "I thought it was sausage mate in a glass case!"

Up at the South end the splendid Stevens Block, the great Catholic Cathedral, and the new Washington Market first catch the eye. The latter will soon be opened to the public, and its fine, light, spacious stalls and general air of cleanliness will remind the visitor of anything rather than its dirty namesake in New York.

The widening of Hanover and of Eliot streets is being vigorously pushed—that of Purchase and High streets being nearly completed—and in all parts of the city the ring of the trowel and the stroke of the hammer tell that Boston is true to her great idea of progress.

Last week the Boylston Market, erected in 1809, was moved about a dozen feet southward, to admit the widening of this much travelled thoroughfare. Its length is 160 feet by 54, and with the exception of the Hotel Pelham, it is the heaviest structure ever moved in Boston. Though occupying more space, it weighs less than Hotel Pelham, its weight being 3000 tons. The building was moved on 18 iron ways, each having four plates, and 13 slush ways bedded on block granite, and run crosswise under the market. Large iron screws ranged along one side and turned by a gang of men with levers, moved the building one-eighth of an inch at every turn. The water, gas and drain pipes were kept in operation while the work is going on, and none of the occupants of the market disturbed. The job cost at least $30,000. I took a slight ride in the building while it was on its travels, but though its progress was perceptible, the market was removed with so much steadiness, that the clock in the tower was not at all effected while the building was sliding southward. There is no truth whatever in the insinuations of some ill-natured individuals that this Market was moved in order to allow your correspondent a wider street through which to wend his homeward way at night.

Government is hardly so energetic in its improvements as our citizens, and at the rate the new Post Office has progressed during the last two months, we may look for its completion about the same time the New Orleans custom house is finished.

While in a store opposite the site of the new Post Office, a few days since, there entered a man, somewhat advanced in years, but hale and well preserved. He introduced himself by saying: "I worked on this spot forty years ago; it was then a blacksmith's shop. I wanted to come back and see how the old place had changed! Change was all he did see—the elegant office of the Post, the embryo Post Office, the widened streets, all told the mutability of man's work in a busy city.

While the watering places on the direct line of the Eastern Railroad have drawn almost unaccounted thousands, some idea of the attractiveness of Marblehead as a seaside residence and resort may be gathered from the fact that the number of passengers who passed over the Marblehead branch of the Eastern Railroad during the months of July and August exceeded 100,000.

Here is the translation, your readers may easily solve this foreign tongue by its assistance:

"S.S.—Pray return—all's right." M.

☞ Great excitement prevailed at Boothbay, Maine, caused by a lawless raid made by Cape Cod and Cape Ann fishermen. It appears that some two hundred and fifty sail of mackerel catchers had made a harbor at Boothbay, out of which some one hundred fishermen proceeded to the house of widow Sargent and daughter, and, on being denied admittance, proceeded to force an entrance by staving in a door and then entering. The house contained, besides these women, a nephew of theirs, who, on the entering of this gang of ruffianly fishermen, fired on the crowd, wounding several of them, with a charge of small shot. The fishermen, nowise daunted, continued the assault, beating the inmates of the house terribly, especially the women, and ending by tearing up the floor, nailing up the windows to prevent the citizens from seeing the flames when kindled, and then set fire to the house from the inside, barely giving time for the occupants to escape. The rioters then proceeded to their vessels, after stealing nearly every boat in the harbor to reach the fleet, and then turning them adrift, without regard to their recovery; the depredators then escaped, and on the next morning put to sea. It is doubtful whether the nephew recovers.

☞ Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Minnesota Railroad Bonds are being rapidly subscribed for. These Bonds are First Mortgage Convertible Sinking Fund 7 per cent. Gold Bonds. A security equal to 5-20 and paying double the return at present prices. Investors will do well to subscribe speedily to the small balance of this loan remaining unsold, as an immediate advance above the subscription price may be looked for on the completion of the negotiation of the issue.

☞ The seaport town of Samsonn, Asia Minor, has been destroyed by fire. Five hundred houses and six churches were laid in ashes. Many are suffering terribly for want of food and shelter. 85 houses were burned at Yerridge in Macedon, and another fire occurred at Moldavia, where 1800 houses were consumed.

☞ Private telegrams from Pekin announce that another massacre had been committed by the Chinese of that city. The British consul is said to have been among the victims.

COMPLIMENTARY.—A Portland correspondent of the Boston News speaks of this city as "drowsy Portsmouth."

☞ It is said that a San Francisco cat got into the room of an orator somewhat noted as a traveller and speech-maker, and tried to suck his breath. As the story goes, the cat soon bursted, the wind in him being more than she could manage.

Many suffer rather than take nauseous medicines. All who suffer from coughs, colds, irritation of the bronchial tubes or tendency to consumption, will find in Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry a remedy as agreeable to the palate as effectual in removing disease. The Balsam is a pleasant remedy; it is a safe remedy; it is a powerful remedy; it is a speedy remedy; it is a remedy that cures.

HAWK, HAWK, SPIT, SPIT, BLOW, BLOW, and disgust everybody with the offensive odor from your Catasrrh, just because some fogy doctor who has not discovered and will not believe that the world moves, tells you that it cannot be cured. The proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will pay $500 reward for a case of Catarrh he cannot cure. Sold by druggists, or send sixty cents to R. V. Pierce, M. D., 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y., for it. A pamphlet free. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Remember that the Genuine has Dr. Pierce's private Government Stamp upon each package. This Stamp issued by the United States Government expressly for stamping Dr. Pierce's medicines, hash is portrait, name and address, engraved upon it, and need not be mistaken.

FATAL TO THE TEETH — Are all acid preparations. They may bleach the enamel, but they as surely dissolve and destroy it. SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Season of Exhaustion.

The close sultry weather which usually prevails toward the end of summer is particularly unfavorable to the feeble and enervated. Even the well-knit frames of strong men feel the influence of the season, and lassitude and languor pervade the whole community. Ladies, especially those in delicate health, suffer much from debility, occasioned by the humid heat, and feel the want of a wholesome invigorant. In fact, a necessity for something to recruit the exhausted system is experienced, more or less, by everybody, and the only question is, what that something will be. With those who have tested the effect of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS on themselves, or have observed its effects on others, this question will not be in doubt for a single moment.

Its tonic and regulating operation, and its agency in creating a healthy appetite and promoting digestion, are rightly chased by all who have resorted to this unequalled vegetable invigorant and corrective, among the most extraordinary therapeutic wonders of modern times. It should be taken at this season as a safeguard against the epidemic diseases which are so apt to attack the relaxed system in the fall of the year.

As it is understood that mercenary speculators in various parts of the country are endeavoring to supersede the standard tonic of the age with worthless articles manufactured by themselves which they represent to be superior to this long tried remedy, it is proper to put the public on their guard against this species of imposition, and to warn them against the deleterious trash with which dishonorable dealers seek to drench them.

In the great cities of India, and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, and other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. Sold by all druggists. dawlm1

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

KATE FIELD ON PORTSMOUTH.—En Route For the Shoals.—Let the starting point be Portsmouth; a name most suitable for this place, it being the river's mouth, and good as any in this land—"so swear its godfathers." And now that we are in Portsmouth, and are standing on the wharf waiting for passengers and baggage, let us talk about Portsmouth, for Portsmouth is a highly respectable town. It has a pedigree. In old colonial times, it was the home of quality. It could boast of a delightful inn, with the sign of the "Earl of Halifax," that in revolutionary days became the "William Pitt;" but the sign that should have endured forever, has crumbled into dust, and few who pass through Pitt street, know what stories the old frame building, so neglected in its old age, might tell, if there were ears to listen.

Here came Lafayette, young and handsome, to visit French officers, who were boarding at the William Pitt. Here he came again 40 years later. Here Louis Philippe and his brothers took refuge during the French Revolution, and better than princes of France, is George Washington, who here took his farewell of New Hampshire.

Portsmouth, too, has had its taste of good Protestant inquisition. In 1662 the town meeting passed an order "that a cage be made, or some other means by the Selectmen, to punish such as sleepe or take tobacco on the Lord's day out of the meeting in the time of the public exercise." So they built a cage twelve feet square and seven feet high, with studs six inches broad, four inches thick, the openings between which were three inches. "A substantial payre of stocks" and a pillory were likewise included in this order, and very good service did they all do.

One hundred years later a woman was publicly whipped on Market square for stealing a pair of boots. The whipping-post was the town pump, and there, with bare shoulders and back, the wretched creature submitted to the lashing of the Sheriff's cat-o'-nine-tails. She "had a great number of spectators to see this good work performed," says the next week's newspapers, "and it is hoped that others, who so justly deserve it, will soon be brought to the same place to receive their deserts."

Four years later and Portsmouth justice was weighed out to Ruth Blay, a school-mistress and a girl of good education for that era, who was indicted for concealing the death of an illegitimate child. It might have been stillborn, but the benefit of the doubt was not given in those halcyon days. The penalty was death, and death it should be. So Ruth Blay was arrayed in silk, and dragged through the streets in a cart. No sooner had she arrived at the gallows than the Sheriff, who greatly feared that he might be late for dinner, launched his victim into eternity. It is true that a reprieve was expected from the Governor, but hot dinners wait for no man; so the Sheriff shuffled off her mortal coil with an expedition worthy of the nineteenth century. The cart had no sooner been driven away and Ruth Blay left dangling in the air, than the reprieve arrived and Portsmouth indignation revenged itself by erecting an effigy before the Sheriff's house.

"Am I to lose my dinner
This woman for to hang?
Come, draw away the cart, my boys,
Don't stop to say amen.
Draw away, draw away the cart."

That was the last execution witnessed in Portsmouth. They could afford to hang school-mistresses in those days, for schools were rarer than angels' visits, yet though Portsmouth hanged a woman who was afterward proved to be innocent, it was a woman, one Bridget Graffort, who, in 1700, presented a lot of land for a public schoolhouse. The sun of public schools had not then risen, and to Mrs. Graffort Portsmouth owes the funding of the State St. school. That it does not bear her name is only another example of how virtue is invariably its own reward. At that epoch spelling was carried on according to phonetic principles; highways was "hiwase," and in 1663 the town recorder made the following entry:

"Sept. 3. At a generell town meten this day, the towne in generell have referde the case of Goodwife Evens to the selectmen, in case she bee sent from Borstorne Jale, consarnen hir keepen in the towne or senden hir to hir husband."

Mrs. Evans was declared to be a witch. Such are the good old times for which the righteous sigh. Portsmouth present has no such tales to tell as Portsmouth past, and we are not loth to turn our backs upon her—pretty though she be—as Baker cries "All aboard for the Shoals!" It is well that wind and tide are in our favor, (this was before the days of steamers,) or we should be condemned to a mile row to Newcastle ere we boarded our yacht, and any one who has once become acquainted with the vagaries of Piscataqua River, has no desire whatever to pursue the acquaintance further. There never were such eddies, currents, and counter-currents. Pull with all your might and main, and often you will progress backward, frantically catching at some neighboring rock with your oar in the hope of getting a leverage with which to start anew.

They say Portsmouth watermen have reduced swearing to a fine art, and no wonder; for the Piscataqua — which means right angles—is enough to spoil the sweetest temper, and the most polished English that man was ever endowed with. If Job himself had tried his hand at an oar in this cantankerous river, he would have used awful language, and consigned his enemy to it rather than to the writing of a book. There is one place so notorious for its contrariness that in revolutionary times it was called "Pull-and-be-damned," a baptism so expressive of the situation that it will take effect to the end of time.—N. Y. Tribune.

FINE MUSIC.—We find a general feeling of pride among our citizens regarding the Cornet Band. Many object, 'tis true, to the selections of music for street parades, the masses preferring lively and popular airs to operatic and difficult music. There is one particular, however, in which the sentiment of the people is unanimous. Said a friend in our hearing recently, "I always feel grateful, when a member of any of our city societies dies, that he had previously joined some order or society; because of the opportunity it gives me for listening to the grand music which the Band plays for dirges at the funeral."

This appreciation of their music is general; for the past six months the Band has been called frequently to the melancholy duty of attending funerals, and have furnished exquisite music which all who have heard have greatly enjoyed.

UNCLE SAM'S AQUEDUCT, for supplying the Navy Yard with water from the big natural reservoir on Seavey's Island, has saved a large sum for Government during the present dry season. The artificial reservoirs on the Yard have been filled up several times during the summer, from the Seavey's Island pond; and they are about full now, though the pond is empty at last. But for the aqueduct from the pond to the Yard, all this water must have been hauled, at great expense; and it is safe to say that the saving effected in this direction this season will more than cover the entire first cost of the work; besides, it has added much to the security of property on the Yard, from fire. The projector of the work (Civil Engineer B. F. Chandler, we believe,—under whose supervision it was carried out,) saved money for Uncle Sam, in conceiving the idea of this aqueduct.

NAVAL.—Chief Engineer Thos. A. Shock, Surgeon John S. Kitchen, and Midshipmen Geo. A. Calhoun, E. W. Hughes and Whitmore P. Ray have reported for duty on U. S. S. California.

☞ The funeral services of the late N. A. H. Ball, Saturday afternoon, were attended by the Masonic fraternity with the Portsmouth Cornet Band.

☞ The double house on Anthony Street, Nos. 29 and 30, was sold at auction, Saturday, to N. F. Mathes, Esq., for $3025.

GLAD OF IT.—Mr. Frank Willey realized nearly $60 from the benefit excursion in Steamer Appledore, Friday evening.

WHAT IT IS.—The woman anchored off Tucker's wharf is a woman canine. After life's fitful fever she sleeps well.

☞ The Rockingham County Bible Society will hold its annual meeting at Greenland next Thursday.

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this line, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security.

These bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par, besides paying about 9 per cent., currency, interest in the meanwhile. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices only return five per cent.; and we regard the security equally safe.

Morning Chronicle.

THE HISTORIC RECORD, or perhaps more accurately speaking, the business minutes of the Historical Societies, may perhaps be of as much importance, if not of as much interest, as their literary reports of antiquarian research.

The Maine Historical Society, we are sure, have made a good move for their cause, and for this community in visiting this old and interesting region. We give here with, a sort of official mention of the details of the excursion; leaving to other occasions the writing out and publication of copious notes taken by ourself and other gentlemen interested, on the historic scenes visited.

The meeting at Old York on Monday, Aug. 29th, was not that of the Maine Historical Society proper, but the annual Popham Celebration—that is, the celebration of the landing of the colony of Sir George Popham, at the mouth of the Kennebec river, in 1607. Of this new (or older) Plymouth rock, we shall have something to say hereafter.

Of the Popham Committee, Hon. B. C. Bailey, of Bath, a delightful old gentleman, is chairman, and so was presiding officer on this occasion; and our magnificent friend Hon. John A. Poor of Portland, (who is well backed by the whole Maine Hist. Soc'y.,) is at the head and front of the offending, of those who have kicked up such a dust of discussion and dispute, by attempting to remove the dust of ages and obscurity which had heretofore concealed Popham. Vive Pop!

On Tuesday, the Maine Hist. Soc'y held a field day at York, ancient Acomenticus and Gorgeanna, of both which words we here give the original and correct spelling. At this meeting, as on the two following days at Kittery and Portsmouth, Judge Bourne, of Kennebunk, President of the Society was chairman.

The day, Tuesday, was spent in a visit to the noted old Borrell mansion, at York; also, to Roaring Rock, the site of Parson Dummer's meeting house, his residence, and the place where he was shot by the Indians. In the afternoon, the site of Ex-Mayor Thos. Gorges' palace, and the old Garrison Houses at Scotland, were examined—and in the evening the old city, and the events of that day and this, were talked over, at the Congregational Church, which is said to be the oldest now standing in Maine. At the close of the meeting, (the proceedings of which we shall give in full at another time; we here quote from the official record of the Society,) on motion of Rev. Dr. Packard, it was voted:

1st. That the thanks of the Committee of the Maine Historical Society, appointed at its special meeting at Augusta last February, be presented to the local Committee of Arrangements, consisting of Messrs. Nathaniel G. Marshall, Esq., Col. Joseph P. Junkins, Capt. John B. Fernald, Washington Junkins, Esq., Rev. Benjamin W. Pond, for the care and attention bestowed to enable the Committee to carry out the purposes of their appointment.

2nd. That the thanks of the Committee be tendered to the citizens of York, who have furnished, to the Committee and their invited friends, a generous hospitality, long to be held in grateful remembrance.

3d. And also to the citizens, who have furnished transportation for the members and visitors to the various points of interest, in and around the ancient city of Georgeanna, and likewise to those who have furnished information, useful in accomplishing the design of this historical visit.

Resolved, That the committee of this place be requested by the committee of the Historical Society, acting in behalf of the Society to make a collection of documents and facts of a historical nature, as well as articles of antiquity, and of modern times, tending to illustrate the local or general history of the state, and to present the same to the Maine Historical Society, and that they also be requested to take measures for the publication of a history of the ancient City, Georgeanna, and the Town of York.

For our own part, we were under great obligations to Mrs. S. S. Grant, Capt. Emerson and family, Postmaster Walker, Mr. Plaisted of the International Telegraph Line, Col. Luther Junkins, and others for unlimited courtesies and hospitality.

On Wednesday, Kittery was the scene of explorations — concerning which also we shall report fully; and among others, Rev. Daniel Austin dispensed courtly hospitality at his charming country seat The Willows, as did Gen. Wentworth also at his residence. At the close of the conference meeting in the Church, on motion of Rev. Dr. Packard, of Bowdoin College it was Voted, 1st, that the thanks of the Committee of the Maine Historical Society, appointed to visit Kittery Point, and those invited to join them in the excursion, be given to the citizens of Kittery, for the aid rendered them in the prosecution of their object and in affording them means of transportation to and from places of historic interest in their ancient town. Especially to Messrs. Francis Bacon, Esq., Gen. M. F. Wentworth, Chandler Brooks, Oliver Wilson, Theodore Keen, Ephraim C. Spinney, Augustus H. Adams, Jackson Durling, David S. Stimson, James O. Trefethen, Charles H. Bartlett, Andrew J. Stimson, C. L. Hayes, Thomas J. Rice, John L. Lawrence, and others.

2. That the Historical Society of Maine would urge upon the citizens of Kittery the importance of taking measures to examine plans where papers or pamphlets or relics of historic value are likely to be stored and to procure them by donation or otherwise for the archives of the Society.

3. That it is very desirable that some one should at once set about collecting materials of the history of this ancient town and putting them in form in order to preserve the memory of early struggles and of the earlier events to which the present generation owe so much.

E. E. BOURNE, Pres. Me., His. Scy.
EDWARD BALLARD, Sec.

At the close of the meeting in Portsmouth, Thursday, a similar vote was passed to the N. H. Historical Society, of which Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett of this city and Hon. C. H. Bell of Exeter were the efficient Committee of Arangements.

The Chronicle.

VICES OF GENIUS.—Coleridge was such a slave to liquor that he had to be kept an unwilling prisoner by Christopher North on an occasion when some literary performance had to be completed by a certain time; and on that very day, without taking leave of any member of the family, he ran off at full speed down the avenue to Elleray, and was soon hiden, not in the groves of the valley, but in some obscure den, where, drinking among low companions, his magnificent mind was soon brought to the level of the vile. When his spree was over he would return to the society of decent men.

Lainey was such a slave to the use of opium that his daily allowance was of more importance than eating. An ounce of laudanum a day prostrated animal life during the forenoon. It was no unfrequent sight to find him asleep on the rug before the fire in his own room, his head on a book, and his arm crossed on his breast. When this torpor from the opium had passed away, he was ready for company until about daylight. In order to show him off, his friends had to arrange their supper parties so that sitting until three or four in the afternoon, he might be brought to that point at which in charm and power of conversation he was so truly wonderful.

Burns was not less a drunkard than Coleridge. It was the weakness of Chas. Lamb. And who can remember the last days of Poe without an irrepressible regret? He was on his way to marry a confiding woman, stopped in Baltimore, and was found by a gentleman who knew him, in a state of beastly intoxication, unconscious as a log, and died that night in the ravings of delirium tremens!

Douglas Jerrold was a devotee of gin; so, also was Byron. Steele, the brilliant author of the Christian Hero, was a beastly drunkard. Men wrote of him that he would dress himself, kiss his wife and children, tell them a lie about his pressing engagements, heel it over to a groggery called the "Store," and have a revel with his bottle companions.

Rollin says of Alexander the Great that the true poison which brought him to his end was wine.

The Empress Elizabeth of Russia was completely brutified by strong liquor. She was often in such a state of bacchic ecstacy during the day that she could not be dressed in the morning, and her attendants would loosely attach her robes, which a few clips of the scissors would disengage in the evening.

Let every man, (especially those in public life,) who desires to avoid a drunkard's death, remember that he is on the crumbling verge of such an infamy, when he begins to feel that in order to prepare himself, the doctor for consultation, the lawyer for a cause, the clergyman for a sermon, the politician for a speech, he must take a pint of coffee, or a plug of opium; and the self same moment of that discovery let him put his foot down, raise his hand, and swear, that by the help of God, he will never taste another grain or drop, as long as his life remains. This is the only safety.

RURAL ITEMS.—Cooked meal is nearly double the bulk of uncooked, yet quart for quart it goes as far. The difference is that much of the food is undigested unless cooked.

To make a whitewash that will not rub off, mix up half a pailful of lime and water; take half a pint of flour and make a starch of it, and pour it into the whitewash while hot. Stir it well, and apply as usual.

Every family should provide a barrel or a box for receiving chicken bones, and fish bones, and bits of bones which accumulate in the kitchen. A hundred pounds may be saved in a few weeks. Such bones are more valuable for grass land, and for burying around all kinds of fruit-trees and grape-vines, than Peruvian guano, which is worth from three to five cents per pound.

A poor farmer cannot conceal the fact that he is a poor farmer. All his surroundings proclaim the verdict against him—his horses, cattle, wagons, harness, ploughs, fences, and even wife and children, bear silent but unmistakable evidence against him. On the other hand, all these things will testify favorably on behalf of the good farmer. Every passer-by can read the evidence pro and con. This fact alone ought to stimulate every farmer to do his best, for the sake of his own character, as well as interest, for he may rest assured that every passer-by will pronounce judgment according to the evidence.

This is the first intimation we ever heard that camels were handsome.

—A correspondent wonders if the Knights of Pythias are descendants of the patriots Damon and Pythias?

—It's all nonsense to talk about "our first parents;" no man ever had more than a complete set.

—Portland, according to the recent census, has 32,000 inhabitants. In 1860 it had 26,300.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,
FOR ALL PURPOSES of a LAXATIVE MEDICINE.
Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and far more efficacious remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who know not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cases are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.
They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.
For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.
For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.
For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.
For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.
For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.
For Suppression a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.
As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.
An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PILLS makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus. dawje17eod4m

OLD FOLKS,

ALL FOLKS,
WHO ARE WEAK, whose appetite is gone, whose blood needs Iron, who are bilious, whose stomach and nerves need to be strengthened, will be benefitted by
FREEMAN'S IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP,
FREEMAN'S IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP,
FREEMAN'S IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP,
It excels all other Iron preparations in the combination with Mandrake and Vegetable Tonics, so that the Liver is acted on to remove bile and impurities from the system, while the vegetable tonics strengthen the stomach and promote the digestion of Iron with the food and its absorption into the blood. It renovates the system and is the best medicine.
MANDRAKE is the Great Vegetable substitute for calomel to act on liver. In FREEMAN'S IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP it is combined with iron and Vegetable tonics, and forms the most perfect medicine. It purifies the blood and imparts IRON to it. It acts on the Liver and removes foul humors from the body. It is a most excellent remedy for debility, especially for mothers who are worn down by nursing infants, and for all persons who need a tonic. Those who need Iron and a strengthening medicine. 2meodaw4jy25

HAIR VIGOR,
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the glow and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by the application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1870.

FRANCE AND PRUSSIA.—The succession of disasters to the French armies, which have resulted in the surrender of McMahon's force and of the Emperor, and the (rumored) capitulation of Gen. Bazaine, must have surprised even the firmest believers in German valor and Prussian readiness for war. The vast armies that set out so proudly to carry the torch of war to Berlin and remodel the map of Europe, have been met on their own territory by men of as much courage and greater stubbornness than their own, and spite of Chassepot and mitrailleuse, and desperate and prolonged resistance, have been hopelessly defeated and crushed, captured or dispersed. The wonderful state of preparation which enabled Prussia at a moment's warning to hurl almost her entire fighting population against her enemy, has rendered of no avail the valor of France—save to enrich her soil with the blood of defenders and invaders in myriads.

For Napoleon, the life-long enemy of republicanism, and the consequent foe of our country, Americans will have little sympathy; but it is impossible to contemplate the humiliation of a great and mighty nation—a brave and high-spirited people like the French, without a feeling of pain. The people of France had no part in making the war; they have fought, not for Napoleon, but for the honor—latterly for the salvation—of France; and however much men may rejoice at Napoleon's fall, the people of France will have their sympathy.

Prussia will push her advantages to the utmost; of this, the manner in which she has followed up her first success in the field, delivering staggering blows to her antagonist with a rapidity which allowed no time for recovery, does not leave us in doubt. And if the rumored capitulation of Bazaine be true,—possibly if it is false,—the columns of Prussia, flushed with victory, are doubtless even now on their way to Paris.

Will Paris sustain a siege, supposing the Prussians invest it? Doubtful. The fortifications of the city are formidable, and the garrison numerous; and large stores of provisions have been collected. But with the city once invested, little good could be hoped to result from resistance, however prolonged; for if the Prussians are powerful enough to reach Paris after brushing from their path and annihilating the regular armies opposed to them, no force of raw levies which France can amass will suffice to raise the siege, and a surrender will be but a question of time. And though the inhabitants of Paris—legitimists, republicans and imperialists,—at present seem united for France and defence, yet the material for another Reign of Terror exists there, in the antagonistic parties and the ignorant and degraded character of the large lower class of the city. Paris will not sustain any prolonged siege.

WAR NOTES.—A council of ministers at Paris has issued the following to the French people:—

A great misfortune has come upon the country. After three days of heroic struggles sustained by the army of Marshal McMahon against three hundred thousand of the enemy, forty thousand men have been made prisoners. General Wimpfen, who took command of the army in place of Marshal McMahon badly wounded, has signed the capitulation. This cruel reverse will not shake our courage. Paris is to-day in a complete state of defence. The military forces of the country will be organized. In a few days a new army will be under the walls of Paris, and another new army is forming on the banks of the Loire. Your patriotism, your union, your energy will save France.

The Emperor has been made a prisoner in the struggle.

The government, in accord with public powers, will take all measures required by the gravity of events.

In the French Senate, on Saturday, the Minister of War announced the news. He said:—

Our reverses afflict us. It is impossible for us to witness without deep emotion rendered unavailable, but this spectacle, far from taking away our energy, augmenta and redoubles it. Since the present cabinet came into power it has drawn from France all that her resources could yield, and they still remain so strong that with energy and the help of the nation we may yet have the last word. Let us hope that God will help us and drive the enemy from our soil.

Jerome David added to the above by saying that the defence of the capital is in the best condition, and according to competent judges is capable of resisting all the efforts of the enemy. Let us defend Paris, he said, on the walls, and in the streets, and if must be we will bury ourselves under the ruins.

In the Corps Legislatif, Jules Favre declared that we are unanimous for defence until death. [Great applause.]

A Prussian dispatch says Napoleon left Sedan for the Prussian headquarters at Vendres at 7 o'clock in the morning of September 3. Gen. Multke, who commanded the Prussian army the Crown Prince and Prince of Saxony being next in command, says he had 240,000 men in engaged or in reserve, and the French 120,000.

Twelve thousand French soldiers escaped to Belgium.

Napoleon is very ill and Marshal McMahon's wounds are serious. Gen. Sheridan was in the Prussian camp and witnessed the battle.

Paris is in a state of riotous excitement. Crowds are tearing down the Imperial arms and destroying the golden eagles of the Empire. Fears are entained that the city will soon be at the mercy of mobs.

The Prince Imperial surrendered at Sedan, with the Emperor and McMahon's army. The total number of prisoners by this surrender reaches 120,000.

General Trochu will at once be made temporarily Dictator, and Paris will be defended to the last. The people say that the war has not yet ended, nor will it be as long as Prussian soldiers are within the confines of France.

Gen. Trochu has been appointed Dictator of France by and with the advice of the Corps Legislatif, and that the Empress Eugenie was notified to leave Paris. She left for Belgium.

It is reported that the Emperor Napoleon was deposed by the Corps Legislatif, on Monday, by 182 yeas, there being no opposition; 100,000 armed citizens marched to the legislative hall, singing the "Marsellaise" and shouting "Vive la Republique." It was one of the most imposing displays ever seen. All declare resistance to the invasion and shout "All the nation to the rescue."

THE NEW ENGLAND FAIR commences to-day at Manchester, and will continue four days. The Mirror says the arrangements are very satisfactory. The President and Secretary of the New England Society have made several visits to Manchester, but have no time to attend to details. This has been left to Col. Riddle, the Superintendent, who is Treasurer, of both Societies. He has been aided in the work by Gen. Head, President of the State Society, Mr. Young, Secretary, and by Mr. Hayes, of the Executive Board. The weight of the work comes on these officials, and on subordinates to whom the General Superintendent has assigned specific duties.

☞ At the yard of Capt. Nathaniel Thompson, Kennebunk, Me., a three-deck ship of about 2000 tons, is nearly completed. She will be called the Columbus, and is owned by Messrs. Lincoln & Thayer, of Boston, George S. Hunt, Capt. York, John Bandall and Sylvanus Blanchard, of Yarmouth. It is expected that she will be launched about the 20th inst.

Mr. L. D. C. Hayes, the well known travelling correspondent, proposes to publish a paper during the three days of the Strafford County Fair at Dover.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

EPPING CAMP MEETING.—Our last notes were to the close of Thursday P. M. Friday and Saturday the attendance was large, but not like that of Thursday. Saturday evening came with all appearances of a north-east storm. If the prophet Elijah had been alive he might have prayed for a good rain to lay the almost suffocating dust and water the parched earth. Not so the camp meeting people. They were not quite ready for it.

Before morning the clouds lifted and Sabbath day opened fair. This was the seventh day of the meeting. The congregation was large, but not so great as on Thursday. All was quiet and orderly. A great many carriages were in the streets, but it is lawful to go a "Sabbath day's journey" to meeting.

Sermon in the forenoon by Rev. E. D. Winslow, Publishing Agent of Zion's Herald, Boston. Text, "Ye must be born again." The nature of the new birth was shown mostly by its results. The results were a new life. Objections to the doctrine were answered. And those who had not been born of the Spirit were told the work would be done just when they should say, and that 60' seconds was time enough in which to have it effected. The theory is probably correct, but the practice not often carried out in that space. Paul was three days on the subject.

Afternoon preaching by Rev. G. Haven, D. D., Editor of Zion's Herald. Text, "Multitudes, in the valley of decision." Dr. Haven has great ability as a writer and also as a speaker. He secured the attention of the congregation. We are not very much in favor of Camp Meetings, yet some things strike us very favorably. People do not sleep in sermon time as in churches. This to us is very interesting. J.

There were but few lots of extra Cattle in market. From Maine the supply was larger than it has been in any one week before for a long time; there were some very good Cattle among them, which sold at our highest quotations. Among the Western Cattle were several hundred Texas.

Sheep and Lambs—Extra and select lots $4 @ $4 50; ordinary $2 @ $3 50 ℔ head, or from 3 @ 5c ℔ lb. The supply in market was large. Most of the Western and Eastern Sheep were commissioned or taken to slaughter by the butchers.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Season of Exhaustion.

The close sultry weather which usually prevails toward the end of summer is particularly unfavorable to the feeble and enervated. Even the well-knit frames of strong men feel the influence of the season, and lassitude and languor pervade the whole community. Ladies, especially those in delicate health, suffer much from debility, occasioned by the humid heat, and feel the want of a wholesome invigorant. In fact, a necessity for something to recruit the exhausted system is experienced, more or less, by everybody, and the only question is, what that something will be. With those who have tested the effect of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS on themselves, or have observed its effects on others, this question will not be in doubt for a single moment.

Its tonic and regulating operation, and its agency in creating a healthy appetite and promoting digestion, are rightly classed by all who have resorted to this unequalled vegetable invigorant and corrective, among the most extraordinary therapeutic wonders of modern times. It should be taken at this season as a safeguard against the epidemic diseases which are so apt to attack the relaxed system in the fall of the year.

As it is understood that mercenary speculators in various parts of the country are endeavoring to supersede the standard tonic of the age with worthless articles manufactured by themselves which they represent to be superior to this long tried remedy, it is proper to put the public on their guard against this species of imposition, and to warn them against the deleterious trash with which dishonorable dealers seek to drench them.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world: the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable, instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effect of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautiful, black or brown. Sold by all Druggist and Perfumers, and properly applied at Batchelor's Wig Factory, No. 16 Bond Street, New York. lydawje2

Vegetable "Pain Killer,"

After THIRTY YEARS trial, is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues, from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Physicians of the first respectability recommend it as a most efficacul preparation for the extinction of pain. It is not only the best remedy ever known for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c., but for Dysentery or Cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency and rapidity of action. In the great climates of India, and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, and all the kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. Sold by all druggists. dawlmsl

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

Wanted—A Young Man.
Special Notice—M. L. A.

☞ The Mechanic Fire Society have their annual "sit down" at the Franklin House, Friday evening of this week.

NEXT DEMOCRATIC CANIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.—The nomination of Ex-Mayor Jones of Portsmouth is said to be brewing.—Nashua Telegraph.

☞ The first week in September brings the children with their fresh countenances back to the public schools, which reopened on Monday.

☞ Mr. Charles W. Gardner has resigned the position of Agent of the M. P. Union Store and will be succeeded by Mr. Ira C. Dixon on the first of October.

NAVAL.—Lieut. Comdr. Daniel C. Woodrow has reported for duty on U. S. S. California.

The California is to go to Charlestown and be docked.

☞ By reference to our Real Estate report it will be seen that the lot of land, corner Madison and Middle Streets, purchased several years ago by the city, has been sold to Mr. James Moses for $700.

☞ We hear that Maj. Chas. E. Plaisted has resigned his position in the Post Office, to accept a clerkship at the Navy Yard. Mr. Amos S. Foster has been appointed to the vacant clerkship in the Post Office.

☞ At a meeting of S. F. Engine Co. No, 2. Monday evening, it was voted to participate in the Firemen's Muster at Haverhill, Sept. 30, and to hire the Portsmouth Cornet Band. It was voted also to extend an invitation to the Mayor, Chief Engineer and the Director.

☞ A miserable sneak thief entered the out-building of a one-armed soldier, named Joseph Bolter, at Kittery, Sunday night, and killed twenty-five hens, carrying their bodies away but leaving their heads. He left evideuce of who he was, and had best make himself scarce in that locality.

PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.—The first regular meeting of the season will take place this (Tuesday) evening, in G. A. R. Hall, at 8 o'clock. Haydn's Oratorio, "The Creation," has been selected for practice; the books are for sale by Mr. E. A. Joy, at his Music Store, Exchange Buildings. The Philharmonics display a bold ambition in assailing such music as that of Haydn's Creation, but their success with Mozart's Twelfth Mass, last season, has made them venturesome and confident. And we do not doubt but they will do as well this season, and show that the true way to improve is to set the standard high.

☞ The recent riot and outrage by fishermen, at Boothbay, Me., illustrates the value to our city (or any other) of a well organized and efficient police. The trouble there (the maltreatment of two women and probable murder of a man, and the destruction of their dwelling by fire,) was occasioned by a large number of sailors ashore from a fishing fleet; but a much larger fleet was on one occasion, some months ago, anchored in our lower harbor, and fully 3000 of the fishermen were on shore, and many of them drunk on Water Street benzine,—supposed to be as good fighting liquor as Boothbay or any other place can furnish,—yet not one in twenty of our citizens knew anything about the affair, or that the lower portion of the city was crowded with rum-crazed fishermen, until they read of it in the papers.

Many of these fishermen were quite pugnacious, and talked loudly of "cleaning out all Water Street,"—a big job, by the way, and a good one, if done rightly; but the prompt and decided action of our police, (who unhesitatingly arrested the most turbulent of the ring-leaders even when surrounded by their mates, and locked them up, to the number of about thirty,) prevented the cleaning-out process from being resorted to, and doubtless saved more than enough property from destruction, to cover the whole police expenditure of the city for a twelvemonth. The police had a hard night's work; but the fishermen were not long in discovering that the officers were bent on preserving the peace at all hazards, and that any one attempting to make a row was walked off without ceremony; so they finally gave up all hope of having a good time, and showed their disgust for Portsmouth and her police, by going on board their vessels without "cleaning out" anything.

☞ There is a poor fellow at Bangor, Maine, who says "It's working between meals that's killing him."

KITTERY, ME., Sept. 5.

We are to have a concert here on Wednesday, Sept. 14th, by Mrs. Tilton and her pupils, which we think is bound to be excellent. Mrs. T. has a correct taste and appreciation of music, and has labored assiduously for the cause. We hope the citizens will give her a rousing good house; it would be gratifying indeed to the lovers of music in this place, to know that one of their number is properly appreciated.

Ex-Gov. Harriman of New Hampshire is to address the Republicans of Kittery, on Thursday evening.—Kittery has 3333 inhabitants, and about 850 voters. The population has increased 359 since 1860.

M. F. Wentworth, M. D., of this town, out of nearly 3000 cases of confinement, it is said has never lost a patient when called in season; and he is considered equally expert as a physician for all the ills that flesh is heir to. Dr. Wentworth has certainly been very successful in his practice. K. M.

DOVER STYLE.—The "Athletics," a Dover base ball club, accepted a challenge to play a game with a club at Salmon Falls, but on going over at the appointed time found the "Salmon Fallers" not willing to come to time. A slight "onpleasantness" occurred, in which a broken head was the only result, and the Dovereans returned home satisfied with their day's work.

HUGO-ISH.—Victor Hugo was of opinion that "the war is two-edged. If it overturns Prussia, it delivers us to Bonaparte; if France, it delivers us to Bismark." Well, what then? "Revolution, which will become next day the United States of Europe." We shall see whether Victor is a true prophet.

SOME MORE LO.—The last Tuscon mail coach was captured and burned by Indians west of Fort Bond, Arizona. Jack Collins, the conductor, his driver and two soldiers, composing the escort were killed. Collin's eyes were gouged out and the body was horribly mutilated.

☞ Christian and Christiana Gonther, an aged German couple in New York, were found Saturday in a tenement house on the verge of death from starvation. They were removed to the hospital, but there is no hope of their recovery.

☞ A great fire in Chicago destroyed one of the most important business blocks of the city, on Sunday. The loss is estimated at $3,000,000. Several lives were lost by the falling of walls.

WHAT WILL U. S. SAY?—A Gloucester fishing schooner has been captured by a Canadian vessel and taken to Quebec as a prize.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this line, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security.

These bonds have 30 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par, besides paying about 9 per cent., currency, interest in the meanwhile. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices only return five per cent.; and we regard the security equally safe.

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. Morning Chronicle.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.

Editors of the Chronicle and Gazette: One of the greenest spots in my memory will ever be the two days I spent with you and your associates of the press, and the representatives of the fair sex, who gave added grace to it, at the Editorial Convention of July. Very evident it was to all on that much enjoyed occasion, I doubt not, that whatever the Messrs. Jenness, of the Ocean House, at Rye Beach, and Messrs. Peirce, of the Sagamore House, at Frosts' Point, do not "know about keeping a hotel," is not worth knowing by anybody; recollections of the best houses at the most popular mid-summer gathering places leaving nothing to wish in the arrangements of the well-kept establishments of either.

A more successful affair of the kind than the Convention of 1870 could not well have been. A "surprise party" it was in the strictest sense of the term, from the series of surprises attending it, that were anticipated by few of those who were fortunate enough to share in them. Not the least among the things unlooked for, when the injeresting exercises of the evening were over, including the brief, but witty speech of Mr. Blaine, Mr. Shillaber's mirth-exciting poem, and the rich music of Mr. Barnabee's quartette corps, and before the commencement of the grand ball that wound up the festivities of the night, was the brilliant scene, enlivened by music, from the illuminations and fire-works in front of the hotel. It would have done credit to one of those of a like nature that attends the grand ball annually closing the season at Saratoga.

No little merriment was excited by the quartering all over the neighborhood within the circuit of a mile, of the supernumerary guests for the time at the Ocean House, and the midnight jaunt thither by those who preferred something of "nature's sweet restorer," to longer "tripping it upon the light fantastic," or looking on while others did so; the morning walk hotel-ward, refreshing their appetites for the excellent breakfast that awaited them.

Not without its novelty was the little trip by boats from the beach to the steamer, and very enjoyable, enlivened by music from the excellent Marine Band of the Navy Yard, was the ocean excursion to the Shoals; though not a few wished it had been shortened to admit of being included in the programme the contemplated visit to the Navy Yard.

Of the "feast of reason and the flow of soul," truly, that followed a most excellent dinner under the great tent at the Sagamore House, all that need be said is that it was every way worthy of the occasion, and deserving a fuller newspaper report than any that has met the eye of the writer. Indeed it could not well have been otherwise than it was, with so many present of those whose wit and brilliancy give such life to the press of the present day.

After greeting him, in company with a host of others, on his arrival in a stroll away from the hotel I met by "the beached verge of the salt sea" the genial face and portly form of "dear old Ben," as a brother of the quill has termed him,—our friend who has such a world-wide fame in association with the venerable lady, who, when she read on her weekly newspaper that a craft of some kind "had her jib-boom carried away in the night," "wondered what else people could expect if they left such things out-of-doors after dark." With any amount of other pleasant chat, while enjoying upon a rude seat the music of the sea as it broke upon the shore, and the first cool breeze we had felt since early in June, we came to the conclusion that we never had known such a season of long-continued heat before or since the days, (quoting Mrs. Partington)

"When, with hole, hook, and string,
We fished for pollock at the Spring," or jaunted on general-muster days, with light hearts, to the music of well-saved "fourpences" jingling in our pockets, to Portsmouth Plains:

"That greater field in boyhood's view
Than New Orleans or Waterloo,
With mighty deeds of arms 'twas rife,
And rattling drum and squeaking fife;"

and we were rash enough in our enthusiasm, as we chatted of "auld lang syne," to hope that long-deferred though much-desired event might yet take place—a second gathering of the "Sons" at "Strawberry Bank," and that "we might be there to see."

As you are publishing the "New Hampshire Gazette" in its green old age of one hundred and fourteen years, I send you a well-preserved copy of the same journal when a youth in its teens—that of February 30th, 1775—full of patriotism, as you will see, pending the Revolution so soon to break forth, as well as containing some very curious items, such, for instance, as the communication of "Plowgagger," dated at Hopkinton, that would have done honor to the pen of Lord Timothy Dexter, so much does it remind one of his "Pickle for the Knowing Ones," and the reward of "three Spanish potatoes" for a runaway boy. In reading the latter, where it says, "had on one pair of trowsers, and short black curled hair," the query arises whether the youngsters could be expected to wear two pairs of inexpressibles, and leave his hair behind him in taking his departure.

Imagine the shades of Daniel Fowle, the original proprietor of the Gazette, and his colored serving-man Primo, watching in these later days, with wonder-stricken eyes, a lightning ten-cylinder rotary as it pours forth eight paged mammoth dailies, printed, cut and counted, from an endless sheet, and at a speed, by thousands, it would be scarcely safe, valuing one's credit for veracity to talk of. The former would think the curious looking piece of mechanism on which this little sheet was printed, fit only now for firewood, and the latter throw away in despair the sheepskin balls with which he inked the types.

Of things to be remembered, also, was the delightful morning ride we had to Lincoln Hill after the welcome showers of the evening previous, with our fair companions—a rose between two thorns—taken up on the way, and gentle, fleet-footed Jack for our steed. Very pleasant it is to see the village that has been growing up in the neighborhood since the tasteful villa that adorns it made its appearance at Lincoln Hill. Such choice building sites cannot long remain unappreciated, and year by year it is to be hoped they will be less and less insolated from the city proper by the enterprise of others in creating retreats for themselves in so desirable a locality. We walk twice as far here, to and from our homes after reaching and crossing the East or Hudson rivers, and think it nothing more than needed exercise. Even now, should some of the departed residents of other years on South Road take a fancy, like Hamlet's father, to "revisit the glimpses of the moon," they would think the long-neglected suburb looking up, when they saw the improvements already made, and new streets where pasture lands only were once visible.

Of the pets at Lincoln Hill, equine, canine, feline, etc., please remember me especially to Jerry, "perfectly splendid" as I doubt not he still remains, and "good as a dog can be."

HENDRICK.

—Miss A. P. Ladd of Augusta was yesterday appointed by the Governor and Council a Justice of the Peace and Quorum. This is believed to be the first appointment of a lady to this office in New England, and perhaps in the United States east of Wyoming Territory. She holds the responsible position of chief clerk in the U. S. Pension Agency in that city, and the Journal says is a young lady of first class business qualifications, and is highly respected by all who know her. This appointment qualifies her to administer oaths, take acknowledgments of deeds, solemnize marriages, &c. — Portland Advertiser.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.

It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the old Lead Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries quickly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.

One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds, 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 8 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 30 square yds., 2 coats,—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.

The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be supplied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.

The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the

On Saturday night, while playing cards in the house of Thomas McConnell, at Franklin, Henry J. Gardiner got into a dispute with E. J. Stevens, a tanner in the employ of McConnell, when Stevens drew a knife and stabbed Gardiner five times in the breast and neck, killing him almost instantly. Three persons were in the room at the time of the murder. Stevens made no attempt to escape, but gave himself up without resistance. He confessed the deed and said that he would blow his own brains out if he had a pistol. Gardiner was a resident of Franklin and a baggage-master on the Northern Railroad, had been employed on the road for a number of years and was highly esteemed.

HOW TO GET BIG CROPS.—An exchange says: As a rule, farmers are much more ambitious to get big prices than big crops. There are few farmers whose average production could not be doubled in a very short time by more capital and labor. It is safer to use capital in farming than in almost any other business. The credit of the plough is almost as good as that of the loom and anvil; and the capital will come if it is called for. Use more manure; get fifty, and eighty bushels of corn where you now get forty. The quantity of grain per acre is mainly a question of manure and tillage. With high manuring the soil needs deeper stirring and a gradual bringing up of the subsoil to the surface. With the present horse harrows and cultivators, nearly all the cultivation can be done by horse-power, at a great saving of expense, and a great increase of the crops.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,
FOR ALL PURPOSES of a LAXATIVE MEDICINE,
Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative PILL. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.
They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.
For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.
For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.
For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.
For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the disease action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.
For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.
For Suppression a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.
As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.
An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PILLS makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

ALL FOLKS,
WHO ARE WEAK, whose appetite is poor, whose blood needs iron, who are bilious, whose stomach and nerves need to be strengthened, will be benefitted by
FREEMAN'S IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP,
FREEMAN'S IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP,
FREEMAN'S IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP,
It excels all other Iron preparations in the combination with Mandrake and Vegetable Tonics, so that the Liver is acted on to remove bile and impurities from the system, while the vegetable tonics strengthen the stomach and promote the digestion of iron with the food and its absorption into the blood. It renovates the system and is the best medicine.
MANDRAKE is the Great Vegetable substitute for calomel to act on liver. In FREEMAN'S IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP it is combined with Iron and Vegetable Tonics, and forms the most perfect medicine. It purifies the blood and imparts IRON to it. It acts on the Liver and removes foul humors from the body. It is a most excellent remedy for debility, especially for mothers who are worn down by nursing infants, and for all persons whose blood is poor, and who need Iron and a strengthening medicine. 2meodawjy25

HAIR VIGOR,
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1870.

WAR NOTES.—On Sunday, at Paris, a republic was proclaimed at the Hotel de Ville, and a government of national defence, composed of eleven members and all the deputies of Paris, constituted, and ratified by popular acclamation. Their names are—Arago, Emanuel Cremieux, Jules Favre, Jules Ferny, Gambetta, Garnier Pages, Glois Bizoin, Eugene Pelleton, M. Picard, Rochefort, and Jules Simon. General Trochu will continue in the exercise of the powers as governor of Paris, and is appointed Minister of War in place of Count Palikao. His colleagues conferred on him the presidency of the ministry.

A Paris dispatch of Monday says the provisional government has taken possession of office without the slightest disorder. An order for the immediate formation of colossal armies has been issued. Over 200,000 men are ready to take the field.

The Senate is suppressed and the Corps Legislatif dissolved.

It is understood that the government will convoke a constituent assembly.

Napoleon passed through Belgium with a suite of 100 persons, on Sunday, escorted by an armed force of Prussians. Consent to his passage through Belgian territory had previously been gained from the Belgian government.

It is said that a friend condoling with the Emperor on Saturday expressed a hope that his popularity in Paris was not gone. The Emperor replied: "It matters not; I shall return there to exact a reckoning, not give one."

The following is from King William to his Queen:—

What a thrilling moment was that of my meeting with Napoleon! He was dejected but dignified. I assigned as his place of immediate stay Wilhelmhouse, near Cassel. Our meeting took place at a small cottage house opposite the western glacis of Sedan. When summoned to it I was in the saddle inspecting the position before the place. You must imagine my reception among the troops. It was indescribable. In exultation it was overwhelming. At dusk I ended a five-hours' ride and at one o'clock in the morning returned hither. May God aid us further!

The Independence Belge says that when Sedan was surrendered, it contained 70,000 soldiers. Sunday night 15,000 more surrendered to the Prussians, and 30,000 took refuge in Belgium. From these figures it infers that Marshal McMahon's army did not exceed 115,000 men.

A despatch to the New York Sun says that but 8000 soldiers surrendered to the Prussians.

The Paris journals, without exception, urge the nation to make an unyielding defence, and declare the dismemberment of France impossible.

Complete amnesty is proclaimed for all political crimes and offences. Perfect order prevails. A Republic has been proclaimed at Lyons, Bordeaux and other large towns.

In Paris, the soldiers of all the regiments mixed among the people unarmed, shouting "Vive la Republique."

The officers and soldiers fraternize with the people, and place themselves under the orders of the government, which is in permanent session at the Hotel de Ville, under the presidency of General Trochu.

The Palace in the Tuilleries was invaded by a mob, who tore down the throne, destroyed everything marked with Imperial bees and other Napoleonic insignia, and carried away and cast into the Seine all the busts, statues and pictures of Bonaparte; and Henri Rochfort was born in triumph to the Hotel de Ville.

The German minister at Washington has received a dispatch to the effect that the Emperor Napoleon having declared that his captivity prevents him from negotiating for peace, the French government being at Paris, the war will be continued.

The Germans have demanded the surrender of Montmedy. The commandant of the French garrison refused to deliver up his forces or the city.

The bombardment of Strasbourg continues vigorously, and much damage has been inflicted. The splendid cathedral has been partly burned, and the wonderful astronomical clock and chime of bells in the tower badly injured.

The city of Sedan was burned in Thursday's fight.

In one of the streets of Paris, a large crowd was upon the point of tearing down the representation of the American eagle, when they ascertained their mistake, and shouted loudly "Vive la Republique Amerique!"

Engenie has arrived in Belgium.

The Republic has been proclaimed in all the large towns of France.

It is rumored that the Italian troops are marching upon Rome.

It is reported that Metz has capitulated and that 120,000 French troops there have surrendered to the Prussians.

The Prince Imperial is in England.

The corps of General Vony has reached Soan on its retrograde movement. The corps is intact, and is falling back in good order.

It is stated that Count Palikao and M. Henri Chevreau, the late Minister of Interior, are in Belgium, having fled during the crisis preceding the declaration of the republic.

Declarations already reach Paris from the foreign committees of several of the States of Europe, congratulating France on the peaceful and successful formation of a Republic. Republicans are already leaving London for Paris in great numbers. Victor Hugo reached Paris Monday night.

Jules Favre has gone forward to meet King William of Prussia.

THE DEATH STRUGGLE.—The telegraphic reports from Paris say that the Emperor has been deposed, the Empress banished, and a provisional government appointed for the Republic; that the Spanish and Italian republicans are expected to create trouble for the governments of their respective countries; that a demand for Rome by Italy is looked for; and that republican France is making mighty efforts to stay the flood of Prussian invasion short of the capture of the capital, and raising vast armies for that purpose—all parties being united, and agreeing that no proposals for peace can be entertained while the soil of France is pressed by the foot of an armed Prussian.

Italy, Rome and Spain, we have alluded to only to show how very unsteady the war has made other thrones beside the French. But the proposed "last ditch" fight of the people of France is of more interest at present, from the hopelessness of the contest, which is now but a death struggle.

The splendidly armed and drilled regular army, which was to have forced Prussia to her knees, has been split in two and one half of it destroyed, while the capture of the other half is purely a question of time. It is said by some accounts that the Prussians can spare 600,000 men from their armies to attack Paris, and still leave enough to guard Bazaine in the north; and making due allowance for lying, it is quite likely that Prussian columns "three hundred thousand strong," are even now marching on the French capital. Even if the French succeed in raising a force equal in numbers to that of the advancing enemy, it will avail little to check them; for the French will be comparatively undisciplined, and poorly armed,—fifty thousand men forwarded to McMahon two weeks ago, were armed with the old percussion smooth-bores! there being no more modern arms to give them. This hastily-gathered and ill-appointed army will have to confront veteran troops flushed with victory, armed with the weapons which did so much at Sadowa, and led by generals in whom they have that unbounded confidence which makes good fighting men of even very ordinary material. The odds are too heavy to admit a doubt of how the contest must end.

Republican France will have well-wishers, and many of them, among the enemies of Imperial France; and many who have exulted over the Prussian successes hitherto, would now be glad to see the French retrieve their fortunes sufficiently to command for them an honorable peace, without being entirely crushed. But unless neutral powers interfere, and that quickly, the French government being at Paris, the war will be continued.

The Germans have demanded the surrender of Montmedy. The commandant of the French garrison refused to deliver up his forces or the city.

The bombardment of Strasbourg continues vigorously, and much damage has been inflicted. The splendid cathedral has been partly burned, and the wonderful astronomical clock and chime of bells in the tower badly injured.

THE SINKING FUND.—The total amount of reduction in the principal of the public debt by the purchase and destruction of bonds and coupons amounted on the 1st day of September to $137,802,650, which is an annual reduction and saving of interest in the sum of $8,268,159. The law which requires bonds to be cancelled and destroyed, also provides for the setting apart of one per cent. of the principal of the debt on the 1st day of each July, and of the amount of interest which would have accrued on bonds before purchased and destroyed, if they had been preserved; this fund to be used in the purchase or redemption of additional bonds, which additional bonds are likewise to be destroyed. All bonds purchased will be cancelled, and the amount taken from the principal of the debt after which the interest will cease.

A FREE RIDE.—An engine and seven cars were thrown from the Erie Railway track into the Carriestes River, at Cameron, N. Y. A boy twelve or fifteen years old who was stealing a ride on the steps of the baggage car was instantly killed, and was the only person injured.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Season of Exhaustion.

The close sultry weather which usually prevails toward the end of summer is particularly unfavorable to the feeble and enervated. Even the well-knit frames of strong men feel the influence of the season, and lassitude and languor pervade the whole community. Ladies, especially those in delicate health, suffer much from debility, occasioned by the humid heat, and feel the want of a wholesome invigorant. In fact, a necessity for something to recruit the exhausted system is experienced, more or less, by everybody, and the call is obeyed by all that something will be. With those who have tested the effect of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS on themselves, or have observed its effects on others, this question will not be in doubt for a single moment.

Its tonic and regulating operation, and its agency in creating a healthy appetite and promoting digestion, are rightly classed by all who have resorted to this unequalled vegetable invigorant and corrective, among the most extraordinary therapeutic wonders of modern times. It should be taken at this season as a safeguard against the epidemic diseases which are so apt to attack the relaxed system in the fall of the year.

As it is understood that mercenary speculators in various parts of the country are endeavoring to supersede the standard tonic of the age with worthless articles manufactured by themselves which they represent to be superior to this long tried remedy, it is proper to put the public on their guard against this species of imposition, and to warn them against the deleterious trash with which dishonorable dealers seek to drench them.

In the great cities of India, and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, and other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. Sold by all druggists. dawlms1

New Advertisements to-day.

☞ Dr. William Laighton was suddenly taken ill with heart disease on Tuesday afternoon, and died at 7 o'clock in the evening.

☞ The Haverhill Band were in town on Tuesday with a party of excursionists, who came from Haverhill and Newburyport in steamer W. W. Coit.

☞ By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that Miss A. A. Batchelder & Co. have removed their Millinery establishment to No. 4 Market Street.

☞ Mr. Joshua H. Sanborn was on Monday evening nominated as candidate for Representative to the Maine Legislature, by the Republicans of Kittery, by a large majority.

☞ Steam yacht Alice Rosa, owned by A. C. Alvord of New York, from Portsmouth for Boston, went ashore on Coffin's Beach, Gloucester, Sunday morning at 2 o'clock, and became a total loss.

☞ Mr. Samuel Lamprey, the popular dancing master, announces the commencement of his Fall term of lessons next Wednesday. Mr. Lamprey is successful because he is a thorough master of the art he teaches.

APPRECIATED.—Mr. B. F. Dame, of this city, Principal of the Haven School, was recently offered the Principalship of a school in Fort Wayne, Indiana, which he declined. He has since been offered the same position in a school at St. Paul, Minn., at a salary of $1700. We shall regret the loss of such a faithful teacher and excellent citizen, should he choose to accept.

NAVAL.—Orders are now being prepared at the Navy Department to relieve a number of officers on the retired list from active duty, in accordance with the recent orders of the Secretary, and assigning officers on the active list to duty in their places. The changes are to take place on the first of October.

Lieut. Comdr. Chas. T. Cotton has reported for duty on U. S. S. California.

TYPHOID FEVER. — When a young man of good constitution and good habits dies of typhoid fever, without any remarkable exposure or exertion, it is not an accident, nor a "Providence," except as all crimes are providential; it is murder.

* I thought of this as a funeral procession passed through the streets of a beautiful seaside village, last week, bearing to the grave the body of a promising young man, cut down by this scourge of New England. This village lies between a wide forest and the broad sea. During the summer months the southwest wind sweeps over miles of fresh oaks and balmy pines, or the east wind brings health and vigor from the sea. How could the poison of typhoid enter such a paradise? Nothing is easier. A few uncleansed pigstyes, a foul vault, a neglected drain will bring it. Ignorance, selfishness, carelessness will "make a hell of heaven," anywhere.

As I walked through the streets of a town favored by nature with all that could minister to health, and encountered every few rods a breath of pestilential air, I hastened to the cleanly streets and pure air of the city. If poisoning wells is a crime, even in war, what shall be said of those who poison the air for their neighbors?—Cor. Boston Adv'r.

An action for libel would lie here—no doubt of it. The Advertiser's correspondent certainly refers to Portsmouth as the town with "pestilential air"—he don't like our Cess Pool; but it's none of his business, anyway,—nor anybody else's. Our Cess Pool is as strong and persistent as any other town's cesspool, and we are quite able to stir it up ourselves, as much as is necessary to bring out its full powers, without any outside assistance.—Besides, it is being filled up; a man threw a dead cat in there last week—we are well acquainted with a gentleman who saw it done, and vouch for his veracity.

COTTON.—The cotton crop has during the past year shown a surprising increase, improving from 2,439,039 bales in 1868-69 to over 3,000,000 bales in 1869-70. There has been an increase of area planted and better cultivation.

—Storekeepers find that the theory of counter attraction is best put into practical form by the employment of pretty females.

KITTERY, ME., Sept. 6.

The Republican State Committee of Maine, manifesting their deep concern respecting the contest going on among the Republicans of the 1st Congressional District, have issued an appeal to their fellow Republicans to stand firm to the great interests of the party, to ignore all sectional and personal prejudices, and to present an unbroken front to their opponents,—who are availing themselves of every device known to a defeated and savage political party who are endeavoring to regain their prestige.

The appeal is ably written, and cannot fail of producing a salutary effect upon that class who are disposed to ignore the nomination of Hon. John Lynch, on issues which the great interests of the Republican party can but regard as of a secondary importance compared with those which not only affect the District, but the whole country.

When the brilliant victories which have crowned our severely contested campaigns during the past ten years, are now reflecting themselves in all their glory, in the restoration of the country to its once peaceful and enterprising basis, it is astonishing to witness the short-sightedness of those voters who refuse to allow a true and loyal heart its full scope in its yearnings to establish the true principles of American republicanism upon a foundation not to be shaken by any future contests.

That all this has been accomplished is guaranteed,—far from it, there is work yet to be done; and to be successful will require our mightiest efforts, even with unbroken columns—much more if petty disaffections are allowed to control the actions of those who pretend any regard for the perpetuity of the Republican party. These are the sentiments of that class in Kittery, as well as in other parts of the 1st district, also turn a deaf ear to all Copperhead intreagues of whatever nature. Hon. John Lynch is the recognized candidate for Congress in the 1st Dist., the opinion of a few individuals is the contrary notwithstanding. Possessed of this idea, the republicans of Kittery propose to go to the polls on Monday next, and give expression to their wishes in tones that will be heard by their fellow republicans throughout the land, who know and care but little for our petty local personal difficulties, but will be glad to hear, on Monday next, that Hon. John Lynch, the Republican candidate for Congress in the 1st Maine District, has been elected by an overwhelming majority! Those who may choose to withhold their accustomed support to the regular republican ticket on Monday next, will receive, as they should, the indignation of every true republican in the land; but we hope that this class will be very limited in Kittery after the battle has been fought.

Gen. Harriman will open the campaign next Thursday evening, at Armory Hall, with his accustomed power and eloquence.

Communication.

There is nothing in the history of the past or present of the Prussians, that we as a Nation should sympathize with, while the French people's aspirations are decidedly Republican. As to their late ruler, previous to this unfortunate war, he was generally admitted the ablest in Europe, and just such an one as this mercurial people needed, perhaps for a quarter of a century to come. His reign has been the most brilliant in the history of France. The country under his rule has enjoyed greater security at home and respect abroad, and has made greater progress in commerce, manufactures and wealth than at any other period of twenty years; in literature, science, the fine arts, and the useful, his reign is far superior to any that preceeded it.

—A very domestic and devoted wife says she cares more for her eccentric husband's income than he does for his out go.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this line, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security.

These bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par, be sides paying about 9 per cent., currency, interest in the meanwhile. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices only return five per cent.; and we regard the security equally safe.

Morning---A Homily.

BY HENRY WARD BEECHER.

All the world has talked of the beauty of the morning. Much poetry has been written about it, and a vast deal of sentimental essays written. But I doubt if one man in a hundred ever saw the morning! Or if he did, it was an accident. He had been watching with a sick neighbor, or he was in an all-night stage, or was called up much against his will to some domestic exigency. With woe-begone countenance, he looks upon the eastern sky, and wonders how any man ever saw anything to praise. Among all my acquaintance, I recall but a single one who ever got up before the sun for the sake of enjoying the morning! And I am convinced that most people suppose morning to begin about seven o'clock in summer, and not far from nine in the winter!

It is true that many people are a-going to rise early. Thousands are up early over night. But when the time comes, sober second thought keeps them abed.

When a journey, a picnic, a fishing expedition, a projected ride, or any other tempting motive brings people out of bed at "untimely hours," they seldom enjoy themselves for an hour or two.

They have no heart for anything until after breakfast! Their nerves are relaxed; their eyes are weak; their stomach is rebellious! They are far more conscious of disagreeable personal sensations than of pleasing aspects of Nature.

The habit of early rising will depend largely upon the habit of retiring early. One cannot play both owl and hawk. If he will sit up late, he must sacrifice the morning. The customs of city life favor late hours. Eleven o'clock is regarded as early bed-time. Of course, eight o'clock the next morning is early rising.

In the country, things are arranged better; certainly on this little hill, where we breakfast at six, dine at twelve, and sup at six. One will be well repaid if he goes to bed at nine o'clock in summer. This is one of the best reasons why city people should spend time every summer in the country. It will enable them to sleep in the fore part of the night. From nine to three is the very ripeness of night. A month or two well filled with sleeping early of nights, in a pure country air, will do more for nerves than all doctors and medicines. We have had water-cure, motive-cure, grape-cure, and endless other cures—why does not some wise doctor open a house for sleep-cure? Once let there be known to exist a hall where nerves may go tranquil and eyes grow slumberous, and thousands would flock to it.

But it was not sleeping that I was speaking about, but early waking, of which early sleeping is the indispensable requisite.

When one wakes in the morning, there should be no parley. These bed-councils always fall back again into sleep. Spring out of bed, if you are vigorous—give yourself a good dash of water, or a dry rub if water luxuries are absent, and dress with promptness; avoid dawdling about the toilet; get out doors and move about, till the circulation is accelerated; and then, if ever, you will be prepared for enjoyment.

Until after the first of August, you will need to be out by four in the morning, if you would hear what birds can do in singing. All other notes through the day are moderate compared with the outburst and jubilee of the morning song. This is specially true when, after several days of stormy weather, in which they have been kept mute, there comes a fair morning. Then will there be a delirium of music. Birds evidently are affected by each other's singing. They sing both in response and in rivalry, and it would seem, sometimes, as if they must burst their throats asunder with the wild exuberance of morning song. This lasts from a half-hour to an hour, seldom quite an hour; for as soon as the light kindles, they leave sentiment and seek their breakfasts, and there will be an interval of bird silence almost as noticeable as the musical uproar.

But it is not the ear only that is regaled in the morning. The eye grows royal. One may wander far or near, as his humor takes him. But it is good to get apart from men, and from all household goings on—on the ridge of a grove, or along some open brook; still better if it be a stream in the uplands, with rocks and coverts, and all means of loneliness. It is good for one to be alone, with nothing before him but that which God has made. One is lifted out of self, and comes into a larger frame of mind. It is good for one to see, feel, and know how much larger is the world than he himself is! There is a kind of self-depreciation which beggars a man's spirit. But that modesty which comes, not by a morbid belittling of one's self, but by a large view of the magnitude and grandeur of the system to which one belongs, works sweetness and hopefulness, as well as humility.

Nor need one fear that morning life will grow trite. No two mornings are alike enough to seem relations. If one is trained to fine observation, the variations, from day to day will be so many that, for months, each day will be like a new leaf turned in a portfolio of engravings, a separate and different pressure on each one. But "Eyes have they, and they see not," is still true. To have the favor of such serene enjoyment, one must have all the instruments of his body in fine order. To be this, he must lead a simple regular life. Pure blood and sound organs demand that one should be in accord with natural law. And it comes to pass in another sense, and yet nearly allied, that "the pure in heart shall see God." A soul in health shall see God in all moral relations, and a body in all pure and fine health shall see God in his physical laws and phenomena.—N. Y. Ledger.

THE DOWNFALL OF BABYLON.—Of Napoleon, the Boston Advertiser says:

It is impossible to repress some emotion of pity if not of sympathy for the man who climbed so slowly and obstinately up, and who has fallen so swiftly and so far. If it were easy to shut out of sight the thousands of brave Frenchmen whose lives he has sacrificed in his own destruction, in a campaign undertaken for no national advantage but solely for his selfish ends, as well as to forget the perjury and murder by the aid of which he ascended the throne eighteen years ago,—if we could shut our eyes to these things, we might entertain some kindly emotions in his behalf.

Our hearts are stirred a little, at the very last, for Shylock and for Fagin, of whom no word that is good can be said. But of this man we can remember good things. We can admire the pluck and persistency of his youth, and the deep purpose to which he clung after he had not only been baffled but rendered ridiculous in the eyes of the world. And we can remember that in the zenith of his power, when he might do what he would, he cut the bonds of Italy, which but for him might be yet wearing the cruel chain which Austria forged "in view of seven consenting nations."

But though it is an instinct of charity to recall his good deeds now that his great opportunity for good deeds and bad is ended forever, it would be impossible to persuade American readers that the world is not to be benefitted and justice done in the catastrophe of Napoleon. His crime against France was not concentrated in the coup d' etat. When he found his empire growing weaker, when the talking and thinking of his people became dangerous to him, he strengthened his hold of power by pandering to the worst passions of Paris. He made his capital city the most corrupt of modern times in its morals, that in its morals, that in its luxurious vice it should not have leisure to think of public affairs. Under him literature, art, the drama, were alike debased. His influence tended to undermine the purity of a generation. While his Empress led the extravagance and frivolity of all civilized countries, his theatres sent out missionaries through the world to disseminate the foul seeds of Offenbach.

And now the very mines he dug have destroyed the dynasty he sought to defend by their aid. France corrupted within by insidious devices ceased to be strong enough to overthrow enemies from without. The bravest soldiers,—and the world has seen none braver than the battalions who fought the long losing fight from Woerth to Sedan,—the bravest troops avail nothing with a rotten commissariat and incapable generals. These are what the Paris of the last twenty years has given to the French army upon which Napoleon depended; and the test of the field having exposed them both, and the French army broken, Napoleon has gone down. The only cause for sadness is in the fact that France is in the dust with him.

—A box containing a black bear was received at an express office in San Francisco the other day, with this inscription:—"Black Bare. If yew don't want to get bit, kepe yer fingers outen the crax!"

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.

It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.

One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds, 2 coats; one gallon of Averill Chemical Paint, only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 29 square yds., 2 coats,—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.

The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.

The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money, and beautify your dwelling by using the

WAITING FOR THE CARS.—Several mornings since, a romantic mistake occurred at the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railroad depot on the arrival of the 6 30 Detroit train. An old gentleman—in fact, two old gentlemen were at the depot with their carriages, anxiously awaiting the arrival of friends. The train came dashing into the depot. The first of the twain walked briskly along until he caught sight of a prepossessing young lady, about fourteen years of age, then, going toward her, bent over and inquired if this was "Cousin ——." The young miss, not waiting to hear the sentence finished, put a pair of lovely arms around his neck and imprinted a hasty kiss on his cheek. "Why, surely, Uncle, don't you know me?" came from the exceedingly rosy lips. "Well, I thought it was you but was not certain. But let's to the carriage; breakfast is already prepared in anticipation of your being hungry after a tedious night's ride." And the two stepping into the carriage, were driven a few squares to a stately stone front mansion. Entering the dwelling the young lady was shown her apartments, with the request to come into the breakfast room as soon as she was ready. A few moments sufficed for the washing of her hands and face, and the arranging of her disordered toilet, and then youthful feet came pattering down stairs and into the breakfast room. "Why, where is aunt?" were the first words of the little beauty. "Oh, she is not up yet," replied the stately old gentleman, who was all eagerness to be at his chocolate and paper. "Well, then, uncle, I will take the head of the table." And down she sat at the head, and entered at once upon the duties of the table. So delighted was the old gent with her as the meal proceeded that he soon forgot all about his paper and the war in Europe. In the midst of this pleasant state of affairs, the aunt made her appearance and was taken aback at what she saw. "Why, who have you breakfasting with you?" she exclaimed, looking with exceeding interest at the young miss. "Why, you have not forgotten Nellie?" says the pater familias. "Cousin Nellie!" echoed both the aunt and astonished miss. "Why, that's not Cousin Nellie." "Why, no," quickly responded the little cousin, "I am Cousin Lucy. Why, if I didn't think you were Uncle Charles," and here Cousin Lucy broke down, and a tear dropped from her eye at the sudden disappointment she had experienced. At this stage of the scene, old gentleman No. two, whom we had left at the depot, entered the house, bringing with him the cousin they had expected, and after a hearty laugh on the old grey beards, they all sat down to the table at the request of the aunt, and amid the most lively remarks and hearty laughter at the mistakes at the train, completed a breakfast which we will guarantee will not soon be forgotten by them. It appears that old gentleman No. two had fallen into a similar mistake, but before arriving at home, he discovered his error in conversing with the fair occupant of the carriage, and learning the name of the person whom she had expected to meet at the depot, and who proved to be an acquaintance of his, he drove to the house in question, just in time to add to the interest of the surprising denouement.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

THE CENSUS.—Complete returns in Hillsborough County show gains of 49 in Bedford, 3402 in Manchester, 238 in Milford, 476 in Nashua, and 605 in Wilton, making an aggregate gain of 4988; while in the rest of the county, the aggregate losses are 2616—showing a net gain in the county in ten years of 2720, and increasing the population of the entire county, from 62,140 in 1860, to 64,212 in 1870.

Complete returns in Cheshire County show a gain of 30 in Hinsdale, 1,651 in Keene, 102 in Marlborough, 45 in Nelson, and 6 in Troy, making an aggregate of 1834; while the rest of the county exhibits losses amounting to 2,003—thus showing a net loss, in ten years, of 169 only, and reducing the population, from 27,434 in 1860, to 27,265 in 1870.

☞ Town meetings were held in many towns in Massachusetts, Monday, to see if the towns would vote to allow the sale of lager beer, ale, porter and strong beer. Lawrence voted yes—761 to 76; Newton voted no—349 to 1; Walpole voted no—71 to 4; Cambridge voted yes—1018 to 500; Concord voted yes—93 to 36; Winchester voted no, by a very large majority.

☞ The receipts of the government from customs, internal revenue, public lands, &c., since March 1, 1869, show an increase of $37,213,765 60 over the amount received during the last eighteen months of Johnson's administration.

FOR ALL PURPOSES of a LAXATIVE MEDICINE,
Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative PILL. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.
They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, regulate their irregular action, restore health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.
For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.
For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.
For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.
For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.
For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken freely and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.
For Suppression a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.
As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.
An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PILLS makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus. dawJelteodim

FREEMAN'S IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP,
FREEMAN'S IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP,
It excels all other Iron preparations in the combination with Mandrake and Vegetable Tonics, so that the Liver is acted on to remove bile and impurities from the system, while the vegetable tonics strengthen the stomach and promote the digestion of Iron with the food and its absorption into the blood. It renovates the system and is the best medicine.
MANDRAKE is the Great Vegetable substitute for calomel to act on liver. In FREEMAN'S IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP it is combined with Iron and Vegetable Tonics, and forms the most perfect medicine. It purifies the blood and imparts IRON to it. It acts on the Liver and removes foul humors from the body. It is a most excellent remedy for debility, especially for mothers who are worn down by nursing infants, and for all persons whose blood is poor, and who need Iron and a strengthening medicine. 2meodawjy25

HAIR VIGOR,
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of footing the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1870.

WAR NOTES.—General Trochu is entrusted with full military powers for the national defence of France. The government invites the people to be calm, and not to forget that they are in the face of the enemy. The ministry is as follows:—Jules Favre, Minister of Foreign Affairs; General le Flo, Minister of War; Admiral Fourichon, Minister of Marine; Emanuel Cremieux, Minister of Justice; Ernest Picard, Minister of Finances; Jules Simon, Minister of Public Instruction and Worship; ——Dorian, Minister of Public Works; Pierre Magne, Minister of Agriculture and Commerce.

The N. Y. Commercial Advertiser says: "We are informed that President Grant has instructed Secretary Fish to issue a proclamation to recognize the new French republic."

From all parts of France news comes of enthusiastic adhesion to the republic. The people are arming and volunteers are hastening to Paris, where a large force is already assembled.

Ninety thousand French prisoners have been sent from Sedan into Germany.

The total force now under arms in France, including the Nationale and Garde Mobile, is 700,000.

Letters from Sedan state that the insubordination in the French army was so great before the surrender that their own officers' lives were in danger. The Emperor was insulted and capitulation was necessary to his personal safety.

The new government has revoked the functions of the following ambassadors to foreign courts:—Marquis de Lardette at London, Count de Manbourg at Vienna, and General Fleury at St Petersburg.

Marshal Bazaine maintains his position at Metz. He is keeping 150,000 Prussians to guard him and prevent his escape from the fortress.

It is said that the Empress Eugenie was very angry on the announcement of the surrender of the Emperor, and telegraphed to him on Thursday as follows:—"They say in Paris you have placed your son where only spent balls fall. I pray you to place him where balls fall that kill."

The following are the resolutions which passed the Corps Legislatif, deposing the Emperor:—

Resolved, That Louis Napoleon Bonaparted and his dynasty be declared to have forfeited the powers which the nation conferred upon them, and that there shall be chosen an executive committe composed of members, the number of whom shall be fixed by the Chamber, which shall be invested with all the powers necessary to repel the invasion and drive the enemy from the soil.

Resolved, That General Trochu, Gov. of Paris, be charged exclusively with the defence of the capital.

The Journal Officiel of the Republic publishes a proclamation to the army exhorting it to rally around the glorious flag that eighty years ago drove back all Europe.

Gen. Vinoy, commanding the remnant of the French forces in the field, reached Paris, Tuesday, with 13 trains of artillery, 11 of cavalry, 14 of infantry, and was received with the most enthusiastic demonstrations, and at once assigned an important command in the defence of Paris.

MORE WAR.—The London Standard says:—"We learn from reliable sources, that England, in conjunction with France, as soon as a stable government is formed in the latter named country, intends declaring war upon China for satisfaction for the massacre of English and French citizens at Tein-tsin, demanding guarantees from the Emperor of China for the security of the English and French subjects in that country in the future."

The Duc de Gramont's arrival at Dover is reported in England, ready to unite in the new government at Paris, to join in the Chinese expedition.

THE VERMONT ELECTION, Tuesday, resulted in the choice of the Republican State ticket by 20,000 majority and the election of three Republican candidates for Congress.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

OLD TIMES CHRONICLES, No. 15.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

THE STATE ELECTION OF 1823.—This was not a very long time ago. Many living recollect it. Yet those now nearly 70 years of age were young voters then.

From the commencement of the war of the Revolution in 1775 to 1785, ten years, those who were Governors of the State were of Rockingham County. Then the State Constitution went into operation. From that time to 1824, thirty-nine years more, the Governors chosen were in Rockingham County, except Gen. Sullivan, three years, who belonged in Strafford County.

The year 1822 was the last that Hon. Samuel Bell held the office, having served four years. He was popular and for the last three years, was elected with no opposition of any force. But a warm political contest is almost inevitable at times under a free government. It is not without its uses. Thunder, lightning and tempests, if disagreeable at the time, purify the atmosphere.

At that period Conventions to nominate candidates were scarcely known. Reliance was upon the spontaneous feeling of the masses, the consultations of prominent men, who were leaders, and in some cases the deliberations of Legislative circles. Candidates for the Presidency were frequently nominated by the parties in Congress.

In the campaign of 1823, Samuel Dinsmore of Keene was presented as a candidate for Governor. The sectional feeling was not strong, yet there were those who thought some section of the State besides Rockingham County should have the honor and reward of the office.

Mr. Dinsmore was considered the regular candidate. Hon. Isaac Hill, then the leading politician of the State, gave him his earnest support.

But another candidate was presented. This was Levi Woodbury of Portsmouth. He was at the time one of the Judges of the Supreme Court.

The Party then was called Republican. Later it took the name Democrat. The other Party was called Federal, Mr. Dinsmore and Mr. Woodbury were both of the first named party.

The contest was somewhat animated. The Federalists had no candidate. Many of them supported Mr. Woodbury, having some hope that he would finally, if he was not then, be in harmony with them. They were told afterwards that like the mile-board of the farmer's plan, the bend was the other way.

Election day came, Mr. Woodbury had 16,985 votes, Mr. Dinsmore 12,718 and there were 240 scattering. Mr. Woodbury's majority was more than 4,000.

We will give the vote of a few towns, Portsmouth, Woodbury 900, Dinsmore 34; Newcastle W. 74, D. 0; Newington, W. 92, D. 0; Newmarket, W. 159, D. 16; Stratham, W. 116, D. 9; Rye, W. 193, D. 1; Hampton, W. 64, D. 12; Dover, W. 373, D. 21. Even Concord gave W. 156 to 198 for D. Nottingham was equally divided, 72 to 72, Greenland was all for W. 111, Deerfield, Hampstead and several other towns gave good majorities for Mr. D.

Portsmouth that year besides having one of its citizens as Governor, had a member of the Council, Hunking Penhallow, and the Senator of District No. 1. The Representatives of Portsmouth were Estwick Evans, John N. Sherburn, N. A. Haven, Jr., Wm. Claggett, Andrew Bell of Exeter, Wm. Smith, W. B. C. Peabody. D. L. Morrill of Goffstown was President of the Senate and A. Pierce of Dover, Speaker of the House. We think Mr. Pierce did not serve to the end of the session, Mr. Edmund Parker being chosen, the chair being vacant for some reason we have not now at hand.

Mr. Dinsmore, defeated for Governor, waited seven years till 1831 when he was elected, Ichabod Bartlett of Portsmouth being candidate against him. Mr. D. was Governor three years.

☞ We see by an exchange that John Smith is in trouble again, he has been killing a man in Georgia this time. We think this must be a mistake as we are quite sure that we met John at the New England Fair this week.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Season of Exhaustion.

The close sultry weather which usually prevails toward the end of summer is particularly unfavorable to the feeble and enervated. Even the well-knit frames of strong men feel the influence of the season, and lassitude and languor pervade the whole community. Ladies, especially those in delicate health, suffer much from debility, occasioned by the humid heat, and feel the want of a wholesome invigorant. In fact, a necessity for something to recruit the exhausted system is experienced, more or less, by everybody, and the only question is, what that something will be. With those who have tested the effect of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS on themselves, or have observed its effects on others, this question will not be in doubt for a single moment.

Its tonic and regulating operation, and its agency in creating a healthy appetite and promoting digestion, are rightly classed by all who have resorted to this unequalled vegetable invigorant and corrective, among the most extraordinary therapeutic wonders of modern times. It should be taken at this season as a safeguard against the epidemic diseases which are so apt to attack the relaxed system in the fall of the year.

As it is understood that mercenary speculators in various parts of the country are endeavoring to supersede the standard tonic of the age with worthless articles manufactured by themselves which they represent to be superior to this long tried remedy, it is proper to put the public on their guard against this species of imposition, and to warn them against the deleterious trash with which dishonorable dealers seek to drench them.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world: the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable, instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effect of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautiful, black or brown. Sold by all Druggist and Perfumers, and properly applied at Batchelor's Wig Factory, No. 16 Bond Street, New York. lydawje2

Vegetable "Pain Killer,"

Physicians of the first respectability recommend it as a most effectual preparation for the extinction of pain. It is not only the best remedy ever known for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c., but for Dysentery or Cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency and rapidity of action. In the great cities of India, and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, and other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. Sold by all druggists. dawlmsf

☞ The proposed base ball match between the Muffer nines has been postponed until further notice.

☞ Who is responsible for the delay in filling the cess-pool? Prompt action would be particularly acceptable to the denizens of that vicinity who desire to sleep o' nights. The neglect to relieve them from the intolerable stench is shameful. Some one is responsible. Who is it?

ON MONDAY LAST there was a pleasant gathering of friends at Capt. James M. Hill's, 118 State Street. It was the occasion of the 80th birthday of Mrs. Catherine Brown, and was celebrated by the christening of one of this lady's great-grandchildren, James Frederic McDougal Hardwick. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers, and the scene a delightful one to young and old.

Mrs. Brown has 22 grandchildren, 16 of whom are living; and 16 great-grandchildren, 13 of whom are living. One of the latter was present, his father, Rev. W. G. Nowell, of Calais, Me., performing the rite observed for the youngest of these children of the fourth generation. As the eldest cousin of this little fellow is a young gentleman of seven summers, Mrs. Brown is likely to see her great-great-grandchildren, or one of them at least if her health remains as good as now. Mrs. Brown's maiden name was one of those given to the descendant baptized on this interesting occasion.

YOUTHFUL SPECULATION.—A boy of 16, named John Blute, while engaged in helping Mr. Benj. Brown remove a family from a double house on Anthony Street, Tuesday, concluded to speculate a little on his own hook; so while Mr. Brown was busy with the furniture down stairs, Blute first captured $23 belonging to the woman whose property he was assisting to remove, and then organized a raid on the adjoining tenement, found a promising looking pair of trowsers, probably belonging to some man, in a chamber, and "went through" the same, thereby adding $26 more to his private exchequer. Having confiscated all he could find to confiscate, he proceeded to invest a portion of his funds—$3 for a meerschaum pipe, ninety cents for a knife, and various small sums for oysters, liquid refreshments, etc., amounting to $6 in all. The persons who had owned the money at first, were annoyed on missing it, and reported their loss to Assistant Marshal Mortimer, who arrested young Blute, and returned his purchases to the store where they were procured; the balance of the money spent was made up by the boy's friends. The same boy was arrested by Officer Mortimer some time ago, for truancy; and now goes into the Navy, rather than to the Reform School.

THE "PEERLESS" STOVE.—In another column may be found an advertisement of Messrs. Sweetser & Clark, the enterprising Portsmouth agents for this celebrated cook-stove, calling attention to the exhibition at their store, No. 46 Market Street, of the identical Stove which took the first prize at the Paris Exhibition in 1867, and which has been awarded first prizes in a dozen or twenty different States (at State and County Fairs) since. We have seen and examined it; and though it is hard to find anything to say in its praise which has not already been said fifty times over by the press in all parts of the country, we will add our opinion—that it is worthy of its name.

The "prize stove," which differs from the ordinary sale stoves of the same name only in its finish, is a beautiful specimen of what skilled labor can do in making ordinarily unattractive objects pleasing to the eye; it is handsome enough for a parlor ornament—though rather large for that use. Near it are several of the common stoves; and so far as we could judge by inspection, they are as near perfection as cooking-stoves can hope to arrive in this sinful world. The cooking accommodation is very great, the material of the best, and the workmanship thorough.—But those who are knowing or curious in cook-stoves, or who need—or think they do—a new stove, can see this one at any time until Saturday evening next, by calling at the store of Messrs. Sweetser & Clark, where it has already attracted much attention. In this connection, we would observe that unmarried editors still exist in this city; and will suggest that in case any of the forlorn creatures should ever find a spare rib, that no more delicate compliment could be paid him than to present him with a Peerless Stove to do the cooking.

MANCHESTER, Sept. 6, 1870.

The New England Agricultural Fair opened here this morning, under favorable auspices, the attendance is large, the entries of stock, fruit, grain, vegetables, farming utensils, house-keeping implements, fancy articles and new inventions were numerous.

The grounds of the Society are quite near the City, though a mile from the depot; large teams convey people from the R. R. station to the Fair for fifteen cents each.

Quite a number of Portsmouth folks are here and many more are expected to-morrow, Hon. Frank Jones is one of the Assistant Marshals, C. H. Hayes, Esq., has charge of the neat stock and Aaron Young, Esq., is busy in the office of the General Superintendent.

There is every opportunity of obtaining something to eat without going to a hotel, dining rooms are abundant. The Lowell St. Universalist Society have a tent where one can contribute seventy-five cents to the Murray Centenary Fund and get a good dinner gratis—I did. There are to be several trials of speed each day.

Col. M. V. B. Edgerly of Manchester is Chief Marshal. He and his assistants are mounted on splendid horses and add life and gaiety to the scene as they dash hither and thither over the field.

The entries include 700 cattle and 300 horses, among them "Young Morrill" and "Fearnaught."

Dr. Geo. B. Loring of Massachusetts was the orator, and made an address replete with practical information for agriculturalists.

In the afternoon, the race for gentlemen's driving horses was won by Lady Alice in 2.52, 2.51, 2.57, under Ike Copp's driving. In the 2.40 race, Thomas Jefferson got three of the five heats in 2.38, 2.37 1-2, 2.36 1-2, 2.34, 2.32 3-4. There were nine entries, and Frank Jones' Lady Emma was fifth in the last heat.

The fair promises to be a decided success. Yours, EXHIBITOR.

☞ The Portland Press has a correspondent at Kittery who mixes much imagination with a very few facts, and individuals until they don't know themselves. He signs his name S. and boldly charges ridiculous things, which if he knew more on the subject would prevent his gazing at a mirror forever hereafter. He has a government job which pays him about $1000 or $1400 a year, and employs his time in the service of Hon. John Lynch, to whom he is indebted for his retention. He is one of the class of indiscreet toadies who overdo themselves and injure the cause they advocate. A little additional "backbone" might make a man of him.

☞ Steam Yacht Alice Rosa, Davis, (before reported lost on Coffin's Beach, 4th), left the Isles of Shoals on Saturday afternoon for Boston, but a thick fog setting in they came to anchor in Ipswich Bay. As night came on, the wind increased, and the sea being very rough, she parted both cables and was driven ashore on the beach, the crew barely escaping being drowned. The Alice Rosa was five years old, owned by Mr. A. C. Alvard, Jr., of New York, and valued at $16,000. Some $500 worth of property belonging to the yacht was saved.

DEATHS.

In this city, Sept. 6, Mrs. ANNE MARIA PEPPER, widow of the late Daniel Pepper, aged 76 years.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this line, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earning warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security.

These bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par, besides paying about 9 per cent., currency, interest in the meanwhile. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices only return five per cent.; and we regard the security equally safe.

Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. [From the Overland Monthly for May.]

LOVE AND SHIPWRECK.

I do not remember when it was that the second mate began to show his demonstrative admiration for our pretty fellow passenger. It was Dick Halliday who called my attention to it as a capital joke while we were yet in the Mediterranean a fortnight or so after we sailed from Leghorn. We two were leaning on the quarter-rail, just before dusk, when Miss Ellis came on deck. "There's the candle," said Dick, "and presently you'll see the moth." In the course of the next five minutes, Mr. Jones, our second mate, lounged over from the opposite side of the deck, and entered into animated conversation with the young lady on the interesting topic of sharks. At least we judged so by her questions, which were put in such a clear voice, that the wind, loth to part with the musical tones, indiscreetly carried them within our hearing. "He's a sort of death's head moth in point of beauty," continued my friend; "but he's neither too ugly nor too old to suffer an uncomfortable singeing."

I had a half formed idea that I rather liked the second mate, and a very certain conviction that I particularly admired pretty Mary Ellis. As I disliked to see the man make a fool of himself, or the girl appear in a discreditable character of coquette, Dick's moth-and-candle theory annoyed me. I therefore took the liberty of totally disbelieving it, and should have continued to do so had not the evidence gradually become too plain to be mistaken.

There were only four of us in the cabin, Dick, Miss Ellis, her father and myself. Why we had taken passage from Leghorn for New York in a slow sailing, marble-laden ship, instead of returning home by a quicker and more fashionable route, does not pertain to the present story. As the only lady passenger, Miss Ellis naturally was the chief object of interest to my friend and myself. Her father was old, ill, and unable to play whist, and was consequently an extremely uninteresting fellow passenger. Fortunately he kept his room pretty closely, and we saw very little of him. But his daughter was the brightest and most bewitching little woman that ever made a long sea voyage not only endurable, but delightful. She was twenty-five as she frankly confessed, and had spent the last three years in travelling with her invalid father. She was never ill-tempered, never dull or dispirited, and though frank and bright in manner, never transgressed the limits of maidenly propriety. She was quite aware of the fact that she was extremely pretty, and she had an irresistible tendency toward innocent flirtation. Had I been a younger man, or had Dick not possessed a wife and a quantity of children at home one or both of us would have certainly rehearsed the world old drama of idle love with Mary Ellis in the leading female role, as the critics would say.

As for Mr. Jones, he was the last man whom any one would have deemed capable of sentiment of any sort. He was old—for although he said he was only thirty-five, rough weather and a wild, dissolute life had made him much older than his years. His complexion was nearly the color of mahogany, thoroughly oiled, though it lacked the polished surface which is generally associated with that article in its manufactored state. His hair was grizzled and unkempt, and an ugly scar, which stretched across his forehead—the memorial of a desperate fight with a mutinous crew added nothing to the beauty. Still his eyes were clear and piercing, and his figure athletic and manly. I suppose there are women who might possibly have fallen in love with him. The Duchess Josiane certainly would.

When one came to scrutinize Jones spiritual, as distinguished from Jones physical, it was still more difficult to understand how he could have the amazing self conceit to imagine that Miss Ellis could regard him with anything but the barest toleration. He was a bold, quick, sailor; a man born to command the refuse of humanity that mans our merchant vessels. He was hard and cruel, to the lazy and ignorant, and as a swearer, eclipsed any one whom I had ever heard in the devilish intensity of his innumerable oaths. He was a totally illiterate man and his want of knowledge of navigation made it impossible for him to rise above a subordinate station in his profession. His conversation had a certain spice of shrewdness and homely good sense, but was a perpetual defiance of Lindley Murray and all his works. His code of morality was summarily comprehended in the two rules—never to be drunk at sea, and always to obey orders. This was certainly a pretty sort of a fellow to take a fancy to a refined and delicate girl. To do him justice, he was brave and manly in his station; but what right had he to look except from an infinite distance, at sweet Mary Ellis?

It would have been amusing had it not made me indignant, to note how the man watched for her appearance. At every step that sounded from the companion way he would stop, with a look of expectation on his face that the dullest witness could not fail to understand. When she did appear he would soon contrive to carelessly contrive to approach her, and would never be absent from her side, except for a few moments at a time while the two were on deck. He was perpetually bringing mattresses for her to rest upon and shawls to wrap around her. I have known him to keep a sailor in the mizzen chains for hours at a time, catching floating bits of sea weed and stray jelly fish, for her amusement. What was more creditable to him, he never abused the men in her presence and rarely swore while she was within hearing. More than once at the warning touch of her hand upon his arm, he dropped his raised hand and suppressed the half muttered oath about to be launched at some unhappy fellow who had committed an unusually irritating offence against the laws of good seamanship.

This moth-and-candle business went on for several weeks. Mary Ellis was, or affected to be, totally unconscious of the conquest she had made. Neither Dick nor myself felt at liberty to remonstrate with her in behalf of the peace of mind of the second mate. I did, however, venture one day to warn Mr. Jones of the attention that his conduct had attracted. We had grown quite friendly by this time and I fancied that the kindly interest I took in his welfare would rather flatter him than otherwise. He listened to what I had to say, with his hands thrust into his pockets and his gaze directed miles away toward the distant horizon. "And so, Mr. Jones," I concluded, "you must see that this sort of thing won't do. The lady is quite out or your sphere, and either don't suspect, that you care particularly for her, or else is amusing herself at your expense."

He turned and looked at me silently. "Mister," he said at last slowly and reflectively, "like enough you mean all right, so I won't git mad about it. But you're making the d——est fool of yourself! Talking to me about your spheres! Why, I'm a man, ain't I? and a white man, too! And she's a woman, ain't she? What's your spheres got to do with my bein' perlite to the young woman? I expect she gets tired of your infernal jaw sometimes—I know I do anyhow—and she don't mind listenin' to me a bit, for healthy change. What I think of her ain't any of your business, not yet anybody else's; but I ain't agoin' to let any man say that she's a playin' it on me. Now you've got your course, and that's enough. I don't allow no interferin' from passengers, nor nobody," and he walked away.

After this failure, I tried with him no more advice. Gradually I became convinced that Miss Ellis was in reality a heartless coquette, who was amusing herself with a conquest so out of the ordinary way as to interest her from its very novelty. The conviction that she was actually capable of this petty cruelty made me necessary revise my opinion of her; and I ceased to regard her with the warm admiration with which she had first inspired me.

To be continued to-morrow.

—Mrs. Laura C. Holloway has prepared a new lecture, entitled "The Perils of the Hour." This may refer to the European war, but more probably to the jute-bug.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.

It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.

One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds, 2 coats; while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats.—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.

The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.

The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the PERSONAL.—George Alfred Townsend has been at Newport, and in a letter from that noted resort to his paper, the Chicago Tribune, he has the following, which will be read with interest:

"I have mentioned Mrs. Samuel Colt, of Hartford, as the purchaser of a $62,000 lot—nearly $6,000 an acre. She is one of the wealthiest, perhaps the wealthiest, widow in the United States, and the richest person in the state of Connecticut, not excepting Horace Bushnell of New Haven, nor James Goodwin of Hartford. Her husband, Samuel Colt, when alive, was a man of boundless enterprise. Unlike James Fisk, Jr., he was the creator of something, a part of the business society in which he moved; no profligate pickpocket, with a railroad in one hand and a judge in the other; he had actual ideas of being a power and an influence amongst men, and his factory is to-day the most gigantic specimen of concentrated mechanism that we have to show, —a thing that almost thinks, and which moves with the precision and versatility of a whole nation.

Had Colt lived to execute his designs, he would have had his huge factory so complete that a regiment of men might have marched in, naked at one end and emerged at the other with arms and uniform cap-a-pie, from the rifled musket at their shoulders to the buttons on their cuffs. High living, overwork, too much health, toppled down the mighty stature of Sam Colt before he had completely proved the boundless possibilities of a single confident energy, but, dying, he left a meek and beautiful spirit to dignify and distribute his riches, in Mrs. Colt, —the daughter of a clergyman, a dutiful wife and a good woman, capable of making wealth useful to illustrate the female character, to monumentalize religion, and to assist charity. She lives in style becoming the possessor of such means, practising the piety she has bedecked with statuary and with the most complete church edifice in America, and we rejoice in the memory of her rougher and more worldly husband when we see the relic he has left behind him, and how far one good life goes to repair the deficiencies of the dead.

JOKES.—There are a few men in the world who cannot appreciate a joke and to whom anything that smacks of sentiment is a personal thrust. To suit their ideas of property, everything and everybody must be staid and indifferent. It was only Saturday morning that we read in a Dover paper that a certain lecturer was offended because the editor remarked that his little oration was "the role of jackass kicking a dead lion," and this morning we read in a Vermont paper that a Mr. Scroggin was put out by an editor who remarked that the gentleman appeared on the street "in a clean dickey." It is not often that such morals trouble this sanctum, although a fellow, whose name we have forgotten, gave us a harsh setting out a few nights since, and added a good deal of unnecessary advice in terms quite scientific. We have survived his ire, however, and live to report the last sensation on the street, which is as follows:

One night last week there was a fearful hurry-skurry on Main street. An old fellow who should have been in bed was enacting the role of lunatic—ringing a bell, shouting murder! thieves! burglars! robbers! Upon being interviewed by the police he said he was doing it "to disgrace his son."—Nashua Telegraph.

CHANGE OF FRENCH RULES.—Louis XVI. was executed in 1793, and his son, the Dauphin, after barbarious usage, died in 1795. Napoleon I. had two abdications and two exils. His son died in Austria, and never attained the Imperial scepter. Louis XVIII., who came next, was an exile for twenty years; was restored to the throne by the bayonets of Europe; was chased off it by Napoleon, driven into exile, but was again put back by the military forces of the Continent. He died after a reign of nine years.

His brother, Charles A., whose youth had been spent in exile, was driven from the throne by the revolution in 1830, and died far from his native land. His successor, Louis Phillippe, whose father had been executed in 1793, was in turn driven from the kingdom, when an old man, after a prosperous reign of eighteen years. His successor was Louis Napoleon. Of all the sovereigns of France since 1773, he has had the longest reign as President and Emperor. They thus compare:

Napoleon I, fifteen years.
Louis XVIII, nine years.
Charles X, six years.
Louis Philippe, eighteen years.
Louis Napoleon, twenty-two years.

Eugenie to the "Tranquil,"
"The Tranquil" to Eugenie,

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, D. C., September 1, 1870.

SEALED PROPOSALS to furnish materials for the several Navy Yards for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1871, will be received at this Bureau until 12 o'clock, A. M., of the 20th of September next, at which time the proposals will be opened.

Printed schedules, in which the materials and articles required are embraced, with form of offer and guarantee, will be furnished on application, and sent by mail, if so requested, to persons desiring to offer to contract for any or all of the classes named therein, by the commandants of the several Navy Yards, for the classes for the yards under their command, by the Navy paymaster nearest thereto, or by the Bureau for any or all of the yards.

To prevent confusion and mistakes in sealing the offers, no bid will be received which contains classes for more than one Yard in one envelope; nor any bid which is not perfect and complete in itself, according to the forms of offer and guaranty, and each individual of a firm must sign the bid and contract.

Bidders are referred to the printed instructions, which will be furnished with the schedules, and they are hereby cautioned, and particularly notified, that their offers must be made on the printed form prescribed by the Bureau, and be mailed in time to reach their destination before the time expires for receiving them.

No bid will be considered which shall be received after the period stated, and no allowance will be made for failures of the mail.

The proposal must be accompanied by a certificate from the Collector of Internal Revenue for the district in which the bidder resides, that he has a license to deal in the articles for which he proposes; and by direction of the Department, bids or offers will be received only from parties who are bona-fide dealers in the articles, or the articles they offer to furnish. The guarantors must be certified by the Assessor of Internal Revenue for the district in which they reside.

The contract will be awarded to the person who makes the lowest bid and gives the guarantee required by law, the Navy Department, however, reserving the right to reject any or all bids, or any which it may deem exorbitant.

Sureties in the full amount will be required to sign the contract, and their responsibility must be certified to the satisfaction of the Navy Department, and the bidder must state distinctly at what paymaster's office he desires all his bills to be paid.

To guard against offers being opened before the time appointed, bidders are requested to use the printed envelopes, furnished by the Bureau, endorsed thus: "Proposals for classes Nos. (name the classes) for the Navy Yard at, (name the yard.)" To the Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, Navy Department, Washington, D. C."

The schedule will state the times within which articles will be required to be delivered. If any articles are named in the schedules which are not known to be in common and general use, the bidders will ascertain promptly whether such articles can be procured or not, and if they cannot be obtained, the fact must be reported to the Bureau at once, before bids shall be received.

All offers not made in strict conformity with the instructions accompanying the schedules will, at the option of the bureau, be rejected.

An additional security, twenty per centum will be withheld from the amount of the bills until the contracts shall have been completed, and eighty per centum of the amount of each bill, approved intriplicate by the commandant of the respective yards, will be paid by the paymaster of the station designated in the contract, within ten days after the warrant for the same shall have been passed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

Class No. 1, Bricks; No. 2, Stone; No. 3, Yellow Pine Timber; No. 4, Yellow Pine Lumber; No. 5, Oak and Hard wood; No. 6, White Pine, Spruce, Juniper, and Cypress; No. 7, Lime, Hair, and Plaster; No. 8, Cement; No. 9, Drain Pipe; No. 9, Gravel and Sand; No. 9, Moulding and Firesand and Fireclay; No. 10, Slate; No. 11, Iron, Iron Spikes, and Nails; No. 12, Steel; No. 13, Pipe Iron; No. 14, Files; No. 15, Paints, Oils, and Glass; No. 16, Ship Chandlery; No. 17, Hardware; No. 18, Stationery; No. 20, Hay and Straw; No. 21, Provender; No. 22, Charcoal; No. 23, Belting, Packing, and Hose; No. 24, Sperm, and Lubricating Oils; No. 25, Iron Work, Piping, &c.; No. 26, Augers; No. 31, Copper and Composition Nails; No. 32, Machinery and Tools.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1870.

WAR NOTES.—The Paris correspondent of the London Standard says numerous Americans in Paris are joining the Franc Tireurs, and the new corps now organizing is named the League of the Friends of France. The organization and drilling of the Garde Nationale and Garde Mobile progresses rapidly. Their discipline has wonderfully improved.

The minister of foreign affairs, Jules Favre, has addressed a circular to the diplomatic representatives of the republic abroad, which, while expressing a desire for peace, declares that if Prussia continues the war the French government will carry it on vigorously, and will not cede an inch of territory, and not a single one of the French fortresses. A dishonorable peace would only lead to an exterminating war at an early day.

The troops commanded by Gen. Vinoy number 30,000.

Gen. De Wimpfen, the late commander of the French forces at Sedan, and who negotiated the capitulation of the fortress and the remainder of McMahon's army, having been empowered by the Prussians to treat with McMahon, went to Metz and suggested that Marshal Bazaine should capitulate. Marshal Bazaine positively refused to listen to such a proposition, declaring he will maintain his position inside the walls of Metz, in the most extreme hazards. He firmly refuses to treat upon any terms.

A fatal epidemic is raging among the troops around Sedan. The victims include the soldiers of both the French and German armies. The suffering from the ravages of the scourge is intense and aggravated. The complaint has assumed a contagious form, and finds new victims daily. It is of the nature of dysentery.

Despatches have been received at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs from the diplomatic representatives of the Republic of France at London and Vienna, announcing that England and Austria had formally recognized the Republic.

At Metz, between Tuursday and Friday last, the Prussians threw a pontoon bridge over the moat and a great force prepared to cross over upon the bridge. When the column reached the centre of the pontoon, the mitrailleuses which had been planted at the Porte des Pechenurs were opened upon them and the whole column melted away in an instant. The carnage was dreadful. The whole Prussian force was swept to destruction.

Marshal McMahon is dead. He was wounded by fragments of a shell, in the hip and back. The French and Prussian soldiers grieve at his death.

The U. S. Government has recognized the French Republic, much to the delight of France.

THE NEW YORK REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION, Wednesday, nominated Gen. Stewart L. Woodford for Governor by 258 votes to 105 for Horace Greeley and 20 scattering. The Fenton wing of the party was beaten by the Conkling wing. The Convention passed a series of resolutions endorsing the administration of President Grant; congratulating Germany on the righteous victories of Fatherland, and expressing the hope that the brave people who have given a republic to France may soon establish free institutions in their own country; hailing with joy a new republic in France and the overthrow of Imperial rule; sympathizing with the people of Cuba in their struggle for liberty; condemning the democratic State administration; condemning the appropriation of State funds for sectarian schools; favoring local prohibition of the sale of liquor; and demanding the enforcement of the laws providing for the purity of elections.

☞ By the fall of a bridge at Towers River, N. J., on Thursday, an excursion party of 100 from Long Branch were precipitated into the river and eight were drowned.

☞ The Boston Advertiser says "what 'shtahl' is to the Russians, 'smorgos' is to the Swedes." For why?

—Americans are returning from Europe in the greatest haste, and staterooms on the steamers are engaged six or eight weeks ahead.

Dover is to have three public drinking fountains.

The officers of the Strafford County Agricultural and Mechanical Society have been very active in making preparations for the Fair, which is to commence in this city on Tuesday next. Our Fairs heretofore have compared favorably with the State Fairs, and while it may appear small compared with the New England and State Fairs combined, we have every reason to expect it will be an occasion not at all damaging to the high reputation of old Strafford County.—Dover Enq.

Col. Jacob G. Cilley died at his residence in Manchester, about 12 o'clock Tuesday night, of consumption. He had been in feeble health for about two years. Col. Cilley was a native of Nottingham, and about 57 years old at the time of his death. He went to Manchester about thirty years ago, and has been one of the most prominent business men in that city. He leaves a widow and son.—Man. Union.

Michael Reynolds and Edward Cassidy were arrested on Sunday morning last by the night watchman for attempting to commit a rape upon the person of Mrs. Alonzo Teel, living on Main street. They were bound over to appear at the next terms of the Supreme Judicial Court in the sum of $800 each Dover Enquirer.

This will be the grand day of the Fair in point of numbers. The rush for the Fair grounds began as early as 7 o'clock this morning. All the incoming trains were crowded, and far behind time. Platform and freight cars, with improvised seats of plank, were pressed into service, and came laden with passengers! The early train from Boston, over the Lowell road, started with twelve cars.

The show of neat stock has never been equalled in New England, while entries of horses and agricultural implements are unusually large.

The sale of 15,000 tickets yesterday will show that the attendance is good. The officers having charge of the various arrangements have out done themselves, and New Hampshire knows too well the executive ability of such men as Gen. Head, G. W. Riddle, and their Assistants, whose names appear on the programme, to doubt that anything would be left undone which would ensure success to the fair.

Hon. Frank Jones and Hayes & Son, of Portsmouth, and John M. Weare of Seabrook, are the principal exhibitors of stock from the lower portion of the State. M.

FIRE AT YORK.—A house, barn, and shed, with contents, was burned on Thursday afternoon. The house was occupied by Mr. Leander Parsons. A yoke of oxen, hogs, furniture, carriages, about 8 tons of hay, &c., were burned. The fire is supposed to have been set by an incendiary. Loss $2500; no insurance.

Calvin Plaisted has been arrested on suspicion of setting the fire. The premises were owned by the heirs of the late Thos. Moulton of New York.

Luther Welch has been bound over in the sum of $500 for setting fire to 500 cords of wood on Mount Agamenticus, last Tuesday. The wood belonged to Hon. Nat. G. Marshall and was insured.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors:—I see that the statement I gave you, that a load of chickens was offered me at the Kittery end of the Portsmouth bridge, at 12 cts. per lb., is denied by an officious meddler who knows nothing of the fact. The statement is true, and that same poultry was retailed in Portsmouth afterwards for 45 cts. per lb. C.

☞ In the first of the series of base ball matches between the Red Stockings of Cincinnati and the White Stockings of Chicago, the Chicago club won by a score of 10 to 6. The game was played at Cincinnati.

☞ A Memphis Irishman drank "h—l to King William," in a lager beer saloon, and a war with a burly Teuton resulted, in which tables and mugs were badly discouraged.

☞ The insurance at the great fire in Chicago was $1,152,000, $400,000 in New England offices. It is now thought that put one person was killed.

☞ The British gunboat Trinclus was run down by a merchantman on the Spanish cost near Malaga, and two seamen were lost.

☞ The population of Washington, D. C., is 111,195, an increase of 50,073, or eighty-two per cent. since 1860.

—Mr. O'Neal, of Louisiana, held four aces and the king in a recent social game of poker, and when Mr. Tally called him on five aces, he shot him dead.

☞ Mr. D. W. Voorhees, M. C., is esteemed an orator by his Indiana constituents, and he has sometimes been known to make a "great speech" in the House. His reputation for eloquence and scholarship secured him an engagement to deliver the address to one of the annual general gatherings of a college Greek-letter society known as the Beta Theta Pi, held last week in Chicago. The effort must have been more marvellous for profundity and spread-eagleism than Mr. Voorhees' Congressional speeches usually are, and that is surely needless. The Chicago Republican wants any one who doubts that the lecture was abstruse to offer a reward for a synopsis of the lecture. "Let him write to Mr. Voorhees for the manuscript, and endeavor to understand the lecture. Let him drink whiskey until on the verge of delirium tremens, read Schmitz's Greece and write down his emotions, and read them four weeks afterward, and he will obtain an approximate idea of Mr. Voorhee's oration. Any other means will fail."

The Chicago Tribune appears to agree fully with this estimate of the address, as, instead of giving any report of it, the following letter from the reporter to the city editor is printed:—

"Please to accept my resignation as a member of the local staff, and place the same on file. I went, as desired, to report Mr. Voorhees' oration in Crosby Music Hall. I did my level best to listen to it, and to make notes. He spoke for nearly an hour. I have reported Ralph Waldo Emerson, and George Francis Train, but this man is beyond my powers. I caught up with him occasionally on Zoroaster, and Moses, and the other fire worshippers, because I have just been reading some of Max Muller's lectures on the science of religion, but he went off the track so fearfully that I couldn't follow him. I really couldn't make out what he was talking about. As near as I could figure it, it was something about the elements, especially fire, and the human race.

I offered an intellectual looking person who sat next to me, the sum of $10 to give me an intelligible summary of the speech, and he told me that in his opinion Mr. Voorhees was proposing a conundrum. There was one man in the audience who seemed capable of comprehending the drift of the oration, and he fell asleep. After it was all over, I interviewed several gentlemen, with a view of ascertaining what the lecture was aimed at, but with no satisfactory result. One man told me that the subject was "The Influence of the Material Universe upon the Human Understanding," but I didn't believe him. I sat it all through—honest. The following is the nearest I can get to the substance of the lecture:—'An old horse came to be shaved. Curse you, where's the suds. The estate was sold to male heirs, and poor Mrs. Mobile lost all her apple dumpling.' I may add that the orator was applauded when he concluded his oracular utterances, and loudly encored. I then left."

PLAIN SAILING.—A wag having noticed a steer break from a herd, and cause a panic among the pedestrians, gives the following graphic description: The steer got clear, and made a clear steer for the sidewalk. It was evident that somebody had to clear from the steer; and in the efforts to steer clear from the clear steer, some tall clearing and steering was executed.

NAVAL.—The Navy Department has decided not to recall the Franklin from the European fleet, and orders have been issued for Captain Rogers to keep his vessel in European waters until next spring.

—A "Society for the Encouragement of Young Men Desiring to Marry" is organizing among the young ladies of Rondout, N. Y.

—A smart man in Buffalo is organizing a divorce excursion to Chicago. Tickets will be sold cheap to any desiring a divorce.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Season of Exhaustion.

The close sultry weather which usually prevails toward the end of summer is particularly unfavorable to the feeble and enervated. Even the well-knit frames of strong men feel the influence of the season, and lassitude and languor pervade the whole community. Ladies, especially those in delicate health, suffer much from debility, occasioned by the humid heat, and feel the want of a wholesome invigorant. In fact, a necessity for something to recruit the exhausted system is experienced, more or less, by everybody, and the only question is, what that something will be. With those who have tested the effect of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS on themselves, or have observed its effects on others, this question will not be in doubt for a single moment.

Its tonic and regulating operation, and its agency in creating a healthy appetite and promoting digestion, are rightly classed by all who have resorted to this unequalled vegetable invigorant and corrective, among the most extraordinary therapeutic wonders of modern times. It should be taken at this season as a safeguard against the epidemic diseases which are so apt to attack the relaxed system in the fall of the year.

As it is understood that mercenary speculators in various parts of the country are endeavoring to supersede the standard tonic of the age with worthless articles manufactured by themselves which they represent to be superior to this long tried remedy, it is proper to put the public on their guard against this species of imposition, and to warn them against the deleterious trash with which dishonorable dealers seek to drench them.

Richardson's Little Washer.

MORE WAR.—Mrs. Mary Kierly, who resides on Bow Street, became excited from reading the European war news and drinking benzine, Wednesday evening, and in a loud voice proclaimed war against her husband, who is employed in the Gasworks. Organizing herself into a movable column, she advanced upon the enemy in his own territory, and commenced hostilities by hitting him in the head awful, with a big lump of coal. The assaulted party retreated, and sought the intervention of the neutral powers; and Acting-Marshal Mortimer despatched Officers Cate and Taylor to the theatre of war. At about half past 11 the army of invasion was surrounded, captured, and incarcerated in the Portsmouth Bastile,—a sad illustration of the vicissitudes of war.

Thursday morning, Mary took a tour of inspection, and visited the Police Court, for which privilege she was requested to subscribe $8.76 to the funds. As the defeated party generally has to indemnify the conquerer for the expenses of the war, Mary's husband will probably have to pay her subscription. She has seen the inside of the lockup before this occasion, and is reported to be about as ugly a feminine as ever disgraced the sex.

MASONIC.—From the Solano (California) Democrat, we copy the following resolutions passed by the Grand Council of Naval Chapter No. 35, Royal Arch Masons, concerning the departure from California of their Most Eminent High Priest, Philip Hichborn, now stationed at this Navy Yard as Assistant Naval Constructor:—

Resolved, That while we regretfully bid adieu to Companion Hichborn, and recall with emotions of gratitude his faithful services as an officer and his untiring devotion as a Companion, to the interests of this Chapter and the Royal Craft in general, we bid him a hearty God speed on his journey, and sincerely pray that every success may attend him in his new home.

Resolved, That we cordially recommend him to the favor and protection of all regular Royal Arch Masons, as a tried friend and skillful craftsman, and a zealous and indefatigable Laborer in the Vineyard.

PERSONAL.—Ex-Gov. Harriman was in town on Thursday and in the evening delivered an eloquent address to the Republicans of Kittery at Armory Hall. When political contests are at height in the Western, Middle or Eastern States, New Hampshire's favorite orator is besieged with invitations to address the Republican meetings, and invitations from the West are now pouring in requesting Gen. Harriman's presence in the coming campaign. The tall, erect form of the Ex-Governor is getting as familiar to the citizens of these States as to his fellow citizens, whose confidence he won in the days of rebellion and retained in the memorable contest of 1867 when he led the Republican hosts to victory after one of the most exciting campaigns New Hampshire ever saw.

So large a field of horses necessitated a considerable time in scoring, and when they went off they were all in a bunch, and so much in a bunch that two of them collided at the turn, and John McGlue, the driver of Lady Emma, was thrown out of his sulky; the mare stopped like a well-behaved animal, and McGlue picked himself up and got into his sulky again, and went along about his business as though nothing had happened.

RETURNED.—Mr. J. J. Hatlinger, Agent for the Little Washer, has returned, and will hereafter attend personally to exhibiting and fitting the machines. He has sold nearly 300 here since June, and is now prepared to take further orders, which may be left at the various places mentioned in his advertisement.

☞ Those mucilage bottles at the store of Foster Shores & Co. remind one of a camel; and the manner in which the contents stick, reminds the same individual (not the camel) of the late E. M. Stanton. Try 'em.

Ward One	3726
Ward Three	1835
Total	9213

The population in 1860 was 9335; loss in ten years, 122.

☞ The election in Wyoming Territory has resulted in the choice of Jones, Republican, as delegate to Congress.

☞ A dispatch has been received by Mayor Adams from Mayor Weston of Manchester inviting the Mayor and City Council of Portsmouth to attend the New England Fair to-day.

THE THEATRE.—Yankee Locke has a splendid company of performers at his theatre in the old Baptist church building. Fanny Herring is a charming actress, and has a great reputation in New York and other large cities.—Man. Un.

☞ Our genial correspondent *, at Kittery Foreside, has been unjustly credited by some with being the "S." who wrote the communication to the Portland Press, which we referred to on Thursday. Our suspicions as to who "S." is, point unmistakably in another direction. Knowing that * is a personal friend who is too honorable to misrepresent any one we did not even suspect him of the authorship of the communication in question.

THE CENSUS.—The Concord Monitor has returns from every town in the State except Franklin.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this line, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security.

These bonds have 30 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par, besides paying about 9 per cent. currency interest in the meanwhile. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices only return five per cent.; and we regard the security equally safe.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. Morning Chronicle.

LOVE AND SHIPWRECK.

The voyage grew dull and tiresome. As it drew toward a close, I began to chafe at any lull of the fair wind that had followed us so nearly across the Atlantic, and to lose all patience at the first breath of an adverse breeze. I have not yet mentioned our captain for the simple reason that he had hardly been seen by any one of us since we had left Gibraltar. He was an ill-mannered fellow who disappeared in his cabin as soon as we were clear of the straits, and entered upon a quiet course of retired drunkenness, in which he persevered throughout the voyage. The mate navigated the ship and was in every way an intelligent and competent officer. I never dreamed that we were not proceeding on our course as rapidly and safely as the ship could be sailed, until I, one day, saw the mate chalk certain figures on a board and hold them up to the sight of a passing vessel. Her people immediately answered by displaying a series of totally different figures, the sight of which elicited a hearty oath from the mate, who said to Mr. Jones: "I knew our chronometer was wrong, but when the old man is sober enough to talk, he swears a blue streak if I say anything about it."

My newly awakened suspicions that we were not in the most enviable situation were unexpectedly verified that same night. I had not felt well during the day, and soon after dark, went to my stateroom, which was in the house on deck and lay down in my berth. Presently I heard voices from the deck close to my room. Of course I ought not to have permitted myself to hear—for listening is not the proper term to apply to my involuntary share in the confidence which the second mate was bestowing upon Miss Ellis—but I could not easily help myself.

They had evidently been talking somewhere else, and had sheltered themselves beneath the lee of the house in order to continue their conversation unmolested. Mr. Jones was speaking when I first became aware of their close proximity to me. .

"I'm a goin' to tell you this,"he said, "because you're not like other women that'll holler and raise Ned the minute they think there's any danger. You're brave, if I know what's brave in a gal—and I ought to by this time. I want you not to say a word about this to yer father or anybody, for it ain't my business to tell passengers anything; but the fact is, we may go ashore any time to-night, and I want you to be ready."

"Go ashore to night!" she cried joyfully. "Oh, that is too good! Why, I thought we were a hundred miles from land."

"You don't get my meaning," he replied. "What I mean to say is this: The mate's chronometer is all wrong. He and I've suspicioned it for a week back, and to-day we got the longitude from the bark you was a lookin' at,and, if they were right, we're close on the coast."

"And what of that? Shan't we get home all the quicker?"she asked gayly.

"Don't you understand?" he answered. "The old man—the captain, I mean—is gettin' sober and he's told the mate not to change his course, or to take a rag off her. First we know, we'll run slap into Hatteras Beach; and if it comes on to blow—as it's a goin' to sure—we'll go to h—ll so quick that the old man won't get drunk again."

"Do you mean that we are in danger?" she asked, in a lower tone.

"Yes, I do; but don't you git frightened. Mebbe we'll go through the night all right, but if we don't and anything does happen come straight to me. I'll be on deck, and I'll lay down my life for you, Miss Mary, God knows!"

She asked him quickly: "Why do you mind what the captain says, if he is not sober? Why don't you and Mr. Caswell (the mate) do what you think best?"

He laughed grimly. "I've been to sea, Miss—man and boy—for twenty years, and I never went agin my superior officer's orders. The old man says to drive her and that is the end of it. If he drives ashore it's his own lookout; and if it warn't for you I wish he would. When he loses a ship or two maybe his owners will get sober men to navigate for 'em."

"I am not afraid Mr. Jones," answered the girl. "If we are wrecked, I will do just as you tell. You can't think how I thank you for telling the truth."

Mr. Jones was quiet for a moment, and I heard her dress rustle, as though she turned to go. "Wait a bit, if you please Miss,"said the second mate, "I want to say one word to you."

After a pause he began; "Miss Mary, you have no need to tell me who I am; as one of them old chaps that's in the cabin with you did, once since we've been out o'port. I know just what I am, better'n you or he could tell me if you was to try your best to keep it up, right on end, for a week. I'm an ignorant brute, that ain't fit to touch yer dress—let alone yer hand. I do my duty when I'm at sea, and I get drunk and play h—ll when I'm ashore—and that is all there is o' me. But you see, I never had any bringin' up. I don't even know who my mother was; and I've been kicked around Cherry street when I was a boy,and kicked around at sea ever since I was old enough to know the end of a marlin spike. I ain't so bad as some of the sailors think I am; but I am a hundred thousand fathoms below you. All I want to tell you is just this:—

There never was a man in all the lots you've know'd that could begin to love you as I do. For God's sake don't look afeared of me; I ain't such a fool as to think that you could keer a straw for me; but I can't help tellin' you how true and honest I love you, Miss Mary, even if I knowed you'd never think of me again. I never meant to tell you this; and I'll never say another word about it. But by God! when I think of how I love you, and how there's fifty thousand Atlantic oceans between us, I get wild. I've thought of it some nights, Miss, till I couldn't bear it any longer and I've jumped forrad and gone to lickin' the sailors, to keep from goin' crazy, and—"

"Mr. Jones! Mr. Jones!" came the sharp call of the captain, cutting short the poor fellow's confession.

"Ay, ay, sir!" he answered,and went to meet his sober, but by no means sane commander.

"Why, haven't you got the to'gallants'ls set, sir? Didn't I tell you to give her all she'd carry."

"The fore-to'gallant yard's a little sprung, sir, and wasn't sure of it bearing the sail," answered Mr. Jones.

"I'll do the thinking for this ship,Mr. Jones—if you're no objections," returned the captain. "Set the fore and mizzen to'gallants'ls,and don't you start a sheet until I give you word."

The top gallant sails were sheeted home, and the yards hoisted. The wind, which had been blowing strongly all day had freshened as the sun set, and was now blowing a stiff gale from the eastward. The ship staggered and plunged under her press of canvass. The captain walked the deck with a quick, nervous step. He was intensely irritable,from the effect of his prolonged debauch, and though quite sober, was goaded by his unstrung nerves into a reckless impatience that found relief only in the excitement of driving his ship to the uttermost of her capabilities. I listened to the howling of the wind through the rigging, and debated the question, whether to go to sleep, and so forget the danger we were in, or to go on deck and make myself uncomfortable, by watching for the disaster which I apprehended. My decision was quickened by a sudden order from the captain. "Mr. Jones, set the main-royal."

"Set the main-royal, sir?" repeated the astonished second mate, in a doubtful tone.

"Set the main-royal, sir. Do you hear?" roared the captain. "Loose all three of them, and set them instantly. If you don't know how to sail a ship with a fair wind I'll show you."

Mr. Jones hesitated no longer. In a few moments the royals were spread to the gale; but before the yards were trimmed I was on deck.

FREEMAN'S IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP,
FREEMAN'S IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP,

It excels all other Iron preparations in the combination with Mandrake and Vegetable Tonic, so that the Liver is acted on to remove bile and impurities from the system, while the vegetable tonics strengthen the stomach and promote the digestion of Iron with the food and its absorption into the blood. It renovates the system and is the best medicine.

MANDRAKE is the Great Vegetable substitute for calomel to act on liver. In FREEMAN'S IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP it is combined with Iron and Vegetable Tonics, and forms the most perfect medicine. It purifies the blood and imparts IRON to it. It acts on the Liver and removes foul humors from the body. It is a most excellent remedy for debility,especially for mothers who are worn down by nursing infants, and for all persons whose blood is poor, and who need Iron and a strengthening medicine. 2meodawjy25

LONG BRANCH.—The best description of this fashionable bathing place is that of Josh Billings. In his letter he says:—

Arrived here jest in time tew see the Atlantick Ocean, which is now on exhibishun and dewing a good bizzness to full houses. Took a bath onst, and was astonished to find the water so salturous; inquired the kauze ov an intelligent natiff, and he informed me he didn't care; I think the cuss lied. There iz about one hundred and sixty thousand human beings and other folks here now, as near as I kan git it; I kounted till I got tired, and then I estimated. It is perfeckly heart rending tew see the femalls here in search ov natural protecktors. I kounted sixteen yesterday in one pile, they awl sighed az I past bi them, with downcast eyes. I felt sorry for them but couldn't help them, for I am thoroughly married and intend tew remain so. There is tew breezes here, a sea breeze and jerzee breeze, and I advise awl persons to use the sea breeze, for the other is so used up before it reaches here, that it soon uses up everybody after it gets here. Shoddy and Petroleum are both here, and equalize as much noise az a patent churn, warranted to make butter in ten minutes from skim milk, but they say they shant remain long, bekause the air smells so much like old brine.

Yesterday I went out krabbing and ketched a peck of them; they bite sideways and hang on like a dead horse shoe; they make good vittels enuff, but they aint profitable to eat, if you kount your time wurth anything. They have a singular bug here, which they call the musketow; they roam about in herds, and are much respected by the inhabitants. I caut one, day before yesterday, sticking something sharp into me, and carried the bug into mi room and smashed him on the sil.

The bathing is luxurious, ann the bathers resemble mermaids, half men and half women, and they dress in the chocktaw kostom, and when they come out of the water you can't tell which is who unless you ask them. After bathing you feel a kind of lackness of limberness, for which I was advised to bathe in whiskee. I took one immershun, about a tumbler, and never felt so stout in mi life. I tho't I could lift an aker of their land, but bimeby, after the licker had let go, I felt as though I cood follow an angle worm into his hole, and hadn't strength enough toask a dog to foller me—if I ever drink sum more jersee whiskee it will be after I am ded and gone.

There is one church here, but it wood hold so few that nobody never goes out of politeness.

There is twenty-one hotels, and they are principally built out of doors, to give the guests as much binaqueous air az possible. The lodging rooms are small but handy, each one has a lookin glass to them and a door, and two wash boles and towell. Dinner is served up at two o'clock, opens with soup and shuts up with buckleberry. The servants are generally blak, but many on them have lived so long among the whites that they begin to adopt our kuller.

The beach by moonlight iz worthy of a philosipher. Lovers meet here from aul parts of the kountry to vow and sware, and menny a heart cums there tuff, and goes home smashed and bleeding at every pour.

But the grate attrackshun is the Atlantik Oshan, a great hemispheer ov liquid life and power, blue water everyware the eye kan reach, az gentle as a summer's evening mill pond, and then again, az awful az a water earthquake.

Upon the whole, Long Branch is a sensible place to visit. I think there iz az little nonsense there generally az the same number of visitors iz capable of.

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.
HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood-purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it far more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.
See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—
BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, morbid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention or the incontinence of urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.
SAVANNAH, TENN., May 14, 1869.
Dr. H. T. Helmbold,
DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this county about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your medicine has worked wonders. A man in our county, named T. B. Estell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.
About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.
Very respectfully yours, &c.,
EGGLES & HINKLE, Druggists.

WESTPORT, CONN., Sept. 9, 1869.
H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,
DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by spells very much for a few days past, but your medicine relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from my bladder about the size of a large pea, and I now feel perfectly well and entirely free from the pain that I have suffered with "so hard." I attribute my cure to your medicine entirely, and would recommend all persons similarly affected to try it. I have great faith in its curative powers.
Yours truly, THOMAS J. BENNETT.

Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as my self, to say that after consulting many eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the best advertised Remedies, in the vain hope of finding relief from agravated Kidney and bladder diseases, from which I have suffered excessively for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.
At the expiration of that time, however, I though: I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicines cannot be expected to favorably affect me as they otherwise would, I have found such unspeakable relief and permanent benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel I ought to publicly record the fact, as an acknowledgment to him, and a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,
D. M. LAREN.

is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Address him:
Mr. H. T. Helmbold.
DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have not since sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used, or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.
I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.
I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more disease of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.
Respectfully yours, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,
140 Wood Street, Pittsburgh, Penn.

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.
Mr. H. T. Helmbold,
DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physicians present. Incited please find our rates to advertising. Yours, T. B. H. STENHOUSE,
Ed'r and Prop'r of Telegraph.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.
TESTIMONIALS.
BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.
Dr. Helmbold,
DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon facts respecting myself. I do not know hardly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer man could be and live; but more sometimes than others. The complaints was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I have tried something about twelve to fourteen bours, and wanted to make water every minute, but could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this State, and taken pills, I may say by the quart, also liquored medicines, but found no relief from any, and got worse the last six months. It was so that I could scarcely get about, I could not rest night or day.
It would soon have been "all up" with me if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it through and though I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost me so much? Well, I began taking it, and before I had taken the first bottle I felt bad; but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I still grew worse (against my will). When I walked it seemed as if my right kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had finished the second, that I had made my mind up it was of no use trying any more—and all this time the "Buchu" was doing its work, but I did not know it, so I got up and went to Hartford on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have to undergo an operation. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.
On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and on Monday afternoon I had a desire to make water, but could not. About one hour after this I tried again, with the same result; but the next time I took the vessel it was the same as turning a faucet and stopping it off again. It was so for three times, and the third time there was something came through the passage and struck against the side of the vessel. I examined it, and it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw, covered over with little places which collected bright. It looks the color of a mud turtle, and is as hard as flint. So you see the "Buchu" was doing its work, although I was feeling so bad. I procured another bottle, thinking there might be some more behind; but since that has passed, which is eight weeks ago last Sunday, I have been as well as ever I was in my life. I have the stone securely wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.
I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are welcome to make such use of my name as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Berkshire; also in Connecticut. The advertisement speaks for itself. Why not publish more? If any one wishes to see this wonder, they can do so. I could write all day, but I think I have said enough this time. N. Y. S. VOL. INSTITUTE,
Dr. H. T. Helmbold,
Two bottles only of the package of your valuable Buchu presented to the Institute have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the case of our little Lieutenant 'A. J., his pride is no longer mortified, and he is free from the daily morning anathemas of the chambermaid who has charge of his bedding.
I feel that a knowledge of the result of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save many a Superintendent and Matron of Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering much more sickness than from habit, may be spared punishment, that is (not knowing it as a weakness instead of a bad habit) most unjustly inflicted upon them. Thanking you on behalf of the children, and hoping others may be alike benefitted, I am respectfully yours,
COL. YOUNG, General Sup't and Director.

H. T. Helmbold, Druggist.
DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experiencing but little relief.
Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu.
I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised Remedies and had found them worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no Remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your Buchu. He advised me to use it, and, with his advice, after an examination of the article, and consulting again with the Druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced to use it about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room.
From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks was able to walk out. I felt much like writing to you a full statement of my case at the time, but thought it premature, as I was so much by be temporary, and therefore concluded to defer, and see if it would effects a perfect cure, knowing that it would be of greater value to you and more satisfactory to me.
I am now able to report that a cure is affected after using the remedy for about three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.
Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
It wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

JUSTICE TO THE FALLEN.—While the fallen Emperor of France is the object of contumely and abuse from the greater portion of the press of this and other countries, the Boston Post has the courage to do him justice. Referring to the marvellous change which a few short weeks have wrought in his condition and the jibes and sneers of unreasoning traducers, the Post says:

Let critics apply themselves to actual results, before dipping their pens in gall. What magic has not Napoleon, by his wisdom and patience, his energy and foresight, wrought for France? Within twenty years what European nation has made such strides of advancement? It was by a vote of eight and a half millions that he was first elected by the people. Since he took the reins, he has performed a whole century of service for the nation. Look at the long list of magnificent public works, instituted for peace as well as for defence in war. Note his firm and faithful encouragement of agriculture, as the foundation interest of all. Recall what he has done for trade and commerce, by establishing free trade. Look at the numerous lines of French trans-Atlantic steamships.

Mark the steady progress made in liberalizing legislation, in liberty of instruction, in an enlarging freedom of the press, in the system of railways, in the building up of manufactures, in establishing institutions of public credit, and in bringing closer together the interests and sympathies of the provinces and the capital. These are tangible, substantial accomplishments, not wrought at the expense of the people, but by their cooperation and for their permanent good. As he has ruled France, to him belongs the glory of all these achievements. Had he labored solely for his selfish interests, France would have a very different record to show. No ruler ever more completely identified himself with the prosperity and happiness of his country.

It cannot be reasonably denied that such a man is in the highest sense a statesman. If he has employed power, it has been for the ulterior popular good. No paltry ridicule from prejudiced and passionate minds can reach a ruler thus inspired. As he ever claimed to derive his power from the people, so he has steadily used it for their advancement.

CLEANSE YOUR PREMISES.—The warm weather makes it the duty of every householder to cleanse his premises of all offensive matter, that they may be pure and healthy. There is no doubt at all that a great deal of the sickness of families proceeds from filthy cellars, sinks, yards, out-houses, styes, &c. These things are neglected by many, as are other duties, from pure thoughtlessness, while others never dream of paying any attention to them.

There are several remedies for this most unhealthy condition of things that can be easily applied. The first is to put one pint of the liquor of chloride of zinc in one bucketful of water, and sprinkle over all decaying vegetable matter. For this purpose nothing surpasses it; it is a perfect deodorizer. The second is to take four pounds of copperas and dissolve in a bucket of water. This will in most cases prove a sure remedy in destroying all offensive odors. The third is to take chloride of lime and sprinkle in cellars that are damp, and over heaps of filth and dirt. All these can be had at any druggist's and are cheap.

The labor of cleansing one's premises by either of these ways is trifling, and the cost not worth mentioning.

UNDERDRAINING. — Underdraining dispenses with open ditches and deep dead-furrows; it lengthens the season for labor and vegetation; it prevents cracking of stiff clay soils, also assists in pulverization; it admits of thorough admixture of manures; it promotes absorption of fertilizing substances from the air, also supplies air to the roots; it warms the soil by the heat's passing downward; it renders the soil more friable; it prevents heaving out by frost; it admits of the easy eradication of weeds; it admits of the passage of heavy draught vehicles without injury; it causes greater deposits of dew in summer; admits of the pasturage of animals without injury to the soil; it diminishes the causes of malarial diseases; it renders the soil lighter to work; it increases the the crops; is adds to the land; it measurably places the temperature of the soil, control of the weather and season, within the bounds of the intelligent farmer.—Western Farmer.

FRUIT TREES FOR SHADE.—A correspondent thinks that if fruit trees were planted instead of maple, we could have ornament, fruit and shade. Practical illustrations of the benefits of such a course are often seen. We have in mind two farmers whose land borders on the road. One of them has a nice row of maples, which furnish nothing but shade, and seriously injure his land. The other has a splendid row of apple-trees. They furnish shade, are ornamental, and do not injure the land nearly as much as maples. They also furnish a large supply of valuable fruit. Believing the last example much the best, we would recommend it for imitation.

This might do, but for the vandalism of boys and men, who would inevitably destroy the trees, in getting the fruit. And besides, fruit trees are not half so beautiful as forest trees, and cannot fill their place at all acceptably. We would much sooner see evergreens set at the roadside.

—Is it any evidence because a woman has a mobile face, that she is a native of Alabama?

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Season of Exhaustion.

The close sultry weather which usually prevails toward the end of summer is particularly unfavorable to the feeble and enervated. Even the well-knit frames of strong men feel the influence of the season, and lassitude and languor pervade the whole community. Ladies, especially those in delicate health, suffer much from debility, occasioned by the humid heat, and feel the want of a wholesome invigorant. In fact, a necessity for something to recruit the exhausted system is experienced, more or less, by everybody, and the only question is, what that something will be. With those who have tested the effect of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS on themselves, or have observed its effects on others, this question will not be in doubt for a single moment.

Its tonic and regulating operation, and its agency in creating a healthy appetite and promoting digestion, are rightly classed by all who have resorted to this unequalled vegetable invigorant and corrective, among the most extraordinary therapeutic wonders of modern times. It should be taken at this season as a safeguard against the epidemic diseases which are so apt to attack the relaxed system in the fall of the year.

As it is understood that mercenary speculators in various parts of the country are endeavoring to supersede the standard tonic of the age with worthless articles manufactured by themselves which they represent to be superior to this long tried remedy, it is proper to put the public on their guard against this species of imposition, and to warn them against the deleterious trash with which dishonorable dealers seek to drench them.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

Vegetable "Pain Killer,"

After THIRTY YEARS trial, is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues, from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Physicians of the first respectability recommend it as a most effectual preparation for the extinction of pain. It is not only the best remedy ever known for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c., but for Dysentery or Cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency and rapidity of action. In the great cities of India, and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, and other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. Sold by all druggists. dawlmsl

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

Varieties—L. Laighton.
Excursion to Dover—Steamer Favorite.
Man or Boy Wanted—B. Norton.
Theatre—Locke & Leslie.

☞ Steamer Favorite, Capt. Davidson, will make a trip to Dover from this city to-morrow, (Sunday,) and return after stopping two hours in Dover, —touching at Dover Point both ways. Fare 50 cts. See adv't.

☞ Mr. James Williams was seen, on Friday, perched once more at the top of the North Church spire, giving the last coat of paint to that structure. Workmen were engaged taking down the staging in the afternoon.

☞ It was formerly a custom among farmers and citizens to haul out from the millponds some of the rich deposits which lay at the bottom of those ponds. Of late years, nothing of the kind seems to have been done. The water of these ponds may not be as salt as formerly, yet the deposits might be used profitably in fertilizing land for cultivation.

THEATRE.—If the Temple bell rings this evening, the Boston Comedy Company, with Miss Fanny Herring and Yankee Locke, will appear. If they appear, it will be in the characters of "Little Detective" and "Podijah B. Peasley;" and if they play, they deserve a crowded house and will get it, we hope.

P. S. The Temple bell will ring this evening, and Miss Fanny Herring and Yankee Locke will appear—as advertised in another column. By a mere chance the notice (forwarded several days ago) came to hand at a late hour last night; but one day's advertising of such attractions as Miss Herring and the old favorite, Yankee Locke, should suffice to fill the Temple to its utmost capacity.

THE CESS POOL at the Creek is being filled under the supervision of Street Commissioner Ham, who is executing his orders with despatch. On Thursday he commenced the job with twenty teams, using for the purpose the sand and poor gravel on South Road, which is too fine for use on the streets. Two hundred cart loads were dumped before the day closed. The despised, disease-breeding pool is fast putting on an air of respectability, compared with its former appearance. The scene is a busy one, and the bare-legged youngsters who flock about the brink of the increasing embankment think it's jolly, especially if a mis-step plunges a companion knee-deep in the filth.

It is estimated that 2000 loads of dirt will fill up the pool which has so often filled the streets and houses of half the city with pungent perfume through the summer. The people of that section of the city greet Commissioner Ham as a public benefactor, and the curses heretofore heaped upon the city authorities are now followed by expressions of gratitude equally as powerful.

THE COMING NUISANCES.—There are many citizens who feel confident that much of the stench which has been credited to the Creek cess-pool comes from the mill pond, which is the receptacle of the contents of many drains and sewers. Some declare that there will be no relief from the abatement of the Creek cess-pool nuisance, and that at no distant day the whole pond will be filled so that water will not flow over it, and another cess-pool will be the result.

The South Pond has been filling, also, until, at low tide, an intolerable smell comes from it which bids fair to rival all other kinds of disagreeable smells.

It may become necessary, in time, for the city to abate these nuisances, and various projects are being suggested, one of which is that the city buy the mill privileges of both ponds and take away the gates, allowing a free flow of the tides into and out of the ponds. This at first thought, seems feasible, but we hear it suggested that the desired result might not follow. The Liberty bridge gate was taken away years ago, allowing the tides to flow freely into Puddle Dock, yet that locality is now as bad as ever, if not worse than before.

What will be the most economical and effective plan of disposing of the matter will be a mooted question not afar off, it seems, but as "sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof," it is very probable that no decided plan of action will be agreed on until the ponds speak more loudly for themselves.

☞ New Mexico has chosen a Republican legislature.

BIDDEFORD, Sept. 7.

Editor of the Union and Journal:—I noticed in the "Portland Press" of yesterday reference to a telegram in the "Boston Herald" from Portsmouth, that 1000 to 1500 republicans had signed a call for a convention to nominate a candidate to Congress from this District. The Press says this statement is false, and that an attempt of this kind was made by a few of the enemies, of Mr. Lynch, but received so little favor from the republicans of York County that the scheme was abandoned after a few names were enrolled.

As chairman of the Executive Committee in this matter, I will state that the scheme was not abandoned for the want of interest in it by the Republicans of York County nor for the want of signatures. The first meeting of the Committee was held Saturday, Aug. 27th, when it was arranged that efforts should be made at once to obtain signatures to call a Convention and that all names obtained should be handed to the committee and presented at a meeting to be held on Thursday, Sept. 1st. At that time there were presented (two of them, Lyman and Dayton being the smallest towns in the county) from seven towns 513 names.

There were present but four of the committee. It was stated that others of the committee had more than 600 more names. But as they were not before us we did not feel that we could take any account of them. It was decided that 513 names were sufficient to justify us in calling a Convention, as we did not in the beginning suppose that we should obtain in all over 500.

Since the meeting of the committee there have been sent to me 628 names from different parts of the county. I would say here that it was decided that the name of no Democrat should be allowed upon any of the papers and there were not any.

The calling of a Convention was not abandoned because of any failure on the part of the Republicans of York County to desire it, but wholly for the want of time, as every one knows that from the 1st to the 12th of Sept. is too short a time for a business of so much importance.

As it is here shown that 1141 voters have attested they will not vote for Mr. Lynch for Representative, is the "Portland Press" deceived in this matter, or does it know that they are dissatisfied and intend to show it at the polls on Monday next?

JAMES H. MCMULLAN,
Chairman Ex. Com.

THAT STONE CRUSHER hasn't come to town yet, although more than three months have elapsed since both Boards of the City Council voted an appropriation of $2000 for its purchase.

As a matter of economy, the general sentiment of the public favors the purchase. Extensive repairs on the streets have been and are being done, yet no move is made to purchase the much needed crusher. Our city teams draw gravel for miles, to be ground quickly into dust or washed away by the coming rains.

We are aware that there will be dust, in time, when broken rock is used in repairing our streets; but it will not be as deep as the present dust, nor require replacing so often as does the gravel now used.

If the Board of Aldermen did not think it expedient to purchase a Crusher, why did they vote an appropriation for it? If they did mean business, why are they so dilatory in ordering the purchase? It will require considerable time to get the machine in full operation. If it cannot be done in season for this year, enough rock should be broken before the Spring of 1871 opens, to use immediately in making repairs and laying firm foundations for roads, at that time.

MARRIAGES.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operting expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this line, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an unlimited security.

These bonds have 30 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The converdibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par, besides paying about 9 per cent., currency, interest in the meanwhile. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices only return 9 per cent.; and we regard the security equally safe.

LOVE AND SHIPWRECK.

Miss Ellis had disappeared, and the second mate was evidently averse to conversation. I noticed that a man lingered near the mizzen-rigging after the rest of the watch had gone forward. So too, did the captain, who walked abruptly up to the sailor and demanded to know what he was waiting there for.

"Mr. Jones ordered me to stand by the halyards, sir," answered the man.

"Go forward!" yelled the Captain. "Mr. Jones, I want you to understand than when I'm on deck I can sail this ship without any of your interference. Let me see any more of it and I'll put you in irons for mutiny, by G—d!"

Poor Mr. Jones gave no answer. Himself the most intolerant and cruel of disciplinarians, he did not resent the rating of his commander. When that amiable officer turned away, his subordinate passed over to the other side of the deck, and leaned quietly against the bulwarks.

An hour passed away. It was a starless night, and to the danger of running ashore, was added the other danger of a possible collision with some passing vessel. I thought of this, and was just about to pick my way forward to satisfy myself that the lookout was not asleep, when the second mate suddenly placed his hand to his ear, and bent forward, as though listening intently. In another moment, a sharp, piercing cry rang from the forcastle—"Breakers ahead!"

"Let go yer royal and top gallant halyards fore and aft!" roared the second mate. "Stand by yer top sail halyard. Man the port braces. Call all hands. 'Bout ship!"

But, while the light sails were yet fluttering in the caps, and before the yards could be swung, so as to change the vessel's course, she struck heavily, bows on—the main and fore top-gallant masts going over the side, and dragging the mizzen top-mast with them. At the same moment, a huge green sea boarded us on the quarter, sweeping away the wretched captain, several of the crew, and the first mate, who was on deck a few seconds after she struck. Luckily, I was too far forward to receive the full force of the wave, and as soon as the deck was clear of water, Mr. Jones made his way to my side and said:

By narrowly watching our opportunity, Dick, Miss Ellis, her father and myself, managed to gain the forecastle.

Mr. Jones, bareheaded, and with his coat off, was busily superintending the cutting away of the masts and clearing of the wreck, which was thumping against the side with dangerous violence. Relieved from the weight of her top-hamper, the ship rose somewhat, and drove in farther upon the sand. The seas boarded us less frequently; but the ship pounded on the beach with a violence which placed her in imminent danger of breaking up.

When he had done what he could for our momentary safety, Mr. Jones called the crew to him and said:

"If any of you want to try the boat, you can do it; I sha'n't. You can't be no more use here, but it's the safest place for you. However, if you want to take the boat, I won't stand in your way."

"We'll take the boat, Mr. Jones," replied one of the men. "She'll go to pieces in half an hour, and you'd better come with us."

"Not I," returned the second mate, laughing. "I don't take to boating excursions in this weather. Wear away the boat if you want to, and good luck to you." And then turning to the passengers, he continued, "If you take my advice, you'll stop aboard. She'll last sometime yet, but them fellows in the boat'll be swamped in ten minutes."

"We'll stay with you," said Mary, walking up to Mr. Jones and placing her little hand in his rough, brown paws. That settled the question for her, and the rest of us.

The men cleared away a leaky boat, that lay bottom upward on the house amidships, and, casting off, vanished in the darkness. Mr. Jones told us to keep where we were, while he went aft a moment.

We watched him cautiously working his way aft to the wheel-house, which was still standing. Presently, he came in sight again, carrying a life buoy. We knew for whom it was intended.

But just as he nearly passed beyond the line of danger, he was struck by a mighty wave that tore him from his hold and dashed him against the stump of the mainmast. Recoiling, the wave left him clinging to a bolt, but unable to rise. Dick and I dragged him forward, and laid him with his head on Mary's lap. The brave fellow had never lost his hold of the life-preserver.

He was insensible for a few moments, and on coming out of his swoon, said: "Tell her to keep this on. We must be near the shore, and if she holds together till daylight, they may get a line to us."

"But you are hurt, dear Mr. Jones?" cried Mary.

"I'm done for Miss," he answered shortly. "My leg's broke, and my ribs are stove in. Why the h—ll don't somebody hoist that lantern where it can be seen?"

We took the ship's lantern, which was still aglow, and fastened it to the head of the foremast, which had broken just at the slings of the yard.

"I hope you fellows know what to do if they get a line aboard?" he asked doubtfully.

We assured him that we did. Then silence fell upon us, as we sat waiting for death or the dawn.

We were huddled together under the lee of the bulwarks, the old gentleman said never a word, but, from the frequent movement of his lips, was doubtless praying for our safety. Dick, who was the coolest of men, filled and lighted his pipe, confidently expressing his conviction that the ship would hold together until daylight. Mary was silent, stroking with gentle hand the weather-brow of the second mate. Did her tenderness spring from remorse at having won his love, or was it possible that she really cared for him? Who shall know the fathomless mysteries of a woman's heart?

Hours passed when Mr. Jones opened his eyes, and asked, "Has anybody seen anything of the boat yet?"

I looked over the side, and, by a singular coincidence, caught sight of a boat drifting by us, bottom upward.

The second mate actually laughed. "I knowed it," said he. "I told 'em the boat couldn't live in that sea. And if you had gone with them fellows it would have been all day with you by this time."

He relapsed again into silence and apparent insensibility. When next he spoke his mind was evidently wandering. "I tell you," he cried, suddenly, in a voice that startled us with its wild intensity, "that d——d chronometer's a-rolling, and we'll be ashore before morning. And if that pretty young creetur's drowned, I'll drown the old man myself; so help me God."

The night passed slowly on. The wind gradually lulled, and the sea perceptibly went down. "Day light will soon be here," cried Dick; "we shall be saved yet."

Mr. Jones raised his head, and looked out into the night. The calm and resolute look had returned to his eyes. "I see the dawn, boys," he said, "stick to the ship. The sea's going down, and you're as safe as if you was ashore."

"We won't go ashore without you, Mr. Jones," said Mary. "I will nurse you day and night until you are well."

"Nursin' won't do me no good, Miss Mary," he answered. "You needn't take me ashore. I'd a great sight rather be hove overboard, as soon as the breath's out of me."

"It's growing light fast," said Dick, after another pause. But the second mate never opened his eyes.

"Miss Mary," he whispered, in a faint voice, "I'm going now. Just let me hold your hand, if you don't mind."

Dick and I did not venture to approach nearer to the awful presence of death.

"I'm dyin', Miss, but I'm d—d glad of it. I couldn't have lived without the sight of you, and I'm happier now than I ever was before."

The tears fell again, and the sweet girl bent over and touched her pure lips to the forehead of the dying man.

A bright smile softened his stern, worn face.—"May God Almighty pay you for your goodness," he whispered, huskily. "I don't know where I'm goin' to, but if ever you come there, you'll let me look at you sometimes, won't you? I'll never bother you, but I could not bear to have you cut me."

"There's the gun," cried Mr. Jones. "They see our light ashore, and they'll have a surf-boat here before long. Good-by, Miss Mary. You'll make it all right for me up aloft, I know. Tell 'em I obeyed orders, and done my duty by the ship. Tell 'em you kissed me when I was dyin'. They won't be hard on me if they know that. Make somebody take the mate's log book ashore. He was all right; but d—n the lubber that wrecked his ship with a fair wind. —Let me look at your eyes once. My God! how I have loved." And the second mate was dead.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

FOR ALL PURPOSES of a LAXATIVE MEDICINE,

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative PILL. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of the remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them here. Subjected to all ages and conditions of climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them from all injury, keeps them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PILLS makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus. dawjeNeodlm

A GOOD WAY TO PLANT TREES.—A tree is in some respects like an animal. There are certain laws governing its life and health, which cannot be violated with impunity, and its organs of growth and assimilation must be furnished with a supply of suitable food, or there will be no thrift and no profit. Even a Jersey cow cannot be expected to yield her "golden flow," if fed on ten-penny nails; neither can a tree, planted in a wet or otherwise uncongenial soil, and surrounded with unsuitable plant food, yield healthy fruit or good shade. If trees are expected to grow and thrive and bear good fruit, it is indispensable they should not only be well cared for after planting, but that the planting itself should be properly performed. If this latter has been unskillfully done, hardly any subsequent attention will remedy it. Too deep planting is a very common error, and a good rule would seem to be, that after the earth is settled the tree should be no deeper in the ground than before removed.

A friend of ours, a retired merchant of this city, and whose country seat is on Chestnut Hill, near Philadelphia, was telling us recently of his setting out some fruit trees the present fall, and the plan pursued we would commend to all who have planting to do, as it is founded on correct principles, and will enable the proprietor to enjoy fine fruit in a very short time. In the first place, and in anticipation of planting time four months previous, he prepared a compost heap of old sods, good soil and manure, which were well mixed together and since occasionally forked up, so as to be thoroughly decomposed. The next step was to dig, before the trees were brought home, holes six feet in diameter and 20 inches deep, with the surface soil thrown on one side, and the compost brought along side convenient for use. 3d, was to engage beforehand and select personally such trees in the nursery as were desired. 4th, when the time came to plant, his own hands were sent to dig up the trees, and take their own time to do it, so that all the roots and small fibres, which are the life of a tree, should not be mutilated or injured; and 5th, till they were finally planted, the roots were kept covered and shaded from the sun. The trees selected were large specimens; and with this kind of care they will settle down naturally and readily in their new quarters, and will probably commence fruiting the season.—The Practical Farmer.

THE CARE OF COWS is something that requires knowledge and pains-taking in details. Make your cows comfortable. Abstain from all abuse; let no rude boys have access to them, or dogs worry them. If a cow is disposed to be ugly, breachy, and hard to manage, you do not want her, or if you do, secure her against harm in this respect, and let kindness be the string to lead her rather than laid on. You will form an attachment thus, and this will be a benefit.

By giving cows good quarters, the rains and snows of cold weather are avoided, and instead of shivering out in the cold, your stock is having bright looks and dry coats, chewing its cuds in contentment. Winter feeding should be higher than that of summer or fall. Besides the forage of those seasons, we would add some grain food; for the oncoming of cold weather is an increased tax upon the vitality of the animal economy; albeit warm stables and sheltered yards counteract much of this influence.

The flow of milk can be kept up in the winter as well as at any other season, if we so desire it. The second growth of clover is excellent for this. A plenty of good hay, a liberal supply of roots, and a small amount of meal, even but one quart of corn meal per day, will carry a cow through the winter in fine condition, and all the time she will yield a liberal flow of milk, producing a handsome profit on the expense of feeding, that is, if she has been fed well and cared for through the summer and autumn. The health and welfare of not only the cow, but of her offspring, are greatly influenced by the treatment she receives before calving. A healthy cow in rather lean condition will usually bring forth a healthy calf with greater certainty of doing well, herself and young, than one which is in high flesh.

There is a mean in condition, wherein a cow should be kept, that is, neither fat nor lean, but in good condition; in this condition both the cow and her young will do better than either of the other two. A poor, ill-looking cow may have a passable calf, but the odds are that the calf will exhibit the same lean, raking appearance of the mother, showing that there has been something radically wrong.—American Stock Journal.

CONCENTRATED
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it far more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, morbid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention or the retention of urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

Dr. H. T. Helmbold, Sir:

DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this county about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our county, named W. B. Estell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,

H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by spells very much for a few days past. But yesterday relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from my bladder about the size of a large pea, and I now feel perfectly well and entirely free from the pain that I have suffered with 'so hard.' I attribute my cure to your medicine entirely, and would recommend all persons similarly affected to try it. I have great faith in its curative powers.

Yours truly, THOMAS J. BENNETT.

Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as my self, to say that after consulting many eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the best advertised Remedies, in the vain hope of finding relief from a aggravated kidney and bladder diseases, from which I have suffered excessively for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.

At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicines cannot be expected to favorably affect me as they otherwise would, I have found such unspeakable relief and permanent benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel I could in publishing record the fact, as an acknowledgment to him, and a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,

D. M. LAREN.

is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Have him:

Mr. H. T. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used fluid extracts of various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used, or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.

I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.

I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.

GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.

Mr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physicians present. Inclosed please find our rates for advertising. Yours, T. B. H. STENHOUSE,

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.

BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.

Dr. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon facts respecting myself. I do not know hardly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer man could be and live; but most sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I have been sometimes from one to three months at a time, and could not make water every minute, but could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this State, and taken by the gallon, and have I taken no ignored medicines, but found no relief from any, and got worse the last six months. I was so that I could scarcely get about, I could not rest night or day.

It would soon have been "all up" with me if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it through and thought I would try it. I procured a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost me so much? Well, I began taking it, and before I had taken the first bottle I felt bad; but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I still got worse (apparently). I was so low I seemed as if my life and money was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had finished the second, that I had madeup my mind it was of no use trying any more—and all this time the "Buchu" was doing its work, but I did not know it, so I gave it up and went to Hartford on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have to undergo an operation. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.

On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and in the afternoon I had a decided change to water, but thick and red. About one hour after this I tried again, with the same result; but the next time I took the vessel it was the same as running a faucet and stopping it off again. It was so for three times, and the third time there was something came through the passage and cut against the side of the vessel. I examined it, and it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw, covered over with little pieces which collected together. It looks the color of a mud turtle, sticky, and is as hard as flint. So you see the "Buchu" was doing its work, although I was feeling so badly. I procured another bottle, thinking I might be some more bladder blind; but since that has passed, which is eight weeks ago last Sunday, I have been as well as ever I was in my life. I have the stone securely wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.

I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are welcome to make such use of my name as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Berkshire; also in Connecticut. The advertisement saved me. Why not publish more? I have one wife and five little ones, that I can do so. I could write all day, but I think I have said enough this time, so I remain your ever well-wisher, EDWARD L. HOWARD,

N. Y. S. VOL. INSTITUTE,
(Home and School for the Sons of Deceased Soldiers.)

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

Two bottles only of the package of your valuable Buchu presented to the Institute have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the case of our little Lieutenant G., his pride is no longer mortified, and he is free from the daily morning anathemas of the chamberlain who has charge of his bedding.

I feel that a knowledge of the result of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save many a Superintendent and Matron of Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering more from the weakness than the habit, and so undeserved punishment, that is (not knowing it as a weakness instead of a bad habit) most unjustly inflicted upon them. Trusting you will, on behalf of the children, and hoping others may be alike benefitted, I am respectfully yours,

COL. YOUNG, General Sup't and Director.

H. T. Helmbold, Druggist.

DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experiencing but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu.

I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised Remedies and had found them worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no Remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your Remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of Buchu, cubebs, and juniper berries, it occurred to me and my physician as an excellent combination; and, with his advice, after a consultation of the article, and consulting again with the Druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced to use it about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room.

From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks was able to walk out. I felt much like writing to you a full statement of my case at the time, but thought my improvement might only be temporary, and therefore concluded to delay a little longer, and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing that it would be of greater value to you and more satisfactory to me.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months. I have not used any now for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, it does not seem to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1870.

FRANCE.—General Trochu expresses his confidence in the army which has been gathered for the defence of Paris. He has issued a proclamation ordering the Garde Mobile to the posts of honor. Garjbaldi has offered his services to the French Republic.

Switzerland recognizes the Republic of France.

Jules Favre has declined the services of the Orleans princes, and begged them to quit the city, for fear of complications.

The action of the United States government is warmly commented on in all parts of the city. La France newspaper recalls the fact that in 1848 the United States was the first to recognize the French republic, and she is the first again in 1870.

An official decree has been issued, convoking the electoral colleges on the 16th of October next to choose a National Constituent Assembly, agreeably to the provisions in the law of March 15, 1849.

Spain and Italy have recognized the Republic of France.

The Prussian advance on Paris has been retarded by rain.

Strasbourg has ammunition and food enough to last two months.

It is said that the casualties of the war thus far aggregate 400,000, more than one-half of them either dead or maimed for life.

More than 25,000 French prisoners were captured in front of Sedan before its capitulation. By the capitulation, 83,000 prisoners, of whom 14,000 were wounded, 400 field pieces, including 70 mitrailleuses, 150 siege guns, 10,000 horses, and an immense amount of war material were surrendered.

ENGLAND.—It is reported in diplomatic circles that England will not push intervention in favor of peace, owing to the existence of unpleasant relations just now between the Cabinets at Berlin and London. The Germans are incensed because England continues to sell arms to private individuals, who deliver them to France.

The London Times is getting frightened. It says:—

The war has dispelled the notion that England is secure and self-possessed in her isolation. The skirts of England's coat are in the wheels of war, and England herself may at any time be dragged into the conflict.

The Times urges the immediate reorganization of the militia, and vigorous measures for making that branch of the service effective for home duty.

RUSSIA.—A London dispatch says that the attitude of Russia grows hourly more and more menacing towards Germany. The English Government has been positively informed that while Russia is willing to unite with other European powers in arresting war, she will not consent to any territorial aggrandizement by Germany whatever, and that she cannot hold herself bound by the understanding, recently entered into, for a joint action, should events seem to her to require a sudden and decisive step upon her own part. It is also certain that the mobilization has been ordered, and is going on rapidly in the second, third, fourth, and fifth military circumscriptions.

A NAVAL ENGAGEMENT.—On Tuesday, Aug. 23, there was a naval engagement in Salem harbor and along the shore. The schooner Wabash, Capt. Daniel Dwyer, which carries sand from Ipswich, and the mackerel schooner O'Connell, Capt. Joshua Sullivan, were both making for the port of Gloucester. The Wabash ran nearer to the stern of the O'Connell, than the Captain of the latter thought proper; the O'Connell's crew went below, and bringing up a supply of ballast stones, proceeded to pelt the crew of the Wabash, driving them below, and chasing the schooner inside of Baker's Island, throwing stones whenever a man appeared on deck. The crew of the Wabash consisted of only three men, and they were obliged to turn the rudder in steering by using ropes from the cabin window. The O'Connell crew numbered in all a dozen or fifteen persons. Capt. Bowler, of the State Constabulary, was notified, and he arrested the attacking crew, who, were arraigned at Police Court.—Salem Gaz.

New Hampshire Items.

The cotton mill at East Rochester has been purchased by certain parties, who propose to set it in operation.

At Savage's hotel, Alton Corner, on Thursday night, Dr. P. B. Richards of Bradford, shot Andrew J. Sherburne, the popular landlord of the Washington House in Pittsfield. A dispute took place between the two men in reference to a team which Sherburne purchased a while ago of Dr. Richards. The dispute led to blows, when Richards drew a revolver and shot Sherourne three times, inflicting terrible wounds.

PRESIDENT GRANT'S PROMPT RECOGNITION of the French Republic is praised on all hands. In reply to Minister Washburne, Jules Favre said:—

I consider it a happy augury for the French Republic to have obtained her first recognition from the United States, which founded their wise and careful institutions on independence and civil virtue, and in spite of the terrible ordeals which they have passed through, have preserved with unbroken firmness their faith in the great principles of liberty whence issue dignity and prosperity. We are strong in the justice of our cause, and we have a firm hope of success; and the adhesion of the government at Washington gives us confidence. The members of our government request that we make known to you their gratitude, and beg you to transmit it to your government.

I thank you on the part of my government for this demonstration. I shall have great pleasure in transmitting the good wishes you express with so much eloquence, for the recognition of the new Republic of France. In my communication, to which you make such a kind greeting, I have but made known the sentiments of the President and people of the United States of America, who take profound interest in the great movement just inaugurated in France, and will desire most fervently its success, and the happiness and prosperity of the French people. Existing themselves under a republican form of government, they know how to appreciate its benefits; and with warm hearts and language they felicitate their former allies on the accomplishment of a pacific revolution, free from all stains of blood, and claiming the sympathy of all lovers of true liberty.

LEWISTON, Sept. 8.

Messrs. Editors;—Politics in this vicinity are somewhat mixed. Our County Convention met last week and were almost unanimous in instructing the nominee for Senator to use his efforts for continuing Hon. Lot M. Morrill in the U. S. Senate. The Grand Army, being somewhat surprised at the proceedings of the Convention, has rallied its force, and at the caucus Saturday evening last, two candidates were nominated for the Legislature, whose sympathies are with Gov. Chamberlain and in favor of him as successor to Morrill. There will be a Morrill ticket in the field, and as he has a large number of friends here who are desirous of seeing him returned to the Senate, it is doubtful if a choice is effected on election day.

The Census recently taken shows an increase in this city from 7000 in 1860 to almost 14,000 in 1870, and the County from 19,341 to 25,221. The rural towns almost invariably show a reduced population, showing a deplorable fact that a large number of the young men in the country towns are sent into city, thus neglecting farming interest.

The consolidation of the railroads last winter, necessitates a branch road from Maine Central at Danville Junction to the Kennebec, forming a junction at Falmouth. The contract for building the same has been awarded to Straw, Patterson & Co. Work will be commenced at once.

The rebuilding of the Central Block has deprived us of a hall, the pride of the city and state. Each owner has fitted his part of the building regardless of the rest, and all theatres, concerts and travelling shows are barred out from exhibiting in this city, in consequence of the deficiency of a hall. It is hoped however, that the new city building will be erected early in the Spring.

Several large blocks are being erected, among which are the Pillsbury, Barnawallie and Union blocks.

A charter for a railroad from here to Mechanics Falls was surveyed in 1867, a distance of 8 miles, and it was found by the engineer that it could be built for $25,000 a mile. The road is to be built by a recent decision, by the Androscoggin and G. T. R. R. and will be commenced at once. It is also hoped that the Androscoggin Valley Railroad will be commenced in the Spring. H.

Communication.

☞ The Lawrence Daily American of Sept. 7th, states that "the entire apple crop is the heaviest known in New England for many years." The Concord Indept. Democrat states that apples are sold from 40 to 50 cts. per bushel, being about the price they are selling for here per peck. The Exeter paper states that there is a great abundance of apples in that vicinity. Cider, of course, will be sold for about $1.50 per bbl.; fresh pork 15 cts. per lb.; cheese 12 to 14 cts.; beef 11 to 14 cts.; chickens 20 to 25 cts.; mutton 8 to 10 cts. We see no reason why produce may not be sold here as cheap as at Concord. X.

—That the ruling passion is strong in death, is illustrated by the Vicksburg lady, who, on her death-bed, wanted to be buried in a Pompadour waist, "cut biased."

HOW THE PRINCE OF WALES LOOKS NOWADAYS.—In a large box on the grand tier sits a broad shouldered, full-bearded man, his head supported on his hand, and fast asleep! He bears a striking resemblance to the Holbein portrait of Henry VIII, when a youth, which hangs in the gallery at Hampton court; he is apparently about forty years old, and as his head sinks further forward, you can see that a premature baldness has already thinned his hair. It is the Prince of Wales; twenty-eight years of age, and the husband of the fragile looking, pensive beauty with the sad, soft eyes and swan-like throat, who sits beside him.

Very fair to look upon is the Princess of Wales, and no portrait of her that I have seen, whether photograph or painting, can give any idea of the peculiar loveliness of her countenance, particularly when it is illuminated with one of her rare but charming smiles. The fair-haired, sinister looking lady on the other side of the Prince, is that titled dame of whom it is said she vowed to make Alexandria of Denmark rue the day she became the wife of the uture King of England.

The brilliant coronet of the Princess of Wales has proved almost invariably a thorny circlet, from the days of Jo-anna of Kent, to those of Caroline of Brunswick; and I fear that its present fair, gentle wearer has not escaped the heritage of woe, bequeathed to her by her predecessors. It is to be hoped, however, that better days are in store for her. I am told that the Prince is kind-hearted and generous, always ready to aid with his purse or his presence any charitable undertaking; and surely, if there be any thrust to be placed in the purifying and elevating influence of true and noble womanhood, the son of Victoria, the husband of Alexandria, may yet retrieve the errors of his youth by a worthy manhood. Lippincott's Mag.

A HOUSEHOLD REMEDY.—No family should be without some efficacious remedy for the cure of affections, so universally prevalent, as coughs, colds, sore throat, whooping cough, and croup—some remedy, too, which can be relied upon as safe, sure and certain. Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry combines this desideratum.

☞ A profuse and many times excessively offensive discharge from the nose, with "stopping up" of the nose at times, impairment of the sense of smell and taste, watering or weak eyes, impaired hearing, irregular appetite, occasional nausea, pressure and pain over the eyes, and at times in the back of the head, occasional chilly sensations, cold feet, and a feeling of lassitude and debility, are symptoms which are common to Catarrh, yet all of them are not present in every case. Dr. Sages's Catarrh Remedy cures Catarrh in its worst form and stages. It is pleasant to use and contains no poisonous or caustic drugs. Sent by mail on receipt of sixty cents. Address R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y. A pamphlet sent free. Sold by druggists.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Chapter of Facts.

Space is valuable in a newspaper, and it is therefore proposed in this advertisement to condense a variety of facts, important to the public, into a small compass. Those facts refer to HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—what that celebrated medicine is, and what it will do. In the first place then, the article is a stimulant, tonic and alterative, consisting of a combination of an absolutely pure spirituous agent with the most valuable medicinal vegetable substances that Botanic research has placed at the disposal of the chemist and the physician.

These ingredients are compounded with great care and in such proportions as to produce a preparation which invigorates without exciting the general system, and tones, regulates and controls the stomach, the bowels, the liver and the minor secretive organs. What this great restorative will do must be gathered from what it has done. The case of dyspepsia, or any other form of indigestion, in which it has been persistently administered without effecting a radical cure is yet to be heard from, and the same may be said of bilious disorders, intermittent fever, nervous affections, general debility, constipation, sick headache, mental despondency, and the peculiar complaints and disabilities to which the feeble are so subject. It purifies all the fluids of the body, including the blood, and the gentle stimulus which it imparts to the nervous system is not accompanied by the slightest reaction. This is a chapter of facts which readers, for their own sakes, should mark and remember.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

LOCKE & LESLIE'S COMPANY gave a good entertainment to a large audience, Saturday evening. Fanny Herring's acting was jolly and the irrepressible Locke kept the house in a roar in the last piece. The violin performance of Prof. Muller was very fine. Burns took off the Dutch character capitally.

STRAFFORD COUNTY FAIR.—The annual exhibition of the Strafford County Agricultural and Mechanical Society will be held at Dover next week, commencing on Tuesday and continuing three days. There are no better farmers in the State than can be found in Durham, Rollinsford, Rochester, and other towns in the vicinity, and with the manufacturing and mechanical skill of Dover, Somersworth, &c. to give additional attractions to the exhibition, there can be no doubt that it will be a creditable one. Its managers, we learn, have made the most liberal arrangements to have it a success.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this line, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security.

These bonds have 30 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par, besides paying about 9 per cent., currency, interest in the meanwhile. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices only return five per cent.; and we regard the security equally safe.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

FOR ALL PURPOSES of a LAXATIVE MEDICINE,

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative PILL. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and the more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their super coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can come from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

Morning Chronicle.

A Scriptural Panorama.

There was a fellow travelling around in that country, said Mr. Nickerson, with a moral religious show—a sort of scriptural panorama—and he hired a wooden-headed old slab to play the piano for him. After the first night's performance, the showman says:

"My friend, you seem to know pretty much all the tunes there are, and you worry along first rate. But then don't you notice that last night the piece you happened to be playing was a little rough on the proprietors, so to speak—didn't seem to gibe with the general gait of the picture that was passing at the time, as it were—was a little foreign to the subject, you know—as if you didn't either trump or follow suit, you understand?"

"Well, no," the fellow said; he hadn't noticed, but it might be; he had played along just as it came handy.

So they put it up that the simple old dummy was to keep his eye on the panorama after that, and as soon as a stunning picture was reeled out, he was to fit it to a dot with a piece of music that would help the audience to get the idea of the subject, and warm them up like a camp-meeting revival. The sort of thing would corral their sympathies, the showman said.

There was a big audience that night, mostly middle-aged and old people who belonged to the church and took a strong interest in Bible matters, and the balance were pretty much young bucks and heifers—they always come out strong on panoramas, you know, because it gives them a chance to taste one another's mug in the dark.

Well, the showman began to swell himself up for his lecture, and the old mud-dobber tackled the piano and ran his fingers up and down once or twice to see that she was all right, and the fellow behind the curtain commenced to grind out the panorama. The showman balanced his weight on his right foot, and propped his hands over his hips, and flung his eyes over his shoulder at the scenery, and said:

"Ladies and gentlemen, the painting now before you illustrates the beautiful and touching parable of the Prodigal Son. Observe the happy expression just breaking over the features of the poor, suffering youth—so worn and weary with his long march; note also the ecstasy beaming from the uplifted countenance of the aged father, and the joy that sparkles in the eyes of the excited group of youths and maidens, and seems ready to burst in a welcoming chorus from their lips. The lesson, my friends, is as solemn and instructive as the story is tender and beautiful."

The mud-dobber was all ready, and when the second speech was finished, he struck up:—

When Johnny comes marching home."

Some of the people giggled, and some groaned. The showman couldn't say a word. He looked at the pianist sharp, but he was all lovely and serene—he didn't know there was anything out of gear.

The panorama moved on, and the showman drummed up his girt and started in fresh:—

"Ladies and gentlemen, the fine picture now unfolding itself to your gaze, exhibits one of the most notable events in Bible history—our Saviour and his disciples upon the sea of Galilee. How grand, how awe-inspiring are the reflections which the subject invokes! What sublimity of faith is revealed to us in this lesson from the sacred writings! The Saviour rebukes the angry waves, and walks securely upon the bosom of the deep!"

All around the house they were whispering—"Oh, how lovely, how beautiful!" and the orchestra let himself out again:—

"Oh, life on the ocean wave,
And a home on the rolling deep."

There was a good deal of honest snickering turned on this time, and considerable groaning, and one or two old deacons got up and went out. The showman grated his teeth and cursed the piano man to himself, but the fellow sat there like a knot on a log, and seemed to think he was doing first-rate.

After things got quiet, the showman thought he would make one more stagger at it, anyhow, though his confidence was beginning to get mighty shaky. The supes started the panorama to grinding along again, and he says:—

"This exquisite picture, ladies and gentlemen, illustrates the raising of Lazarus from the dead by our Saviour. The subject has been handled with rare ability by the artist, and such touching sweetness and tenderness of expression has he thrown into it, that I have known peculiarly sensitive persons to be even affected to tears by looking at it. Observe the half-confused, half-inquiring look upon the countenance of the awakened Lazarus. Observe, also, the attitude and expression of the Saviour, who takes him gently by the sleeve of his shroud with one hand, while he points with the other towards the distant city."

"Come, rise up, William Ri-i-i-ley,
And go along with me!"

It was rough on the audience, you bet. All the solemn old flats got up in a huff to go, and everybody else laughed till the windows rattled.

The showman went down and grabbed the orchestra, and shook him up, and said:—

"That lets you out, you know, you chowder-headed old clam! Go to the door-keeper and get your money, and cut your stick—vamose the ranch! Ladies and gentlemen, circumstances over which I have no control, compel me prematurely to dismiss."

THE TRUE WAY TO PRUNE AN APPLE TREE is to commence upon it as soon as a branch starts in a wrong direction. That is, if it turns in so as to cross the tree, or if its direction will lead it to cross other branches, take it off as early as possible. On good soil, nearly every apple tree will throw out more limbs than ought to grow. The cultivator, therefore, must see them often during the growing season, and take away such portions of the branches, while young, as will leave the tree sufficiently open to admit light and air, and to be as evenly balanced as possible. He cannot do this in one year or two, but must bring them into shape in the course of ten or twelve years. He must look at the tree prospectively; have in his mind's eye all the time just what shape he would like to see when the tree is fifteen years old.

It is not common to head in apple trees; that is, to cut off the ends of the branches. Some of the side shoots of the branches ought to be taken off near their extremities, if the tree is vigorous, which will leave it open to external influences.

It will be a slow and difficult thing to keep off the bark-lice. Quick-lime scattered over the branches might be useful, especially if applied when or soon after the grub hatches out, say from the 20th of May to the 20th of June, according to section and season; but a pretty strong soap-suds, applied with a scrubbing-brush such as the women scour floors with, would be better. A weak fish brine, such as may be obtained at the stores from mackerel barrels, is said to be efficacious in destroying bark-lice, so we are informed. The dry ashes would be excellent for the trees, even if it did not kill the lice.

A few simple rules should always be observed in pruning. Never prune when the sap is running freely, as in March, April and May. But when the sap has gone up to form bud, blossom, leaf and fruit, and is elaborated into a thicker, gummy substance, and is descending between the bark and sapwood to increase the diameter of the tree. This will take place about the middle of June, and continue two or three weeks, and again after the leaves have fallen in the autumn. Branches cut off at these times will rarely bleed, but soon form a ring of smooth, green bark around them, and heal over rapidly.

All branches should be cut off smoothly, and close up to the stock from whence they are taken. If a stump is left, there is no action in it; it never heals over, but soon decays, and the decay runs into the main branch, and checks the vitality of the whole tree.

More trees are injured by cutting them at the wrong season, we think, than by any other cause.—N. E. Farmer.

FREEMAN'S IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP,

It excels all other Iron preparations in the combination with Mandrake and Vegetable Tonics, so that the Liver is acted on to remove bile and impurities from the system, while the vegetable tonics strengthen the stomach and promote the digestion of Iron with the food and its absorption into the blood. It renovates the system and is the best medicine.

MANDRAKE is the Great Vegetable substitute for calomel to act on liver. In FREEMAN'S IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP it is combined with Iron and Vegetable Tonics, and forms the most perfect medicine. It purifies the blood and imparts IRON to it. It acts on the Liver and removes foul humors from the body. THE MARTYR OF SAGAMORE.

BY GEORGE R. GRIFFITH.

They mingle with the tracings of my pen,
The tears that flow reflecting on thy fate;
And how divinely patient you have been,
So martyr-like thy Master's time to wait.

In the full flush of noble manhood, when
The thrills of Genius did the soul elate,
And shone the promise to the eyes of men,
A sudden darkness made all desolate!

The face of Nature you was scanning well,
Each day new beauties opened unto you,
When flashed this blank—ah! who can tell
Thy grief: to live, yet bid such scenes adieu!—

When all the ardor of a heart refined,
And true ambition chafed at such restraint!
The long, long agony that wrapped thy mind,
As with a living flame, I cannot paint!

Years since have passed—oft as from lonely bird,
That ne'er can breathe the air of Freedom more,
The busy world thy saddened strains have heard
From the sweet vales of rural Sagamore.

Yet few have known how keen thy suff'rings were
Each note exquisite, interwrought with pain;
The arduous task from loneliness would lure,
While yo upon a couch was panting lain.

I cannot dwell upon this sacred theme,
A selfish world is slow to understand;
So careless oft, while, saving self, would seem
To move as greed and passion might demand.

But since I grasped this humble saff'rer's palm,
My inmost soul for him doth breathe its plaint;
When pity finds in nothing worldly, balm,
I, sighing, murmur; 'hero, martyr, saint!'

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?
IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the
AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.
It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.
It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of Rubber Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.
One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds, 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats.—thus making a saving of 72 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.
The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.
The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the

HAIR VIGOR,
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white linen, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

WAR AND PEACE NOTES.—The Prussians demanded the surrender of Laon, when the French commandant opened the gates and the Prussian officers and soldiers entered. When they were well inside, the commandant fired the mine, blowing up the citadel and killing and wounding a great number of the enemy.

The English people are incensed at Queen Victoria for not acting in favor of the Republic of France.

There is every indication now that Paris will make a terrible resistance, though many still believe the contrary. Gen. Trochu declares that if the Prussians take the city, the loss to them will be immense. Barricades are preparing in the streets. The great sewer is said to be mined, and if the forts are taken and the ramparts carried by assault, the fighting in the streets will be desperate.

A large French army is forming at Normandy, which will be commanded by Trochu in person, and operate on the German lines, in case Paris is besieged.

Three energetic despatches have gone through from Washington to Berlin, all against the continuance of the war.

Napoleon has arrived at Cassel.

Dispatches received from Paris via London say that the Prussians attacked Toul on Saturday, the fight lasting all day and ending by the retirement of the Prussians with a loss of 10,000 men.

It is rumored in Paris that the Prussian advance has been checked on account of the attitude of Russia, who insists on an armistice.

Gov. Stearns and Ex-Gov. Smyth have accepted the office of Receivers of the Concord Railroad, and have filed their bonds.

Ex-Gov. Smyth was fined $100 at the S. J. Court, Nashua, on Monday, for a technical violation of the law relating to Savings Banks.

THE N. E. AND N. H. FAIRS, at Manchester, last week, closed on Friday, the only event to regret, being the death of the two splendid stallions, elsewhere recorded. So far as the weather overhead was concerned, it could not have been better. Every day was fair and moderately warm. The long drought, however, rendered the grounds so dry that the dust was almost suffocating. In a financial point of view, the exhibition has been a very decided success, the receipts being about $25,000, and the expenses perhaps $20,000 or so. The attendance on Thursday was estimated at 30,000 people, and was probably the largest gathering ever held in the State. The spacious grounds were completely filled with people on foot and in carriages.

The Fair as a show, was small in the fancy goods and mechanical line, as compared with some other years. Fruit, vegetables and flowers suffered greatly from the drought. Mr. George Main of Concord, made a good show of out-door grapes, apples and pears, and Wm. H. Hills, Esq., of Plaistow had a rich display of hot-house grapes. Of carriages, Mr. J. H. Randlett of Dover did himself credit, both for skill and public spirit, by the good show of fine carriages he made—and Messrs. Came of this city doubtless would have done likewise, but for the encouraging fact that their carriages are sold as fast as finished.

In regard to the display of cattle, and horses, the sentiment was universal that there could not be found on the continent better specimens or more splendid, than were exhibited at this Fair. The large and beautiful Durhams, Dutch, Ayrshires, Jerseys, Herefords, Devons, and other breeds of cattle there, caused the greatest pleasure not only to farmers, but also to crowds of other visitors. This display alone was worth the trouble and expense of the Fair, and we have no doubt it will greatly promote an interest in the improvement of neat stock in New Hampshire and the neighboring States.

Swine, sheep and poultry were well represented, but not largely; and Wm. Stark's collection of deer and birds was shown.

On Friday, the last day, there was an oration and other speeches at the grand stand. Dr. Loring, President of the N. E. Society, in introducing the exercises, made some remarks, congratulating the Society upon the success which has attended its exhibitions, and also the farmers of New Hampshire who had enjoyed the advantages of the display.

Hon. J. W. Patterson of Hanover then delivered the oration. He commenced by congratulating the society upon its exhibition, and referred to the representative specimens of the products of New England, as altogether inadequate to express the skill and industry of the people. He spoke of the power and intelligence which have evoked from sterility an affluence of social privileges never enjoyed elsewhere.

The speaker then referred to the census returns, and said that they indicate a movement of population unfavorable to agriculture in our section of the republic. An impression prevails that the South and West present more advantages then New England. By some statistics from the Agricultural Bureau, the orator showed that in corn New England excels all other sections except the Pacific slope and the region beyond the Mississippi, in cash value and yield per acre. In wheat we excel nearly all, and our yield of potatoes is great. The average cash value per acre of the cereals of New England was greater than that of the other states, almost without exception. The cash value of the tobacco in Massachusetts and Connecticut is in advance of all other states—in the first $312 an acre, and in the last $391. Farming in New England is more remunerative, acre for acre, than in the midland states, the west or the south.

There must be an entire change in our methods of cultivation, in the character of the industry, and the advantages for markets. We must avail ourselves of every instrumentality which nature and science have placed at our command. A letter from Mr. Dodge, of the Agricultural Department, says: "I know New England farmers who spend $100 for fertilizing an acre in a single year, and make money by it, and I know many who delve upon poor land which they would sell for $10, and make only a meagre subsistance. It is ridiculous for such men, from their own example, to assume that there is no profit in New England agriculture."

Our disadvantages are temporary. As the west becomes filled up, and land dearer, it will cease to invite emigrants, and will be found less adapted to stock-raising than our own hills. The annual yield and value of crops in New England are far above the general average of the country, and still advancing, while in most of the other states they are declining year by year.

By the best scientific methods, farming may be made as profitable here, all things considered, as in any part of the country.

We cannot ignore the intellectual character of a people in estimating their prosperity. Fat fields are often cursed with a thriftless population, while elsewhere sterility blossoms into abundance under educated labor. Our facilities for trade may be made to compensate our deficiencies of soil and climate. Opulence has clung to the seaboard, and united its resources in both elements. The historic centres of civilization drew their vitality from the pulses of the sea.

Our fathers were planted here, on these rugged hills by the ocean, for a great purpose, by no accident of Providence. May the divine will so work in the children, that they may cling to the old homesteads and maintain the glory of New England.

The President read the following letter concerning the expected visit of General Grant:

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Sept. 3.

Dear Governor:—I regret not being able to keep an engagement which would afford me so much personal pleasure as a visit to New Hampshire would, during the holding of the State Fair. Public business, however, draws me in another direction for a few days, just at the time of your Fairs, and I write now to express my disappointment. Please present Mrs. Grant's and my kindest regards to Mrs. Stearns and daughters.

With great respect, your obedient servant, U. S. GRANT.

Hon. O. STEARNS, Gov. of N. H.

Governor Stearns was then introduced, and made the following well-timed remarks:

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR STEARNS.—Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:—It gives me great pleasure to meet you at this exhibition, and to express my interest in the important objects which agricultural societies are designed to promote.

We all take great pride, and pardonably so, I think, in these annual exhibitions of New England industry. They prove that our people are not afraid or reluctant to work; and they show how well knowledge and skill have directed their labor. Nature may be unwilling, but man prevails.

We have not the fertile soil of the West, or the genial climate of the South. We cannot boast of that variety of productions, and extent of agricultural and mineral resources, which make up the wealth of the Middle States; and we do not belong to the great grain-producing and fruit-bearing portions of this country.

Yet, the intelligence, the thrift and the sagacity which confessedly belong to the New England character, have wrought out wonderful results.

Upon this hard soil, and under adverse circumstances, have been trained a people who have exerted and are now exerting an influence second to no other upon the affairs of the present day.

New England men and New England ideas have penetrated to the remotest corners of the land, and in the trials of this country during the late exhaustive war, New England valor was not wanting in a nation's need.

When we compare the fruits of our labor with those which other portions of the country can exhibit, we have no cause to be ashamed. There are no better farms or farmers than those of the valley of the Connecticut and the Housatonic. The stock of Vermont has a national reputation. The manufactures of Rhode Island and Connecticut are known everywhere, and everywhere esteemed; while Massachusetts and Maine, mother and daughter, bear so high character as to need no word of commendation from us.

Throughout the entire territory of New England, among all classes of her people, are found abundant proofs of increasing wealth, prosperity and happiness.

Our network of railroads, our busy manufacturing establishments, the numerous and varied pursuits of agriculture, and the mechanic arts—schools and colleges dispensing the blessings of education to every home—all bespeak a community among whom it is a pleasure and benefit to live.

It is no matter of surprise that New England men and women, wherever they may wander, still retain a strong affection for the land of their birth. I speak in no narrow or sectional spirit. We are all American citizens, and are all glad to contribute all we are and all we possess to the prosperity of our whole country.

It is a part of our faith that the chief elements of national greatness are industry, intelligence and virtue. If we can develop and practically illustrate these in strong hands, clear heads and true hearts, we shall do a patriotic service to the republic and aid in promoting the welfare of mankind.

Mr. President, after the eloquent address, in listening to which we have all been so much pleased, I must not trespass longer upon your time and attention.

In the work of educating our people, in teaching them what can be done by skill and labor, and in thus holding up before them an example for illustration, your society has borne a distinguished part. Young in years, it is old in honors; I trust that, in the future as in the past, it will continue the good work, and that many returns of this happy anniversary will attest the wisdom and success of its founders.

The President of the Agricultural Society, Dr. Loring, then said: "I desire to thank the Governor of New Hampshire for his compliments to the New England Agricultural Society. In return and for answer, I call upon the men of New England to give three cheers for old New Hampshire, her delegation in Congress, and her Governor. And I propose to lead off myself." Three cheers were given with enthusiasm.

After the exercises closed at the stand, the President of the Society, Gov. Stearns, the officers of the Society, guests, and State and city officers, with Representatives in Congress, and many others, dined at the Society's dining tent. Our thanks to Gen. Head for an invitation.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Chapter of Facts.

Space is valuable in a newspaper, and it is therefore proposed in this advertisement to condense a variety of facts, important to the public, into a small compass. Those facts refer to HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—what that celebrated medicine is, and what it will do. In the first place then, the article is a stimulant, tonic and alterative, consisting of a combination of an absolutely pure spirituous agent with the most valuable medicinal vegetable substances that Botanic research has placed at the disposal of the chemist and the physician.

These ingredients are compounded with great care, and in such proportions as to produce a preparation which invigorates without exciting the general system, and tones, regulates and controls the stomach, the bowels, the liver and the minor secretive organs. What this great restorative will do must be gathered from what it has done. The case of dyspepsia, or any other form of indigestion, in which it has been persistently administered without effecting a radical cure is yet to be heard iron, and the same may be said of bilious disorders, intermittent fever, nervous affections, general debility, constipation, sick headache, mental despondency, and the peculiar complaints and disabilities to which the feeble are so subject. It purifies all the fluids of the body, including the blood, and the gentle stimulus which it imparts to the nervous system is not succeeded by the slightest reaction. This is a chapter of facts which readers, for their own sakes, should mark and remember.

Vegetable "Pain Killer,"

After THIRTY YEARS trial, is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues, from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Physicians of the first respectability recommend it as a most effectual preparation for the extinction of pain. It is not only the best remedy ever known for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c., but for Dysentery or Cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency and rapidity of action. TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.'

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Moosilauk. The neighborhood is one of the most romantic and picturesque in the mountain regions, and is fast coming into a notoriety that must largely enhance the value of this property. A SAD ACCIDENT occurred on the Concord and Portsmouth Railroad, two miles west of Raymond, on Monday morning. The down train was rounding a curve and suddenly came upon an ox and two cows. The engineer whistled to brake up, but the train could not be stopped before the collision ensued.

The engine, tender and three of the four cars were thrown from the track. The baggage car was badly smashed. Engineer Wm. Preston was picked up insensible, but afterwards became conscious. His injuries are severe but not dangerous.

Mr. George Sawyer, baggage master, had his right leg broken in two or three places above the knee, and his left leg broken twice, below the knee; and suffered other severe injuries in the lower abdomen. It is thought he cannot recover. He was conscious after the accident and urgently requested Conductor Gale, between whom and Mr. Sawyer a great attachment has existed for years, not to allow his leg to be amputated on any consideration. Mr. Sawyer is well known here and is a general favorite with the travelling public for his urbanity and obliging disposition. We sincerely hope his injuries may prove less severe than at first reported, and that his pleasant greeting will once more gladden the hearts of the many friends whose heartfelt sorrow attests their sympathy for him.

Several passengers were injured, a few being badly bruised, but no serious results are expected.

Two of the cattle were killed outright, and the third was so mangled that it was necessary to kill it.

PORTSMOUTH AQUEDUCT COMPANY.—Messrs. Editors:—Will you oblige many suffering from a short supply of water, by publishing the act incorporating the above company?

We should like to know if our forefathers granted the unequaled privileges claimed by this Company, without protecting the rights and welfare of the citizens—whether the charter was merely granted in order that a few proprietors, who it is believed paid but $50 originally for what is now worth three hundred—might get a great return, or whether there was not a corresponding obligation to furnish an abundant supply of pure water, and whether the price for such supply was not fixed for each family? In short we want to know whether we are at the mercy of the Corporation or not. It is of daily occurrence that water cannot be got from faucets many feet below the level to which it flowed a few years ago, abundantly, and every year this level is being reduced. It is understood that the breweries here, which have the first chance at the water, are to be enlarged; are they to be further supplied at the cost of still shorter family supplies?

Again, there is well founded apprehension in case of fire, and it appears the company demands ten per cent.—ten per cent. per annum, on the cost of putting sufficient supply pipe to the Market Street reservoir! what return does it make for the damage constantly done to our streets? It is fully time the city took this matter of water supply into its own hands; no place can flourish without an abundant supply, and it is idle to expect an increase of population, which can only be hoped for by encouraging new branches of industry—and for that steam is all essential—without plenty of water, and cheap. By the census returns it appears that our population decreases; thus it may happen, unless the water supply decreases faster, that a few years hence, those who are left may have their wants supplied without the necessity of looking out in advance, as is the case at present, when an extra cup of tea is needed. Meantime it appears to many that we are in DANGER.

THE SALEM VETERANS are expected to arrive in town this afternoon at half-past 2 o'clock, and will go into camp at Sagamore, where they are to remain three days. The Germania Band will accompany them. The Sagamore will be the centre of attraction during their stay.

At the N. E. Agr. Fair at Manchester, the first premium for best Ayrshire Calf, was awarded to C. Hayes and Son; and first for Jersey Bull, to Wm. P. Jones—both of this city. Sam'l Rowe & Co. also received premium on their miniature cooking apparatus.

On the 1st page will be found a tribute to our suffering friend Daniel A. Drown, and on the 4th the speeches of Messrs Bourne and Hatch at the Historical dinner.

At the meeting of the Stockholders of the Eastern R. R. in N. H. and the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway Road, held in this city, on Monday, the lease of the latter road to the former was voted.

This it seems will ensure the extension of the road to Ossipee Corner, a new route having been surveyed that way quite near to the Court House in that town. This extension, it is hoped, will give us a better acquaintance with our neighbors of Carroll County.

Mr. E. A. Joy is agent for the sale of a new collection of Sabbath School music, published by Oliver Ditson & Co. Price 30 cents. It is called "Silver Wings."

Capt. Robt. W. Shufeldt is detached from the Yard and ordered to the command of the Darien expedition.

Supt. Kendrick, of the Concord Railroad, gave his personal attention to the care of the immense trains for the Fair at Manchester, last week; and neither at the Epping Camp Meeting, the week previous, was there a single accident or mishap. The sad calamity near Raymond on Monday, was not the fault of any employee of the Raod.

Calvin Plaisted of York has been committed to jail for house burning, and Luther Welch for burning woods.

The yacht race at Newport, Saturday, for the citizens' cup, was won by the Phantom by one and a half minutes' time allowance, while the Palmer, which reached the home stake boat first, took the second prize. The Dauntless came in third with the loss of her topmast, and the Cambria fourth, fifty minutes behind the Dauntless.

COMPLETE CENSUS RETURNS.—The population of Franklin, omitted in the tables of Thursday, is 2,301 against 1600 in 1860, an increase of 701. This makes the population of Merrimack county 42,157, showing a loss of only 169 in that county for the last ten years, and reduces the net loss in the State during the last decade to only 8,470.—Monitor.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this line, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security.

These bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par, be sides paying about 9 per cent., currency, interest in the meanwhile. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices only return five per cent.; and we regard the security equally safe.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

FOR ALL PURPOSES of a LAXATIVE MEDICINE,

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither alcohol nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and the various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhea, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

July 1, 1870. E. G. ADAMS.

Morning Chronicle.

THE HISTORIC BREAKFAST. — We have already given a pretty full report of the doings and sayings at the joint meeting of the N. H. and Maine Hist. Societies, in this city. We now add the remarks in full of Messrs. Bourne and Hatch, and an abstract of the speeches of others, (from the Concord Monitor's report,) which we could not print at the time.

Hon. Charles H. Bell, President of the N. H. Society, having welcomed the members of the Maine Society in brief but well chosen words, alluding to the matters of common interest arising from the fact that the early proprietors and settlers were in many instances the same:

It gives me, Mr. President, and I think I can say for all my associates, it gives them great pleasure, to meet you on this occasion. As you have said, our histories in the past centuries are so closely interwoven, that a page can scarce be written of New Hampshire in the olden time, which does not apply with equal force to Maine. We have been so allied by a contiguity of territory, that geographical bounds have been seldom recognized or thought of; and intercourse of business and social life has made our towns bordering on the Piscataqua, a community with those on your side of the river. They have forgotten that there existed any civil or political separation. In former years our deeds even, were sometimes found in your files, or in your depositories, and sometimes, yours in ours. Your Hiltons, Wheelwrights, Storys, Littlefields, Coles, and others, became inhabitants of Maine, and your eminent citizens the Wentworths, Governors of your state, descended from one of its daughters, the first American mother of them all, being as I believe, though not yet fully assented to by the leading genealogist of the family, a daughter of one of the pioneers of the town of Wells.

But our mutual connection was still more strongly cemented by many other alliances, of a more interesting character. In looking through the pages of the Genealogical Register, one cannot fail to see how numerous were the intermarriages in the bordering towns and villages of the two states. Your refined and sensible men were captivated by the blandishments of the buxom, robust, and cheery girls of Kittery, Berwick and York, and many of your wise and prudent maidens fell into the arms of the industrious and solid men of Maine, so that the genealogist, in the pursuit of his work, finds himself sometimes on one side of the river, and then on the other.

Many matters of the olden time, speak the same language. They cannot be separated as exclusive incidents or appurtenances of the history of either state. During the long Indian wars, we were called to common trials, and were engaged, shoulder to shoulder, in the defence of our wives, children and possessions. Of later years we have been wont to look upon the noble river Piscataqua, as yours. But it was, in former years, ours as well as yours. Our navigation was constantly in its water;—but your far more extensive use of it in modern times, has almost led us to feel, that we have ceased to be tenants in common with you.

I may also add, that we received our knowledge of what was going on in the world from the same source, your New Hampshire Gazette, now the oldest paper in New England, having been first published in 1756, of which we have now several files, and which I regard as of great value — was our paper, as well as yours. It contained our advertisements, legal notices, shipping memoranda, &c., and was carried by the post rider through all our Western towns, thereby doing much to make us one people.

I think, we may then with confidence say, that with many of the existing families on our common borders, as well as in our common depositories, there are yet a great many of the relics of the past century, equally interesting, and material to the perfection of the histories of both states. Letters, contracts, accounts, and papers of every character will be found in the attics of the old houses of Kittery, York, Berwick, Dover, Portsmouth, Kensington and adjoining towns, which will give light on many of the questions arising in the preparation of our histories. These must be brought out of their hiding places, before they are forever lost.

Now, Sir, let me say, we must mutually co-operate in this work. We need such an acquaintance with, and such an understanding of each other, that we can ask for information, or even a little research, without being considered as trespassing upon or going beyond, the common civilities or proprieties of life; and we are happy that this occasion has been offered to us, through your courtesy, for a better acquaintance with yourself and with the members of your association—so that we may hope for a free intercourse hereafter, and some profitable results from it.

Rev. Dr. Bouton, of Concord, spoke of Dr. John Farmer, as the originator of the N. H. Hist. Society, aided by John Kelly, Nathaniel A. Haven, Ichabod Bartlett and other gentlemen prominent at that time. It was organized in 1823. The Society had accomplished a good deal during its existence, having a library of some 6000 volumes, all of which had been procured by exchange of their publications, or by donation. The influence of the Society had been such as to secure the writing of at least twelve good town histories, the last being that of Chester. By it also, the State has been induced to procure the publication of the early provincial records. Many documents of great interest which have never been published, will be included in these volumes. Among these are the Shirley papers, relating to the expedition against Louisburg.

A. R. Hatch, Esq., being called upon, spoke as follows:

Mr. President:—I am too infrequently an attendant on your meetings, and have been able to devote too little time to historical pursuits, to justify me in any attempt to address a meeting like this. I can do no more than to second most heartily the welcome you have so well extended to our guests. We meet them as citizens of an adjoining State, with which, during all our history, our relations have been of the most friendly character,—as followers of the same kindly and intellectual pursuit,—and as personal friends well tried and esteemed. But in this presence I see so many, my seniors, men whose learning and established fame I have long been accustomed to respect and to honor,—nomina clara et venerabilia, that I dare not attempt to instruct, and am content to sit as a learner at their feet.

Were I to undertake to utter more of my sentiments on this occasion, I could but repeat the idea which Mr. Webster so nobly expressed in his fourth of July oration delivered in this town in 1812, in which he said, that "wherever history records the acts of men, the past has more or less influence on the present. The heart as well as the understanding feels the connexion. There is not only a transmission of ideas and of knowledge from generation to generation; there is also a traditional communication of sentiments and feelings. The mind delights to associate with the spirits that have gone before it; to enter into their counsels; to embrace their designs; to feel the impulse of their motives; to enjoy their triumphs, and to hold common sorrow in their misfortunes. It exults to find itself not a distant, confined point of present being, without relation to the past or the future, but a part of the great chain of existence, which commencing with the origin of our race, and running through its successive generations, binding the present to the past and even to the future, in mutual attachments, sympathies and common desires, will hold on to the period when all sentiments and all affections, merely human, shall be no more."

If I might venture to speak further, it would be only to suggest, that intimate as was the connexion of the early settlers in Piscataqua with the colonies on both sides of us, I think it will appear upon examination, that they had a distinctive origin, came here for a different purpose, were marked by different manners and habits, and were actuated by different sentiments and belief. And this difference has been visible in the whole course of our history. It early, and has often placed our State in opposition to the principles and action of the adjoining States; and when we have from time to time borrowed something of their peculiar legislation, the laws seem to have been made for show and not for use here, and the common sense or feeling of our people has put them aside like holiday dresses intended to be exhibited on set occasions, but not for wear or common use.

There are few localities in the country which offer ampler means of tracing their history in its fullest sense, to its origin, than Portsmouth and its vicinity. Ever since the days of the Provincial Government, the emigration from this place has been outward. The resident population has increased very slowly; and the same family names are still prevalent here, which are most prominent in our early colonial records. It is not difficult to trace the geneology of many families to the first settlers here; and it is not very uncommon to find men in the possession of lands which have descended to them in unbroken title, without a single alienation by deed, since the first occupation of the country.

We have here more ancient houses than in any New England town with which I am acquainted; and there is an abundance of ancient pictures, furniture, books and manuscripts preserved in Portsmouth families, which would well repay the labor of examination by a careful and judicious observer. There are traditions, habits, prejudices, too, and modes of thought and speech, which are worthy of more intelligent study than has yet been bestowed upon them.

The true history of Portsmouth is yet to be written. Adams did much, but his book cannot be regarded as anything more than the "Annals" which he entitled it. Brewster did more, but his plan was not historical, and it is not his fault perhaps, that he did not express nor fully understand the distinctive character of our people and Province. The opportunities for ascertaining the facts necessary for the preparation of a history which shall delineate the characteristics as well as the purposes and acts of the settlers in Piscataqua, are still so abundant here, that it is to be hoped they will attract the attention of some scholar who will share the spirit and comprehend the views and feelings of our ancestors.

I am confident that such an examiner will demonstrate a strong distinction between this people and the colonists on each side of us. Whether it will be to the credit of the men who avowedly came hither to fish and to trade, and not to pray, I will not undertake to determine; but I am sure that a true History will not show us to have been worse in principles or morals than the colonies whose religious origin has been so often and so justly portrayed.

Mr. Charles Deane, of Cambridge, spoke of the intimate connection of Mass. and N. H. in the early days of the settlement, there being a time when they were one. The discovery of early documents relating to the grants, would require a re-writing of the first ten years of the history of the latter State. There had been some confusion of the names of those early patents. The grant to Gorges and Mason, in 1622, was called by Belknap the Laconia grant. This is now shown to have been intended to be called the Province of Maine. He doubted if anything was actually done under it.

The Laconia grant was issued in 1629. After that time settlements were made by the Laconia Company. Ten days prior to this, a grant is said to have been made to Mason covering the same territory. So all transactions were under the Laconia Company until 1635, when Gorges surrendered his grant, and Mason took a grant—never confirmed by the King — under the name of New Hampshire, which is the first appearance of the name. He, the subsequent year, left it, by will, under that name. These points should be elucidated by the New Hampshire Society, at the time when, as now, the early records are being published.

Hon. John A. Poor, of Portland, said that whatever taste for historic researches he had, was inspired by that eminent son of New Hampshire, Daniel Webster. He eulogized Webster at considerable length, speaking of the great debt the country was under to him. He then spoke at some length of the struggle for the right of government, between Maine, Massachusetts and New Hampshire, showing how the contest arose and its final termination. His remarks were very well received, and we regret that we cannot give them in detail.

Rev. Dr. A. P. Peabody said that he was the sole member of the Massachusetts Historical Society who occupied the position of a hearer only. He would give a single reminiscence connecting Harvard College with New Hampshire. The building containing the library was burnt shortly before the Declaration of Independence. Among other grants to restore the loss, was one by the Legislature of New Hampshire. Just before that, a young man had been rusticated for rebellion. Just after the donation, there is a vote restoring the young man, and the vote states that the Faculty desire to put it on record that it is not done because the young man deserved it, nor because of his good behavior since his rustication, but because his father as Speaker of the House of Representatives had given his casting vote in favor of the grant. Mr. Peabody added, "we pride ourselves at Harvard on our severe impartiality, and I doubt if there is another similar instance on record."

Hon. Mr. Bradbury of Maine suggested a common meeting of all the Historical societies of New England at some future day. Mr. Deane, of Cambridge, approved, and hoped it would be carried out.

Col. A. H. Hoyt, of Boston, thought that these meetings were especially valuable in suggesting points for investigation. He begged to suggest that special topics of investigation were especially worthy of study, rather than general subjects, and that that course would produce the more valuable results.

Mr. C. H. Tuttle, of Cambridge, joined the other gentleman in the expression of thanks for the courtesies rendered by both societies. Though born in Maine, his parents were of New Hampshire, and land at Dover Neck which was originally granted to his ancestors, is still owned by the family, and he considered himself a grandson of New Hampshire at least.

The conference having been closed, the gentlemen partook of a collation, after which the members of the Maine Society took the cars for Portland. It was a very pleasant occasion, and its success was especially due to Messrs. Hackett and Bell, who arranged all the details.

"SOFT" SERENADE.

Each night 'neath the window he stood,
And there, with his soft serenade
He awakened the whole neighborhood,
But vainly he tried to arouse [ing,
Her from sleep with his strains so betwitch-
While he played in front of the house,
She slept in the little back kitchen.

HUGO AT THE BAT.—Victor Hugo has written an address to the Germans, of which the following is an extract:—

You may take the fortress, you will find the rampart. You may take the rampart. You will find the barricade. You may take the barricade, and then who knows the resources of patriotism in distress? You will find the sewers mines of powder to blow the whole streets into the air. This will be the terrible sentence you must accept. To take Paris stone by stone; to slaughter Europe on the spot; to kill France in detail in each street.—in each house, that great light must be extinguished soul bysoul. Germans holdback! Paris is formidable. Think awhile before her wall. All transformations are possible, for her indolence gives you the measure of her energy. She seems to be asleep. She will awake. Her thought will leap from its scabbard like a sword, and this city, which yesterday was a Sybaris, to-morrow will be a Saragossa. This is the inevitable end of the prodigious terms of humanity. It is well. It is the law of intelligence. The manliness of man can only develop in the air of freedom. Behold the God of armies! His name is country and liberty. Hail to the republic! Thou art in good hands, and a great people is now marching under thy banner after a bloody expiation. Thy task is hard, but should it happened to thee to fall once more then will it surely rise again. The rights of man are imperishable.

—Long after the wounded of the war of 1870 have passed away and the dead are forgotten, after the charges in boundary lines and governments which it causes are lost in other transformations, the campaign will be remembered and regretted for the ruin it has wrought in the treasures of architecture, literature and art. The cathedral of Strasbourg, a part of which lies in ruins under the fire of the Prussian artillery, dates its foundation from A. D. 504, has been completed four hundred years and is one of the finest Gothic buildings in Europe. Its spire is the highest in the world, measuring 566 feet, and the whole structure is ornamented with the choicest work of the painters and sculptors of the middle ages.

The astronomical clock which the telegraph reports seriously injured by the bombardment, has been a favorite subject of description with travellers, and must by this means be familiar to all our readers, with its angels striking the hours and quarters, and its noonday march of Christ and the twelve apostles. The mechanism was injured by violence in the revolution of 1793, but has been in running order for nearly thirty years. The great library, we are told, is scattered in ashes over the country about Strasbourg for scores of miles. It contained 800,000 volumes, with many manuscripts of priceless value, the loss of which can never be repaired.—Boston Advertiser.

☞ For the stallion race at Manchester, only three horses came to the score—Gen. Lyon, Henry Hill, and Col. Cross, Gen. Lyon won easily, in 2:38 1-4, 2:38, 2:41 3-4, Hill second.

To amuse the crowd a running race was improvised, a purse of $40 being offered, a mile and repeat, the second horse to receive $15. Four entered, viz: W. S. Smith, of Nashua, ns. b. m. "Kentucky Belle;" D. J. Rideout, of Nashua, ns. blk. m. "Lady Leland;" Major Bixby, of Francestown, ns. s. g. "Sorrel Dan;" m. Locke, of Barrington, ns. b. g. "Bones." Belle won the first heat in 2:05, Bones second. Next was a dead heat between the Belle and Lady, in 2:08 1-8. The third heat and first money was taken by Belle, the Lady taking second.

In the pacing match the white horse Jerry owned by A. S. Drew, of Great Falls, won in two heats. In the second heat he distanced the field. Time 2:44, 2:30; Jerry astonished everybody, and seemed to be surprised himself.

☞ The full list of awards at the N. E. and N. H. Fair, will be published in the Massachusetts Ploughman, and a copy of that paper sent to every contributor at as early a day as possible.

☞ The Strafford County Fair opened well at Dover on Tuesday, and will continue through Wednesday and Thursday.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?
IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the
AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.
It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.
It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.
One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.75, and will only cover 16 square yds. 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats—thus making a saving of 12 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.
The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.
The sale of these unequaled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the
GROCERY AND PROVISION STORE,
No. 16 and 18 Cabot Street,

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 14, 1870.

THE MAINE ELECTION was a queer affair. In Bangor, usually Republican by 700 majority, the Democrats had it all their owa way, giving Roberts, their candidate for Governor, over 600 majority. Bangor is the residence of Mr. Roberts, and of Mr. Hersey, who was defeated in the Republican Convention for the nomination of a candidate for Governor.

In the State, no canvass was made, and no effort was made to get out a large vote. The apathy in the Republican ranks was increased in some quarters by the pronounced temperance opinions of the Republican candidate, Mr Perham. His supposed endorsement of the constabulary law lost him many votes, especially in the cities and larger towns.

The senatorial question was very much mixed up in the canvass. In ortland, where two Chamberlain and two Morrill men were regularly nominated in the Republican caucus, the Chamberlain men united with the democrats and secured the election of two democrats instead of the two Republican nominees who were friendly to Mr. Morrill. The same thing was done in Winthrop where a Morrill man was nominated. The defeated Chamberlain candidate bolted, and by a coalition with the democrats was chosen. This same species of tactics was resorted to by the Chamberlain men in other towns; but the result of the whole election is entirely satisfactory and gratifying to the republicans.

Hundreds of the Republicans of York County fufilled their declared intention of bolting the nomination of Hon. John Lynch for Congress and a large portion of them voted openly for Mr. Haines, the Democratic candidate. They went in heartily for the County ticket, however, and elected it by a h andsome majority.

There seems to have been a free fight all around throughout the State, and the only strange thing about the matter is that the Republicans made such a clean sweep. On the Senatorial question, the Morrill men behaved the most honorably and we are glad to learn have probably chosen a majority of both branches of the legislature.

We hear that the Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee of York County, on whom devolved the duty of printing the votes for the county, printed many of them with Mr. Lynch's name left out and the balance with Mr. Lynch's name at the top of the ticket, that it might be conveniently cut off. As a strategist, he deserved better success.

We hear of another case of generalship which deserves especial mention. A Republican candidate for Representative in a town in York County, feeling sure of winning, held his vote in reserve until towards the close of the polls, when he cut off the name of Mr. Lynch and voted the rest of the ticket. The act caused some tall swearing among the "faithful," but principle is principle, you know.

Considering the demoralized condition of the Republicans in the campaign just passed, the only reason for their success seems to be that their opponents were too weak to stand alone.

Lynch's majority is the 1st Congressional District is about 1300. The Republican candidates in the other Districts are chosen by from 1500 to 3000 majority, each.

Representatives Elect — Kittery, J. H. Sanborn, Repub.; York, Jos. Bragdon, Jr., Repub., 105 majority; Eliot and South Berwick, Green Jenkins, Dem., 25 maj.; Berwick and No. Berwick, Geo. Goodwin, Repub., 40 maj.

The legislature will have a Republican majority in both branches, rendering sure the choice of a Republican U. S. Senator, probably Hon. Lot N. Morrill.

WAR NOTES.—The King of Prussia says the explosion of the citadel of Leon killed 350 persons, 200 of them being of the Garde Mobile.

Italian troops entered the Papal State, s Monday. It is reported that an arrangement has been made for the people of these States to vote whether the Pope or King Victor Emanuel shall reign over them, both parties to be bound to abide by the result of the plebiscitum.

The Prussian army has halted twenty-five miles from Paris, at the special request of Bismark, to consider the Russo-Austrian proposition for an armistice.

Advices from Marshal Bazaine at Metz report that the garrison is in no immediate danger of distress from famine or assault, the magazines being well stored with provisions and ammunition.

The French ministry has communicated publicly a letter from Marshal McMahon, under date of September 8, from Pourr aus Bois. He says that when his wounds have so far healed as to permit it he shall ask to be removed to some German town.

The Parisians have no hope of peace. The Prussians are again advancing.

☞ The sad accident at the Manchester Fair, by which two horses of great value were killed, caused much regret, not merely because of the great loss of property, but also from sympathy for the poor beasts themselves. The accident occurred while the horses were being exercised, and not during a race. The splendid bay stallion Lexington, owned by John Tyler, of West Lebanon, and the black stallion Lucius Peck, owned by C. C. Smith, of Corinth, Vt., were trotting fast in opposite directions, and as they neared each other, the drivers reined them the same way, and they came together head on, with a terrible shock. Both fell as if shot, and the black never rose, and scarcely breathed again.

The shaft of Lexington's gig pierced the breast of Peck, and penetrating to the region of the heart, he died instantly. The shaft of the other gig was driven far into the breast of Lexington, and one of his fore legs was broken. He bled very freely upon the track, and was at last taken off by several men who lifted him partially from the ground. After amputating the leg, his owner was obliged to kill him. Lexington was a very valuable stallion, 11 years old, and was thought to be worth $10,000. He is of the Messenger breed. Lucius Peck was valued at $5,000.

The accident was caused by a blunder on the part of the driver of Lexington, who was driving the wrong way on the track, and did not keep his wits about him. It is a rule that the driver of a horse going the right way, on meeting with another going the other way, shall keep to the pole, that is, turn to the left. The horse met must also turn to the left, that is, keep on the outside. The driver of Lexington forgot this rule, and turned to the right, as is the usual custom on common roads, and hence the collision.

New Hampshire Items.

As Mr. O. M. Leighton, of Strafford, was removing the stones from the walls of his well, standing on the outside, while the stone was passed up to him by two men in the well, he slipped and fell head first into the well, crushing his skull and injuring him so that he lived but eight hours.

Robert Mack, Esq., a prominent citizen of Londonderry, died at his residence in that town on the 9th inst., aged 86 years. He had been a man of much influence in the town, town clerk, selectman, representative to the legislature, and also a magistrate for more than fifty years. He was from a very long lived stock. A sister, the widow of Hon. David Stiles of Wilton, is still living, at the age of 62 years; and one brother, Dea. Andrew Mack of Gilmanton, is living at 84 years of age. Dea. Daniel Mack, another brother, who resides in Piscataquog, is 82 years of age. The ancestors came from the north of Ireland, and were among the first settlers of Londonderry.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

A GENTLE WHISPER TO MOTHERS.—If unfortunately you have lost your own teeth by neglect or mismanagement, take care that your daughters do not suffer the same penalty from the same cause. See to it that they brush their teeth regularly and thoroughly with SOZODONT, and thereby you will insure them sound and serviceable sets as long as they live.

"SPALDING'S GLUE" handy and useful.

Missionaries and others sojourning in foreign lands should not fail to take with them a good supply of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. It is the most reliable medicine for all purposes there is in the world.

Contagious diseases, such as horse ail, glanders, &c., may be prevented by the use of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders. Persons traveling with horses should take note of this.

CLOTHES WRINGERS.—The Universal Clothes Wringer is believed to be the best cog-wheel machine, as the gears are broad, and will not entirely separate when the large clothes are passing through. This latter is a most valuable feature, for the cogs in other wringers (whether they are on one or both ends of the shaft,) may be thrown apart, and be practically without cogs, when most needed for the large articles.—Boston Cultivator.

A HOUSEHOLD REMEDY.—No family should be without some efficacious remedy for the cure of affections, so universally prevalent, as coughs, colds, sore throat, whooping cough, and croup—some remedy, too, which can be relied upon as safe, sure and certain. Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry combines this desideratum.

☞ A profuse and many times excessively offensive discharge from the nose, with "stopping up" of the nose at times, impairment of the sense of smell and taste, watering or weak eyes, impaired hearing, irregular appetite, occasional nausea, pressure and pain over the eyes, and at times in the back of the head, occasional chilly sensations, cold feet, and a feeling of lassitude and debility, are symptoms which are common to Catarrh, yet all of them are not present in every case. Dr. Sagee's Catarrh Remedy cures Catarrh in its worst form and stages. It is pleasant to use and contains no poisonous or caustic drugs. Sent by mail on receipt of sixty cents. Address R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y. A pamphlet sent free. Sold by druggists.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Chapter of Facts.

Space is valuable in a newspaper, and it is therefore proposed in this advertisement to condense a variety of facts, important to the public, into a small compass. Those facts refer to HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—what that celebrated medicine is, and what it will do. In the first place then, the article is a stimulant, tonic and alterative, consisting of a combination of absolutely pure spirituous agent with the most valuable medicinal vegetable substances that Botanic research has placed at the disposal of the chemist and the physician.

These ingredients are compounded with great care and in such proportions as to produce a preparation which invigorates without exciting the general system, and tones, regulates and controls the stomach, the bowels, the liver and the minor secretive organs. What this great restorative will do must be gathered from what it has done. The case of Dyspepsia, or any other form of indigestion, in which it has been persistently administered without effecting a radical cure is yet to be heard from, and the same may be said of bilious disorders, intermittent fever, nervous affections, general debility, constipation, sick headache, mental despondency, and the peculiar complaints and disabilities to which the feeble are so subject. It purifies all the fluids of the body, including the blood, and the gentle stimulus which it imparts to the nervous system is not succeeded by the slightest reaction. ☞ This is a chapter of facts which readers, for their own sakes, should mark and remember.

For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony to be an invaluable medicine. Sold by all druggists. dawlms1

Mr. Putnam then rose, and in a very neat speech, declined the honor, and recommended Mr. Bragdon for the position—and he was nominated and chosen. The report of the Caucus, from a friend at York, we should have been glad to publish, but for a press of other matters.

—We learn that at the adjourned meeting of the Portsmouth Savings Bank, held on Wednesday, the 7th inst., a change was made in the by-laws, so that from and after the third of January next, the dividends will be at the rate of five per cent. per annum instead of four as it now is.

Also that five hundred dollars can be received from any one depositor instead of three hundred dollars as formerly, and that amount may accumulate by dividends, without limitation.

In this bank depositors who have let their money remain and accumulate from the dividends have received a large return of interest, viz: Deposits remaining 5 years have received 8 1-3 per cent. simple interest; 10 years, 9 per cent.; 15 years, 10 per cent.; 20 years, 12 per cent.—Journal.

THE SALEM VETERANS arrived with the Germania Band at one o'clock on Tuesday, in a special train. The grand music of the Band attracted a large concourse of people. The Veterans on their arrival, marched to the resting place of the late Admiral Farragut, and formed in line before the vault in rear of the Episcopal Church, where they remained with uncovered heads while the Band played a dirge.

The noble Farragut, though dead, lives in the memory of all the people of the country be honored, and this touching tribute shows how warmly the remembrance of the good old Admiral is held in the hearts of his countrymen.

The Veterans resumed their march, after this fitting testimony of respect to the dead, and took carriages at Richards Avenue for the Sagamore, where they are to be the guests of Messrs. Peirce for three days. Their evening, outdoor concerts will attract large audiences during their short stay.

THE LATE MR. BALL.—The Nevada papers speak in the most glowing terms of the deceased. Among others, the Enterprise pays the following high tribute to his memory:—

Death of a Good Citizen.—N. A. H. Ball, than whom the community claimed a no more worthy citizen, died in this city yesterday morning, after a somewhat protracted and painful illness. The life of the deceased was devoted to charity and good works. In church building; in the advancement of popular education; in comforting the afflicted and relieving the distressed; in the creation of a healthy moral tone in society; in all the public and private acts combining to form the character of a true Christian gentleman, N. A. H. Ball stood prominently forth among the best of our citizens.

When want sat at the hearth of the poor, he came to drive it from the threshold. Hunger retreated before the sounds of his footsteps, and the fireless hovel warmed at his entrance. The sick knew the comfort of his presence, and the wavering the value of his counsel.

Although in receipt of a large income for years, he died without the necessity of an administrator. Economical in his personal habits, he devoted the earnings of his hands and the sympathy of a heart abounding in charity to the relief of the suffering. The poor will miss him—sadly miss him when the winter comes; the children will miss him, for he was a father to them all; society will miss him, for it has felt the blessings of his presence. The State will miss him, for he was one of its best and most energetic citizens. The loss of such a man as Mr. Ball makes mourners of an entire community, and long and kindly will the recollections of his good deeds be cherished by those who knew him. Peace and grace go with him to the world of endless day beyond the gates of darkness and of storm!

The citizens of his adopted town gave him a good funeral; and a delegation from the Free Masons in Nevada, accompanied his remains to this his native city. Blessed be his memory.

☞ At the Manchester Fair a great share of the labor on the part of the Society fell upon Col. Geo. W. Riddle of that city, the Treasurer. Gen. Head, the President of the N. H. Society, also greatly aided in the work.

The cattle department was under the immediate charge of Charles H. Hayes of Portsmouth. He performed his work well and received many compliments from the exhibitors of stock for his faithfulness in the discharge of his duties.

The horses were placed in charge of Mr. J. F. Woodbury of Manchester. He filled this place to the entire satisfaction of the exhibitors and with credit to himself. We learn that about fifty tons of the very best hay were consumed at the grounds. About 25 tons of straw were used.

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this line, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security.

These bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par, besides paying about 9 per cent., currency, interest in the meanwhile. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices only return five per cent.; and we regard the security equally safe.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

FOR ALL PURPOSES of a LAXATIVE MEDICINE.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative PILL. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of the remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change these complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PILLS makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus. dawje13eodim

Morning Chronicle.

THE MOTHER OF NAPOLEON I.—Carlo Bonaparte and Letitia Ramolini were his parents. They had loved and been betrothed when she was only 14 years of age; but their families were active political antagonists, and the marriage was deferred for about two years, when the Paoli party, to which Carlo belonged, became absolute masters of Corsica, and active strife ceased. They were wedded in 1766 by the archbishop, and received the blessing of her parents at the nuptials.

Count Marbœuf, the conqueror, was made Governor of Corsica, and Carlo Bonaparte and his family were highest on his list of personal friends. Ten years after that conquest, the Corsican nobles sent Carlo to Paris as their representative in the popular branch of the imperial government of France. Leaving Letitia in charge of their growing family, he took Joseph and Napoleon with him. They crossed the sea to Leghorn and journed to Florence, where Carlo received from the Grand Duke, Leopold, a letter to his sister, Marie Antoinette, the Queen of France. She made Carlo a welcome guests at Versailles, when Napoleon, then ten years old, first looked upon that gorgeous palace of which he was afterward the master. Carlo left Joseph in a school at Autun, and through the influence of Governor Marbœuf he was allowed to place Napoleon in the Military Academy at Brienne, where the afterward eminent Pichegru was one of the instructors.

Six years later a heavy weight of misfortune fell upon Letitia. Carlo was attacked by the same disease which terminated the life of his most illustrious son at St. Helena thirty-six years afterward. He went alone to Montpelier, in France, for advice and remedies, and there he died, in 1785, under the hospitable roof of a girlhood companion of Letitia, the mother of the celebrated Marshal Junot.

When Carlo died, Letitia was not thirty-five years of age, and had been the mother of thirteen children. Five sons and three daughters were yet living—a race of monarchs who occupied thrones and lost them during one of the most wonderful historical dramas, enacted in the space of ten years, the world has ever known. She saw them rise and fall while her tresses were yet dark, and the beauty of her youth yet bloomed on her cheeks and sparkled in her eyes. Her sons were Guiseppe, or Joseph, who was made King of Naples in 1806, and of Spain in 1808; Napoleon, who was made Emperor of the French and disposer of thrones in 1804; Lucius, or Lucien, who alone refused a crown, but accepted a principality, with its title, from the Pope, in 1808; Luigi, or Louis, made King of Holland in 1806, and refused the crown of Spain in 1809; and Girolamia, or Jerome, who was made King of Westphalia in 1807, when that province was erected into a kingdom. The daughters were Mary Ana Eliza, who was created sovereign of Tuscany, with the title of Grand Duchess, in 1809; Carlotta, afterward Marie Pauline, who, as wife of Prince Borghese, became the most illustrious Italian princess of her time; and Caroline Maria Annunciado, the wife of Murat, who became Queen of Naples in 1808.

The young widow of Ajaccio had no reason to dream, in wildest fancy, of the splendors that awaited herself and family. The latter were mostly little children; Jerome, the youngest, an infant in her arms. She was left with scanty means for their support and education. To these she devoted all her energies, with marvellous success. Strength, we have observed, was the prominent feature in her character, and this was displayed in the hour of need. Napoleon once said, "She had the head of a man on the shoulders of a woman. Losses, privations, fatigue, had no effect upon her; she endured all, braved all." These came at times thick and fast. Joseph, ever kind and good, helped his mother with all his might as he grew toward manhood; while Napoleon, a rather dull student in outward expression, was preparing, in the military school at Paris, for that wonderful career which enabled him, by imperial decree, to make sovereigns of his brothers and sisters, and to confer upon his mother, at the age of fifty years, the lofty title of Madame Mere, equivalent to that of Empress Mother, with an income of two hundred thousand dollars a year.—From "Madame Mere," by BESSON J. LOSSING, in Harper's May. for Oct.

☞ Among the famous Horses at the N. E. Fair, was the magnificent stallion Young Morrill, now 21 years old. His most distinguished son, Fearnaught, the fastest stallion in New England, (both are now owned in Boston) has recently trotted his half mile under the saddle in 1:09; and Wm. Woodruff, who rode him, says he could have done it in 1:06—and he had not been driven any for two years, and has served seventy mares this season.

Gen. Lyon, the horse that won the stallion race at Manchester in 2:38, is also a grand son of Young Morrill; and the well-posted editor of the Mirror thinks that Dauntless, the speedy Whitford colt, of Nashua, that trotted in 2:32 1-2 in another race, is a descendant of Young Morrill, also.

Verily, great is the Morrill blood, and Fearnaught is its best representative, so far. F.

—A Missourian visiting Iowa for recreation, amused himself by stealing a horse and shooting a sheriff. His next feat was suspension from a lofty window by the insertion of his neck into the hight of a rope.

FIRST CLASS PIANOS.—The manufacture of pianos in the United States, as is well known, has come to be an enormous business in itself, and the American piano takes precedent over those made in Europe, of late years, whenever and wherever the former is brought into competition with the others.

The well established house of Hallet, Davis & Co., whose splendid instruments have been sent from Boston all over the world, and who can boast of having taken many first prizes at Expositions, upon the intrinsic merits of their fine instruments, still pursues the even tenor of its way, and turns out a first class Piano, in every particular, whether Grand, Semi-Grand, or Square—which thousands who have approved them uniformly declare to be the best in the world.

A gentleman stated to us, on Saturday last, that he purchased a square Piano of Hallet, Davis & Co., for his daughter, in the year 1858, (over twelve years ago,) which has been in constant use since; and he heard the lady remark, within a week, that she would not exchange this instrument to-day for a new one of its class of any piano-maker in this country. The tone has remained wondrously perfect, voluminous, clear, and fine, notwithstanding the fact that this instrument has been continually in use, over a dozen years, (for the lady is a professional teacher), and this is pretty good evidence that H. D. & Co.'s Pianos wear well: a desideratum gained through long experience, and the outlay of heavy capital, by this enterprising house. Whoever may want a good instrument, can rely upon getting it of Hallet, Davis & Co.—Boston Daily News.

It is over forty years since these now so well known pills were first brought to notice by Dr. Duponco, of Paris, during which time they have been extensively and successfully used by some of the leading physicians, with unparalleled success. Ladies in poor health, either married or single, suffering from any of the Complaints peculiar to Females, will find the Duponco Golden Pills invaluable, viz., General Debility, Headache, Paintness, Loss of Appetite, Mental Depression, Pain in the Back and Limbs, Pain in the Loins, Bearing-down Pains, Palpitation of the Heart, Retained, Excessive, Irregular or Painful Menstruation, Rush of Blood to the Head, Dizziness, Dimness of Sight, Fatigue on any slight exertion, and particularly that most annoying, weakening ailment, so common among Females, both married and single, the Leucorrhea or Whites. Females in every period of life will find Duponco's Pills a remedy to aid nature in the discharge of its functions. They invigorate the debilitated and delicate, and by regulating and strengthening the system, prepare the youthful constitution for the duties of life, and when taken by those in middle life or old age they prove a perfect blessing. There is nothing in the pills that can do injury to life or health. Sent in their operation, perpetual in their happy influences upon the Nerves, the Mind and the entire organization.

THE TRUE FAITH.

Who daily puts it into loving deeds
Done for the poor, the sorrowing, the oppressed—
For these are more than creeds;
And, though overblinded reason oft may err,
The heart that loves is faith's interpreter.

The schoolman's subtle skill
Wearies itself with vain philosophies,
That leave the world to grope in darkness still,
Haply, from lies to lies;
But whoso doeth good with heart and might,
Dwells in and is made joyful by the light.

One hand outreached to man,
In helpfulness, the other clings to God,
And thus upheld he walks, through time's brief span,
In ways that Jesus trod;
Taught by His Spirit, and sustained and led,
That life, like His, by love is perfected.

Such faith, such love are thine!
Creeds may be false—at best, misunderstood;
But whoso reads the autograph divine
Of Goodness doing good,
Need never err therein; come life, come death,
It copies His—the Christ of Nazareth!

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the
AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.
It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.
It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.
One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds, 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats—thus making a saving of 12 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.
The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.
The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, with the sign, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the

HAIR VIGOR,
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved by its application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 15, 1870.

Nansouti's cavalry escaped miraculously from Sedan, and has arrived in Paris.

Portugal has recognized the republic. Peace negotiations have failed.

☞ The Concord Monitor states that James R. Kendrick, Esq., will be continued Superintendent of the Concord Railroad, by the new Receivers Stearns and Smyth—and well adds, that "this will be good news to the public." True, but no more than was to be expected, for Mr. Kendrick stands very high as a Railroad manager, and would be a much greater loss to the Road, than the position would to him.

Mr. Todd, also, Superintendent of the Northern Road, we have always regarded as a very efficient officer, as he certainly is a very courteous gentleman; and by the contract between the two Roads, the two Superintendents act mainly in concert, and are a very strong team.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors; On the 7th, Mr. Max J. DeRochemont topped, bound, carried out and bunched 2 acres of corn, in 14 hours.

One acre to top, is supposed to be a day's work; and two acres to bind, another, and one half day to carry out and bunch, or shock. He also bound two acres and carried out one acre, in half a day. We want to see it beat.

Yours, GRAVELLY RIDGE.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT IN ENGLAND. The train know as the Irish mail, from Holyhead, Wales, when entering Tamworth, Sunday night, was thrown from the track by a misplaced switch, and the entire train, mostly composed of passenger coaches, was plunged into the Trent river. The bodies of the engineer and four passengers have been recovered. The loss of life was fearful.

☞ Supt. Chase of the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth R. R., who has a knowledge of the public wants, and desires to please the patrons of the road, allows all trains to stop ten minutes at Kennebunk for refreshments, where a fine dinning saloon is located, and passengers have ample time to obtain a lunch. It is similar to the dining room at Exeter, on the Boston & Maine road.

NAVAL.—Admiral Melancthon Smith will soon be transferred from the command of the Washington Navy Yard to the command of that of Brooklyn, relieving Admiral Godon, who will become Fort Admiral at New York, in place of Admiral Stringham, retired. Admiral Goldsborough will take command of the Washington Navy Yard.

☞ According to the New York Standard, the Maine people must have annexed Portsmouth at the time they grabbed the Navy Yard. The Standard publishes a despatch stating that the election here "was quite exciting owing to the many splits in the Republican ticket on the Chamberlain-Morrill Senatorial question."

☞ The Veteran Cadets of Salem, now at Sagamore, will break camp at 2 o'clock, P. M., to-day, and return home in the evening train. This is the third encampment they have held at this delightful resort. The fine concerts by the Germania Band have delighted hundreds during their stay.

☞ It is said that the Pepperell and Laconia Companies at Biddeford, had balances in the hands of Francis Skinner & Co., at their recent failure, and the company will lose heavily thereby. This must discourage Mr. Treasurer Haines more than his recent political short coming.

☞ The naval officers of this Station had a clam-bake at Dover Point on Wednesday and on their return marched in procession to the Rockingham House, to the music of the Marine Band.

THE SALISBURY GATHERING is to come off on the 21st inst. Steamer Appledore will make a trip to Salisbury Beach from this city on that occasion. Tickets for the round trip, $1.

WILL GOOD FARMING PAY?—At the Farmers' Meeting, of the New England Fair, the subject of discussion was as to whether farming is a profitable employment.

Dr. Loring, the President of the Society, presided at the meeting, and introduced the exercises of the evening. He spoke of the uses of agricultural societies. If there have been no benefits from them, then the money which the Legislatures of New Hampshire have spent had been in vain. He referred to the state of manufacturing and farming in the early part of the century. In those days it was easy to raise good crops. They could raise 130 bushels of corn and 600 bushels of potatoes to the acre. This interest was the foundation of financial prosperity at that time. Now, agriculture must be carried on in a different manner. There must be special farming to be profitable. Nobody has ever failed to succeed if he gave his attention to the raising of the best breeds of cattle and sheep. There is nothing in the matter of farming which will fail if it is carried on with care and industry.

In this connection the speaker gave some interesting facts which illustrated the great profits which had been secured by those farmers who had given their special attention to one branch of farming, such as the raising of cattle, horses, vegetables, etc. In Marblehead on one of the poorest pieces of land, Mr. Gregory has made a fortune in seed raising.

Farming is just as accurate and scientific a business as any branch of industry whatever. There is no such word as failure in farming when pursued in a scientific manner.

Some people talk of fancy or scientific farming with a sneer; but they might as well sneer at scientific carpentering or cabinet making. Many people are saying that farming must be given up in New England; but there cannot be a more pernicious sentiment. These lands must be occupied. These hills in Massachusetts and New Hampshire are waiting to be occupied. There is nothing which can be raised which is not waited for at market. The farmers in the vicinity of Lowell, Lynn and Salem have more than they can do to feed the people of those cities. Farmers can combine like other business men to promote their interest.

John D. Lyman of Exeter said he believed that farming in New England has always paid, and now pays better than before. He referred to the popular belief that our forests are being depleted, and said that, while men mourn over the fact, they in the next breath will talk how the farms are being neglected and growing up to bushes again. He spoke of the increasing value of agricultural products, while the number of farmers has decreased.

In these days our farms are cultivated with a much less number of men and with far less labor; and yet more is raised. Our farmers' boys must be educated in a scientific manner, just as soldiers must be trained if they hope to conquer. Where would Prussia have been to-day, if her soldiers had not been trained for their work in the field?

He said he was sorry that our New Hampshire Agricultural College had only nine students. Farming has been sadly abused. Farmers do not respect themselves as they should, and they do not compel others to respect them. If they will follow this profession and study it as lawyers and physicians do theirs, they will never fail to succeed.

Mr. Hayes of Madbury said he must differ from the sentiments of the last speaker. He thought we were peculiarly a manufacturing people. We can manufacture implements which are better adapted to the West. Our young men go to the West and South because farming here cannot compete with other interests. Our young men are as intelligent as any, and they find that farming is more remunerative in other localities than here.

Mr. Brown of Hampton said he gave all his attention to grass raising, and found it the most profitable.

Mr. Appleton of Ipswich, Mass., gave his experience in draining. He had a tract of poor bog land which he drained. He thought our farmers did not take mercantile views of their calling. They must be more enterprising and not look to immediate returns, as their fathers did. Investments must be made for future returns.

Mr. Scammon of Maine spoke of draining. Next to swamp lands, clay lands need draining most. The nature of the soil is such that water cannot be readily absorbed. He had laid down a drain on a farm, and now raised 160 tons of hay, where only 40 tons grew before. Small farmers who work but five months in the year, and feed out all their crops the rest of the year, must not expect to succeed. They do not follow their calling persistently, by the bell, as the manufacturers do. They must employ their time in the winter in devising the best means to cultivate their farms.

Ex-Gov. Brown of Massachusetts said there were many towns in which there is no manufacturing or any other business, and yet the people are thrifty and rich. They live well, educate their children, and are prosperous. Now if farming is not profitable, how do they do all these things?

J. D. Lyman said he knew of a town in New Hampshire which is not a very good agricultural locality, and there is no manufacturing, the only business being farming, and yet there are $500 to every man, woman and child in it. This cannot be said of any manufacturing city or town in the world. It is important to know just what crops to devote our lands to, whether corn or grass, or sheep raising. The speaker said the great lesson we have learned this dry season, is that on our lands which have been drained the crops have not greatly suffered.

Mr. Scott of Newmarket, said he bought 22 acres of land in that town. He owned a soap factory and had a plenty of leached ashes. He thought he would attempt to raise wheat. His neighbors said that wheat was a failure in this State and tried to dissuade him. He raised great crops of wheat and grass, and he was sure that farming pays.

W. W. Sheffield, of New London, Conn., said that the farmers have a good deal of difficulty in investing their surplus money. Instead of spending it to improve their farms, they put it into bank stock. In 1861 he bought three acres of land for $1200. He bought a large quantity of manure and plowed it in 16 inches deep. He raised 97 bushels of corn to the acre, and this year 9 tons of hay. He was so much encouraged that he bought an old worn out farm in the neighborhood of New London. It contained 73 acres.

AN INTERESTING MEETING.—Henry Butler, Esq., formerly of Nottingham, but now of Hampden, Maine, has recently been on a visit among his friends in his old neighborhood. He looks and appears remarkably fresh and healthy, and is now very active and intelligent for one of his age, being in his eighty-eighth year. He is the only brother of Sally, the wife of Mr. John Haley of Lee, and his principal visit has been, as a matter of course, with them and family. Mr. Haley is eighty-seven years, and his wife Sally eighty-five years, so that the combined ages of these three extraordinary persons is two hundred and fifty-nine years and three months.

Mr. and Mrs. Haley have been married sixty-two years, and have had seven children, all living; they have almost always enjoyed remarkably good health, with all the necessary comforts and conveniences of life, and their serene and benignant countenances are indexes to peace, comfort and satisfaction that reign in their quiet hearts. This excellent couple have raised a remarkable family of children, no one of which ever planted a thorn in their pillow or gave them any cause for undue anxiety in regard to their conduct or condition in life.

These seven children are all temperance people, all live on their own homesteads, all within two hours ride of the paternal roof, and all with a few individual exceptions, around the festive board every Thanksgiving Day have met for thirty years past, thereby rejoicing their hearts and receiving their blessing and benediction.

Samuel A. Haley and Benjamin F. Haley of Newmarket, are of this family, but as they are so well known throughout the County and State, their tact for business and untiring industry, and the great and various improvements they have made in extending and beautifying our village, are so apparent to all, nothing further need be added to this lengthy communication. The writer has been acquainted with this family forty-five years.—DAVID MURRAY, Newmarket, N. H.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

☞ The Best Teas and Coffees are those from the ORIENTAL TEA CO., of Boston. H. M. Smith is the Agent in Portsmouth, at his Lunch Rooms in Ladd Street. Pure Teas and Coffees at the lowest Boston prices. je25dawtf

A GENTLE WHISPER TO MOTHERS.—If unfortunately you have lost your own teeth by neglect or mismanagement, take care that your daughters do not suffer the same penalty from the same cause. See to it that they brush their teeth regularly and thoroughly with SOZODONT, and thereby you will insure them sound and serviceable sets as long as they live.

A HOUSEHOLD REMEDY.—No family should be without some efficacious remedy for the cure of affections, so universally prevalent, as coughs, colds, sore throat, whooping cough, and croup—some remedy, too, which can be relied upon as safe, sure and certain. Dr Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry combines this desideratum.

☞ A profuse and many times excessively offensive discharge from the nose, with "stopping up" of the nose at times, impairment of the sense of smell and taste, watering or weak eyes, impaired hearing, irregular appetite, occasional nausea, pressure and pain over the eyes, and at times in the back of the head, occasional chilly sensations, cold feet, and a feeling of lassitude and debility, are symptoms which are common to Catarrh, yet all of them are not present in every case. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures Catarrh in its worst form and stages. It is pleasant to use and contains no poisonous or caustic drugs. Sent by mail on receipt of sixty cents. Address R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y. A pamphlet sent free. Sold by druggists.

A subject that should engross the most serious attention of parents, is the proper education of their children. We would warn all parents to give their sons a good chance to learn of the practical affairs of life. Make this the main feature of their training, and let the more ornamental branches be supplemental to it. The superior advantages afforded by such an institution as the Bryant and Stratton college of Boston, advertised in another column, is beyond question one of inestimable value to every young man.

TO THE WEAK, THE WORN, AND THE WEARY, the Editor of the Boston Recorder says, "We can most unhesitatingly recommend the Peruvian Syrup, a protected solution of the protoxide of iron, to all the weak, the worn, and the weary, having richly experienced its benefits. It possesses all the qualities claimed for it by its proprietor.

The wife of Socrates was said to be a great scold. Had her husband furnished her with Renne's Pain-Killing Magic Oil to cure a painful toothache and headache, she would, no doubt, have been one of the best women of that age.

Missionaries and others sojourning in foreign lands should not fail to take with them a good supply of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. It is the most reliable medicine for all purposes there is in the world.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Chapter of Facts.

Space is valuable in a newspaper, and it is therefore proposed in this advertisement to condense a variety of facts, important to the public, into a small compass. Those facts refer to HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—what that celebrated medicine is, and what it will do. In the first place then, the article is a stimulant, tonic and alterative, consisting of a combination of an absolutely pure spirituous agent with the most valuable medicinal vegetable substances that Botanic research has placed at the disposal of the chemist and the physician.

These ingredients are compounded with great care, and in such proportions as to produce a preparation which invigorates without exciting the general system, and tones, regulates and controls the stomach, the bowels, the liver and the minor secretive organs. What this great restorative will do must be gathered from what it has done. The case of dyspepsia, or any other form of indigestion, in which it has been persistently administered without effecting a radical cure is yet to be heard from, and the same may be said of bilious disorders, intermittent fever, nervous affections, general debility, constipation, sick headache, mental disorders, and the peculiar complaints and disabilities to which the feeble are so subject. It purifies all the fluids of the body, including the blood, and the gentle stimulus which it imparts to the nervous system is not succeeded by the slightest reaction. This is a simple chain of facts which manufacturers, for their own sakes, should mark and remember.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

Physicians of the first respectability recommend it as a most effectual preparation for the extinction of pain. It is not only the best remedy ever known for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c., but for Dysentery or Cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency and rapidity of action. In the great cities of India, and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, and other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. Sold by all druggists. dawlms1

KITTERY, Sept. 14.

Shantyville was the scene of an old fashioned row, Tuesday evening. A horse had been stolen at Great Falls, and Mr. Charles W. Cottle had the notice, and went down through the place to see what could be seen. He and James Lord were surrounded by a lot of Marines, and brick bats and pistols were freely used. In a short time the citizens of Kittery had collected. Sheriff C. H. Bartlett and Constable Richmond Philbrick arrested one Geo. Lewis alias Charles Williams, a deserter, for stealing the horse, and one other man for resisting the law, and the tumult speedily subsided.

Six children from the Children's Home of Boston, sang at the M. E. Church, Tuesday evening, and there was a lecture by the Superintendent.

Rev. Mr. Bicknell is giving a course of evening lectures at Armory Hall, of a very interesting character. These lectures are doing much toward liberalizing the minds of the people.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

FAMILY GOVERNMENT.—No subject is more intimately connected with domestic happiness than family government. Correct government requires the exercise of knowledge and good judgment. When we reflect upon the state of family discipline a century, or even half a century ago, we have not a very exalted opinion of christian civilization in this country at former periods. But many of the cruel punishments then sanctioned by laws, have since been abolished. The question now arises, have we no further improvements to make—no further advances in civilization? Our position is, that corporal punishments in families and in schools should be discountenanced, prohibited, as being disgraceful to the age. They are in the best regulated, and best governed families, and in nearly all our best schools in the State.

To punish a child before it is capable of reasoning, or knowing the difference between right and wrong, is cruelty. Even our Northern Indians, as published by a lady missionary among them, do not allow of corporal punishment of their children. In conversation with a learned Calvinistic clergyman,—an order that holds to total depravity, or that the devil is in the infant at its birth,—he said that he began to inflict corporal punishment upon his children at four years of age. Our reply was that it was barbarous cruelty. Now we think the devil entered into the priest after he arrived at manhood, and not into his child.

Corporal punishment is attended with no beneficent effect upon youth. It is the mind of youth, or adults, which governs the baby and all its actions. How absurd is the supposition that a good or useful idea can be beat into a child's head by a rod! Corporal punishment may induce youth to hate their parents, and remember it too, through life. But when they love and respect their parents, their admonitions will be respected, remembered, and have a salutary effect. The difficulty of carrying our doctrine into effect, is the ignorance of the lowest class of society. Many of them have been severely punished by their rough parents, and they follow the example in respect to their own children. They are too ignorant to reason with them, and punish the mind instead of the body. When children are capable of reasoning, they should be taught what is right and what is wrong, and when guilty of misdemeanors, they should be affectionately reproved. Such admonitions, affecting the mind, will have an enduring effect. "Just as the twig is bent, the tree will be inclined." A school teacher can easily tell whether his pupils have been under proper government at home. His only trouble is with those whose parents have not trained up their children in the way they should go. This is an age of wonderful progress—let it extend to family government—to all our domestic relations, and all seminaries of learning.

There is in this city, and some other places, a low, ignorant class, mostly foreigners, passionate, especially when under the influence of liquor, who claim a right to beat and bruise their wives. Let them be informed, that at a recent term of our Supreme Court, the Chief Justice, in his charge to the Grand Jury, stated the law that if a man strikes his wife, he ought to be indicted and punished. The same law is applicable to parents guilty of cruel punishment of any of their children. REFORM.

Upon the death of Ex-President Lord, who for thirty-five years was chief in the counsels of old Dartmouth, all exercises were suspended throughout the College, by order of the Faculty. ☞ Per request of our correspondent "Danger," of yesterday, and for the satisfaction of many others, and to show that it is not such a fearful or unusual document, after all—we shall to-morrow publish the original Charter of the Portsmouth Aqueduct Company. As to the paying 10 per cent. on cost of larger mains for fire use, would not this be better than for the City to invest the money for the outlay? And it is well to remember, that during all the years of the Company, the City has never paid a dollar for water for public uses, as is the rule elsewhere. And why not, as well as for gas or other commodity?

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this line, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security.

These bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par, be sides paying about 9 per cent., currency, interest in the meanwhile. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices only return five per cent.; and we regard the security equally safe.

THE ISLES OF SHOALS. — By Kate Field.—Whatever theories may be advanced to throw doubt upon the existence of Pocahontas—and her mythical nature is not unlikely, as she was altogether too good to live—no one need attempt to bring gallant John Smith into dispute, or the Isles of Shoals will hurl themselves at the impious iconoclast. Why? Because—and here history begins—if not the author of their being, he is, at least, their godfather, for he it was who discovered them and gave them a name — Smith's Isles — which name, in 1629, was changed to the Isles of Shoals, not because of the shallowness of the surrounding waters, for deep sea soundings may be found off all the islands, but on account of the shoals of fish that frequented the neighborhood.

So John Smith, as well as Christopher Columbus, is deprived of a just right. Columbus must be satisfied with ten miles square of the continent that he took the trouble to seek, while Jo n Smith is not allowed so much as a rock in the ocean upon which to inscribe his name. That is what people get for braving the dangers of the deep for the benefit of what are playfully called their kind.

Yes, as far back as March 3, 1614, Capt. John Smith sailed from London with an outfit of two vessels — a ship and bark—on a voyage of discovery to the northern part of the Western Hemisphere. He sailed with the prestige of his brilliant Virginia reputation full upon his head, and, in the employ of merchant traders, went forth to discover, barter, and colonize. Steering straight for the Sagadahock, he there built seven boats with which to explore the coast from the Penobscot to Cape Cod. It was during this expedition that Smith, who took but eight out of 45 men with him, discovered the Isles of Shoals; and to-day you can be shown a good sized cairn, on Appledore's highest point, that Capt. Smith is said to have erected as a signal.

How many islands are there? In the words of the poet, the islands might exclaim, if they could, "We are seven," nor have any gone to heaven, being as firm as the continent itself. These seven sisters are called Star—on which is Gosper, the only town among them—White Island, a mass of rocks, Londonder's or Lounging Island, Duck, Hog, Smutty-Nose and Cedar Islands. Star Island is three-fourths of a mile long from N. W. to S. E., and half a mile wide. White Island somewhat carries out one's idea of a straight line, being three-fourths of a mile in one direction and little or nothing in any other. Loudoner's or Lounging Island is probably so called because it is as unlike anything a Londoner would fancy or a lounger admire, as it is possible for the mind to conceive. It is five-eighths of a mile long.

Duck Island is three miles from the group and stands to the North all bleak and bare, saving in roses, morning glories, elder flowers and strawberries that scent the air and change what would otherwise be a solitary wilderness into something lovable. It is the terror of sailors, who give its numberless rocks and ledges a wide berth even to the best of weather. It is seven-eighths of a mile long, while Smutty-Nose, or more euphoniously Hayley's Island, is a mile long from East to West and nearly half a mile wide. Cedar Island is as innocent of cedars as a bundle or rocks one-third of a mile long can be, and Hog Island bears not the faintest resemblance to the particularly marine animal to which it is indebted for its misnomer. There is nothing like calling things by their wrong names, especially when the name is so suggestive of romance and the sea.

It may have been that the island derived its appellation from swine rather on the island than in it; yet this hypothesis is impossible, as it reminds one of a curious memorial drawn up in 1647, being "the humble petition of Richard Cutts and John Cutting," showing "that contrary to an order or act of court, which says, 'No woman shall live on the Isles of Shoals,' John Reynolds has brought his wife hither with an intention to live here and abide. He also hath brought upon Hog Island a great stock of goats and swine, which, by destroying much fish, do great damage to your petitioner and others; and also spoil the spring of water upon that island, rendering it unfit for any manner of use, which affords the only relief and supply to all the rest of the islands. Your petitioners therefore pray that the act of court may be put in execution for the removal of all women from inhabiting there; and that said Reynolds may be ordered to remove his goats and swine from the islands without delay; and, as in duty bound is your petitioners' prayer."

Strange as it may seem, the court failed to see what women had to do with the misdemeanors of swine and goats, and only passed sentence on so much of this extraordinary petition as referred to the quadrupeds. Reynolds was commanded to remove them from Hog Island within 20 days, while his wife was told that she might "enjoy the company of her husband if no further complaint come from her." Galileo was quite right. The world does move, for it is to the poetry of a fair woman who has lived the greater part of her life on the isles, that they, and especially Hog Island, owe much of their modern celebrity.

But Hog Island is gradually living down its birth-right by the adoption of the name Appledore, taken from an English port in the County of Kent, which, in 893, was invaded by the Normans who, according to Ethelweed's Chronicles, amused themselves by burning a castle. In 1661 this name was given to all the islands, which were then incorporated into one town; but Appledore died with the town, until resuscitated by the owner of Hog Island. Appledore is one mile in length from E. to W. and five-eights of a mile across. Larger than the other islands, it is the one upon which human beings desire to be stranded, for here Appledore House offers a genial welcome, and no ancient and fish-like smell assails fastidious nostrils, as is the case at Gosport. Appledore House is monarch of all it surveys, for, with the exception of a dismantled fisherman's cottage, not another house is visible. This island, together with Haley's, Duck and Cedar, belong to Maine, while Star, White, and Loudoner's are included in the territory of New Hampshire.

Looking at these isles through modern spectacles, it seems hardly creditable that they should have been thickly populated two centuries ago; yet it is just as true as that sleepy, beautiful Newport was once the largest seaport in New England. In those days of Indians and tomahawks, islands possessed virtues which are no longer appreciated.

The Shoals were an aggravation to the brave Red Man. They were remote from the main land, and the intermediate water could not be depended upon; so scalps were safer there than on the coast. This is one reason why the Islands were early inhabited. The second attraction consisted of fish. The Shoals have always been noted for their fisheries, which constitute their only trade, and it was here that in colonial times the dun fish was cured in so celebrated a manner as known in Spain and throughout the Mediterranean. In 1745, when other articles of food could be bought for a song, a quintal of dun fish would sell for a guinea. The art of curing these fish was then considered to be peculiar to the Shoals, but since then all New England is equally wise, and salt cod is as familiar as household words, and as cheap as most people's sympathy.

Among the early settlers at The Shoals were William Pepperell of Cornwall, England, and Mr. Gibbons from Topsham. Both of these enterprising men carried on large fisheries for 20 years, and it was during Pepperell's last year at the Shoals that his son, afterward Sir William Pepperell—"the most famous man Maine ever produced"—was born. Pepperell and Gibbons left the Shoals at the same time, their course being determined by the direction which their staves took when allowed to fall from a perpendicular position. Pepperell cast his lot at Kittery.

The original islanders were remarkable alike for industry and intelligence. In 1640 Hog Island could boast of between 20 and 30 families, and it is asserted on good authority that the first meeting-house and school-house in the Province were erected here. "Gentlemen from some of the principal towns on the sea-coast" sent their sons here for literary instruction. Among them, I am told, came Sir William Pepperell. Hayley's Island had a court-house. In 1640 Appledore could send 10 or 12 deputies to the General Court, and in 1642 they were strong enough to revolt against the attempt made by Massachusetts to exercise authority over them. Very pious and learned were the clergymen, who in those days taught the Islanders the ways of righteousness. Foremost among them was Rev. John Brock, who for 12 years from 1650 "gave a high relish to public worship." He believed, or the Islanders believed, or both believed, that the Lord lent a willing ear to Rev. Brock's prayers, in proof of which several anecdotes are adduced.

A fisherman of good standing having lost his boat in a storm—a boat that had done good service in conveying the Islanders to Sunday service—bewailed his fate to the Reverend Brock, who made answer: "Go home contented, good Sir, I'll mention the matter to the Lord; to-morrow you may expect to find your boat." The pastor sent up a prayer, and the next day the boat was brought up from the bottom by the flukes of an anchor! On another occasion, one Arnold's child about six year's of age, lay nigh unto death. Believing that while there is life there is hope, Mr. Brock gave vent to fervent prayer, concluding with the following words: "O Lord, be pleased to give some token before we leave prayer that thou, wilt spare the child's life. Until it be granted we cannot leave thee." The child sneezed, and finally recovered.

Other godly men abided at the Shoals in those flourishing days. Yet still the ungodly occasionally crept in, as when certain pirates made a descent upon the Isles, and gave several Shoalites the choice between being hung and jumping up three times and damning Cotton Mather at every jump. Human nature is weak. Life is sweet even to Shoalites, and the consequences of these two conditions was that Cotton Mather was damned more than, in all probability, he has ever been since.

Such was life at the Shoals until the Revolution, when Red Coats devastated the Isles by levying taxes, appropriating whatever they could lay their hands upon, and impressing able-bodied men into the service of Great Britain. Insults and injuries became intolerable, and soon the Shoalites were summoned to the main land. 'Twas not long before the Isles were left to the birds of the air, saving Star Island, where a small hamlet has always been kept alive; but so changed did the inhabitants become in these 25 years of war and neglect, that in 1800 the Isles of Shoals were an object of interest to the Boston "Society for the Propagation of the Gospel among the Indians, Heathen, and others," and Reverend Mr. Tyng, whom Washington appointed Collector of the port of Newburyport, in 1799, used his influence to send a missionary with religious instruction to these "heathens and others."

Quite a lengthy correspondence has been preserved, wherein the course of this work is traced to the rebuilding of the meeting-house which had been burned down, and the general condition of Gosport described. This was the epoch of decline and fall. Nevertheless, the meeting-house got built, missionaries went among the degenerate Shoalites, and illumination gradually set in. Colonial prosperity was never to repeat itself. Hayley's Island would never have another Court House, nor would extensive salt works ever again rear their heads. Hog Island was "as barren as an exclamatory O." Of all the houses that once stood upon its rocky foundations, not one stone lay upon another, and of its former 600 inhabitants, none remained saving those who had gone to sleep in their graves.

So the Shoals slumbered on until 30 years ago, when a Democratic politician, who had represented New Hampshire in Congress, and made the discovery that life was a Dead Sea fruit, cut adrift from the main land, came to White Island with his family and there took charge of the Light-House. Seven or eight years had passed before Mr. Laighton made any change in his occupation, and then, purchasing Hog and Hayley Islands, he went to live on the latter. Conceiving the excellent idea of building a hotel on Hog Island, the thought was father to the deed, and thus to Hon. T. B. Laighton, ex-member of Congress, we owe the redemption of the Isles of Shoals and the restorative of the pretty name Appledore. Year after year Mr. Laighton made improvements, and year after year he saw the popularity of Appledore increase. In all the 30 years he never set foot upon the continent, and now his bones lie beneath a granite shaft, hewn out of the sea-girt rock to which he had so tenaciously clung. The mantle of the father has fallen upon two sons, who preserve the old regime intact.—N. Y. Tribune.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made no fewer than 80 applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.'

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having their claims fairly and fearlessly bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

FOR ALL PURPOSES of a LAXATIVE MEDICINE,

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative PILL. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends; and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, they can be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken; it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often adhere, among those to whom health is valuable. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PILLS makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus. dawje21eod3m

NOTHING LIKE GRAMMAR.—Nothing like Grammar! Better go without a cow than go without that. There are numberless "professors" who go "tramp, tramp, tramp, my boys!" around the country, peddling a weak article, by which "in twenty days" they guarantee to set a man thoroughly up in the English language. An instance in point comes from Greenville, Alabama, where a "professor" had labored with the youth of that people, and taught them to dote on grammar according to "Morris" system. During one of the lectures the sentence, "Mary milks the cow," was given out to be parsed. Each word has been parsed save one, which fell to Bob L—, a sixteen-year-old, near the foot of the class, who commenced thus: "Cow is a noun, feminine gender, singular number, third person, and stands for Mary." "Stands for Mary!" said the excited professor. "How do you make that out?" "Because," answered the noble pupil, "it the cow didn't stand for Mary, how could Mary milk her?"—Hasper's Mag. for Oct.

AN ASTONISHED MINISTER.—In a small city, not far distance from the "Hub," resides a dentist named Brown. He received an order from his beloved pastor for a set of false teeth. The work was executed promptly and the pet shepherd of his pet flock called in the appointed time to receive them. Brown fixed them in his reverend customer's mouth, when the latter, stepping to the glass to see the effect, said slowly and distinctly:—

"Jesus Christ! Jesus Christ!"

Now Brown is more noted for his quickness of temper and profanity than for his piety; and hearing his customer speak in such a manner his ire was quickly aroused.

"Blast it!" he exclaimed, "if you don't like the teeth, you needn't take them, but there is no necessity of your swearing about it."

The astonished minister drew back.

"My dear sir," he said, "I was not swearing about the teeth; but for ten years I have not been able to pronounce my beloved Saviour's name distinctly; I was only trying your teeth."

THE GRANITE STATE.—The remark of Edward Everett, so often alluded to by the natives of New Hampshire, may seem rather high praise to those not familiar with the scenes. He said: "I have been something of a traveller in our own country, and in Europe have seen most that is attractive, from the Highlands of Scotland to the Golden Horn of Constantinople, from the summit of the Hartz Mountain to the fountain of Vaucluse, but my eye has yet to rest on a lovelier scene than that which smiles around you as you sail from Wiers Landing to Centre Harbor."

There is said to be a representation of the name of Foss in Strafford to the extent of seventy. If every name was as prolific, the census of this State would not have shown a decrease. Hannah Foss of Strafford Blue Hill has not only been industrious for the last ninety-three years, but keeps at it yet, doing heaps of knitting and mending for the Fosses, great and small.

In Dover, one Dan. Buckley, not he of minstrel fame, made a wager of $20 that he could take an eight pound lump of ice and carry it in his right hand about a mile, without dropping. Whether the fun lay in the slippery nature of the burden, or half freezing his hand, we do not learn, but Dan. did it.

There is a great increase in the number of students admitted at Phillips' Exeter Academy, this autumn, and the school will be larger than ever before, with more than 150 pupils. This school has had but two head-masters for a period of 82 years,—Dr. Abbott from 1788 to 1838, and Dr. Soule ever since.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?
IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the
AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.
It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.
It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.
One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds, 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint, only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats,—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.
The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.
The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the

HAIR VIGOR,
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 16, 1870.

WAR NOTES.—Minister Washburne telegraphs from Washington that Paris has 300,000 defenders.

On Wednesday the work of desolation began on a grand scale around Paris. Vast columns of smoke are reported as rising to the north and east of the capital. Many houses in St. Dennis were on fire. The bridge at St. Cloud was blown up. The fine bridge at Neuilly, one of the handsomest in France, is mined, ready to be blown up.

MAINE ELECTION. — Returns have been received from 220 towns, throwing about two-thirds of the vote of the Senate, in which Perham has 38,101; Roberts, 31,330; Perham's majority 6771.

81 Republican and 29 Democratic Representatives are so far reported elected, a Democratic gain of 7 from last year.

☞ A medical man, connected with the Prussian army, has sent the following statement of the Prussian losses to a London surgeon:—In the battle of Wissembourg, Reichshoffen, Forbach, Spickeren, Borny, Gravelotte, Mars la Tour and Rezonville, 75,605 killed, prisoners and missing; 97,050 wounded, and a number that died from disease and numberless skirmishes, will make the total number to be deducted from the German force which marched into France 180,000.

☞ On the 21st ultimo, the American steamer City of Yeddo exploded her boilers immediately before sailing from Yeddo for Yokohama, instantly killing 15 persons. 62 natives who were wounded have since died, and 64 more are still under medical treatment. The wife and child of Rev. Dr. Cornes, an American missionary, were instantly killed by the explosion.

☞ The first Savings Bank incorporated in Maine was the Saco & Biddeford Savings Institution. The "South Berwick Bank" was the first Bank incorporated in the State—1822.

Kennebunk was the first town incorporated in Maine—June 10, 1820.

—About ten o'clock one night last week, while the up train on the Northern Road was running at full speed, near Grafton, quite a flutter arose among the females, which lasted for some time. The male creatures were invited to go into another car, and did so without urging. By the time it was deemed proper for them to return, a new passenger with powerful lungs had been added to those already on board entitled to be deadheaded. So much for the effects of "consolidation."—Patriot.

☞ Mayor Hall of New York in a message has urged the aldermen to authorize a new census to be taken by the police, on the ground that the federal census is incorrect.

☞ Selma, Alabama, has increased over 100 per cent. in population. It now has 6,485; in 1860, 3179; increase, 3308. Montgomery has increased 10 per cent., and Mobile 40 per cent.

BARK ITEM. — There are 6,000,000 dogs in this country, and every one has his day. Ergo, the world will not end for 16,000 years or more.

☞ The census of forty-eight southern counties in Illinois, shows the population to be 963,135 against 655,479 in 1860.

☞ The United States flagship Franklin is an object of attention and curiosity in England.

☞ Wendell Phillips has accepted the temperance nomination for Governor of Massachusetts.

THE CHINESE are preparing to fight England and France. They are still on their missionary work.

—Codfish as a dish is good; but as an aristocracy, it is open to objection.

HAVE WE A MEMBER OF CONGRESS? It is interesting to observe that while the large appropriations which the Massachusetts members got for the construction of their forts in Boston harbor are being expended, our M. C. gets not a cent for our forts since he has been in Congress, and has succeeded so far in keeping our Post without troops, while this week in Boston harbor, troops have to be moved from Fort Independence and sent to other forts in the same harbor to make room for Engineers. Mr. Ela's predecessor was able to influence the retention of troops at Fort Constitution, and also to get appropriations for the construction of the Forts; and at Portland, Mr. Lynch has troops and construction at the same time. Mr. Ela's "forte" is economy. He believes in letting things take their course, and taxing the bonds, and as Portsmouth, in a great degree, brought forward his nomination, she must be reconciled to his retirement at the close of the present term. In the meantime, let us put in nomination some one who can and will have an influence in Congress, and let us be used as well as our neighbors, East and West, in the matter of troops and Fortifications. W.

As it is our custom to print communications sent us from responsible sources, without by any means endorsing them, we give an insertion to the foregoing. Our columns are open to the discussion of this or any other question of public interest, and as "W." is so pointed in his remarks, we hope some friend of Mr. Ela will present the other side of the question.

POLICE BUSINESS.—Wednesday.—Geo. Batchelder, drunk, was arrested by officers Mortimer and Taylor. Judge Odell fined him $8.76, for want of which he was sent to the House of Correction.

Thos. Burns, also drunk, was arrested by officers Barzantee and Stearns. Fined $8.76, and paid.

Annie Moulton, a deserter from the House of Correction, was re-arrested by officers Taylor and J. S. Rand at the "House of Blazes" and sent back to serve out her term.

Four men were arrested by officers Entwistle and Thos. E. Rand, for larceny, and for want of evidence, were discharged.

WHO ARE THEY?—Somebody, yea, several somebodies were on a bender, Wednesday evening, judging from the occurences in the vicinity of Atkinson Street. Rumor has it that a party of respectable looking men were seen conveying a wounded man up that street, Wednesday night. Report has it that he had been stabbed, but as the party made little noise and hushed the groans of the sufferer, it is evident that they regarded secrecy as their "best holt." Perhaps they had been taking "some schnapps" and are now waiting to see "yot vill turn up."

BASE BALL.—At the meeting of the Muffers, Wednesday evening, it was decided to play the rubber game between the Foul Batters and Heavy Muffers, Saturday afternoon, commencing at half past 2 o'clock. The nines are urgently requested to be present on time, determined to win the decidding game of the series.

Let Greek meet Greek, with one accord, with full intent to win; till one or 'tother foe is floored, and hasteneth home again.

THE SALEM VETERANS returned home in the Thursday evening train, having enjoyed themselves immensely at the Sagamore, as usual. On Wednesday night, the Germania Band serenaded Hon. Frank Jones and were received and entertained in a style becoming Mr. Jones' well known hospitality. Their splendid music drew hundreds from the city to Mr. Jones' residence. On returning, the Band halted at the residence of Ex-Gov. Goodwin and woke the echoes with "Hail Columbia," which brought every body within a quarter of a mile, out of bed.

☞ Young Hurd, who was bitten at Kittery last Friday by a dog belonging to Mr. Caleb Spinney, now has the lock-jaw. Every endeavor is being made to save his life.

TO THE WEAK, THE WORN, AND THE WEARY, the Editor of the Boston Recorder says, "We can most unhesitatingly recommend the Peruvian Syrup, a protected solution of the protoxide of iron, to all the weak, the worn, and the weary, having richly experienced its benefits. It possesses all the qualities claimed for it by its proprietor.

The wife of Socrates was said to be a great scold. Had her husband furnished her with Renne's Pain-Killing Magic Oil to cure a painful toothache and headache, she would, no doubt, have been one of the best women of that age.

THE STRAFFORD FAIR, at Dover, was very largely attended on Thursday—10,000 persons being estimated present. The weather all through was very hot, and the dust almost like that of Pharaoh. The show was not great, as the upper section of the County thought the Fair should have been held at Great Falls, and so that house is divided, like Rockingham.

Then there was, as usual, dissatisfaction about the award of Town Team premiums, (the first to Dover,) and the Madbury, and we believe the Rollinsford stock was withdrawn. We don't think there was any need of kicking up any of these dusts of dissension, for there was plenty of silt circulating before, behind and all over the packed and withered scene.

We were indebted to Supt. Chick, President Fisher, and other officers, for every courtesy, on Thursday. Also to Messrs. Main & Winchester, of this city, whom we found on the grounds.

The races on Thursday, were a trot for double teams, in which John Wiggin entered Martin Luther and mate, and H. H. Smith entered Lady Franklin and mate. The reformer team beat the explorers, in 3:09 1-2, 3:02, 2:47. The big ungainly bay and mate could evidently have done the mile in 40.

A trot for green horses, with four entries, made good sport, as usual, and one heat was trotted in 2:44.

The well known mare Nelly Locke, from this city, appeared on the track for the first time this season, and was not in good condition. Her competitors were Prince John of Exeter, and Ross of Dover. Nelly took first heat in 2:45, and proved her poor condition by losing the second in 2:44 3-4, to old Prince John, who is 24 years old, but has been a game one, and is good for a half mile yet. We had to leave before the race was finished.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Chapter of Facts.

Space is valuable in a newspaper, and it is therefore proposed in this advertisement to condense a variety of facts, important to the public, into a small compass. Those facts refer to HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—what that celebrated medicine is, and what it will do. In the first place then, the article is a stimulant, tonic and alterative, consisting of a combination of an absolutely pure spirituous agent with the most valuable medicinal vegetable substances that Botanic re-search has placed at the disposal of the chemist and the physician.

These ingredients are compounded with great care and in such proportions as to produce a preparation which invigorates without exciting the general system, and tones, regulates and controls the stomach, the bowels, the liver and the minor secretive organs. What this great restorative will do must be gathered from what it has done. The case of dyspepsia, or any other form of indigestion, in which it has been persistently administered without effecting a radical cure is yet to be heard from, and the same may be said of bilious disorders, intermittent fever, nervous affections, general debility, constipation, sick headache, mental despondency, and the peculiar complaints and disabilities to which the feeble are so subject. It purifies all the fluids of the body, including the blood, and the gentle stimulus which it imparts to the nervous system is not succeeded by the slightest reaction. This is a chapter of facts which readers, for their own sakes, should mark and remember.

In the great cities of India, and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, and other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. Sold by all druggists. dawlm1

CHARTER OF PORTSMOUTH AQUEDUCT COMPANY.—State of New Hampshire, 1797. An act to incorporate certain persons for the purpose of bringing fresh water into the town of Portsmouth by subterraneous pipes.

Be it enacted, &c., That John Samuel Sherburne, Joshua Brackett, Samuel Hill, James Sheafe, Joseph Whipple, Ammi Richamah Cutter and John Pierce with such other persons as are or may be associated with them be and they and their successors hereby are constituted a body corporate and politic forever by the name of the "Proprietors of the Portsmouth Aqueduct," for the purpose and with the exclusive right of bringing fresh water by subterraneous pipes into the said town of Portsmouth. And the said proprietors may by their name aforesaid sue and be sued to final judgment and execution, and do and suffer all matters, acts and things which bodies corporate can or ought to do and suffer. And the said corporation shall have and use a common seal and the same may break, renew and alter at pleasure.

And be it further enacted that the said John Samuel Sherburne or any other person named in this act may call the first meeting of said proprietors by causing a notification thereof to be published in the New Hampshire Gazette three weeks successively appointing some suitable time and place therefor: At which meeting said proprietors shall choose a clerk who shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of his duty and shall also agree on the method of calling meetings in future; and at said meeting or any subsequent meeting may the elect such officers and make and establish such regulations and by-laws as to them shall seem necessary or convenient for carrying into effect the design of said corporation, not repugnant to the constitution and laws of this State; and may cause said regulations and by-laws to be executed and annex penalties to the breach thereof not exceeding ten dollars for any one breach. And the clerk shall record this act and all the regulations, by-laws and proceedings of said corporation in a book or books to be provided and kept for that purpose. And the share or shares of any of said proprietors may be transferred by deed duly executed, acknowledged and recorded by the clerk of said proprietors on their records.

And be it further enacted that the said proprietors are hereby empowered to purchase and hold in fee simple any real estate necessary for the purpose of their institution not exceeding in value the sum of two thousand dollars. And the said proprietors are hereby authorized to enter upon and break up the ground and dig ditches in any land or enclosures or on any streets or highways, though which it may be necessary for said aqueduct to pass, for the purpose of placing such pipes as may be necessary for building and completing said aqueduct or of repairing the same when requisite; provided that in case the said proprietors and the owners of the land though which said aqueduct must pass shall not agree on the compensation to be made for the damage done to the said land, the Superior Court of Judicature upon application of said proprietors or of the owners may appoint a committee who shall ascertain the same and make report to said Court and the said Court are authorized to render judgement on said report and issue execution accordingly. And provided also that the said streets or highways, shall not be dug up, or opened by the said proprietors in such manner as to obstruct or hinder the citizens of the State from passing therein with their teams and carriages with convenience.

And be it further enacted, that the said proprietors may from time to time assess such sum or sums of money on each share as they may judge necessary for completing or repairing said aqueduct and may sell at vendue the share or shares of any delinquent, who may refuse or neglect to pay his proportion of said tax, after advertising the sale of such share or shares in the New Hampshire Gazette or some other newspaper printed in the town of Portsmouth, fourteen days at least previous thereto, the over plus, if any there be after payment of such tax and charges of sale to be paid to the delinquent.

And be it further enacted that if any person shall maliciously or wantonly injure said aqueduct and shall be convicted thereof upon indictment before the Superior Court of Judicature he shall be punished by fine not exceeding three hundred dollars and shall be liable to pay treble damages to said proprietors to be recovered by action on the case.

Provided that this grant shall be void unless said aqueduct be completed within five years from the passing of this act, and be ever afterwards kept in repair.

☞ Mr. Chas. A. Shannon has shown us a large sized apple, egg-shaped and very peculiar in appearance, taken from an old but thrifty tree at Wolfeborough. The tree is on the farm of Mr. Samuel Stevenson, who calls the apple the "Farm Sweet," and claims that the tree was transplanted by Gov. Wentworth from Portsmouth, or that the Governor had a scion grafted into the tree which now bears the fruit.

☞ The remains of Admiral Farragut are to be taken to New York next week, and will be taken to Woodlawn Cemetery, in Westchester County, for interment. Great preparations are being made in New York for their reception.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—Otis Cate, a young man of about 19 years of age, reports that on Wednesday evening, about half-past 7 o'clock, while driving a load of wood into town from Mr. John Tabor's farm, he was accosted by two men, (between the Plains bridge and the tavern,) who demanded his money. He told them he had none, and one of the ruffians fired a pistol, the ball passing through the rim of his hat. The frightened young man came down from the load and the rascals robbed him of a watch and chain and about $2.50 in money. They then beat him and made off. Young Cate made his way into town, bleeding and badly bruised and told his story. The police force and fifty or more citizens started in pursuit of the scamps but could not find any trace of them. The search was continued on Thursday but no arrest has yet been made.

MECHANIC ASSOCIATION. — The following note, (which explains itself) was received by Mr. Alfred T. Joy, the Treasurer of the Mechanic Association, who hereby acknowledges the receipt of the same:—

BOSTON, Sept. 22.

Dear Sir:—I learn that, agreeably to the custom of the charitable Mechanics Assoc., a sum of money is usually remitted to the widow or family of its deceased members. Thankfully acknowledging therefore, the sum of $35, sent to the widow of my dear father, Mr. Oliver P. Kennard, (who I am proud to know was for so many years an honored and beloved member,) I hope you will permit me to return the same into the treasury of your Association, feeling that there will be occasion for its use where the demand will be more urgent.

With sentiments of the highest regard, I am, dear sir, Yours very truly,
W. H. KENNARD.

To Alfred T. Joy, Treasr. &c.

PERSONAL.—We learn that Mr. S. J. Atwood, the efficient and faithful telegraph operator, who has of late had charge of the International office in this city, is to leave to take charge of a responsible office on the Rock Island & Chicago R. R. His many friends and the business public will regret to lose so faithful and trustworthy an operator. May success follow him.

We regret to hear that the constant attention given to business by Mr. E. O. Cole of the Western Union line has resulted in serious injury to his health. Under Mr. Cole's charge, the business of the line has been transacted promptly and has more than trebled, rendering his labor very exhaustive. The popularity of the office shows to what extent he has labored during the past three years, and the present condition of his health is evidence that in faithfully performing the arduous duties assigned him he has sacrificed too much for the company. We hope our citizens are not to lose his valuable services permanently and that he may soon regain his health and be seen again at his accustomed place of business. Miss D. H. Snow, for several years in charge of the Bath (Me.) office, who is to take charge of this office during Mr. Cole's absence, is a first-class operator and will maintain the present reputation of the office for reliability and promptness.

DEATHS!

At Raymond, Sept. 14, Mr. GEORGE SAWYER, Jr., aged 22 years, 6 months.

☞ The funeral services will be held at Raymond to-day at 11 o'clock, A. M.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, D. C., September 1, 1870.

SEALED PROPOSALS to furnish materials for the several Navy Yards for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1871, will be received at this Bureau until 10 o'clock, A. M., of the 29th of September next, at which time the proposals will be opened.

Printed schedules, in which the materials and articles required are embraced, with form of offer and guarantee, will be forwarded on application, and sent by mail, if so requested, to persons desiring to offer to contract for any or all of the classes named therein, by Bids or Commandants of the several Navy Yards, for the classes for the yards under their command, or by the paymaster nearest thereto, or by the Bureau for any or all of the yards.

To prevent confusion and mistakes in sealing the offers, no bid will be received which contains estimates for more than one Yard in one envelope; nor any bid which is not perfect and complete in itself, according to the terms of offer and guaranty, and each individual of a firm must sign the bid and contract.

Bidders are referred to the printed instructions, which will be furnished with the schedules, and they are hereby cautioned, and particularly notified, that their offers should be made on the printed form prescribed by the Bureau, and be mailed in time to reach their destination before the time expires for receiving them.

No bid will be considered which shall be received after the period named, and no allowance will be made for failures of the mail.

The proposal must be accompanied by a certificate from the Collector of Internal Revenue for the district in which the bidder resides, that he has a license to deal in the articles for which he proposes; and by direction of the Department, bids or offers will be received only from parties who are bona fide dealers in, or manufacturers of the articles they offer to furnish. The certificate must be certified by the Assessor of Internal Revenue for the district in which they reside.

The contract will be awarded to the person who makes the lowest bid and gives the guarantee required by law, the Navy Department, however, reserving the right to reject the lowest bid, or any which it may deem gratuitous.

Sureties in the full amount will be required to sign the contract, and their responsibility must be certified to by the Collector of the Navy Department, and the bidder must state distinctly at what paymaster's office he desires all his bills to be paid.

To guard against offers being opened before the time appointed, bidders are requested to use the printed envelopes, furnished by the Bureau, endorsed thus: "Proposals for classes Nos. (name the classes) for the Navy Yard at, (name the yard.)" To the Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, Navy Department, Washington, D. C."

If any article are named in the schedules which are not known to be in common and general use, the bidders will ascertain promptly whether such articles can be procured or not, and if they cannot be obtained, the fact must be reported to the Bureau at once, before bids shall be received.

Offers not made in strict conformity with the instructions accompanying the schedules will, at the option of the bureau, be rejected.

An additional security, twenty per centum will be withheld from the amount of the bills until the contracts shall have been completed, and eighty per centum of the amount of each bill, approved certificate by the commandant of the respective yards, will be paid by the paymaster of the station designated in the contract, within ten days after the warrant for the same shall have been passed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this line, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security.

These bonds have 30 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to render them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par, besides paying about 9 per cent., currency, interest in the meanwhile. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices only return five per cent.; and we regard the security equally safe.

Morning Chronicle.

Written and Compiled for the Chron. and Gaz.

Old York and its Surroundings.

BY R.K.SEWALL,ESQ.,OF WISCASSET, ME.

Messrs. Editors:—In the recent field exercise at York, that venerable locality was overshadowed, in the interest of Popham discussion, which should have been limited to Monday's services; and thus the good people of the ancient burrough of "Agamenticus," were crowded out of the proper details of their local history. By your indulgence, I propose to supply some of the earlier facts, and so make up what was lost, so far as it can be done.

The Popham issue is simply a dry legal proposition, of interest only within the purview of the common law, as a State question.

ORIGIN—1607.

Aug. 20. Three ships, two from the neighborhood of Bristol, and the MARY & JOHN, from London;—the former the "Gift of God, and a fly-boat," commanded by Geo. Popham, the latter commanded by Raliegh Gilbert, in which sailed Digby of London, master-shipwright—anchored under Seguin, at the mouth of the Sagadahoc. It was a movement of State policy; and its object, a colonial lodgment of the English race on the soil of New England; and on the date above given, a formal landing was made on the peninsula of "Sabino," at the mouth of the Kennebec. Possession was taken, with the exact sanctions, and all the formalities of a State enterprise, in which all the forces of the British constitution, in civil and ecclesiastical polity, concurred to engraft the laws, Religion, and civilization of England, upon the savage wilds of New England.

As if by magic, there appeared in the midst of the tall grown pines and overshadowing oaks of Sagadahoc, a New England village of fifty houses, with a village church, forts and ship-yard. Popham was nominated President as a civil magistrate, and the pioneer President and head of the government within these United States, where also he died and was buried. To the eminent distinctions in all their legal force and effect as legal acts, perfecting inchoate rights, and entailing absolute title of the soil to English emigration and occupancy, we of Maine hold that our State is entitled, on the facts above alleged. It is denied us. Hence the discussion; we of Maine standing on our rights of common law; and they of Massachusetts deprecating our position in the contrasts of Plymouth rock. Sagadahoc was abandoned—the London men returning back to England—but it was done under protest. Bristol and Plymouth men of the Sagadahoc emigration, represented by Sir Francis Popham, the heir at law of the great patron of the enterprise, remonstrated and withdrew the Popham ships from the company, and sent them in trade to Pemaquid, and continued for years, before Plymouth was settled, in freighting between Pemaquid and Bristol, England.

PEMAQUID, IN EASTERN MAINE.

We now find at Pemaquid, remarkable remains of a thrifty cultivated commercial people, in paved streets, entrenched works, tanneries and smitheries, and building materials the work of foreign art unknown to history. We believe, here are the remains of Popham's emigration, and the relics of the trade and enterprise of Bristol merchants growing out of the original occupation of New England at Sagadahoc, probably an offshoot of colonial emigration of 1607.

GORGES IN WESTERN MAINE.

The operations of Popham at Pemaquid in Eastern Maine, stimulated Gorges to active co-operation, and he selected western Maine as the center of his operations. He sent Vines to open the Saco; and in the attractive and fertile valleys between the Agamenticus and Piscataqua he sought to build up a metropolitan center of population.

NATIVES AND LANDFALL OF YORK—1602.

"Cape Neddock" had early attracted the interest of English and other voyagers. Gosnald in the Concord, it is now quite certain, anchored in sight of the "Nubble," which, he called "Savage Rock," near which a sloop-rigged bark—a Biscay Shallop, manned with eight savages, having a copper kettle and iron grapnel on board, steered for his ship.

"On Friday, 14th, May, early in the morning (says Archer, the Chronicler of Gosnald) we made land. Standing fair along shore about 12 m., we came to anchor where eight Indians, in a Biscay Shallop, with mast and sail and iron grapnel on board, steered for his ship.

"On Friday, 14th, May, early in the morning (says Archer, the Chronicler of Gosnald) we made land. Standing fair along shore about 12 m., we came to anchor where eight Indians, in a Biscay Shallop, with mast and sail and iron grapner and a kettle of copper, came boldly aboard us; one of them approached with a waistcoat and breeches of black serge, made after our sea-fashion; hose and shoes on his feet; all the rest (save one that had breeches of blue cloth) were naked.

"These people are of tall stature, broad and grim visage, of a black swart complexion; the eye-brows painted white; weapons, bows and arrows. By their words and signs, it seemed, that some barques of St. John de Sus have fished or traded in this place, being lat. 43 degrees."

Brereton, a passenger on the Concord this voyage, in fuller description says—"for six leagues toward said rock is an out-point of rising ground, and from thence we perceived southwest two single Islands, E and S of Savage rock. The coast was full of goodly lands—fair plains with little green round hills above the cliffs, appearing unto us.

"To the eye, from the plains near "roaring rock," the high-lands of Agamenticus describe in outline a vast bell-shaped dome, with a tall spire, the "Nubble," its ball, tumbled from its base on to its side into the sea. Between it and "roaring rock," a mighty sandy bay curves its beach, which falls back into grassy plains of cleared arable lands." Hence the name "Neddock," a corruption of the native word "Nea" clear, "auk" place, meaning in simple English cleared place or land-clearing

Captain Levett touched at the "Isle of Shoals", this year, 1623, where, he says "I neither could see one good timber-tree, nor so much good ground as to make a garden — a good fishing-place for six ships, harbor indifferent good, no savages at all." He found Thompson resident at the mouth of the Piscataqua, remained with him there a month, from thence sending eastward (probably Pemaquid) for some of his men, who had come over in diverse." 4 vol. M.Hist.coll. p. 196, Judge Porter.

Emigration to the shores of Maine had for some time fully set in. He found a great river and good harbor, called the "Piscattaway;" and from the King or Sagamore, he learned there was much good ground up the river. Two leagues east he discovered what he calls "another great river Agamenticus." "There," says he, "I think a good plantation may be settled, for there is a good harbor for ships, good ground, and much already cleared fit for planting of corn or other fruits, having heretofore been planted by the savages, who are all dead. There is good timber, and likely to be good fishing, but as yet there has no trial been made, that I hear of." Levett's description, accounts for the name of the out-point, which, to the savage mind gave eminence to the shores and valley of the Agamenticus.

The avowed purposes of the parties in interest in the grants of the soil of New England, 1606, of whom Popham and Gorges were the leading and prominent and active Executors, were "increase of trade—advancement of religion — enlargement of the National Empire." The indifference of some, the jealousy of others — insidious hostility and public agitation—induced the Plymouth Company to suspend its plans and expeditions.

But the Popham heirs had concentrated emigration and trade at "Pemguid and its dependencies" to such a degree, that the merchants of Bristol, including the Mayor of that city, had opened branch establishments there; and Gorges gave his special attention to the attractive valleys of the Agamenticus and Piscataqua.

Concluded to-morrow.

HOTEL FOR SALE.—I offer at private sale the Hotel now occupied by me at Warren, N. H., known as the MOOSILAUK HOUSE, with the furniture and other appurtenances. It has been thoroughly rebuilt and refurnished, has a profitable transient patronage, and is in a most desirable location for summer business—being 20 miles north of Plymouth, 26 miles south of the Profile House, and only 9 miles from the Prospect House on the summit of Mt. Moosilauk. The neighborhood is one of the most romantic and picturesque in the mountain regions, and is fast coming into a notoriety that must largely enhance the value of this property. The subscriber sells for the reason that he desires to give his entire attention to the conduct of Prescott House and the carriage road now being built to the "tippe" of Mt. Moosilauk, by the "Mt. AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected app ications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

FOR ALL PURPOSES of a LAXATIVE MEDICINE.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative PILL. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and keeps them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhea, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PILLS makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus. dawje21eod4m

RURAL ITEMS.—Sulphur is highly recommended as a deodorizer. The Maine Farmer gives an instance of its effects in removing the offensive odor from a dairy house where a skunk had been killed.

From carefully conducted experiments, by different persons, it has been ascertained that one bushel of corn will make a little over 10 1-2 pounds of pork, gross.

A cultivator uses cut cornstalks as a mulch for his hills of strawberry plants, and finds advantage in it that the mulching material is free from seeds, and the strawberry plants in the spring send up the shoots through the cut stuff and the fruit is kept from the earth and the soil, and is cleaner.

In the summer, old potatoes should be peeled and soaked in cold water several hours before they are cooked. This makes them nearly as dry and good as when first dug in autumn. Old potatoes should be put in cold water, with a little salt in the pot. Boil slowly—the slower the better. If the water stops boiling, they are apt to be watery.

A correspondent of the Country Gentleman weighed the hay that he had bought as a ton by allowing 500 cubic feet, and found it weighed only 1480 pounds. The hay was mostly timothy, with some clover and white daisy. The hay was over a basement, part two and part four feet deep, pressed with straw, but on pitching he found it was not as solid as he expected.

An Australian farmer recommends that cows should be given twice a day one pound of maize siftings, two pounds of chaff, and a tablespoonful of salt, well dampened. He tried it two years ago, being short of keep, and his cows, which otherwise would have gone dry, doubled their milk and continued in milk all the winter, and were fat and sleek.

The Essex Banner asserts that small quantities of sunflower seed, mixed with the food of a horse, will impart a fine gloss to his hair, while it is also a cure for founder if given immediately after the ailment is discovered. In the latter case about a pint of the seed should be mingled with the oats or chopped feed, when a cure will be effected.

A distinguished poulterer says: "It is a well known fact to owners of poultry that occasional use of onions, mixed and fed to poultry with their other food, is one of the best ways of keeping a yard of poultry in health. I am afraid it has not received the attention and use that its merits really demand. I am well satisfied that the use of this vegetable would prevent three-fourths of the disease that a poultry yard is subject to."

Many families about towns and suburbs of cities, who have not pasture and conveniences for keeping a cow, might keep a milking-goat to great advantage; they are easily cared for, and not costly to keep; may be fed on the slops of the kitchen. If milked regularly twice a day, one will yield a sufficiency for a small family. Goat's milk is very healthy, very nourishing, and it is often prescribed for the sick during convalescence.

Stonehenge, in his work on the horse, thinks putting a lump of rock salt in the manger for the horse to lick, is the only safe and useful way of giving salt to horses. He thinks given in this way the horse will thrive better for this seasoning. He says that generally a pound of rock salt will last a horse nearly a month. He has not found that the use of salt increases the thirst except when at first given.

A poor farmer cannot conceal the fact that he is a poor farmer. All his surroundings proclaim the verdict against him—his horses, cattle, wagons, harness, ploughs, fences—even wife and children bear silent but unmistakable evidence against him. On the other hand, all these things will testify favorably on behalf of the good farmer. Every passer-by can read the evidence pro and con. This fact alone ought to stimulate every farmer to do his best, for the sake of his own character, as well as interest, for he may rest assured that every passer-by will pronounce judgment according to the evidence.

THE LEGISLATURES AND THE RAILROADS.—The Supreme Court of Massachusetts has decided a case of much importance relating to the power of the legislature over the charters of railroad corporations. By an act passed in 1868 the Eastern Railroad Company were required to erect a new station house in Central square in Lynn, and by another act they were required to establish a flag station at Knight's Crossing in Newbury, and to erect there a station house, at which at least two trains each way and each day should stop. The company refused to comply with the requirements of the statutes, contending that they were unconstitutional. The court now hold them constitutional, as being embraced within the power reserved by the legislature to amend, alter or repeal any act of incorporation. The real point was as to how far the State can control railroad corporations, and the parties in dispute employed the highest legal talent and fought every inch of the way.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 17, 1870.

THE RAILROAD RING AND THE SAVINGS BANKS.—It is well known that Hon. Frederick Smyth of Manchester, and Mr. Moody Currier,—both treasurers of Savings Banks in that city, procured money each from the other's bank, to invest in Concord Railroad stock. We have already chronicled briefly, the fact that Mr. Smyth has been fined $100 for violation of the law, in relation to said matter, and now copy from the Nashua Telegraph, the following details, — merely adding on our own part, that we have always regarded, and still regard, Ex-Gov. Smyth as one of the most honorable and high-minded men in the State; but we think he committed a grave error in joining the Railroad ring, and will find it to prove the mistake of his life. The Telegraph says:

An incident of the Concord Railroad controversy occurred at the opening of the Supreme Judicial Court in this city. Among the gentlemen present was Ex-Gov. Smyth, who arose and read the following communication, which explains itself:

May it please the Court—I have been informed that a bill has been, or will be presented against me here for having given a note to J. W. Johnson to indemnify him against any loss upon a note to the Merrimac River Savings Bank.

With the indulgence of the Court, I desire to say that I have no wish to enter upon any formal or extended controversy in regard to the merits of the case. I do not desire to contend with the State. I have given a full and unreserved statement of all the facts pertaining to the transaction before the committee of the Judiciary at the last session of the Legislature; and that committee, after considering all the testimony, reported that there was no evidence that any of my acts resulted, or were like to result, to the detriment of any depositor of the Bank.

I have repeated that statement in a deposition which was presented to the full bench of the Supreme Judicial Court as evidence in the railroad case, and I very naturally inferred from the recent action of the members of the court in appointing me to the position of Receiver of the Concord Railroad, that they could not have regarded me as having been guilty of any intentional wrong in the matter.

I have only to say here that I have not knowingly or intentionally violated any law, nor have I committed any act by which any depositor, or any other person, was, or could have been wronged in any way, and no depositor of the bank has ever made the slightest complaint of the transaction, which was with the consent of the officers of the bank. I was aware of the principal statute upon which the bill is founded, but I supposed that it referred exclusively to State banks of discount, as it unquestionably did prior to the enactment of the General Statutes.

In this view I was supported by able counsel, and my action in the matter was governed by their advice. I am still advised by able counsel that I have not violated any provision of the law. I am aware, however, that there are others no less learned in the law, who entertaind the opinion that there may have been a technical violation of the statute.

Under these circumstances, I find that there may be a long and tedious course of litigation before the numerous questions of law growing out of the case can reach a decision. I have no time or inclination for such a warfare, but prefer that the case shall be terminated as speedily as possible at the outset.

If under a misapprehension I have technically violated the law, I expect to abide the consequences. The court may not be unaware that officers of Corporations in our State are often liable to unintentional violation of the laws, by reason of frequent changes and the obscure meaning of some portions thereof.

With these remarks, I waive the reading of all papers, and submit the case to the Court, with the fullest confidence that no injustice will be done either to me or the public.

The laws of this State provide in substance, that no officer of a Bank shall "indemnify any other person for liability to said bank on account of any other person;" and the penalty for a violation of this provision is a fine not exceeding $5000, or imprisonment not exceeding five years. In alleged violation of this law, Frederick Smyth, Treasurer of the Merrimac River Savings Bank, gave a bond to "indemnify" J. W. Johnson for signing a note to that bank. For this he was indicted by the Grand Jury, and having thus placed himself at the mercy of the Court, its decision was announced as follows, by Judge Foster:

* * * The subdivision and classification of the Statutes is not the work of the Legislature, but of the compilers. The language, "any director, &c., of any bank," is too plain to admit of the interpretation that directors or other officers of "Savings Banks" were not intended to be included, and the reason of the enactment certainly applies as well to them as to similar officers of other banks. But all doubt about the applicability of the statute to the case of Savings Banks, is removed by reference to section 3 of chapter 152.

The object of the statute upon which this indictment is founded, in connection with the previous sections limiting the amount of the indebtedness of a cashier or director, is to restrain persons who are the debtors of the oank, beyond a certain proportion of their interest in its stock, from participating in the management of it; to prevent the officers of banks from appropriating to their own use, directly or indirectly, the funds entrusted to their care, and so rendering the bank unsafe or insolvent, to the loss and detriment of depositors; tending also to deprive others than the officers of the bank of the advantages of usual, proper and convenient bank accommodations. It is a statute founded in wise policy, and especially applicable to Savings Banks.

In cases of violation of a statute by an act which is not criminal in itself, but only malum prohibitum, the law does not presume a fraudulent intent, morally speaking, but the contrary. Nevertheless, the commission of the act is not excused by the absence of wrongful intent, in fact. The statute punishes the willful or fraudulent violation of the previous statute.

The terms "willful" and "fraudulent" here, have a technical meaning, belonging rather to criminal pleading and convenient for that purpose than indicating, necessarily, actual malice and criminal intent. "Willfully," in the sense here employed, may properly be regarded as meaning no more than "intentionally" or "designedly;" and an actual intent or design to do that which the law forbids (and the intent or design is to be inferred from the result,) is, within the meaning and language of the statute, a "willful" violation of the law.

It does not detract from the willful, and therefore illegal character of the transaction, that the respondent may have been ignorant of the law. This would perhaps be a valid defence in the forum of conscience, but it is not here.

The maxim "ignorantia juris non excusat," is too firmly established to be disturbed. Its foundation is settled in public policy and an absolute necessity; and without regard and obedience to it, law could not be administered nor government exist; for if the excuse of ignorance were permitted at all, it would be urged in almost every case.

In order to excuse the party charged with an offence, the ignorance which he pleads must be one of fact, and not of law. "For a mistake in point of law," says Blackstone, "which every person of discretion not only may, but is bound and presumed to know, is in criminal cases, no sort of defence. Ignorantia facti, quod quisque tenetur scire, neminem excusat, is as well the maxim of our own law as it was of the Romans."

And Mr. Broome, commenting upon the maxim, observes that "every man is presumed to be cognizant of the statute law, and to construe it right; and if any individual should infringe it thro' ignorance, he must, nevertheless, abide by the consequences of his error. It will not be competent to him to aver, in a court of justice, that he has mistaken the law, this being a plea which no court of justice is at liberty to receive."

There is no hardship in the application of this wholesome rule to the present case, for every man who assumes official position or place of trust in a corporation or other business relation, should carefully examine the statute laws, and so acquaint himself with his duties and responsibilities; or, at any rate, if he does not do this, he should accept the consequences without complaint.

The Legislature has very wisely conferred upon the Court a wide range of discretion with regard to the punishment for this offence. As prescribed, it may be imprisonment not exceeding five years, or fine not exceeding $5,000.

We do not infer that any actual fraud, dishonesty or wrong was contemplated in the present case, and none has in fact been accomplished. And while the demands of justice do not require a severe sentence, it is the duty of the Court to have regard for public example, and to impose not merely a nominal fine, but such a penalty as shall indicate that a wholesome law is not to be disregarded.

This is, so far as I am aware, the first instance of a prosecution under this statute, and it would not be strange if its provisions had been overlooked. The Court has regard to this consideration, and the sentence now imposed is not to be taken as an indication that future violations of the law will not be severely punished.

Both the Court and Attorney General remarked that they did not think there had been any intentional violation of the statute. The Court then imposed a merely nominal fine of one hundred dollars, which was immediately paid by the friends of Gov. Smyth.

MAINE ELECTION.—The Kennebec Journal has official returns from 339 cities, towns and plantations. The whole vote cast in these places last year was 82,371. The whole vote this year in the same places is 85,763—an increase of 3392. The vote of last year for Chamberlain, 45,155; for Smith, 33,073; for Hichborn, 4143. The vote this year is for Perham, 47,006; for Roberts, 38,757. Chamberlain's majority was 7939. Perham's is 8249. The town not included in these returns will not materially alter the result. The legislature elected, consists of 101 republicans and 33 democrats. The House consists of 151 members. The Senate will have 28 republicans and 3 democrats. The character of the legislature is such as to leave no doubt of the re-election of Mr. Morrill to the Senate.

A furious night bombardment was opened upon the works of Metz, Wednesday evening. The attack was ordered from Berlin, in retaliation for the treacherous affair at Laon. The fire was terrible, and continued until daybreak. The Prussian forces again repeated their demand for the surrender of Metz. A final summons to that effect was despatched to the French commandant. It met with as decisive a refusal as had been given to previous demands.

Belgium despatches report that Marshal Bazaine and a portion of his army have cut their way through the Prussian lines at Metz, and are marching on Paris.

Parisians talk fight earnestly.

Sedan has been placed in a state of siege. The mayor has been arrested and the population expelled. The Prussians apprehend the approach of Bazaine, who is reported to have escaped from Metz, and even said to have reached Carignan.

On Thursday, six thousand of Bazaine's troops at Metz broke through the Prussian lines, led by Marshal Canrobert, and are now marching rapidly toward Sedan. The Prussians are preparing to attack the works and Sedan is declared in a state of siege. Sedan is at present in possession of the Bavarian corps.

Canrobert's forces which lately cut through the Prussians at Metz, are now marching towards Paris. They are 6000 strong.

Marshal Bazaine himself, has gone to Sedan.

☞ Many people will remember the annual autumnal cold or cartarrh with which Daniel Webster suffered. He could predict its arrival to a day. It is the regular annoyance of many persons, and as yet no adequate remedy has been found for its relief. The eyes swim, the nostrils fill, the head swells, and a suffering ensues that can be imagined, but not described, while breathing and utterance are alike interfered with.

At the Boar's Head Hotel at Hampton Beach, recently, a well-known Superintendent of a line of Railroads in this State, was endeavoring, despite his fall cold, from which he suffers regularly, to make himself understood before a circle of friends, but his troubles made him "too full for utterance," when a waggish brother of the profession suggested to the friends present, that "the gentleman have leave to print the remarks he was endeavoring to make."

☞ Mayor Hall of New York, announces that Mrs. Farragut has consented to a public funeral of her late husband, and he promises, if government will not, that a steamer shall be sent to Portsmouth for the remains and that a monument shall be erected at the expense of the city of New York.

☞ In the race at Dover, Thursday, Nellie Locke took first heat, Prince John the second, the third was given John for Nellie's running, Nellie took the fourth and fifth, and first money. Rosa was withdrawn after the second heat. Time 2.45, 2.44 3-4, 2.48, 2.53, 2.56. Nellie is all out of condition.

☞ The new liquor law in this State went into effect Sept. 15th. It makes liquor sellers responsible for injury to person or property caused by the intoxication of a person; and also imposes a fine on persons who let premises for the illegal sale of liquor.

☞ At Gilbert's Daniel Street Fruit Store, you will find nice Sweet Potatoes, of different qualities, for 3 or 4 or 5 cents per pound at retail, and at the very lowest wholesale prices.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Chapter of Facts.

Space is valuable in a newspaper, and it is therefore proposed in this advertisement to condense a variety of facts, important to the public, into a small compass. Those facts refer to HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—what that celebrated medicine is, and what it will do. In the first place then, the article is a stimulant, tonic and alterative, consisting of a combination of an absolutely pure spirituous agent with the most valuable medicinal vegetable substances that Botanic research has placed at the disposal of the chemist and the physician.

These ingredients are compounded with great care, and in such proportions as to produce a preparation which invigorates without exciting the general system, and tones, regulates and controls the stomach, the bowels, the liver and the minor secretive organs. What this great restorative will do must be gathered from what it has done. The case of dyspepsia, or any other form of indigestion, in which it has been persistently administered without effecting a radical cure is yet to be heard iron, and the same may be said of bilious disorders, intermittent fever, nervous affections, general debility, constipation, sick headache, mental despondency, and the peculiar complaints and disabilities to which the feeble are so subject. It purifies all the fluids of the body, including the blood, and the gentle stimulus which it imparts to the nervous system is not succeeded by the slightest reaction. This is a chapter of facts which readers, for their own sakes, should mark and remember.

For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. Sold by all druggists. da w1m1

ALDERMEN. — Thursday evening, I. Wilson was granted leave to encumber Market st. for repairs of Ladd building.

Engine Co. No. 2 were granted leave to take their steamer to Haverhill, Mass., Sept. 29th.

The Mayor and Com. on Streets were authorized to accept the Summer street extension.

The Com. on Police were desired to report whether it is advisable to order the Police to dress in uniform. The petition of all the force for a week's furlough, was referred to same Com.

Com. on School Houses was authorized to have cellar of Cabot St. School cleansed.

Ald. Miller introduced a resolution forbidding boys to be employed in driving teams for the City, at work on the streets. Laid on the table.

☞ The Rockingham Ten Cents Savings Bank have removed into their elegant and substantial new Banking House on the east side of Market Street, and are fully prepared to accommodate the public with the best Banking facilities. In less than three years, they have deposits amounting to a quarter of a million dollars. Vive the Rockingham Ten Centre.

Aaron H. Hill, Esq. was the projector and originator of the institution, and his suggestion to incorporate in the charter a provision that half the deposits must be loaned in the State, has since been adopted as the law of the State in regard to all Savings Banks.

SOME BUSYBODIES have sneered at the police force, who have lessened the number of dogs about town, in accordance with instructions from the Board of Aldermen. The unlicensed dogs have been hunted up, and a majority of them have departed this life unlamented and unmourned. There are some left whose presence can easily be spared.

Our neighbors in Kittery possess a few of the same sort, and if they would import a mitrailleuse from Paris, plant it opposite the brute owned by Mr. Caleb Spinney and set it going, it would be satisfactory to many. This ferocious animal attacked and tore a mouthful of flesh from the thigh of a lad named Hurd, a week or more ago, and on Friday the boy died of lockjaw. The services of that canine should be dispensed with at short notice.

PORTSMOUTH MECHANICS seem to find sufficient work abroad. We learn from the Bostop Traveller that Mr. Luther E. Martin of this city "is building for William Fletcher at East Somerville, Mass., a two-story French-roof house, with L (worth about $12,000), which will be done late in the Fall. The same builder has put up for Russell Huntley, on Pearl, opposite Crescent street, a two-story house, with French roof. Mr. Martin has also built a large two-story French-roof house, worth $10,000, for Mr. Eben F. Atwood, of the same place, and at East Boston a two-story house with L for Mr. John W. Odiorne, formerly of Portsmouth." We congratulate our townsmen who go abroad and achieve success, a and wish there was more need of their skill at home.

☞ The funeral of the late Geo. Sawyer, Jr., took place at Raymond, Friday, and was largely attended. The exercises were held in the Town Hall, and the private and public sorrow manifested showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held. The funeral was in charge of the Odd Fellows, of which fraternity he was a member. The Pennacook Encampment of Concord, the Rumford Lodge of Concord, and the Juniata Lodge of Raymond, accompanied by the Brigade Band from Concord, were present. An able and appropriate address was made by Rev. Mr. McLean of Hampton. The remains were buried at Raymond.

☞ The Friday morning train from Boston for this city ran against a cow, between Hampton Falls and Seabrook, and the "cow-knocker" threw her off the track as dead as Julius Cæsar. The passengers in the cars scarcely felt the blow and the train passed on without stopping.

☞ By the courtesy of Mr. Wallace R. Moses, we have received a fine photograph of the poet Longfellow, taken at Warren's studio, 145 Trement street, Boston.

☞ It took twelve hundred pounds of paint and putty to make the North Church spire look so nicely as it does.

RELIGIOUS.—The North Church in this city has an efficient Young People's Christian Association connected with it. According to the annual report just made, they sustain a mission school, hold meetings on board the U. S. Receiving Ship, and also in four or five localities each week, by which they reach large numbers, who very seldom, if ever, attend church, and who would otherwise be lost to all moral and religious influences. And the result is, that these labors have been greatly blessed. A summary of the statistics of the year is as follows:—

Meetings held, 237; Pages of Tracts distributed, 166,828; Religious Papers, 12,131; Cartridges or Little Cards, 12,871; Magazines, 195; Bibles and Testaments 59; Cards on Swearing, 541; Diagrams Black Valley Rail Road, 183; Religious Books, 73; Hymn Books, 54; Books loaned, 46; 5 Loan Libraries, 196 vols. placed on board merchant and naval vessels; Vessels visited, 287; Calls made from house to house by lady members, 214; Garments given away, 54.

Rev. J. W. Chickering, Jr., preached his farewell sermon at the Second Church in Exeter, Sept. 4. Rarely is a five years' pastorate so pleasant and harmonious, or dissolved with so much of mutual regret. He leaves soon to commence his duties as Professor in the National Deaf-mute College, Washington, D. C. The First Church in Exeter is still without a pastor, and their house is closed during Aug. and Sept. for repairs.

The church at Newington, which had been reduced to two female members, where the ordinances had not been administered for more than forty years, was reorganized by a council Sept. 8th. Rev. Franklin Davis has been sustained here for some time past by the Missionary Society, and his labors have not been in vain. He has also been aided in his work by some of the members of the Portsmouth Y. M. C. A. Fourteen persons offered themselves before the council, ten by letter, and after examination, they were duly admitted to the church.

There were introductory public services by Revs. G. W. Thompson and A. B. Peabody; sermon by Rev. A. Tobey, D. D.; confession of faith, baptism, etc., by Rev. Mr. McLean of Hampton, consecrating prayer by Rev. T. V. Haines; fellowship of the churches by Rev. Sewall Adams; administration of the Lord's Supper (the first time in that church for forty-two years) by Rev. Wm. Clark and Rev. Sewall Harding of Mass. It was an eventful day for Newington, and great interest was shown in the services.

THE LAST GRAND STRUGGLE between the Heavy Muffers and Foul Batters is expected to come off at the Plains this P. M., commencing at half past 2 o'clock. As the days are growing shorter, it may be well for the players to adopt the programme of a Kansas club of Muffers. As the men couldn't catch each other out, the nines took turns at innings, played all day, and finally decided which beat by the captains of the two nines playing a game of seven up.

☞ Mr. J. P. Morse is now the agent for the Travelers Insurance Co. A strong and good institution, (especially the Accident part of it, we think,) and Mr. Morse will make a good agent.

MR. BANCROFT AND PHILLIPS ACADEMY.—The most flattering style of making a compliment is, with a seeming innocence of intention, to reverse the truth. Thus it is well known that academies and colleges are always eager to claim the eminent men they have educated. Accordingly, Bancroft the historian, in recently sending $2000 to Phillips Academy at Exeter, to found a scholarship, meekly says that "a boy is forgotten in the place of his haunts, but for himself he can never forget them;" as if the Academy of Exeter had not been boasting of its illustrious pupils for the last forty years.—Boston Transcript.

CHARLES L. FROST,
The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.
The established character of this line, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security.
These bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par, besides paying about 9 per cent., currency, interest in the meanwhile. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices only return five per cent.; and we regard the security equally safe.

Morning Chronicle.

Written and Compiled for the Chron. and Gaz.

Old York and its Surroundings.

BY R.K.SEWALL, ESQ., OF WISCASSET, ME.

Concluded from Yesterday.

ENGLISH OCCUPANCY—1629-30.

EDWARD GODFREY now appears. Since 1609 he had been an active promoter of the colonization of Maine and an adventurer in the work, and was the first that built at Agamenticus, and opened an English house on the site of York. He was therefore an inhabitant of Maine, nearly co-temporaneously with the Popham emigration, a confidential agent and representative of Gorges.

Being fully informed of York and its surroundings, attracted by what he had learned of the "Short salt water river," its good anchorage and safe harbor, at and above its mouth, called Agamenticus, Gorges fitted out an expedition westward and directed thither an emigration of "artificers, ship-builders, wheel-wrights and farmers, with oxen and out-fits for the lumber trade, who opened hamlets on the east side of the river near the sea, probably on and about the deserted Indian fields, seen by Levett. He gave to it a corporate character and erected it into a municipality, town or burough called "Agamenticus," with a territory three miles square from the Church, Chapel or Oratory, with power to choose a Mayor and Aldermen, make by-laws, build fortifications and hold courts, with return days every third week, and Thos. Gorges was first mayor of the burrough of Agamenticus and Edward Godfrey one of its Aldermen—1641-42.

A year hardly passed, ere the burrough of Agamenticus expanded under the fostering hand of Gorges into a metropolitan city, the first incorporated in New England, called "Gorgeana," with a territory of seven miles along the north bank of the Agamenticus by three miles back, and EDWARD GODFREY was chosen its first mayor, the city of Bristol, England, in its chartered rights and privileges, having been made the basis and model of its corporate existence. Thomas Gorges, first mayor of Agamenticus, was a lawyer, of liberal education, sober manners, was commissioned the Deputy Governor of the Lord, proprietor in this part of Maine, who at great cost, had here, on a beautiful point, in one of the windings of the upper waters of the river, erected his homestead buildings, the outlines of the cellar of which remain to this day.

GORGEANA CITY.

Such a developement of metropolitan importance, in the valley of the Agamenticus and Piscataqua, excited the jealousies of Puritanism and the aristocracy of the Bay settlements.—Winthrop of Massachusetts in depreciation and contempt of the rival beginnings on the banks of the Agamenticus in Maine, wrote of "Gorgeana," as a poor village—with a tailor for mayor—a population of two hundred and fifty to three hundred souls—and one Hall, an excommunicated man for a minister."

Here, nevertheless, was laid out and organized and grew up the first city of New England, where was introduced to the New World, the municipal rights and privileges of English law and civilization, in organized form.

These beginnings had disturbed Massachusetts and Puritan purposes and proclivities, and agitation was inaugurated with a view to absorb the fruits of what was regarded a rival state. The representatives of the government of Gorges resited the intrusion, and the courts of justice at Gorgeana administered law according to the principles of English jurisprudence.

1644. A woman was indicted for the murder of her husband, tried, condemned and executed. In 1647, the Massachusetts manipulations seriously disturbed the existing order of things, and though resisted by Edward Godfrey to the last, a half decade hardly elapsed, when they culminated in the absorption of this ancient municipality into the jurisdiction of the Bay State, and the erection of the territory of Maine north of the "Isle of Shoals" into a county, called "Yorkshire," and the city of Gorgeana into its capital called "York."

CONGREGATIONALISM.

1673. With Rev. Shubal Dummer, a graduate of Harvard 1656, the ecclesiastical polity of Mass. Congregationalism was organized at York. He is reputed to have been an able, self-sacrificing and pious man, who lavishly expended his own patrimony in establishing his church and its system of self-governing policy in this part of Maine, which, however, had before been developed on the banks of the Sagadahoc, by Robert Gulet some thirteen years before, near the site of the ancient Popham's Town, on the walls above, at the site of the city of Bath.

SACKING OF YORK.

On the morning of the 25th of January, 1692, savage hordes lurking in the environs of York, in the winter, accomplished what they had been unable to effect in the summer, owing to the vigilance of the people of this ancient stronghold of the English race in Maine. Having deposited their packs near a great rock—still pointed out by tradition in the north western outskirts of the town, on the high-lands overlooking the settlements in the vicinage of "Roaring Rock," some two miles distant, stealthily and on snow shoes, the wily savages crept in among the unwarned homesteads. Pastor Dummer's house stood a short distance from a natural curiosity of this ancient town, on the sea shore, known as "Roaring Rock," and as, at his own door, he was in the act of mounting his horse for a pastoral visit, he was shot and fell dead, stripped of his sacred vestments, in which savage cruelty in refinement afterward delighted to array itself, in mockery of the religious sympathies and instincts of the captive men, women and children of this ancient and godly place. The pastor's wife, a woman of refined and cultivated tastes and delicate sensibilities, with a hundred of her parishoners, was led into captivity, soon finding her rest in death.

Seventy-five members of the City hamlets were left weltering in their blood, amid the charred remains of their homes, and the ancient city was fired and reduced to ashes, except its garrison houses. The inhabitants, were an eminently intelligent, cultivated and moral people, and the shock of this sacking of York sent a shiver of horror and dismay throughout New England.

The godly Samuel Moody, also a graduate of Harvard, in 1700 succeeded the ill-fated Dummer. Moody was a man eminent in faith and good works—generous in his instincts and purposes—unselfish in his efforts and God-fearing in his life. He is said to have declined a stipulated salary, preferring to trust God for his daily bread. For nearly half a century, he led the way to holiness and heaven, among the people of York.

SHIPWRECK.

In the winter of 1710, the "Nottingham Galley from London for Boston, carrying ten guns, struck off the coast of York in the night, driven in a storm on "Boon Island." The crew escaped, but scenes of horror transpired before the survivors were released.

RELIGIOUS EXCITEMENTS.

Under Father Moody's sacred administration (1741,) here among the people of his charge, as the first place in Maine, was developed the peculiar religious emotional sensation now termed revival, among evangelical christians, which spread from York as a center, through the hamlets of Eastern Maine, at Pemaquid, Georgetown on the Sagadahoc, and Newcastle on the Sheepscot. It was one of the wonderful works of the age. From this period the material for the history of the valleys of the Agamenticus and Piscataqua is abundant. Mr. Marshall of York has much original and other important matter which we hope will soon find use.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Deeds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made no fewer rejected applications. SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the best faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

FOR ALL PURPOSES of a LAXATIVE MEDICINE,

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative PILL. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no sickness demands it, for those who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PILLS makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus. dawje16eod4m

THE BABY.

Where did you come from, baby dear?
Out of the everywhere, into here.

Where did you get your eyes so blue?
Out of the sky as I came through.

What makes your forehead so smooth and high?
A soft hand stroked it as I went by.

What makes your cheek like a warm white rose?
I saw something better than any one knows.

Whence that three-cornered smile of bliss?
Three angels gave me at once a kiss.

Where did you get this pearly ear?
God spoke, and it came out to hear.

Where did you get these arms and hands?
Love made itself into hooks and bands.

Feet, whence did you come, you darling things?
From the same box as the angels' wings.

How did they all just come to be you?
God thought about me, and so I grew.

But how did you come to us, you dear?
God thought about you, and so I am here.

GEORGE MACDONALD.

—We hear that the Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee of York County, on whom developed the duty of printing the votes for the county, printed many of them with Mr. Lynch's name left out, and the balance with Mr. Lynch's name at the top of the ticket, that it might be conveniently cut off.—Portsmouth Chronicle.

A great hullabaloo has been made about the printing of the ballots, but our friend of the Chronicle is in error. Not a ballot was printed or sent out by our County Committee that did not have Lynch's name on it. The mare's nest that one Smith of Saco discovered was the fact that Lynch's name was placed first upon the ticket, and a person to have read the Press would have thought that every ballot so cast was thrown away. Smith, who wrote the article, may have honestly thought that the validity of such a ballot was affected because the Governor's name was not placed first, and those who acted with him may have thought so; whereas it makes no difference in what order the names are arranged, and we supposed every body knew it, but it seems Smith didn't. It was known that a large number of Republicans intended to cut Lynch, and since that was so did it make any difference whether his name was cut from the top or bottom? But he says, having his name first was awfully suggestive! Very well, suppose it was suggestive; nobody would cut his name who didn't want to, and if they wanted to, did he desire the printer to forcibly prevent it as far as he could? Is any method that does not deceive the people, but facilitates the expression of their free opinions, to be denounced? Furthermore, it seems the democrats were not afraid of any body's cutting off the name of their candidate; for their ballots were printed with Mr. Haines' name at the top, and they were willing to trust the instincts and intelligence of their own people. Couldn't Lynch afford to do the same? If he could afford it, what is this Smith bawling about?—Biddeford Journal.

We could scarcely credit the story, but some people are so awful mad because Bro. Butler has backbone, that they charge all manner of things to him, probably judging him by their own standard. Independence is better than policy in the long run, even in the treacherous field of politics. Two years will be sufficient to prove it in this case.

THE DAM'S RELATIONS WITH DIFFERENT SIRES.—A notion in regard to the effects of a first impregnation of domestic animals, has been promulgated, mostly I think by English theorists, in which it has been gravely announced that a blood mare or heifer first impregnated by a scrub, is forever thereafter rendered impure, or no better than a grade; that no offspring from them, however pure the subsequent sire, is to be relied on as pure.

In America we have an unanswerable demonstration of the utter fallacy and falsehood of any such theory, in the fact that the mule breeders of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee, where the great bulk of the supplies is bred, breed their mares indiscriminately to jacks and horses, changing them first to one and then the other, as the market demand for either horses or mules may dictate; in thousands of instances taking the first foal from a jack, and following immediately by a horse. This system is annually practiced in the regions I have named, is there carried out this very year, and has been in full practice for the last fifty years, in nearly every township in all those States; yet we have no proof that any one mare has been damaged in the least, in her availibility to breed perfect colts from a horse.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?
IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the
AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.
It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.
It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.
One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds, 2 coats; while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats,—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.
The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.
The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the

HAIR VIGOR,
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of thinning the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.,

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, SEPT. 19, 1870.

☞ The Newburyport Herald is informed that the firm of Francis Skinner & Co., of Boston, which has lately failed, are indebted to manufacturing corporations in the following amounts,—to the Naumkeag Mills, $300,000; Bates, $300,000; Franklin, $90,000; Androscoggin, $700,000; Pepperell, $365,000; Laconia Mills, $642,000; Continental, $96,000.

Its liabilities are stated at four million dollars, and its assests at about fifty cents on the dollar. Its indebtedness is principally to manufacturing companies for which it was agent.

☞ The Newburyport Herald states that there are in that city 200 clerks and only 25 apprentices. This is a sad and fatal showing for any community, but we fear Portsmouth can do little if any better. Boys, and men too, appear to prefer starving in a store, to flourishing at a trade—and there seems to be no end to making saloons and shops about town. One manufactory or workshop is of more good than all the loafing holes; and there can be no prouder name than mechanic.

☞ The Democratic District Convention, which met at Greenville, Tenn., broke in up a row, in consequence of adopting the two-thirds rule for nomination. The contest was between James White and Andrew Johnson, White receiving 52 votes and Johnson 50. No nomination was effected.

☞ Stoughton, Mass., was the scene of two murders, on Thursday. John Moran shot Constable Packard for endeavoring to arrest him for a $9 debt, and Dennis Carney chopped his wife's head to pieces because she wouldn't give him money to buy rum.

UP TO SNUFF.—It is said that the crown diamonds lodged by the Empress in the Bank of France are paste, and the real ones were sold long since, through an American dentist named Evans, and the money converted to the use of the Imperial family.

☞ A waterfall has recently been discovered in British Guiana, in South America, which dwarfs Niagara. There are two falls—one 770 feet, and another of 50 feet. The volume of water is 78 feet deep and 100 yards broad, during the dry season.

☞ A party of tourists, numbering eleven persons, while undertaking the perilous feat of ascending Mont Blanc, were swallowed up by an avalanche; none escaped. Two of the adventurers lost were Americans named Bean and Kendall.

☞ Parisians are going up in a balloon, daily. Electric lights have been placed on all the forts around the city, that the Prussians may be seen at night, as if the French hadn't seen enough of them, already, by daylight.

☞ A Brussels dispatch says King William has held a Council at Rheims, and decided so annex Alsace and Lorraine, and to decline diplomatic interference.

☞ Gen. Trochu has been exercising the raw troops of Paris by mock sallies, now that Nancy has given in.

☞ It is said that carrier pigeons will be used to convey news from Paris to London, during the siege.

☞ Marshal McMahon arrived at Bouillon, Belgium, on Friday, not being so dead as reported.

☞ Goods are being sent from Havre, France, so that the Prussians shall not have 'em.

☞ New York city has several cases of yellow fever, and is to have an anti-rum-shop party.

New Hampshire Items.

James Conners of Manchester, has been sent to jail for stealing a watch from the House of Hon. Fred Smyth.

Hugh Murphy of Manchester, for selling liquor was fined $50, and for keeping shop open Sunday $7. Why not do this in Portsmouth?

Mrs. Ephraim Goss, aged a hundred and one, is youthfully skipping about in Amherst.

Mr. Stephen Webster of Atkinson is 80 years of age, and his wife 85, and they were married 66 years ago last March. In the same town are four sisters who have sung in the choir side by side for 45 years, one of whom has sung there 55 years, and her husband a still longer period, most of the time as chorister.

Pat Maguire of Manchester, while engaged in the pleasant occupation of carrying a hod to the top of a five-story Manchester mill, fell from its topmost height. He banged several times against stagings in his aerial evolutions, and "came to earth" in a devout frame of mind and unhurt.

Uri Lamprey, Esq., of Hampton has raised a squash vine seven hundred feet long, and productive in proportion to its length.

Joseph Wentworth, Esq., of Sandwich has purchased the fine dwelling house at the south end of Main Street, at present occupied by N. B. Bryant, Esq., the house in which Ex-President Pierce spent the latter days of his life and died. The price paid for the dwelling was $14,000, the highest sum for which a dwelling house not including considerable land was ever sold in that county. Mr. Bryant's business induces him to make this change of residence.

A fire in the woods at Concord on Rattlesnake Hill, on the land of Benjamin Grover, when found was burning in three places, having evidently been set. It progressed over land of Francis N. Fisk, the Concord Granite Company, estate of James Prescott, Daniel Farnum, B. B. Clifford and S. M. Chesley. A hundred cords of wood were saved on the land of George E. Jenks, Esq. In the neighborhood of two hundred and fifty acres were burned over in all, mostly timbered with young chestnut and pine.

Col. Wm. H. Cilley of Northfield will make his future home in Peru, South America, where he has been engaged by the government to superintend the construction of the railroads now building and projected in the country. Col. C. has sold a large portion of his valuable library, thinking that he can replace it to advantage in Peru.

In the Supreme Court at Newport, the case of State vs. Eugene Straw, Darwin and Frank Wright, indicted for riding on a rail and otherwise assaulting and ill treating Mr. Sylvanus True of Unity, in May last, was taken up. The trial occupied two days and the verdict was guilty. What punishment was awarded for such an outrage, is not stated.

The locomotive "Lawrence," wrecked on the 12th, at Scribner's ledge, on the C. & P. Railroad, about two and a half miles from Raymond, was carried to Concord on the day following the accident. The machine is badly sprung in various parts, but the frame is thought to be unhurt.

The Merrimack County Jail had twenty-four boarders on the 14th, a larger number than ever known before.

The present drought has caused the stoppage of the Gilmanton Hoisery Mills. Their reservoir has not been exhausted for seventeen years before. Cartloads of fish have died in it.

☞ Maryland Democrats are truckling for the negro vote.

☞ We have received from Rev. A. C. Hardy, State Superintendent of public Instruction, and publish this morning, a circular, to the populous towns and cities in this State, respecting the location and funds for establishing "a state Normal School," according to a law passed at the last session of our Legislature. The Trustees will locate the school in the town or city where the most favorable terms will be offered, including the land for the institution.

Portsmouth has more need of such an institution than any other town or city in the State, and more children according to population. Hundreds are beating the streets, without attending any school, most of them are the children of foreign emigrants, who ought to be compelled to attend school, or otherwise when they become adults, they would become vicious and worthless. There are also others, whose future usefulness might be promoted by the Normal School. It would also benefit this city in a pecuniary point of views as set forth in the circular.

The appeal is now made to our citizens, and closes by saying—"Have we not sons of New Hampshire, whom God has blessed with abundant means, who may desire in this manner to erect to their names a living monument, that with its numberless tongues, unceasing power, and active usefulness, shall testify to their nobleness and benevolence, through the generation; and whose name shall be honored and revered by thousands of his beneficiaries?" Let the answer be in the affirmative. X.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, Department of Public Instruction, Superintendent's Office, Concord, September 6th. Gentlemen: A Law has been enacted establishing "a State Normal School." Sec. 3 of the Law is as follows:

"It shall be the duty of the Trustees, without delay, to give notice by publication that they will receive proposals from towns, corporations or individuals, to furnish lands, buildings, or funds for the School, and they shall make such selections of locality as will, in their judgment best subserve the interest of the Institution, and shall establish said Normal School with as little delay as possible, for a period of five years."

As it is very desirable to put the School in active operation with the least possible delay, I have been requested to solicit proposals for the location of the School.

Therefore, I request those who have an interest in the matter, to forward to this Office at their earliest convenience the amount of Funds with which they will endow the School, should it be located according to their request, specifying the condition of the Fund, whether in Lands, Buildings or Cash. Also stating the circumstances that they may deem as favoring the location designated. These Proposals will be laid before the Board of Trustees, and considered at their earliest convenience, of which meeting doubtless all who may have an interest will be duly notified, and receive an impartial hearing.

This School will be of special advantage to the community in which it shall be located, and should therefore call forth active and generous competition for its location.

Have we not sons of New Hampshire, whom God has blessed with abundant means, who may desire in this manner to erect to their names a living monument, that with its numberless tongues, unceasing power, and active usefulness, shall testify to their nobleness and benevolence, through the generations; and whose name shall be honored and revered by the thousands of his beneficiaries. ANTHONY C. HARDY.

☞ The annual conference of the Unitarian churches of Maine has closed a three days' session in Saco. Sermons were preached by Rev. Mr. DeNormandie of Portsmouth, and Rev. Mr. Vinal of Kennebunk, and essays were delivered by Dr. Palfrey of Belfast, and Rev. Mr. Cram of Augusta. It was very much the largest and most interesting gathering ever held by the Unitarians of Maine.

☞ City Marshal Johnson has returned to duty after a fortnight's vacation. He with the rest of the Police force found business enough in arresting drunken fishermen Saturday night. 18 were locked up to sober off, when they were discharged, it being their first offence in this port.

Officer Samuel Taylor also arrested John Sullivan and Walter Snow at the E. R. Station while fighting. Sullivan has just served a five years term at the Reform School, and Snow is a graduate of the House of Correction. Both are minors, and are to leave the city instead of being brought up for trial, the Marshal having given them the preference.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Chapter of Facts.

Space is valuable in a newspaper, and it is therefore proposed in this advertisement to condense a variety of facts, important to the public, into a small compass. Those facts refer to HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—what that celebrated medicine is, and what it will do. In the first place then, the article is a stimulant, tonic and alterative, consisting of a combination of an absolutely pure spirituous agent with the most valuable medicinal vegetable substances that Botanic research has placed at the disposal of the chemist and the physician.

These ingredients are compounded with great care, and in such proportions as to produce a preparation which invigorates without exciting the general system, and tones, regulates and controls the stomach, the bowels, the liver and the minor secretive organs. What this great restorative will do must be gathered from what it has done. The case of dyspepsia, or any other form of indigestion, in which it has been persistently administered without effecting a radical cure is yet to be heard from, and the same may be said of bilious disorders, intermittent fever, nervous affections, general debility, constipation, sick headache, mental despondency, and the peculiar complaints and disabilities to which the feeble are so subject. It purifies all the fluids of the body, including the blood, and the gentle stimulus which it imparts to the nervous system is not succeeded by the slightest reaction. This is a chapter of facts which, for the sake of their own sakes, should mark and remember.

For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. Sold by all druggists. dawlmst

☞ The mackerel fleet, numbering 400 or more vessels, arrived in the lower harbor on Saturday.

☞ There has been a general preparation above the earth, and on it, for a rain storm for several days.

☞ U. S. Steamer Brooklyn was to sail from New York on Saturday for this city, to take the remains of the late Admiral Farragut to New York.

☞ A large number of the Odd Fellows of this city were conveyed to Eliot in carriages Sunday afternoon, to attend the funeral of the late Morris Shapleigh.

—The avidity with which the Boston daily papers are sought on the E. R. R. trains which meet in this city, remind us that a newsboy stationed on the "westward ho!" would be a great public commodity and a sure means of compensation.—Portsmouth Journal.

How is that for high?

☞ Mr. Meshach H. Bell, Jr., has accepted the position at the N. E. P. Union Store made vacant by the resignation of Mr. J. C. Dixon. Mr. Bell is well known as one of the most capable and faithful attachees of that flourishing institution, and is the right man in the right place.

☞ Mr. John W. Staves has fitted up a nice bowling alley in the basement of the Temple, with all the conveniences necessary for a first-class establishment. It is just the place to take ladies who like the exercise. We hear that the alley will be let to parties who desire to engage it, day or evening. It will be a popular resort, we think, the coming season. Mr. Stavers has a private office adjoining the alley and is fitting up a room, to be let for a supper room. The establishment is the only one in Portsmouth and will, we hope, be liberally patronized by those who do not think the principal attraction at such places is a bar.

AN ECCENTRIC CLERGYMAN, who lived nearer Portsmouth, N. H., than Madagascar or Thibet, was much annoyed by the frequent incursions made upon his garden by a cow from an adjoining field. The owner of the cow happened to reside on the other side of the town, and the reverend gentleman resolved upon a strictly evangelical revenge—that generally known as heaping coals of fire. So one day, at high noon, seeing the intrusive animal before his study window, he sallies forth, in dressing-gown and slippers, spectacles and skull-cap, and umbrella in hand, drives her through the most populous portion of the town to her owner's gate. Both parties to this novel procedure were generally recognized by the busy folks, who enjoyed the wit and good humor of the parson's mild revenge, while prompted to take such liberty with the words of our great dramatist as to make him say—"Thus conscience doth make cow-herds of us all."—Salem Gazette.

THE PREPARATIONS FOR THE FARRAGUT FUNERAL IN NEW YORK originated with the society of which the Admiral was the head, the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States. At the meeting of the New York commandery of this order a committee was appointed to make arrangements for the funeral. The society proposes to cooperate with the civic authorities, though it has been rather unpleasantly ignored by Mayor Hall.

In the mayor's communication to the Aldermen, after paying a well-merited tribute to the character and services of Admiral Farragut he proposes the following plan:—

I suggest, in behalf of the commonalty, that the United States government be requested to detail a vessel of war to bring his remains to this city; and that in the event of its omission or inability to do so, that a steamer be despatched under civic expense to Portsmouth, and in charge of a guard of honor; That upon the arrival here of the illustrious remains, they be honored by a public funeral with suitable pageantry and ceremony;

That all associations, naval, military, civic, or otherwise, who are desirous of co-operating in this last tribute of respect, be invited to equally share therein with the city authorities, and that a monument to designate his final resting-place be hereafter erected at the expense of the city.

The Aldermen, in response to this Message, appointed a committee to act upon the matter, to invite associations to join in the funeral, and voted that the expenses of the obsequies be paid by the city.

An extract from a reply to a note addressed to Mrs. Farragut says: "I can but acquiesce in the wishes so warmly expressed in your communication this morning, and, with great confidence, intrust to your care the beloved and honored remains of my husband to be conveyed to their last resting-place."

OLD TIMES CHRONICLES, No. 16.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

THE HERMIT OF PORTSMOUTH. — A hermit is one who retires from society and lives alone. The causes are various. Sometimes disappointment has upset the mind; sometimes oddity; sometimes a penurious disposition, in which the general comforts of life are not allowed for fear of coming to want; and sometimes a disordered state of the mental powers, bordering on insanity.

Portsmouth once had a hermit. His name was Benjamin Lear. He lived at Sagamore Creek, south from the Parade two or three miles, near the Lafayette road.

His mother lived to the age of 103, and died in 1775. She was the first person in town who attained the age of a century or more. It is related of her that when she was 102, visitors were at her house and the tolling of the bell was heard. She exclaimed as she burst into tears, "When will the bell toll for me? It seems the bell will never toll for me. I am afraid I shall never die." At the time of her death the Episcopal and North churches were destitute of pastors. Rev. Dr. Haven was pastor of the South church.

Mr. Lear had a farm. We are not informed whether he was ever married. He imbibed the notion that he should live to need and spend the whole of his property. At the age of about 60 he commenced his hermit life. His dwelling was a miserable hut, not so good as many sheds now. He made his own garments, and the fashion of them was peculiar to himself. He had one cow or more, did his own milking, and made butter and cheese. It is said his principal food consisted of potatoes and milk. His moderate fare contributed to health, and at the age of 80 his face was as free from wrinkles as most persons at 50.

His disposition was mild and inoffensive. Once or twice a year in advanced life he would walk to the business part of the town, which he usually called by its early name, "the Bank." Neighbors would ask him to lodge in their dwellings when the weather was cold, but he declined; and when it was known that he was unwell he refused all offers to watch with him nights.

He died one cold night, we think, in 1800. Some persons went in to see him. He was unable to rise, but spoke and soon expired. It was found that he wore no shirt, but in his bed were his tattered cloth garb, a small ragged blanket, and his bed was a parcel of straw.

His age was 82. The place of his abode was visited afterwards for some years as a curiosity. The Creek, irregular hills, somewhat craggy rocks, a good field for tillage, a good orchard for those times, tall pines not far away, made the scenery interesting; but what were those to him who as a recluse had shut his eyes to the beauties and sublimities of nature and placed himself "out of humanity's reach."

☞ The Boston Advertiser says that Mr. Frank W. Hackett, of the Suffolk bar, has gone to Minnesota for the winter on account of impaired health.

HOTEL FOR SALE.—I offer at private sale the Hotel now occupied by me, at Warren, N. H., known as the MOOSILAUKE HOUSE, with the furniture and other appurtenances. It has been thoroughly rebuilt and refurnished, has a profitable transient patronage, and is in a most desirable location for summer business—being 20 miles north of Plymouth, 26 miles south of the Profile House, and only 9 miles from the Prospect House on the summit of Mt. Moosilauke. The neighborhood is one of the most romantic and picturesque in the mountain regions, and is fast coming into a notoriety that must largely enhance the value of this property. The subscriber sells for the reason that he desires to give his entire attention to the conduct of Prospect House and the carriage road now being built to the "tip-top" of Mt. Moosilauk, by the "Mt. Moosilauk Turnpike Co. lwsep12

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The ralance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

OILING FARM IMPLEMENTS. — Every farmer should have a can of linseed oil and a brush on hand, and whenever he buys a new tool, he should soak it well with the oil and dry it by the fire or in the sun, before using. The wood by this treatment is toughened and strengthened, and rendered impervious to water. Wet a new hay-rake, and when it dries it will begin to be loose in the joints; but if well oiled, the wet will have but slight effect. Shovels and forks are preserved from checking and cracking in the top of the handle by oiling; the wood becomes smooth as glass by use, and is far less liable to blister the hand when long used. Axe and hammer handles often break off where the wood enters the iron; this part particularly should be toughened with oil, to secure durability. Oiling the moche in the eye of the axe will prevent its swelling and shrinking, and sometimes getting loose. The tools on a large farm cost a large sum of money; they should be of the most approved kinds. It is a poor economy at the present extravagant prices of labor, to set men at work with ordinary, old-fashioned implements. Laborers should be required to return their tools to the convenient places provided for them; after using, they should be put away clean and bright. The mould-boards of plows are apt to get rusty from one season to another, even if sheltered; they should be brushed over with a few drops of oil when put away, and will then remain in good order till wanted. —Farm Journal.

AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION. — The Boston Journal of Chemistry says on this subject: "The first lesson we would teach farmers in our college would be, how to turn oil of vitriol out of a carboy and not spoil their clothing; second, how properly to dissolve bones, prepare phosphate fertilizers and efficient composts; third, how to use and take care of agricultural implements; fourth, how to lay drain tile; fifth, how to plough and pulverize land so as to fit it for seed; sixth, how to make and save manures; seventh, how to feed and properly take care of stock; eighth, how to keep buildings and fences in order; and ninth, how to keep farm accounts systematically and accurately.

We believe what is needed for the interests of agriculture is not so much agricultural colleges, where young men are to have a prolonged training in such branches of study as are taught in our ordinary educational institutions, but schools to which active farmers and their boys may resort in the winter months, and learn practically by observation and experiment how to conduct farming operations to the best possible advantage."

POTASH FOR FRUIT TREES.—A writer in the Country Gentleman made the following experiment, and is convinced that potash is of benefit to fruit trees:

"Two years ago last fall, we purchased some crude potash, dissolved it in water and scattered it under the trees, and we also threw about them small pieces of the potash undissolved. Last year we noticed no change in the fruit or appearance of the trees. In the fall we had them all pruned thoroughly according to rule, taking off all irregular and interfering limbs, and making the heads of the trees look rather bare. Last year we had rather more fruit than usual, the tops assuming a fine shape, and the fruit being the largest, fairest and best we ever saw. The fruit was nearly all uniformly large, perfectly fair and free from blemish or imperfections. We could plainly distinguish improvement in the flavor. Now, there is probably no question but that proper pruning improves the fruit, but we believe that the potash played no inconsiderable part in our success last year. The first year it probably did not get carried down to the roots so as to have much effect."

TO DESTROY WEEDS IN WALKS.—A most efficient agent for the destruction of weeds, and one not expensive, can be made by boiling four pounds of arsenic and eight pounds of soda in twelve gallons of water. To every gallon of this boiling mixture three gallons of cold water should be added, and the liquid carefully sprinkled over the walks while it is yet warm. It is desirable to do this in fine weather and when the walks are dry, so that the weeds and weed seeds may have full benefit of the application. Care must be taken not to let any of the liquid fall on the leaves or reach the roots of any plants it is not desired to kill. In twenty-four hours after the poison is put on the walks every weed will be killed; and if it be once throughly done, it will keep the walks clean through the whole season.—Canada Farmer.

TAKE CARE OF COWS.—The care of cows is something that requires knowledge and painstaking in details. Good shelter and abundance of food they must have if we would make them profitable. Evenness of local temperature is a necessity. If the weather is cold or wet without doors, they should be made warm and dry within the stable. If the sun shines too hot, they should have the privilege of shade. When a cow becomes uncomfortable, the flow of her milk is restrained. A cow will return to you just in proportion as you comfort her.—Germantown Telegraph.

TO KILL BARK LICE ON APPLE TREES.—In answer to L. B.'s inquiry, what will kill bark lice on apple trees, I will state what killed them on mine. In the latter part of the month of May, I took soft soap and reduced it one half with strong lye; and with a whitewash brush, applied it to the parts affected by the lice, and it completely destroyed them, leaving the trees smooth and healthy. I don't think that common soapsuds are strong enough to entirely destroy them.—Cor. Maine Farmer.

—"Is my face dirty?" asked a young lady from the backwoods, while seated with her aunt at the dinner-table on a steamer running from Cairo to New Orleans. "Dirty! No. Why did you ask?" "Because that insulting waiter insists upon putting a towel beside my plate. I've thrown three under the table, and yet every time he comes around he puts another one before me."

—"But, father, you know love makes the time fly," said an enthusiastic daughter, who was arguing in favor of a longer bridal-trip than usual. "Yes, my dear, I know it does at first," replied the old gentleman; "but you'll find in the end that time will make love fly."

—"How is your wife to-day?" said a friend to a French gentleman. "Oh! moche de sem," said he, "she is no better, and I am 'fraid ver little was. If she is gon to die, I wish she would do it soon. I feel so unhappy—my mind is so moche unsettel. Ven she die, I shall not be so moche dissatisfied."

WHITEFIELD CENTENNIAL. — Rev. George Whitefield died at Newburyport Sept. 30, 1770, and by his own request was buried under the pulpit of the Federal St. Presbyterian Church, in which he had often preached. That Society proposes to commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of his death on Friday, the 30th instant. Rev. A. F. Stearns, D. D., of Newark, N. J., a former pastor of the Federal street Church, will deliver a commemorative discourse in the morning. In the afternoon addresses are expected from Rev. John Hall, D. D., of New York; Rev. H. Allon of London, England, one of the leading Congregational ministers of that city; Rev. Rufus W. Clark, D. D., of Albany, N. Y.; Rev. A. G. Vermilye, D. D., of Utica, N. Y.; and Rev. S. Irenæus Prime, D. D., of the New York Observer Rev. Dr. Blagden of the Old South, Boston, has been invited to preside. It will be an occasion of great interest.

BURLINGTON, CEDAR RAPIDS AND MINNESOTA RAILROAD CO.,

Traversing the great States of Iowa and Minnesota. The Road nearly completed, and in running order. Without competition; with large local and through traffic; an air-line from St. Paul to St. Louis and Chicago.

In recommending to the public an investment in the First Mortgage Sinking Fund Convertible Seven per cent. Gold Bonds issued by this Company, we subjoin a few of the considerations which we feel authorize us to assert the superiority of this enterprise over any similar one now in the market.

The desirability of the Bonds as an investment is assured by the fact that the Burlington, Cedar Rapids, and Minnesota Railroad will serve larger and more numerous interests than any other of the Western Railroads.

1. It is the shortest line by 45 miles between Chicago and St. Paul.

2. It is an air-line from St. Paul to St. Louis, 90 miles shorter than any projected or constructed road.

3. It is the highway to the Northwest and Red River country. It must receive as feeders all projected and constructed roads north of Mankato or west of St. Paul.

4. It possesses the conditions always requisite to secure a first-class road—namely, a good initial point, an equally good terminal point, and a rich and populous intermediate country.

Burlington—and through its connections—Chicago and St. Louis are the initial points;—St. Paul and Mankato, and the wheat fields of Minnesota, are its terminal points; and the Cedar Valley, pronounced by geologists the best soil in the world for cereals, is its bed-track.

5. Its sources of local traffic are immense.—Connecting with the great mills of St. Anthony and the Upper Mississippi, it serves all Central and Western Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, and Wisconsin with timber; and on the other hand, it supplies the same districts with coal from the great coal measures of the Des Moines Valley and of Illinois, which it reaches by its tributaries. The agricultural products of the country are a great source of revenue; the corn of Iowa, the best corn State in the Union—the wheat of Minnesota, the best wheat State—and the immense crops of the great valley lying between the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers—must go over the road, the freight rates for which are unrestricted by any competition. The population of the surrounding district is already immense, resembling somewhat that of the Connecticut Valley in character, numbers and enterprise.

6. The road is now building at the rate of 1 1-2 to 2 miles per day, and is to be completed in time to move the fall crops this year.

7. The earnings on the completed portion of the road will pay the running expenses, the interest on the bonds, and a handsome dividend. The actual receipts for June and July (two of the dullest months in the year) demonstrate this statement beyond dispute. It is confidently believed the earnings will be more than doubled from the connections established when the road is finished to Cedar Falls.

8. The Bonds may be either Coupon or Registered at the option of the buyer, and may be converted at par into Stock of the Company, at any time. This privilege cannot fail to cause them, at no distant day, to command a price considerably above par.

9. These Bonds are the only mortgage upon the road, and are limited to issue at $20,000 per mile, secured by the rolling stock, road, and the whole property of the Company.

10. The Bonds run 50 years, affording an enduring investment, and at the same time assuring the holder of a sinking fund by a sinking fund which is duly established.

11. The subscriptions to the stock of the Company along the line of the road are very large, and are paid in with alacrity.

12. The road is built with care and economy, and is under the management of parties of great experience and capital.

14. After a most rigid examination into this enterprise, we do not hesitate to endorse these Bonds as being as good and as safe as United States 5-20's, and fully equal to any railroad mortgage issued; and until these securities are placed upon the New-York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date.

" 10-40's, " 34 " 4 3-4 " gold

While the Burlington Bonds return 9 1-2 per cent. currency interest, besides having the prospect of realizing a large profit by their future advance in price.

The above are but a small portion of the considerations which might be urged in proof of the assertion that the loan we now offer to the public possesses in the highest degree every point assuring the safety and profit of the investment. The small remaining balance of this loan for sale at 90.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

FOR ALL PURPOSES of a LAXATIVE MEDICINE.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative PILL. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh, makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their healthy action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PILLS makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus. dawjeltod4m

The last thing which men and women think of learning is how to meet the various diseases to which they are liable every hour. Men and women are started out into life without the slightest knowledge of what to do when they are sick. They are taught how to talk and write, to make money, but never how to preserve their lives so that they may have a chance to talk, write, and make money. It ought to be a part of every boy's and girl's accomplishments, taught in every school, to know how to cure colds, coughs, fevers, how to heal wounds, how to neutralize poisons—in a word, how to keep themselves alive; for of what use are accomplishments if one does not live to enjoy them? And yet such is the folly of the world that men and women—all of us, in fact—find ourselves as helpless as babes when sickness comes upon us or any dear to us. One of the great results of the coming age will be to meet this difficulty; and the day will yet come when any persons, and especially any of the mothers of the race, who are not prepared to doctor themselves and those of their own house in any ordinary sickness, will be looked upon as but half educated. May that time come quickly.

NEWMARKET.—In the spring of 1869, I informed the public that Mr. Robert Channell, of that part of Durham now a part of Newmarket, who then was upwards of eighty-four years of age, hauled or carted and unloaded, in a few months, a distance of one and one-half miles, over nine hundred tons of stone for a new mill at Newmarket, some weighing from 200 to 300 pounds each.

Well, I have now to add another most extraordinary feat performed by that wonderful specimen of human power and endurance, to wit: A short time since, he, being nearly eighty-six years of age, in the space of three and one-half days, dug, with his own hands and spade, on his farm, 61 rods of ditch, 2 feet 4 inches deep and 20 inches wide, being a space of 3915 cubic feet, or 30 75-128 cords of solid earth thrown out. I have this statement from his own lips, which no one that knows him doubts. Comment is unnecessary. Truth is sometimes stranger than fiction. DAVID MURRAY.

CURRANTS. — A well known fruit grower said to us, as we were discussing varieties of currants: "I can take the old Red Dutch, and treating it in my way, get $200 an acre more from it than from any other variety." This seemed a pretty large statement, but upon seeing the result of severe pruning and liberal manuring upon some of our own bushes of Red Dutch, we think it was not much out of the way. This variety is superior to all others in flavor, and with proper treatment will rival them in size. Our friend's "way of judicious pruning, liberal manuring, and thorough cultivation," with these, old sorts, as well as the White, will attain a development and excellence in marked contrast with the fruit as ordinarily seen.—Am. Agriculturalist.

A MISTAKE—That editors keep public reading rooms. That they have plenty of time to talk to everybody. That they are delighted to get anything to "fill up" the paper. That they have plenty of time to correct bad manuscript. That they should "puff" everybody for nothing. That they must have no opinion of their own. That they should know everything, whether informed of it or not. That they have plenty of money. That they should "notice" every scallawag show that travels. That they should have news, whether there is any or not. That they should print every man's name who attends a dog fight.

THE PRICE OF CATTLE.—On account of the drought and the scarcity of hay and other fodder, in some quarters it is thought that cattle of ordinary quality will be very cheap this fall. Superior cattle, however, fit for the best beef will continue to be high simply because corn and fodder to fat them will be high. Good beef cattle sell in the market for $12 per hundred, dressed. Round hogs sell for 15 cents per pound.

—Said a loving wife to her husband: "Will you never learn, my dear, the difference between real and exchangeable value?" The husband, tired of political economists in petticoats, replied: "Ah! yes, my dear, I know your great learning and many virtues. That's your real value. But I know also that none of your married friends would swop wives with me. That's your exchangeable value."

—A party of respectable Chicago ladies have formed a society for reclaiming young men, and they go about the streets nights and pick up young men who show signs of dissipation; invite them to their houses, and treat them to ice-cream, chicken-salad, etc., and let them go home sober. Half the young men in town lie around the streets nights, to be taken in.

—For every evil under the sun
There is a remedy, or there's none;
If there is a remedy, try and find it;
If there isn't—never mind it.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?
IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the
AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.
It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the Best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.
It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.
One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds, 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats.—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.
The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.
The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the

HAIR VIGOR,
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of forcing the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, SEPT. 20, 1870.

WAR NOTES.—It is reported that Austria, Italy and Russia have concluded an alliance, the object of which is the division of the Turkish empire, the annexation of Prussian Poland by Russia, Prussian Silesia by Austria, and the surrender of Italian Tyrol of Italy. The news creates great excitement in diplomatic circles and it is feared that important complications are impending.

The Prussian cavalry were defeated on Thursday afternoon, near Guignes, and driven back on Melun, on the Paris and Lyons Railway. In the morning a column of three arms advanced from Melun upon Corbeil, fourteen miles from Paris, destroying the flour mills and seizing the granaries at that point. The Prussians having pushed on three miles further, to Ablon, were attacked by a superior force, and after a severe conflict were routed and compelled to retreat upon the intrenchments at Juvisy, commanding the passage over the Orge, the bridge over which river had been blown up by the French. At the same time the Prussians at Corbeil, were attacked by the French force advancing from Longjuneau and Elamps. They succeeded in maintaining their position.

It is rumored that Canrobert, on Wednesday, attacked and defeated the Prussians near St. Quentin, and that an action was going on Thursday, near Tergnier.

A Paris dispatch says the Prussians crossed the Seine near Athis, but were beaten back.

The plague has attacked the cattle of the Prussian army. A balloon has arrived from Metz with letters.

A Berlin dispatch says a telegram from the King's headquarters makes a great reduction in the number of prisoners taken by the capitulation of Sedan. The total number actually captured was only 30,000 including 39 generals and 2595 officers—500 of whom were released on parole. The killed and wounded numbered 20,000.

Letters have been received from Marshal Bazaine, at Metz, dated Friday. The troops were enthusiastic and in good health, and have provisions in abundance.

☞ The Mayor of Nashua, on a petition from the citizens, has taken hold of the new liquor law, or temperance law; and the Aldermen have appointed a liquor agent, and voted to enforce the law, and back up the City Marshal in so doing. The law makes it criminal to let a building for the sale of rum, and also holds the seller responsible for any act of a drunken man—and in reply to a question by an Alderman, what would be the result to the seller, if one of his drunkards committed murder, the Mayor replied that probably the seller would be found guilty of manslaughter—which would seem no more than just.

☞ A well was recently discovered near the site of the old fort at Pemaquid Point, Bristol, Me. It was built of ancient and very curious bricks, which were roughly made, some 7 inches by 5, and 2 1-2 inches thick, with one edge bevelled so as to facilitate laying them in a circle. Sir William Phips built on this spot a famous stone fort in 1692, by direction of the British government; and this well was very likely built at the same time for some purpose, and was probably built of imported brick.

☞ Look out that your live stock of all kinds have water, during this terrible drought, and don't forget that their usual supplies have failed. A herd of eight valuable cattle in Hill, this State, were found choked to death in the pasture; and we have within a few days seen notices of half a dozen valuable horses, in different parts of the State, getting mired and lost while seeking water in pasture ponds.

THE NEW YORK CENSUS.—The returns of the New York city census are not large enough to suit the democrats. They squirm and declare there has been cheating among the census-takers. Guess not. The cheating has been at the ballot-box; the Democratic vote has been larger than the population would bear. That's what's the matter.

☞ They have public Laundries in Exeter, Concord and almost everywhere else—why not in Portsmouth?

"HAVE WE A MEMBER OF CONGRESS?"

Messrs. Editors:—Your Friday edition has an article from a correspondent under the above heading, following which is your suggestion editorially, that as it is quite pointed, some friend of mine should present the other side.

If I had been charged with neglect of effort to revive your shipping interest, to restore your commerce, or to foster and protect the interests of your workingmen, there would have been occasion to present the other side, but my shortcomings are of another character, as follows:—

"While the large appropriations which the Massachusetts members got for the construction of their forts in Boston harbor are being expended, our M. C. gets not a cent for our forts since he has been in Congress, and has succeeded so far in keeping our Post without troops. Mr. Ela's predecessor was able to influence the retention of troops at Fort Constitution, and also to get appropriations for the construction of the Forts; and at Portland, Mr. Lynch has troops and construction at the same time. Mr. Ela's "forte" is economy. He believes in letting things take their course, and taxing the bonds. Let us put in nomination some one who can and will have an influence in Congress, and let us be used as well as our neighbors, East and West, in the matter of troops and Fortifications. W.

What are the Facts?

First, Appropriations were made to build over and enlarge Forts Constitution and McClary at the entrance to Portsmouth harbor. Fort McClary is I think completed, and the work was commenced upon a much larger scale outside the present limits of Fort Constitution, but suspended because the Engineers of the army decided that such a structure as that commenced was useless against modern gunnery. Whenever the Engineers shall decide upon the material and manner of construction which promises usefulness and efficiency for defence, the appropriation is ready. Does anybody want it spent before? No citizen of Portsmouth has ever before made a suggestion about the matter.

Second, A company of troops were stationed at Fort Constitution during my first year in Congress. In January, 1868, I think, an order was given for their removal. I went to Gen. Grant, then in command of the army at Washington, to get the order revoked in case they were not to be sent on active service. His reply was that he would be glad to continue them there, as he had been doing upon prior solicitation, but there was no room in the fort for proper drilling, and they were falling behind the rest of the regiment in efficiency, and that the order had been given upon the representation of the officers of the regiment that a longer continuance there would be detrimental.

If the Representatives of Massachusetts or Maine or any other section, have been guilty of causing a wasteful expenditure of money wrung from the people by oppressive taxation, to build up worthless stone forts, which cannot stand before modern sea guns, or of keeping any part of a standing army where it is not needed and detrimental, my hands are clean of any such transactions, and I have faith to believe the taxpayers of New Hampshire will endorse that position.

I have taken pride and satisfaction, in securing all the work possible at your Navy Yard, because assured by the Department it was better and cheaper done there than elsewhere, and because it gave employment to your mechanics and a demand for lumber and other articles, in the absence of private ship building. It has also been my effort to keep work uniform through the year, that it might not interfere with, and cripple private enterprise, by calling off their help for a short season, to be followed by idleness and suffering. It was to that end I went to Washington, in October last, at the suggestion of some of your citizens, to secure a winter's work for your mechanics, by having the Monongahela sent to Portsmouth for repairs. The ship came, and it was no fault of mine that the appropriations were exhausted before winter, so that work was not commenced upon her.

To the last paragraph I have only this to say. If any one proposes to be a candidate for my position upon the platform indicated by your correspondent, of securing the expenditure of untold sums in building a stone fort to take the place of the present one, which the engineers declare would be useless and worthless, to please bondholders who loan the money but pay none of the taxes, and dogging the War Department for troops to fill it, whose only beneficial use would be to strengthen the stone walls by piling up outside of them, the beef bones picked inside, I shall not be a candidate with him for the situation. J. H. ELA.

—Farmers who never get more than half a crop—those who plant on shares.

FIRE.—An alarm was given about half past 1 o'clock Tuesday morning, occasioned by the partial burning of Portsmouth Bridge, which was set on fire near the draw, probably by the late freight train, which crossed shortly before midnight. The damage is not great. The Fire Department generally turned out, but Sagamore Steamer No. 2 was the only one to throw a stream on the fire, she arriving first, and but one being required.

THE ROCKINGHAM FAIR at Kingston, takes place on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. The Exeter News Letter says "there will be a mammoth tent, and reports are that fruit, vegetables, machinery and fancy articles, both useful and ornamental, will be brought to the Fair without stint or reservation.

The trotting Park is finely located, and the track made extremely smooth and hard. We have assurances that, notwithstanding the drought, there will be a good show of neat stock, including several town teams.

There is no doubt but Epping, Fremont, Newmarket and Exeter will each show a good team. Besides teams of oxen, including several farmers' teams with trimmed wagons, there will be several horse town teams. This is comparatively a new feature in the arrangements, and is meeting with favor.

As a natural consequence there will be plenty of horse trotting, trots for each day of the Fair being arranged. The farmers cannot grumble at this, because the racers are fixed with especial reference to trials of the speed of young horses! and surely, none others will be dissatisfied, for a modern Fair is not a Fair, unless due attention is given to turf sports.

It is expected that those with a musical ear will be surfeited with 'sonorous metal blowing martial sounds." Three Bands are engaged for the several days, viz: the Newmarket Band, the Exeter Band and the Hampton Falls Band. It is expected that two of these will be in attendance on Thursday and Friday.

The Society Dinner will be given on the Fair grounds on Friday. This will be no 'cold victuals' entertainment, and it is hoped that the inner man will be so refreshed that speeches will be spouted with an eloquent and refreshing spontaneity, as several gentlemen are engaged to tell the crowd in the language of H. G., "what they know about farming," horse trotting or horse raising, so soon as dinner is done."

—Oliver Wendell Holmes wittily expressed the difference between "supplying" and "filling" a pulpit, when, being announced on a certain occasion to fill an appointment made for Rufus Choate, he told his audience he could never hope to fill Mr. Choate's place, but he would, for a little while, endeavor to rattle around in it.

—It is estimated that over a hundred young ladies are at present studying law in this country. Probably they will become mothers-in-law one of these days.

YORK, Sept. 19.

CONDENSED MEANNESS.—A gentleman (?) with his two-in-hand and splendid coach, called at a store in York on Thursday last, and requested a drink of water. A boy was sent for cool water,—brought it, and handed a glass to the aforesaid gentleman. In returning the glass to the boy, the gentleman dropped it on the door-rock, and broke it. He then called on the proprietor and said: "The boy and I have broken this glass; how much is it? I will pay one half!"

The proprietor, seeing that meanness alone was the cause of the speech, made no reply. The gentleman finally paid the enormous sum of fifteen cents for his share, and left the boy (who had kindly waited upon him) to pay the balance. The proprietor did not take anything from the boy.

That gentleman should count his words (as he did that day) when he sends a telegram! He don't belong in this County, and we are thankful. P.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Shivering Season.

The loss to the laboring classes of the United States caused by fever and ague, has been estimated at upwards of two millions of dollars per annum. Whole settlements are sometimes prostrated by the disease, and it is regarded in some localities, as one of those visitations of providence which cannot be avoided. This is a mistake. As certainly as any of the evils which are invited by neglect may be forestalled by precaution—so certainly may an attack of intermittent (or remittent) fever be prevented by invigorating the system with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, in advance of the season, at which this malady prevails. Prevention, it is needless to say, is the wisest policy; but it is consoling to know that where time has not been thus taken by the forelock, and the paroxysms have actually commenced, a complete cure may, in all cases, be rapidly effected by the use of this powerful vegetable tonic.

The reputation of the Bitters as a specific for dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation and nervous debility, has in some thrown into the shade its merits as a preventive and cure of other ailments, but all who have ever taken it, either as a protection against or a remedy for malarious fevers, will admit that it surpasses in efficiency all the so-called specific (including quinine,) usually prescribed for these maladies, while it is at the same time entirely harmless, and decidedly palatable.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

In the great cities of India, and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, and other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. Sold by all druggists. dawimsl

☞ Although water is getting to be a scarce commodity in this vicinity, the stock of rum seems to hold out well, judging from all appearances and reports.

☞ A nuisance of a dog in this city, has been amusing himself killing chickens and worrying cows in the suburbs. The Police are thinning out such curs (es).

☞ Capt. F. G. Adams, at the news depot, has on exhibition in his window, samples of California apples, and a quince, each weighing a pound and a quarter! Look at 'em.

☞ We have an efficient police force, but they have one drawback, at least, and that is jealousy. A report from one source, giving credit to an officer, is immediately contradicted by his comrades, and we often find it difficult to get the truth of the matter. Friendly rivalry is honorable and tends to greater watchfulness and prompt discharge of duty, but a rivalry that impels one officer to claim credit for what is done by another, or to belittle the record of his brother officer, is not honorable, and does not increase the respect due from one to the other, nor the confidence of the public in the Police department as a whole.

From the Concord Statesman.

WHERE IS THE "MANOR HOUSE?" As we are unable to give any information upon the subject brought to notice in the following article from a correspondent, it is published, in order that an answer may be received from some one in the State sufficiently acquainted with ancient matters to answer the inquiry of "L."

Mr. Editor:—In what town is the site of Mason Hall, or the "Manor House," built in 1623 by David Thompson, or Towson, and generally considered the first house in New Hampshire? I have consulted ten authors, and cannot find in any of them the information I seek. Even Belknap and Farmer and Brewster and Merrill fail me. Indeed, I have never met the fact in print. L.

EXETER, Sept., 1870.

[Reply.—We are surprised that neither the editors of the Statesman, nor yet their correspondent, should recollect about Mason Hall. In fact, it is scarcely probable that any of the ten authors alluded to by L., fail to have it; and certainly all the four named have its history. Mr. Brewster, in the second Ramble of his first volume, gives quite a full account of the Manor House, which was located at Odierne's Point, in this harbor, and the location of which is still pointed out, on the farm of Mr. Chas. W. Odierne. Hutchinson's History of Massachusetts gives the following account of it:

The river of Newichewannock or Piscataqua is said to have been first discovered by Capt. Smith, or some employed by him, in 1614 or 1615. In the year 1623, several gentlemen, merchants and others, in the west of England, belonging to Bristol, Exeter, Dorchester, Shrewsbury, Plymouth, &c., having obtained patents from the Council of Plymouth for several parts of New England, and being encouraged by the plantation of New Plymouth, and the reports of fishermen who had made voyages upon the coast, projected and attempted a fishery about Piscataqua, and sent over David Thompson, together with Edward Hilton and William Hilton, who had been fishmongers in London, and some others, with all necessaries for their purpose. The Hiltons set up their stages some distance above the mouth of the river, at a place since called Dover.

Some others of the company about the same time seized on a place below, at the mouth of the river called Little Harbour, where they built the first house. Sir Ferdinando Gorges and Capt. John Mason were of this company; and the place where this house was built, with three or four thousand acres of land for a manor or lordship, by consent of the rest of the undertakers, was assigned to Capt. Mason, and the house took the name of Mason-hall. The chimney and part of the stone wall were standing in the year 1680.

It is only a few years since, Mr. Brewster found on the spot, one of the great bricks of which Mason Hall was built, and placed it in the N. H. Hist. Socy's collection at Concord, where we presume it now remains.

The Great House, the second of any importance here, was built by Humphrey Chadbourne, about three miles up the Piscataqua from Mason's Hall,—being located, Mr. Brewster says, on our present Water Street, S. E. corner of Court Street. This had 1000 acres of land attached; and what is now our city was their pasture and planting ground.

☞ The Portsmouth Jubilee (all children and adult singers in the city are invited) will make an excursion to the Shoals in Steamer Appledore, on Friday next, and probably another on Saturday. The Temple is engaged for the Concerts Oct. 4th and 5th, and all singers are invited to join. Rehearsals will be announced shortly.

☞ The Boston Herald says that on account of the scarcity of seamen in the Navy, the U. S. Steamers California and Worcester may not be manned very soon, and are likely to remain at the wharves until they need repairs again. In the meantime, the officers are drawing sea-duty pay.

☞ A correspondent at Kittery, writes that on Friday night last, a hundred or more large rats laid siege to the residence of a gentleman living there, and actually ate through and into the house, and after entirely ransacking it, left in the morning.

☞ We had every promise of rain Saturday and Sunday, but scarcely a drop of water fell, although the wind blew a gale from Northeast for two full days. Wells have failed in every direction, and the drought is getting very serious.

☞ No bill was found against Bertie Milford, who was arrested on charge of shooting Joseph Mooney, in Manchester, in July last. Probably the Jury held that prostitutes and their patrons are both outside the pale of the law.

☞ Who had the good looks of the stern of the U. S. S. California spoiled, by putting in those "bay-windows," at an extra expense to government. Verily, economy is wealth.

☞ A barn belonging to Dr. A. K. P. Hammond of Eliot blew over, Sunday, during the heavy wind. A valuable horse and other stock inside escaped injury.

☞ Steamer Appledore will take those who wish to attend the great gathering at Salisbury Beach to-morrow, leaving Portsmouth at 6.30, A. M.

—It was a somewhat singular fact that the Sawyer Base Ball Club of this city could not get a match with any of the clubs from abroad, present at the County Fair.—Dover Gazette.

Not so very singular, considering their conduct when they do get in decent company. Their boorishness and foul play re-acts upon themselves.

A ROMANCE OF THE SHOALS.—The many who have read with pleasure the writings of Mrs. Celia Thaxter, will be pleased to know a little romance, such as hundreds of others cherish in memory, concerning how she came by the title of "Mrs." She is the only daughter of the late Thos B. Laighton, and was born upon Appledore Island. Her husband came to that place for his health, fell in love and asked her hand, at which her father was much incensed, and ordered the lover to quit. Banished from the house, the young man built a hut and remained, and finally the old gentleman, who was kind-hearted at the bottom, and admired pluck and perseverance, gave in, and the twain were made one flesh.—Exchange.

—Mat M——— was a queer genius. A neighbor found him at work one day at an enormous wood-pile, sawing away for dear life with an intolerably dull saw. "Why don't you sharpen your saw, Mat?" asked the neighbor. Looking up with an inimitably droll expression, he replied: "I should think I had work enough to do to saw up this wood-pile, without stopping to sharpen saws."

—A servant girl, who has just been admonished by her mistress to be very careful in "washing up" the best tea things, was heard shortly afterwardin the back kitchen, indulging in the following soliloquy, while in the act of wiping the sugar-basin: "If I were to drop this 'ere basin, and was to catch it, I's'pose I shouldn't catch it; but if I was to drop it, and wasn't to catch it, I reckon I just should catch it."

—A lady who had repeatedly called her little boy to come and say his prayers was somewhat taken back by his asking her if "God was in much of a hurry."

HOTEL FOR SALE.—I offer at private sale the Hotel now occupied by me at Warren, N. H., known as the MOOSILAUK HOUSE, with the furniture and other appurtenances. It has been thoroughly rebuilt and refurnished, has a profitable resident patronage, and is a most desirable location for summer business—being 20 miles north of Plymouth, 26 miles south of the Profile House, and only 9 miles from the Prospect House on the summit of Mt. Moosilauk. The neighborhood is one of the most romantic and picturesque in the mountain region, and is fast coming into a notoriety that must largely enhance the value of this property. The subscriber sells for the reason that he desires to give his entire attention to the conduct of Prospect House and the carriage road now being built to the "tip-top" of Mt. Moosilauk, by the "Mt. J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this line, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security.

These bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par, besides paying about 9 per cent., currency, interest in the meanwhile. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices only return five per cent.; and we regard the security equally safe.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

FOR ALL PURPOSES of a LAXATIVE MEDICINE,

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative PILL. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures what others promise, those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any other deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring the irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change these complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

AS A DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PILLS makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus. dawje16eod1m

MY STRAWBERRY BED.

BY JOSEPHINE H.

"Tawbeddie!" which, being interpreted from the 'quaint and curious' dialect of my three-year-old nephew, into readable, pronounceable English, meant "Strawberries!"

"Tawbeddie," repeated the little voice. I went to the window and looked out. There, right in the middle of my strawberry bed, a little, red wheelbarrow filled with stones, my Willie, standing on the very tips of his bronze gaiters, holding up both hands filled with half-ripe strawberries, completed the picture.

"Tawbeddie," repeated the laughing lips, and down went the naughty, brown hands, right in among the crimson treasures.

"Willie! Willie!" I called.

Up came the little hands just crimsoned at the very tips, off blew the wide straw hat, as the blue eyes were raised to my window. "O, Auntie, Tawbeddie! tawbeddie so big as dat!"

But I fully intended when I began, to tell you about my strawberry bed, and here I am wandering away at the very outset, and speaking instead, of my Willie. Well,——

I am so unfortunate as to live near a school house; unfortunate is the word and I repeat it; if you don't agree with me before I have finished this "over true tale," I'll——

One fine morning I sat complacently all in a heap, on my side of the high, board fence that separates my garden from the school grounds, leisurely weeding my strawberry bed. Now, be it known, I set great store by that bed of mine; there is not a finer in all our neighborhood, and as I pinched off a runner here and pulled a weed there, I allowed my imagination free range, and pictured to myself the large, luscious, crimson fruit clustering among the green leaves. Suddenly I became aware that I was not alone; there was a shuffling of feet on the other side of the high fence, and then a whispered conversation was begun, of which, I caught snatches. I was about turning away, for I am no cavesdropper, when the words, "Strawberries," "old maid," chained my attention, and I concluded to stop; having a very grave suspicion that it was my honored self and my strawberries to which the whisperers alluded.

This is what I heard: "Say, Jim, did you ever see it?"

"See what?"

"Why, that strawberry bed; 'nough to make your eyes stick out — long as that—full of berries last summer, made a fellow's mouth water!"

"Oh, right over t'other side the fence."

"Who owns it?"

"Oh, only a woman — regular old maid;" (I'm only twenty-four; if you don't believe it ask the census man.) "She comes out here most every day, from the time they begin to ripen 'till they're all gone, to gloat over 'em. Never give us boys one; stingy old thing!"

"Let's hook some of 'em, it'll serve her right."

"Just you wait 'till they ripen, and—"

Just then the school bell rung, there was a whispered "keep dark," a scampering of feet, and then all was quiet.

I shouldered my hoe, grasped my trowel and marched majestically toward the house; my soul filled with righteous indignation, my cheeks burning, as I thought of the words, "stingy thing," "old maid," "only a woman." At that moment, all argument to the contrary, I began to believe in total depravity.

I hung up the hoe, deposited my trowel in its place, and gravely sat down to the congenial task of "nursing my wrath to keep it warm." Old maid, indeed! How my cheeks burned. How I longed to shake those boys within an inch of their lives! But—I began to cool off a little — but, were they altogether wrong? Had I been selfish? Was it a matter of wonder, that a great, hungry school boy, for school boys are always hungry, should look with longing eyes on that tempting fruit?

I thought it over, and the more I thought, the more I kept thinking, with the following result: Next morning just before the last bell rung, I opened my back gate and stood in the midst of a perfect wilderness of boys. How they stared! I declare, I don't believe I shall ever get up sufficient courage to do the like again. "Boys," I said, "I suppose you have all noticed my strawberry bed, and I don't believe you ever saw a finer, did you? Well, I shall have more than I can eat this year, so if you will see that no one touches them till they are ripe, I'll invite you all in, some day, to help me eat them; isn't that fair? All who agree to it raise their hands."

There was silence for half a minute, then every hand was raised, while their owners indulged in those wild exultant yells (I can't in conscience call them anything else) that boyhood so delights in, under cover of which I made my escape.

That was three years ago, and every year I have enlarged my strawberry bed till it threatens to monopolize my whole garden plot; but never once have the boys broken their part of the contract, while it has become a pleasure to me to fulfil mine. They often help me pull weeds and cut runners, and I have no firmer friends among them, than my old acquaintances, Bob and Joe.

—Mary Clark of Cincinnati said there was altogether too much blowing in the papers about the danger of kerosene, and she proceeded to kindle her fire with it. Her widower says he don't know how in the world he is going to get along with all the children she left.

HORSE STEALING AND SWAPPING.—A man calling himself a Boston runner, hired a team at a Groton Junction stable, and turned up the next day at the house of Stephen B. Scruton, two miles from Rochester. Having staid there all night, he succeeded in trading horses with Mr. S. and the next day sold his newly acquired steed to "a party by the name of Johnson," at North Berwick, together with the buggy. The Grouton Junction man followed on the scent and got back his property, but Messrs. Scruton and Johnson are now in a tangle, Johnson claiming that as Scruton traded his horse, he has no claim on it. The whole affair should remind people to be cautious about swapping horses with strangers.—Patriot.

Caveats, Specifications, Deeds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. New Hampshire Items.

The only persons taking Stock to the New England Fair from Exeter, we believe, were Mr. Jacob P. Cilley and Mr. Charles Treadwell. Thither they took their fine Dutch Stock and received premiums.

Among the bequests in the will of the late Miss S. Lue Lawrence of Biddeford, are: $500 to Am. Board Com. Foreign Missions; $500 to the N. H. Missionary Society (beside $800 to be distributed by Rev. Wm. Clark); $1000 to Dartmouth College, to form a "Lue Lawrence scholarship;" $500 to the Cong. Sab. School, the income to be used in helping to defray the expenses of an annual picnic for the children; $500 to the Cong. Society, to be invested, and the income used in helping to defray the expenses of the music; $250 to the Baptist church, to purchase a bell. $50 was also given to "Lawrence Engine Company," of Amherst for a supper.

Eighteen months ago the jewelry store of Enoch H. Nutter on Dover Landing was broken into and two valuable watches stolen, one a silver watch, well known thereabouts as the "old Ela" time-keeper, 75 years old, and the other, a valuable one, the property of Mrs. John Chase, Chicopee, Mass. Last week Mr. Nutter was agreeably surprised on receiving a package, express paid, per Niles & Co., containing the long missing watches. They were packed in a Boston Herald, dated Sept. 5, enclosed in cigar box, and were comparatively uninjured. Mr. N. returns his sincere thanks to the conscientious thieves, and hopes they will sin no more.

While getting out of a car at the depot in Concord, recently, Mrs. John Pepper, of Lake Village, was relieved of her portmonanie containing $47.

The Sabbath School connected with the South Congregational Church in Concord have voted to sustain a yearly scholarship in Dartmouth College—Rev. Henry E. Parker, Professor in the College, to select the first beneficiary. Sixty dollars constitutes a yearly scholarship; one thousand dollars a perpetual one.

Exeter Town Hall will soon be closed till it is made new by a thorough and complete repairing.

Dr. Julius Guttman, the well-known dentist, is lying dangerously ill at his residence, in Great Falls.

Mr. Edward Crowninshield was ordained as pastor of the Unitarian Society of Exeter last week. Prof C. C. Everett of the Cambridge Divinity School delivered the sermon, which was an able defence of the Unitarian position; an original hymn followed, composed by Rev. J. W. Chadwick of Brooklyn; Rev. W. C. Gannett of Boston, made the Ordaining Prayer, and the Right Hand of Fellowship was given by Rev. J. W. Chadwick. Charge by Rev. S. C. Beane of Salem. Rev. James DeNormandie of Portsmouth preluded his Address to the People, with a merited eulogium upon the late pastor of the Society, Rev. J. C. Learned, now of St. Louis. He strongly urged the formation, by the Society, of a Pastor's Library, to remain the property of the Society for its pastor's use.

Mrs. Odell, of Lake Village, was run over at that place by the afternoon down train over the Boston, Concord & Montreal Railroad, Monday, and was killed.

Superintendent J. R. Kendrick, of the Concord Railroad, having been tendered the superintendency of the Mobile and New Orleans Railroad, left Monday on a visit South. He has not yet decided to accept the situation. He is very popular in his present position.

☞ Mr. John G. Cummings, of Saco, as he was on his way to church on Sunday last, was bitten through the hand by a dog. How many will be found to attend church, at this price?

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT? IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT. It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.
It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.
One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds. 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats.—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.
The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.
The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINTS, which are for sale at the GROCERY AND PROVISION STORE, No. 16 and 18 Cabot Street, where are kept the best of Meats and Groceries, as low as can be bought in the city.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.
Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., PRACTICAL AND ANALYTICAL CHEMISTS, LOWELL, MASS., PRICE ONE DOLLAR.
Sold by WM. R. PRESTON, and all Druggists Portsmouth and everywhere f21d&wly

A PLEASANT RIDE.—Having lately made the trip from Portsmouth to Boston on the public highway, for the first time in my life by that route, I was surprised as well as pleased by the beauty of much of the scenery along the way. I had always supposed it dull and uninteresting, but it is far otherwise; from Newburyport to Boston, in particular, there is an almost constant succession of beautiful pictures—quiet rural scenes, romantic landscapes, and quaint and picturesque villages. I wonder the Eastern Railroad Corporation doesn't transplant some of these fine views to where they can be seen from the car windows—the Management seem to have done nearly everything else for the convenience and comfort of their patrons.

At Newburyport we (I had a companion—masculine gender) made a halt. That city seems much like this one, so far as business is concerned. I saw one load of wood, a number of nice driving teams, and several baby-carts, on the streets, and a man putling coal-tar on the bottom of a boat, down by the water. Having an hour to spare, we called upon our former townsman, Mr. Carl Meinerth, at his photographic gallery. We found him as genial and as pleased to welcome his old Portsmouth friends, as ever; and inspected the arrangements of his rooms and the many beautiful specimens of his art, with much pleasure. The mezzotint photographs, taken by Mr. Meinerth's patent process, have all the softness and delicacy of pictures on porcelain; and it is no wonder that he has daily applications, from all parts of the Union, for the right to use his great improvement in photography. But Mr. M.'s gray squirrel I don't admire; I interviewed him, and when I pulled his tail he bit me.

From Newburyport to Salem, and thence around through Saugus to Boston, was delightful; I saw but one thing to annoy me—which my companion described as a "sad result of the prohibitory law." The spectacle was a sad one. Two young men, well dressed and apparently respectable, (one of them—the elder—being indeed a strikingly handsome and intellectual-looking man,) drove up to a village pump and watered their horse; and then, producing a black bottle, emptied some of its contents down their throats, quite regardless of the anguish they inflicted on the villagers, who very likely would have drank from the bottle themselves, if they could have got a chance on the sly. Having thus outraged the temperance principles of the spectators, the young men drove off.

Boston I don't think much of; but Boston mosquetoes I will back against any in the world, for size, ferocity and power of endurance. The first night of my stay I was awakened by groans, and found my companion on the floor with his ribs nearly stove in, and the mosquito bar twisted around his neck; there was also a large piece of skin gone from my own elbow, and I was spotted like a plum pudding. In answer to my anxious enquiry as to what was the matter, my companion wailed out, "infernal 'skeeters." [This was not the adjective he used, but I put it in as it will look better in print.] I lighted the gas, and for a full hour—armed with the pillow, and clothed with innocence and a night-shirt,—I waged a desolating war against the invaders, and drew a crimson "war-map" on the ceiling and walls, besides breaking the looking-glass and knocking over the water pitcher. The slaughter was finally stopped by a sound of suppressed mirth which came through the open and un-curtained window, and caused me to look out; and then I saw, on the flat roof of a building about twenty feet distant and on a level with my window, several ghosts; they were robed in white, and disappeared in a moment when I looked out. I turned out the gas, and turned in myself, pretty quick. In reply to my question if there was the house on the other side of the yard was haunted, my sleepy room-mate answered, "Yes—haunted; big milliner's shop." Ghosts and mosquitoes together were too much for me, and I left Boston next day. P.

NEW SUBSCRIBERS who now pay in full in advance, for the DAILY CHRONICLE or the N. H. GAZETTE, for the year 1871, will be furnished with either paper gratis until Jan.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

☞ The Best Teas and Coffees are those from the ORIENTAL TEA CO., of Boston. H. M. Smith is the Agent in Portsmouth, at his Lunch Rooms in Ladd Street. Pure Teas and Coffees at the lowest Boston prices. je25dawif

"TIME TRIES ALL THINGS," and has proved that Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is the remedy par excellence for the cure of coughs, colds, croup, whooping-cough, bronchitis, asthma, phthisic, sore throat, and influenza. It cures coughs and colds instanter! It soothes the irritated parts; it heals the inflammation; and even consumption itself yields to its magic influence.

SPOTTED LIKE DOMINOES.—The teeth soon become speckled if every defilement is not removed from them every twenty-four hours. To do this effectually, there is nothing like SOZODONT. It literally renders the enamel impervious and indestructible.

"SPALDING'S" celebrated Glue, useful and true.

WRINGING MACHINES.—For years the "FARMER" has advised its readers to buy a wringer with cog wheels in preference to one without a cog-wheel attachment. It is just as important that the cog wheels be so arranged that they will not entirely separate or play apart when wringing large articles, for then the use of the cog is lost when most needed. We have examined several machines with cogs on one and on both ends of the shaft, and find the cogs on all these machines play apart, except on the "Universal," which we can recommend to our readers as a durable wringer, and just what is needed in any family.—New England Farmer.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Shivering Season.

The loss to the laboring classes of the United States caused by fever and ague, has been estimated at upwards of two millions of dollars per annum. Whole settlements are sometimes prostrated by the disease, and it is regarded in some localities, as one of those visitations of providence which cannot be avoided. This is a mistake. As certainly as any of the evils which are invited by neglect may be forestalled by precaution—so certainly may an attack of intermittent (or remittent) fever be prevented by invigorating the system with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, in advance of the season, at which this malady prevails. Prevention, it is needless to say, is the wisest policy; but it is consoling to know that where time has not been thus taken by the forelock, and the paroxysms have actually commenced, a complete cure may, in all cases, be rapidly effected by the use of this powerful vegetable tonic.

The reputation of the Bitters as a specific for dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation and nervous debility, has in some thrown into the shade its merits as a preventive and cure of other ailments, but all who have ever taken it, either as a protection against or a remedy for malarious fevers, will admit that it surpasses in efficiency all the so-called specific (including quinine,) usually prescribed for these maladies, while it is at the same time entirely harmless, and decidedly palatable.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world: the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable, instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effect of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautiful, black or brown. Sold by all Druggist and Perfumers, and properly applied at Batchelor's Wig Factory, No. 16 Bond Street, New York. lydawje2

1840. PERRY DAVIS' 1870.

Vegetable "Pain Killer,"

After THIRTY YEARS trial, is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues, from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Physicians of the first respectability recommend it as a most effectual preparation for the extinction of pain. It is not only the best remedy ever known for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c., but for Dysentery or Cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency and rapidity of action. In the great climes of India, and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, and other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. Sold by all druggists. dawlms1

☞ During the month of August, the circulation of the Boston Herald in this city was between 10,000 and 11,000. The Boston Journal circulated 4400 copies at the same time.

☞ The Prize Buggy, built by G. B. & W. S. Came, which took the first premium at the New England Fair, and has been purchased by a gentleman at St. Louis, was on exhibition, front of the Post Office, on Tuesday. It is a beautiful specimen of handiwork, and will be exhibited at the St. Louis Fair.

THE EMPIRE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY issues a neat little quarterly sheet, devoted to Insurance interests. The Sept. number contains an extended argument from the Congregationalist, pro and con, in the matter of Life Insurance—interesting to all persons. It is furnished gratuitously at the N. H. Branch Office, corner of State and Pleasant Streets.

☞ The fire on Portsmouth Bridge, Tuesday morning, did more damage than at first reported. The trains could not cross the bridge and the passengers were obliged to walk across to take trains till 2 o'clock P. M. The R. R. company were saved from great loss by the Portsmouth Fire Department, and in return, breakfasted them at the Franklin House.

During the fire, Assistant Engineer John H. Morrill met with an accident but fortunately escaped serious injury. He fell through the bridge, striking his side and elbow on a cross-piece, 20 feet below. The tide was running out very swiftly, but as he came to the surface of the water, Mr. Morrill struck out and succeeded in reaching one of the piers, from which he was taken in a boat.

President Goodwin, of P. S. & P. R. R., acted promptly, detaining some of the cars which were to leave here at 6.15, A. M., to take the passengers by the first train from Portland to Boston. The eastern telegraph line being down, he telegraphed to Portland via Boston to send their Boston passengers over the B. & M. route, and detained the train at Kittery until the 10 A. M. train from Boston arrived, that the Maine passengers might go through. Having employed many workmen repairing the railroad and foot-bridge, the indefatigable Ex-Governor succeeded in having carriages passing safely over at 8 o'clock, A. M., and the 12 o'clock Boston train passed over at half past 2.

Communication.

THE SPRINKLER.—The benefit and comfort of street-sprinkling nobody can well gainsay, during the present season; while at home we were hardly aware of the dust and drought which were stifling the eyes, pouring into the houses, and drying up the grasses of our less fortunate fellows. "Are not your carpets and furniture ruined by this fearful yellow dirt, with which city authority has deluged our streets? The dust sifts into and through everything, and everything is begrimed and ruined."

Dust! dust! we have no dust"—nothing, certainly so positive or perilous coming very clearly across our recollection — "we have kept open doors all summer and never so free from dust—we have kept open windows day and night, the summer through, and no dust—nothing came in but the clear, dry, pure summer air, carrying off with it catarrh, rheumatism, neuralgia and every ail." "Ah, it was that street-sprinkler, which you patronized?" exclaimed our friend with a fresh, if not a sudden conviction of its value. Yes, thanks, all thanks to the sprinkler, which twice a day passed the house pouring its sparkling cascade of pure, cool water on the panting street, whose very plash and dash was music to the ear.

We have reason to thank Mr. Plaisted for his persistent enterprise in watering our streets and making some of them, at least, endurable, in spite of us; for he has had, we fear, more faultfinding than encouragement. The best encouragement we can give him is to make it, by our liberality, a paying concern, and thus help him to put his whole machinery into good working order. We hope the experience of the summer will fix street-sprinkling as one of the permanent institutions of our city, as indispensible as gas, brown-bread or the town clock. INCHES.

☞ Matters of local interest will be found on the outside of to-day's paper. A column more of local matter is crowded out, but will appear to-morrow.

☞ Mr. James W. Verney, Keeper of Whalesback Light, counted the number of vessels passing the Light on Monday, and informs us that there were 380.

BASE BALL.—Those brave veterans at the bat, the Foul Batters and Heavy Muffers, are to struggle for supremacy at the Plains, this (Wednesday) afternoon, at 2 1-2 o'clock.

POLICE COURT, before Judge Bufford, Monday, Sept. 19th. — John Curley, Neil Nelson, Edward Jervis and Mary Kiley were each fined $3, and costs $6.90, for being drunk.

☞ Religious meetings have been held in the Methodist Chapel, on Daniel Street, every evening since the Camp Meeting at Epping, and the series continue this week, commencing at half past seven.

☞ Mr. Lougee's Sea View House, at Rye Beach, is being enlarged. The addition will be 60 by 40 feet, and three stories high. The cause of this is the rush of visitors to Rye Beach during the past season; at no previous time were there so many boarders at this and other beaches.

WAR NOTES.—La Liberte says the Prussian movement against Paris has been attended with no extraordinary celerity. It has taken them two weeks to get their guns before the city. Meanwhile, a new French army has been raised of sufficient strength to attack the besiegers.

A London Times correspondent writes that General Vinoy led 30,000 troops of the line to Vincennes to dispute the passage of the Marne.

Jules Favre has gone to the Prussian headquarters.

The village of Bazeilles, near Sedan, was destroyed by the Prussians because some of the wounded fugitives from the German army were massacred in the streets.

Gen. Failly is not dead.

"We must have Metz and Strasbourg," says Bismark; "and Paris must be burned if it does not submit."

There is great distress at Rheims; there are 10,000 factory operatives there who are starving in idleness.

A vote taken by the people of Strasbourg on the subject of surrendering was decided by a large majority to continue the defence to the last.

The Ex-Emperor Napoleon has formally revoked the decree by which the Empress assumed the Regency in Paris.

Canrobert is organizing an enterprise of some sort in Northeastern France, but no one seems to know what it is or where the Marshal is.

☞ Maynard's iron foundry, Bird's machine shop, and other buildings, two barques, and several wharves were burned at East Boston, Tuesday morning. Loss, $1,000,000.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this line, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security.

These bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par, besides paying about 9 per cent., currency, interest in the meanwhile. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices only return fire per cent.; and we regard the security equally safe.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

FOR ALL PURPOSES of a LAXATIVE MEDICINE.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative PILL. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken to invigorate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change these complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

JUST RECEIVED AND FOR SALE TIBBETS' OYSTER SALOON.

Morning Chronicle.

OLD YORK.—We find in Hazard's Historical Collections, a copy of the Charter of the Town (or City) of Acomenticus, (the name is thus spelt,) now York, Maine. This was granted in 1641, by Sir Ferdinando Gorges; and his cousin Thomas Gorges was to be the first mayor, with Edward Godfrey, Roger Garde, George Puddington, Bartholemow Barrett, Edward Johnson, Arthur Brogington, Henry Simson and John Rogers for the eight Aldermen, from whom also was appointed the Recorder, Clerk, Justice, &c., and were to exercise great powers, almost complete sovereignty, subject only to the King of England and to Gorges.

The exact bounds of Acomenticus are not known, but they are stated as extending "three miles every way distant, north, south, east and west, from the church, chapel, or place ordained or intended for a church or oratory,"—which we think would give a township six miles square, or six miles in diameter if round. No chapel or church appears to have been built, and the spot designed for it is not known; nor does there seem to have been any action whatever taken under this charter, for the same year 1641 another was given to nearly the same parties, under the name Gorgeana. This was to commence at the mouth of the river Agamenticus, (so spelled in this second paper,) and extend up the river seven miles and three miles in width, along the east and northeast sea shore, being, as we estimate these bounds, but about half the original site designed for Acomenticus.

Gorgeana was to have a mayor, and twelve aldermen, to be appointed at first by the deputy governor of the province of Maine, and twenty-four common councilmen, to be elected by the freeholders. Afterwards, the Mayor was to be chosen by the common council and free burgeises. The town clerk and the recorder were to be chosen by the mayor, councils and commonalty, the mayor presiding at elections, and having a double voice. There were also two or four officers called sergeants of the white rod, appointed by the mayor and aldermen, to attend the mayor, and whose duties were those of sheriffs now-a-days. There are no names given in this document, but Sir Thomas Gorges was the first Mayor, with Edward Godfrey for his first alderman; and Godfrey was afterwards mayor, and then governor of Maine.

The sites of the residences of both Gorges and Godfrey were visited during the late Historical meeting in York, and the locations of the cellars are plainly to be seen. The charters, both of Acomenticus and Gorgeana were for a long time preserved in the town records of that ancient burrough; and the latter is still there, in a good state of preservation, but minus the great seal of Gorges. Mayor Gorges' house, or palace, was built on a point of land two or three miles from the sea, on the river, half a mile above York bridge, as now located. Hutchinson's history says:

In 1641 a charter had been granted by Sir Ferdinando to Acomenticus (York) making it a corporation, consisting of a mayor, eight aldermen and a recorder. His cousin Thomas Gorges was the first mayor. He lived about half a mile above what is called Trafton's ferry, near Gorges point. The cellar of the house he dwelt in remains to this day. He went to England in 1643. The people of York say that he returned and died there. If so, it must have been before 1651, or some mention would have been made of him.

It is also stated that on his return from England, Gorges found his home rifled of all its contents, except one iron kettle—we presume by the Indians.

We have much other historical matter of interest to give hereafter, respecting York, Kittery and Eliot, and shall next week present a valuable paper on Kittery, from Hon. Mark Dennett of that old and exceedingly interesting locality.

KENNEBUNK.—The new Bank is nearly completed and will be in operation in a short time. The new school house is progressing rapidly. The Hotel owned by Hon. Mr. Parsons has been leased to Mr. Baker of Portland, who assumes control of it. The want felt in this place for a Hotel will now be relieved and the traveling public can be accommodated.

☞ The Amoskeag Veterans are to make an excursion to New York city about the middle of October. They will have as partners in the excursion the Ancient and Honorable Artillery of Boston, the Putnam Phalanx of Hartford, Ct., and Newburyport Veterans.

—In Prussia, the pocket handkerchiefs are embellished with maps of the seat of war, so that anybody with a bad cold nose all about it.

New Publications Received.

A BEAUTIFUL BOOK—Our Father's House, or The Unwritten Word; by Rev. Daniel March, of Philadelphia, formerly pastor of First Church, Nashua, N.H.

The author's former work, "Night Scenes in the Bible," has carried joy and gladness to many thousand American homes, and "Our Father's House" is written in the same clear, forcible style which made it so popular. Its illustrations are beautiful—full page steel engravings from designs by the best masters. It contains nearly 600 pages, on fine, rose-tinted paper, from new, clear and open type, and bound in a neat and substantial manner. Price $3.75 and $6.00, according to binding. Zeigler, McCurdy & Co., publishers.

Rev. E. M. Kellogg is now canvassing this city for subscriptions. We recommend both the book and the agent to our readers.

M. W. Jacobus, D. D., of Alleghany, Pa., says: "The topics are fresh and suggestive; the style is highly cultivated and ornate; the book is fascinating, instructive and elevating.

Rev. Daniel Lord, D. D., of Chicago, Ill., says: It shows a noble aim, devout spirit, and loving study; and by its nice arrangement, beautiful illustrations and popular style, will help all its readers to see more of science in the Bible, and of God in His works.

Rev. C. P. Bush, D. D., of Rochester, N. Y., says: "Our Father's House" is like the other works of the author, devout, scholarly, suggestive, instructive, and well calculated to do good. It cannot fail to find its way to many thousand readers.

Rev. L. Dashiell, D. D., of Carlisle, Pa., says: It is full of practical religious instruction. The spirit of true devotion tones its beautiful lessons. My children say—"It is beautiful and good."

Putnam's Monthly for October contains many articles of interest and value, among which may be named "Shakspeare in Germany to-day," "The Antiquity of Celtic Literature," "Folk Songs," and "Causes of the Prussian-French War." The editorial notes are excellent, as usual. With the November number, the present series of Putnam's will be completed, and a new magazine, handsomely illustrated, and named "Scribner's Monthly," in which both Putnam's and Hours at Home are to be merged, and which will combine the merits of both, will appear as a new and strong candidate for public favor. The editor is to be Dr. J. G. Holland, well known as one of the most popular essayists and poets of the country.

Blackwood's Magazine for September is a capital number, specially interesting for two articles, namely, "War Letter of Major Colchardt" and "The European Hurricane."

The Galaxy for October opens with a portrait of Bismark. Among its contents we observe "James Buchanan," by Horatio King; "Does it Pay to Visit Yo Semite," by Olive Logan, the lady answering the question with a decided and disgusted negative; "Will Murder Out?" by Edward Crapsey, dealing with the Nathan affair; "The King of Prussia," by Justin McCarthy; and Mark Twain's usual budget, together with the chapters of two serial stories.

Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.'

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. REGRET.

BY CELIA THAXTER

Softly Death touched her and she passed away,
Out of this glad, bright world she made more
Sweet as the apple-blossoms, when in May [fair,
The orchards flush, of summer grown aware.

That gentle, gracious presence felt no more!
How must the house be emptied of delight,
What shadows on the threshold she passed o'er!

She loved me. Surely I was grateful, yet
I could not give her back all she gave me.—
Ever I think of it with vain regret,
Musing upon a summer by the sea.

Remembering troops of merry girls who pressed
About me,—clinging arms and tender eyes,
And love, like scent of roses. With the rest
She came to fill my heart with new surprise.

While o'er the calm sea, 'neath the soft gray sky
They waved farewell, she followed me, to say

Swept o'er the skiff in many a graceful fold, [dress
Her glowing face, bright with a mute caress,

And tears she dropped into the crystal brine
For me, unworthy, as we slowly swung
Free of the mooring. Her last look was mine,
Seeking me still the motley crowd among.

O! tender memory of the dead I hold
So precious through the fret and change of years!
Were I to live till Time itself grew old,
The sad sea would be sadder for those tears.

THE WOMEN AT THE POLLS.—A lady at Cheyenne, Wyoming Territory, writes to her father in Council Bluffs, Iowa, concerning the recent election in that Territory, at which the women voted:

I walked up to the polls and voted as though I had been "to the manor born." You ought to have seen the hats lifted and the crowd fall back and leave the way open for Mrs. A. and myself to get to the voting window. The gentlemen were remarkably polite; the Democrats thought we would vote their ticket, as Mrs. A. is a Democrat, and the Republicans thought we would go the Republican ticket together. Mrs. A. split her ticket, and I tore off the Congressman's name from mine, as I did not care about commencing my "political career" with voting for a sot. But, contrary to the expectations of nearly all the party, he was elected by a large majority.

I never before was so much pleased over the result of an election as I have been over this, for the Democrats were confident of success. Carriages for the ladies ran all day. One came for me in the morning, but as I was not ready the gentleman accompanying it said he would call again immediately after dinner. But I preferred walking, as I did not intend returning directly home. My husband and some others were dissatisfied because their man was not nominated, and declared they would not work to have such a man as Jones elected; but toward evening when the Democrats commenced getting desperate, these men might have been seen hurrying up a carriage for my washerwoman, and hunting up all the Republican women they could hear of. I told them I began to wish I was a Democrat so that I could adopt their plan of voting "early and often," and have a little of their "vital principle," too, as the saloons were open.

BUTTER FROM JERSEYS.—The best record of butter making of which we have ever heard is furnished us by a friend in this city who is an enthusiastic Jersey-man, so far as cows are concerned, and that, too, with good reason, as will appear by the following: He has two thorough-bred Jersey cows (Nos. 452 and 511 Jersey Herd Book.) One of these cows is from the stock of the late Dr. Holmes; the other from importations of the late John A. Taintor, of Hartford, Conn. These cows dropped calves the last of May, 1869, and from their milk between June 15 and Feb. 15, five hundred and four pounds of butter was made. The two calves were sold for $16. One of the cows calved again about April 10, 1870, and the other in May. Take, then, the legitimate gross profit of these cows—it aggregates $268 for eight months ending Feb. 15! We defy any honest business to show a more satisfactory exhibit. Long wave the Jerseys!—Lewiston Journal.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other preparation.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopaea, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Foredebings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.
